

هكذا من الأصل

Drkaholic
st.

All the News
Fit to Print

The New York Times

LATE CITY EDITION
Weather: Hazy, warm today; mild tonight. Partly sunny tomorrow.
Temperature range: today 65-86;
Wednesday 67-85. Details, page 78.

KV... No. 43,236 © 1976 The New York Times Company NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 9, 1976 20 CENTS

RUT CUT OFF; SYRIA SENDS IN NEW FORCE

U.S. IS CONCERNED
Risk of a Move by Israel or Other Nations Cited

By BERNARD GWERTZMAN
Special to The New York Times
WASHINGTON, June 8—The United States, unable to bring any influence on the warring parties in Lebanon to halt the fighting, expressed concern today that the stepped-up conflict might touch off a wider war.

Reacting to the latest developments in Lebanon, the State Department avoided condemning either the Syrians or their leftist opponents for the fighting. Privately, officials said that the Syrians might have miscalculated the strength of their opposition.

The officials noted that so far the Syrians had been unable to bring order to Lebanon—their declared goal last week—and the stepped-up fighting might force them to introduce yet more forces, thereby increasing the risk of intervention either from Israel or from other Arab countries unwilling to allow even the appearance of Syrian "occupation" of Lebanon.

One official said that the main hope of avoiding a disaster was that the Arab leaders would arrive at a cease-fire and make it work before the conflict got completely out of control.

For many weeks, the United States tried through a special envoy, L. Dean Brown, to act as a middleman between the various factions in Beirut, but the Brown mission ended without a solution to the conflict. Last week, when the Syrians

BEAUME WEIGHING CHANGES IN HEADS OF SOME AGENCIES

Eisenpreis, Hornbliss and Starr May Be Replaced
Within Next 60 Days

By FRANCIS X. CLINES
City Hall officials indicated yesterday that two or three agency heads might be replaced in the next 60 days as Mayor Beame presses for management changes.

The shifts under consideration focus on the offices of Economic Development Administrator, held at present by Alfred Eisenpreis; Addiction Services Administrator, held by Jerome Hornbliss, and Housing and Development Administrator, held by Roger Starr.

Mr. Starr's disaffection with the New York City government job has become clear in recent months as the city's fiscal crisis has limited his options to pursue new programs. Mr. Hornbliss's agency is being bled into the health bureaucracy, but the post will remain in some form. Mr. Eisenpreis is said to have indicated to City Hall that he is looking for a job elsewhere.

Sharply Criticized
While all three changes have been in the rumor stage for several weeks, city officials have begun talking with greater certainty and relating them to the controversy over management reform, on which the Beame administration was sharply criticized last week by state fiscal supervisors.

First Deputy Mayor John E. Zuccotti defended the city's record on management reform yesterday, saying that the criticism, made by Stephen Berger, executive director of the State Emergency Financial Control Board, "does not seem to be based on the facts."

Chief among these, he said, is the city's plan to introduce a new management information system at the end of this month under which the heads of the 30 major agencies would be required to make monthly administrative and budget progress reports to the Mayor.

Mr. Zuccotti said that more than a half dozen of the top places in the Beame administration have been turned over since the beginning of the year and that the need for new commissioners was not as pressing as some critics insisted. He

FORD VICTOR IN JERSEY AND OHIO; CARTER IS SET BACK IN JERSEY; REAGAN, BROWN LEAD CALIFORNIA

Jimmy Carter being hugged by his daughter, Amy, on his return to Atlanta yesterday

Carter Wins in Ohio, Gets 100 Delegates

By R. W. APPLE JR.
President Ford scored convincing triumphs over Ronald Reagan in the Ohio and New Jersey primaries yesterday, but Mr. Reagan, the conservative former California Governor, was running far ahead in his home state.

Jimmy Carter piled up a huge majority in Ohio, leading in more than 100 of the 152 Democratic delegate posts at stake there.

But he fared poorly elsewhere, trailing Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. of California in that state and an uncommitted slate in New Jersey. The slate endorsed both Mr. Brown and Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, and Mr. Brown campaigned strenuously for it.

The New Jersey contest was confused, partly because of ballot complexities and partly because of an exceedingly slow count. Mr. Carter won the political contest by a huge margin, but his delegate candidates trailed badly, leading for 26 spots as against 41 for the uncommitted.

A Slight Setback
The strong showing of the uncommitted slates in New Jersey, where the "anybody but Carter" movement had concentrated its efforts in the final week, was a symbolic blow to Mr. Carter's campaign. He had hoped to win two of three primaries yesterday to silence opposition to his nomination.

Nonetheless, the diminutive Georgian appeared to be headed for a rich delegate harvest, possibly exceeding his target of 200 for the day. That would push his total to within

KISSINGER ASSAILS CHILE OVER CURBS

At O.A.S. Meeting. He Says
Violations of Human Rights
Impair Ties With U.S.

By JUAN de ONIS
Special to The New York Times
SANTIAGO, Chile, June 8—Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today that human-rights violations had "impaired our relationship with Chile" and called on all American countries to observe "fundamental standards of humane conduct."

Mr. Kissinger addressed a closed session of the meeting of American foreign ministers here. Earlier the ministers heard Dudley Thompson, foreign Minister of Jamaica, appeal to Chile to grant 4,000 political prisoners an amnesty.

Violations of human rights in Latin America has been the major topic so far at this sixth general assembly of the Organization of American States, which is being attended by all members of the regional organization except Cuba and Mexico.

At the last meeting of the O.A.S. general assembly, the United States supported a deferral of consideration of a report by the Inter-American Human Rights Commission on the basis of an agreement that Chile allow a United Nations

Humphrey-Brown Slate Appears Jersey Winner

By RONALD SULLIVAN
The uncommitted delegates supporting Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. of California apparently won an upset victory over Jimmy Carter yesterday in New Jersey's Democratic Presidential primary election.

With approximately one-fifth of the statewide delegate votes counted from 5,085 precincts in the state, the statewide uncommitted candidates had received 55,000 votes, while Carter delegates won 40,000.

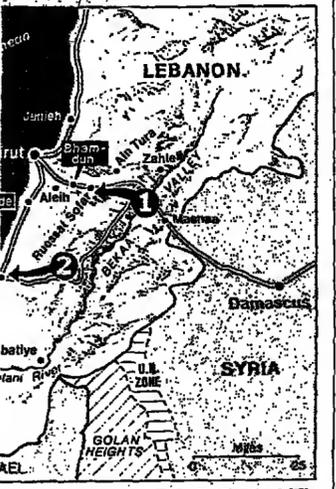

At the same time, President Ford won the Republican Presidential primary. Uncommitted delegate slates fielded by the party organization and supporting the President in the election defeated rival slates supporting Ronald Reagan under the ballot heading labeled "former California Governor."

At stake in the Democratic primary were a total of 108 delegates, 91 of them elected yesterday and 17 to be selected in proportion to the support they attracted in the voting.

State Senator James P. Dugan, the Democratic state chairman and the mastermind of the party's uncommitted, Brown-Humphrey strategy, was predicting that Mr. Carter would be beaten by a 3-to-2 margin and that as many as 60 uncommitted delegates would be elected.

According to Democratic leaders, the Brown-Humphrey candidates reaped a vote windfall in districts that were expected to support Representative Morris K. Udall of Arizona, but apparently went for the uncommitted slate instead.

For Governor Brown, the prospect of a major upset over a candidate who was the acknowledged front-runner was regarded by Democratic lead-

Under increased pressure as Syrian forces (1), again reaching Bhamdun. In the south, troops reportedly pushed into Saidia (2). Armed guerrillas continued to hold Khalde.

Experts in Europe Question U.S. Plan For Mass Flu Shots

By WALTER SULLIVAN
Special to The New York Times
GENEVA, June 7—A number of European public health specialists are seriously questioning the wisdom of the American plan to immunize almost the entire population with a new influenza vaccine.

They argue that any such program inevitably produces some adverse reactions particularly in those under age 18. While the percentage is small, when 200 million people are involved the number of those adversely affected becomes substantial.

The program, which is to cost $135 million, can therefore be justified, they say, only if the risk of a serious outbreak is substantial. No European government has considered it sufficiently so to undertake mass vaccination, although Britain, France, the Soviet Union and probably others are stockpiling the vaccine.

The critics concede that initially the outbreak of January and February at the Fort Dix, N. J., Army base looked alarming. When throat swab specimens from seven flu victims at the base were examined by the

Decency and Courage in Lebanese Horror

By HENRY TANNER
Special to The New York Times
BEIRUT, June 6—Cases these deadly weapons are not aimed but pointed headlessly in the general direction of residential neighborhoods on the other side of the dividing line.

On-the-spot slayings and kidnappings on religious grounds have been daily occurrences. Westerners, numbed by the horror tales, may have come to think that there is a vicious flaw in the Lebanese character. But this reporter, having moved in and out of the daily lives of many Moslem and Christian Lebanese for some time, has encountered as much courage, decency, character

Electability, Not Issues Surveys Indicate That Ford and Carter Are Viewed as Stronger Contenders

By JAMES M. NAUGHTON
Electability overshadowed contest with an uncommitted slate of delegates dividing their affections between two Carter rivals.

Only in California, where the home-state status of their rivals skewed the outcome, did the President lose resoundingly to former Governor Reagan and Mr. Carter run far behind Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.

The emerging focus on the survivability of the party nominees clearly colored the end of the long primary season and foreshadowed the efforts by Republican and Democratic front-runners to persuade uncommitted delegates that they would be the strongest stand-

President Augusto Pinochet of Chile receives Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger in his offices in Santiago. Mr. Kissinger later condemned Chile's violations of human rights, in a speech before the general assembly of the Organization of American States.

Democrats Cancel Picnic On Gracie Mansion Lawn

By FRANK LYNN
Undaunted by the usual hazards of red ants and rain, a deluxe $125-a-plate picnic sponsored by the Democratic State Committee dinner. That affair is usually held every June in a midtown hotel.

Gracie Mansion, the Mayor's official residence, had been selected, according to state committee aides, because it was free and because it might attract customers for the affair. As many as 1,000 were expected to crowd the lawn at the mansion, which overlooks the East River at East End Avenue and 88th Street.

The Mayor merely cited unspecified "criticism" as the reason for his change of heart and tossed the franks, hamburgers

NEWS INDEX

Page	Page
Books	37
Bridge	26
Business	48-49
Crossword	37
Education	51
Family/Style	22-31
Financial	53-64
Foreign	32-33
Games	33-35
Health	32-33
History	32-33
Humor	32-33
Law	32-33
Life	32-33
Local	32-33
Music	32-33
Opinion	32-33
Politics	32-33
Real Estate	32-33
Religion	32-33
Sports	32-33
Theater	32-33
Travel	32-33
TV and Radio	32-33
Weather	32-33
World	32-33

they is growing

BROOKSGATE

THE RUGBY AT BROOKSGATE

Perfect topping for a Summer's day... our colorful rugby pullover of cotton and polyester blend features stripings of navy-light blue, navy-yellow or navy-peach with contrasting collar. Sizes small, medium or large. $10

Mail orders invited or telephone 697-3131.

- ATLANTA
- BOSTON
- CHICAGO
- CINCINNATI
- DALLAS
- DETROIT
- HOUSTON
- LOS ANGELES
- PHILADELPHIA
- PITTSBURGH
- ST. LOUIS
- SAN FRANCISCO
- WASHINGTON, D.C.

ESTABLISHED 1818

Brooks Brothers
CLOTHING

Mens & Boys Furnishings, Hats & Shoes

346 MADISON AVE., COR. 44th ST., NEW YORK, N. Y. 10017
111 BROADWAY, NEW YORK, N. Y. 10006
696 WHITE PLAINS ROAD, SCARSDALE, N. Y. 10583

Legalization of Parties Due in Madrid

By HENRY GINGER
Special to The New York Times

MADRID, June 8—The approval by a reluctant and doubtful Parliament of the first free political parties since the end of the Civil War in 1939 was expected tomorrow after a last-ditch fight by followers of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

The debate, which opened this morning, was held under emergency procedures that limited discussion both on the bill for political association as well as a complementary one aimed at changes in the penal code.

Some of the most profound political changes in Spain since the death of Franco last November were due to be completed Thursday at the latest. The law would then be open for parliamentary opponents of the late dictator to the principal exception of the Communist Party.

Diehard supporters of the semi-Fascist corporative system denounced the reintroduction of political parties, anathema to Franco, as unconstitutional and incompatible with the National Movement that he established as the only permissible framework for political activity.

Rightists Ask Delay
Pio Cabanillas, a former Information Minister dismissed by Franco for liberalism, reported out the bill and said it "looked to the future, which we must enter with confidence. He said it was all right to be loyal to the past, but we also need to be free of the past."

Rightist opponents kept returning to the rostrum to appeal for delay, and more consideration. Even some who said they would vote for the bill had reservations about the decisive change. It was apparent, however, that the outright opponents were fighting a losing battle and as they crowded on Manuel Fraga Iribarne, the minister of the Interior and a major architect of reform, felt asleep. Prime Minister Carlos Arias Navarro kept fighting to keep his eyes open and shortly before 9 o'clock tonight, the debate was put off until tomorrow.

The law requires a party seeking recognition to present a request to the Ministry of the Interior for inscription in a special register. The Government then has two months to accept or reject the request. In the event of rejection, an appeal can be made to the Supreme Court, which is also the body empowered to suspend or disempower a party on request of the Government.

Accompanying legislation concerning changes in the penal code will make explicit what constitutes an illegal association or party. A group will be illegal if it is against public morals, if it is organized to commit a crime, if its aim is violent subversion, the destruction of the judicial, political, economic and social order, or the undermining of the sovereignty, unity and independence of the country and the integrity and security of its territory.

It will also be illegal to promote discrimination based on race, religion, sex or economic status. Removed from the penal code was a clause declaring it illegal to form a regime based on the division of the Spanish into political or class groups. Another clause dropped had simply declared any group outlawed by the Government to be illegal.

The Government has served notice that it will use the new law to refuse legal status to all Communist, separatist and anarchist groups. The deputies struck out a reference to groups that propose the setting up of a totalitarian regime, presumably because this could be used in the future against right-wing groups as well as the Communists. The Interior Ministry could reject the Communists on the ground of violent subversion or of a threat to national independence.

After passage of the two bills, the next move will be to the anti-Franco opposition, which has had to wait 37 years to play a legal role in Spanish life and get a chance at exercising power. The front established these groups in an organization called Democratic Coordination is expected to break down despite the solidarity shown toward the Communists up to now.

Some of the Christian Democrats, for example, are saying they will move to legalize themselves even though they are opposed to the exclusion of the Communists. In the elections for a new assembly, they would include in their platform a provision to legalize the Communists. They would thus be able to stand by principle while not tying their fate to that of the Communists.

Although the socialists have not said so publicly, many are known to favor the idea of being able to organize openly and thus gain an edge on the Communists. To make the changes a success, the Government is counting on this general wish to participate in politics after so many years. A previous law on political association failed because it was so hemmed in by restrictions as to make it unacceptable to the opposition.

Genoa Prosecutor, A Foe of Extremists, Is Slain by Gunmen

GENOA, Italy, June 8 (AP)—Genoa's state attorney, long a foe of left-wing extremists, was shot to death on a busy downtown street today, just 12 days before Italy's crucial national elections. His bodyguard and driver also were slain.

The prosecutor, Francesco Recco, had been investigating an urban guerrilla group called the Red Brigades. A Government spokesman called the well-prepared cold political murder. But there were also reports the crime was an act of the Mafia.

A left-wing extremist group calling itself the New Partisans claimed responsibility for the shooting in a handwritten message left in a telephone booth. "An enemy of the people has paid. Now it is the turn of politicians. Beware you rabble," the message said. All political parties in Genoa agreed to suspend political rallies because of the killings.

Violence Spreading
It was the second fatal shooting in two weeks as violence between opposing political factions.

Witnesses reported that five gunmen, acting in two separate squads, shot Mr. Recco, 67, and his bodyguard as they walked from the car to his home for lunch.

Mr. Recco's driver rushed to his side and was also shot to death, witnesses said. The gunmen, all described as in their 30's, fled through the crowd. Two reportedly escaped on a motorcycle.

Mr. Recco's wife and daughter heard the shooting and were among the first to reach the bodies.

Refused to Negotiate
The attorney became prominent nationally two years ago when he refused to negotiate with left-wing extremists who had kidnapped Mario Sossi, another Genoa prosecutor and one of Mr. Recco's closest friends.

The abductors threatened to kill Mr. Sossi if Mr. Recco refused to release several extremists serving prison terms on various charges, but the prosecutor refused.

Mr. Sossi was eventually released unharmed. Mr. Recco has been extremely active in investigating the extremists since then.

Saharan Rebels Stage 2 Raids Inside Capital of Mauritania

NOUAKCHOTT, Mauritania, Wednesday, June 9 (Agence France-Presse)—Guerrillas demanding independence for the former Spanish Saharan territory that Mauritania and Morocco have divided attacked this capital twice yesterday.

A Government communiqué issued early today said guerrillas subjected the city to 10-minute shelling last night from about six miles away. No casualties or damage were reported.

Yesterday morning Mauritanian troops beat off a mortar attack during which several mortar shells landed in the city.

Mauritania officials said the raid was staged by a suicide squad of guerrillas from the Algerian-backed Polisario movement, which proclaimed an independent republic on Feb. 27 [The Algerian press service also identified the raiders as Polisario guerrillas, United Press International reported from Algiers.]

The New York Times/June 9, 1976

Our Kenneth Jay Lar
It's the icing on I
The perfect top for summer, I striped tunic in sherbet-y-co as shaved iced. Styled w nonchalance of a shirt, a sashed at the waist. For Ma hlic and green or beige striped Qian luxu never practic
76
Blouse

*Du Pont registered trademark Mail and phone. Call 11 5:30am-9pm. Adv delivered and sales tax where appl
Fifth Avenue at 50th Street and all Bows

COURREGES Jumps into Summer with a cool, crisp, poplin jump suit—impeccably tailored with snappy snap clothing... In beige—$215. Exclusively at

Courreges
boutique
19 East 57th Street • 755-0300
Paris • New York • Palm Beach
Americans Express and other major credit cards accepted.

It Stands alone
In value—in price
$6.22 carats $11,500

The diamond you've always wanted at a price you are willing to pay is at Armiton where we purchase directly from estates, banks, private owners and trustees.

Out-of-Town Examination Arranged Without COST or OBLIGATION

Stop in or Call:

AMITON
69 West 47th Street
New York, N.Y. 10036
(212) 247-3218

ACAPULCO • MEXICO

1 week only $279
per person, double occupancy

Includes: Round Trip Jet Air • Hotels • Transfers • Luggage Tips • All Taxes

NO EXTRAS—COMPARE BEFORE YOU GO!

RESERVE NOW WITH YOUR TRAVEL AGENT

For Information Call:
ASTI TOURS TO MEXICO
(212) 686-9266

BREAKFAST IS SERVED!

Open for breakfast weekdays from 7:30 a.m. Relax and plan your day. Or, use convenient carry-out service.

Stouffer's
FIFTH AVENUE
666 Fifth Ave. / 581-4333

THE NEW YORK TIMES
Published daily, second-class postage paid at New York, N.Y., and at additional mailing offices.

MAIL SUBSCRIPTION U.S. TERRITORIES
Monday and Sunday, $7.50 (12 issues)
Monday only, $6.00 (10 issues)
Monday only, $4.50 (8 issues)
Rates to other countries on request.

The Associated Press is entitled, according to the law for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and local news of distinctive character. Payment for republication of all other matter herein is also reserved.

★★★ RATED EXCELLENT
John Canaday
1976 New York Times Diney Old Guide

THE ASSEMBLY STEAKHOUSE
16 WEST 51 ST.
RESERVATIONS LY 1-3680
Elite in the prime night
FREE PARKING EVENINGS

AMERICAN MARINES, STEAKSHOPS, CLIPPER SHIPS, NATURAL, PORT SCENES, YACHTS, IN PRINTS AND PAINTINGS

Look for the unusual at
THE OLD PRINT SHOP
130 Livingston Ave. at 59th St., N.Y.C.
Est. 1968 MU 3-3650

MARK CROSS
MADE IN ENGLAND

The leanest
the fattest the simplest the richest the finest the most wallets in the world are ready and waiting for you in Mark Cross
Leathers

(Note to loving sons and daughters for Father's Day: prices begin at a very possible $22.)

Fifth Avenue at 55th Street
New York, New York 10022
212-421-3000

New York • Atlanta
Baltimore • Houston • San Francisco • Troy, Michigan

EXCLUSIVELY AT
D. Sokolin Co.
178 Madison Ave. (33-34 St.)
IMMEDIATE ORDER AND INQUIRY
LE 2-5893, MU 4-3828

IMPORTANT NOTICE: D. SOKOLIN CO. will best the advertised prices of any N.Y. Wine at a chant (provided we have the item inventoried).

Open daily to 6:30, Sat. to 6 p.m.

THE INCREDIBLE D. SOKOLIN 6 CASE SAMP away hit! How to order—Select one case EA
SIX DIFFERENT WINES for only $144. C
Chall—84-3826. ANY 3 CASES—NO

REDS	WHITES
1973 Chateau L'Abeville	1975 Muscadet
1973 Chateau Pichay	1974 Sancerre
1971 Chateau Pichay	1974 Bourgogne A.C.
1973 Chateau Fontenay	1975 Vouvray
1974 Chateau Fontenay	1977 Chateau Fontenay
1974 Cabernet Sauvignon	1975 Gewurztraminer

SOGNO Jewels

ROLEX

PRECISE • IMPREGNATED
PRESSURE-PROOF

In Rockefeller Center Since 1933
12 West 50th St. New York, N.Y. 10020 CI

ONLY PRIME STEAKS

PIESS BOX

Lunches/Cocktails/Dinner
138 East 45th Street
TU 8-4565

La Chaussette
Lafayette • NY
Cuisine
British iron plays and/or dance show starting 8:30

La Chaussette
605 Second Ave. (147-48)

Complains of Fearful and Co

La Chaussette

تسكن من الأهل

Brezhnev Complains of Increase in Efforts to Hamper Detente

By The Times Staff

ne 8—The Soviet leader, Leonid I. Brezhnev, today of a "rise" in efforts to hamper East-West detente and declared that the Soviet Union was "not prepared to oppose" the efforts of the United States to achieve a "balance of power" in the world.

Mr. Brezhnev said that the Soviet Union was "not prepared to oppose" the efforts of the United States to achieve a "balance of power" in the world.

Mr. Brezhnev said that the Soviet Union was "not prepared to oppose" the efforts of the United States to achieve a "balance of power" in the world.

Leonid I. Brezhnev, Soviet party leader, welcomes Prime Minister Indira Gandhi to Moscow. She is on an official visit. At left is Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. Prime Minister Aleksei N. Kosygin is next to Mr. Brezhnev.

Mr. Brezhnev said that the Soviet Union was "not prepared to oppose" the efforts of the United States to achieve a "balance of power" in the world.

Mr. Brezhnev said that the Soviet Union was "not prepared to oppose" the efforts of the United States to achieve a "balance of power" in the world.

Mr. Brezhnev said that the Soviet Union was "not prepared to oppose" the efforts of the United States to achieve a "balance of power" in the world.

Mr. Brezhnev said that the Soviet Union was "not prepared to oppose" the efforts of the United States to achieve a "balance of power" in the world.

Mr. Brezhnev said that the Soviet Union was "not prepared to oppose" the efforts of the United States to achieve a "balance of power" in the world.

Mr. Brezhnev said that the Soviet Union was "not prepared to oppose" the efforts of the United States to achieve a "balance of power" in the world.

likewise and expect its clear answer."

China also seemed to figure in Mr. Brezhnev's complaint that "there are forces in Asia which, ignoring the rights and sovereignty of states, are striving to subordinate other peoples to their rule. The Soviet Union, stung by Chinese accusations that it was seeking domination, has accused China of plotting aggression against its Asian neighbors."

MOSCOW is believed to be uncomfortable about New Delhi's patching up its relations with Peking following their rupture in the 1972 fighting over the Himalayan border. It is expected that the Russians will seek an explanation of Indian intentions on China at the current talks.

Mrs. Gandhi's visit has been given a lavish buildup in the Soviet press, which has been stressing the close ties between Moscow and New Delhi. Today, Mr. Brezhnev went to the airport to meet Mrs. Gandhi. It was the first time he had made such a trip for a non-Communist visitor since President Valery Giscard d'Estaing of France came here last October.

Western and Asian diplomats have attributed the reception to Moscow's desire to stress its links with the world's largest nonaligned nation before the conference of nonaligned countries convenes in Colombo, Sri Lanka, in August. Mrs. Gandhi's visit comes at a time when the Russians have been frustrated by their increasing inability to influence events in the Middle East and want to improve their image in the third world.

Naples, Fearful and Confused, Will Cast Votes Negatively

By The Times Staff

ROME, June 8—The Christian Democrats here are going to vote against the Communist proposal to build facilities and bolster investment have made some impact, but the widespread abandonment of agricultural land has caused a net loss in jobs.

Out of about two million workers in the Naples area, only about one-third have full-time jobs. Street crime abounds and street cleaners are invisible. A cholera epidemic swept the city two years ago, and infant mortality rates are among the highest in Europe.

Before the victory of a Communist-Socialist coalition last year, the Christian Democrats ruled Naples like a feudal fiefdom. Party loyalists received jobs, favors, contracts and protection. Campaign posters proclaimed the "renewal" of the Christian Democrats, but their ticket here is again headed by Antonio Gava, a man whose power and influence have earned him the nickname "God-father of Naples."

Too Much Delinquency

The result has been a sharp shift to the left. One example is Mario Esposito, a young taxi driver and the father of three children, who said: "I am voting Communist as a protest. I've never voted for them before, but there's too much delinquency and too little work."

"I don't like Communism at all," Mr. Esposito continued while waiting for a fare, "but in order for me to make ends meet, I have to work overtime and watch every penny. The only way others live well is by stealing, and it's not fair for me to make so many sacrifices and get so little. I just want to live in peace. I am tired of working two jobs and tired of going into debt. I am fed up, and I don't know what else to do."

This sense of unfairness pervades Naples today. Esposito Crescenzo has always sold newspapers and voted Socialist, but now he is reluctantly switching to the Communists. As he stood outside his small stand he explained: "In this system, the poor always have to give in to the rich. There's a lot of discrimination, and it doesn't seem fair to me. I went to enroll my child in school, and the guard said: 'What are you doing, sending your child to school? You sell papers.' He was saying that because I am a paper seller that's what my daughter should be. But why should a salesman always be a salesman? After that, I began to feel uneasy."

Eduardo d'Amico saved enough money rooting out go-carts in the park to send his son to college. Mr. d'Amico is still voting Christian Democratic, but his son is out of a job and voting Communist.

A Feeling of Fear

"In Italy, whoever has the most pull is the one who succeeds," the father said. "My son has applied to the banks, the schools, everywhere. But what do you expect? Those are political jobs. His only alternative is to vote for the Communists."

For many Neapolitans frustration is matched by fear. "I won't vote Communist because I'm afraid of the things they do," explained Mr. d'Amico. "They shoot, they throw bombs, and I don't like that."

"We're going badly, and we'd like to try something different, but we're afraid that the Communists will be worse," added Maria Nunez, a 40-year-old mother of five. "The Communists are promising to give work to the unemployed, but where are they going to get the jobs? There is nothing."

"Under Communism your own personality is canceled out, you're just a number," said Giovanni Leone, part owner of a beauty shop. "There is no private initiative, no desire to work harder and get more customers."

One of his customers turned around and added: "For the love of God I am voting for the Christian Democrats. When ever you have a totalitarian regime, the first thing they do is take away your freedom. I don't like the Christian Democrats, but in order to avoid the Communists we should stay with the imperfect system we have now."

As the confusion deepens and the alternatives seem bleaker, some Neapolitans are strating to talk nostalgically about the order and discipline of Fascism. "Maybe it was better when we had Mussolini," mused Mrs. Nunez, whose husband is a truck driver for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. "At least when you had a complaint against the landlord you knew where to go. Today you have nowhere to go."

"Maybe the Italian people shouldn't have been given so much liberty in the first place, they need a strong hand," said a young Communist now in the ever you have a totalitarian regime, the first thing they do as long as it's limited."

50%

ndpa's shirt ood a look to we've done it opper blue-white oo-white stripes resh white collar uffs. Enjoy! By ess in polyester-
P, S, M, 14.00
New Yorker lingerie
loor, Lord & Taylor
VI 7-3300
I Lord & Taylor stores

BERGDORF'S SPECIAL SALE
Better Separates
1/3 to 1/2 off original prices
A very special group of skirts and T-shirts to stock up for summer.
Do come! PLUS
Pre-Summer Clearance
Designer Sportswear from Anne Klein, Calvin Klein, Beane Bag, Blessport, Kasper, Fredricks, even some golf clothes from Active Sportswear
1/3 to 1/2 off original prices
Country & Casual, Third Floor

On the Plaza in New York and White Plains
BERGDORF GOODMAN

blaming dolores cul-de-sac

HEARTS OF MY HEART...and other beautiful treasures. Seventeen in all. Made of real stones, and hand done in sterling. With beads of garnet, onyx, and peking glass. A necklace extraordinary by Lucy Isaacs 220.00. One from a collection of one-of-a-kind necklaces in Cul-de-Sac, The Arcade, New York only.

1000 Third Avenue, New York. 355-5900. Open late Monday and Thursday evenings.

Not simply a matter of time, but a distinctive way of watching the hours. A timely gift for her momentous occasions, the horseshoe watch with tan leather strap by Kenneth I. Lane. A 17-jewel timepiece guaranteed for one year against any defect originally in the movement. 60 Fashion Jewelry Collections. Sizes: Ladies. Call 212 912-4000. Add sales tax on mail and phone. 1.25 handling charge beyond our regular delivery area.

The fascinating case of the horseshoe watch and its from Saks Fifth Avenue

NEW YORK • WHITE PLAINS • SPRINGFIELD • GARDEN CITY • SOUTHAMPTON

MARK OF THE LION

A great new breed of sport shirt, in new species of prints and earthy colors.

An uncommonly fine gift in a lustrous cotton with a silken touch. From Anne Klein Design Studios. S, m, xl. 35.00. Designer Shop, Men's Store, main floor, Fifth Avenue, (212) MU9-7000 and branches.

B. Altman & Co. Make this June 20th Father's finest Day!

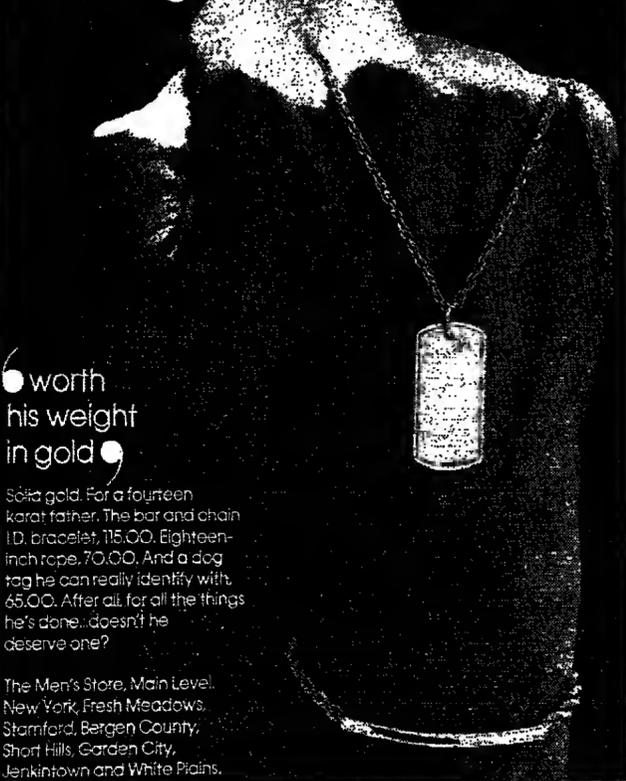

A little handicraft for your feet!

Intricate patterns of macramé. That's what makes our summer sandals beautiful examples of art and craftsmanship. Woven to perfection. Then delicately knotted. And set on a comfortable rope sole. From our Miller Eye Collection in natural beige, 24.00. Pair Tree of Shoes, Seventh Floor. Call EL 5-6800, Ext. 757

BONWIT TELLER

Mail and phone. Add 1.35 outside delivery area and sales tax where applicable. Fifth Avenue at 36th Street, New York a perfect father's day...where else but at bloomingdales/the men's store worth his weight in gold

Solid gold. For a fourteen karat father. The bar and chain I.D. bracelet, 115.00. Eighteen-inch rope, 70.00. And a dog tag he can really identify with, 65.00. After all, for all the things he's done, doesn't he deserve one?

The Men's Store, Main Level, New York, Fresh Meadows, Stamford, Bergen County, Short Hills, Garden City, Jenkintown and White Plains.

1000 Third Avenue, New York. 355-5900. Open late Monday and Thursday evenings.

View of World's Shantytowns Less Grim

By GLADWIN HILL
Special to The New York Times
VANCOUVER, British Columbia, June 8—Shantytowns of squatters, living on land that does not belong to them, are gaining a new respectability around the world.

Once disparaged, they have become so numerous and extensive that in many places they are the rule rather than the exception in urban settlements. Consequently they are a prime topic of concern at the United Nations Conference on Human Settlements—known as Habitat—which is rounding out its second and final week here. One of the meeting's main aims is to crystallize new national policies regarding these "unauthorized communities."

Although squatter settlements have all but disappeared in the United States, United Nations surveys show that they are the home of tens of millions of people in foreign countries—the terminal of much of the great worldwide migration to cities in the last generation and the fastest growing segment of society.

From Latin America to Asia, anywhere from one-fourth to two-thirds of the nominal population of metropolises such as Mexico City, Bogota and Calcutta are squatters.

Seeking Jobs and Food
They have been drawn to cities in search of employment, food or urban services and facilities they could not find in the countryside.

For generations, public authorities have countenanced squatter settlements because their illegal status exempted communities from providing them with services like water, sewer systems and electricity. But the squatter society has gotten so big in many places in the underdeveloped three-quarters of the world as to overshadow the traditional communities and exert formidable political and social pressures.

The world's population of four billion is expected to double in 30 years. Squatter settlements are growing at an annual rate of 12 percent, which means a doubling in size in less than seven years.

Governments have been responding to the problem in contrasting ways: in some places evicting squatters and trying to wipe out their settlements, in others moving to legitimize them and provide them with community services.

According to a United Nations survey, in Kenya the Government burned a squatter settlement in the heart of Nairobi, but allowed the occupants to resettle in an outlying area. Hong Kong has a policy of "shantytown clearance and resettlement. Mexico City authorities in years past used riot policemen and bulldozers to clear squatters. But more recently, Mexico has introduced a system under which the Government may expropriate private land occupied by squatters and sell it to them at below-market prices.

There appears to be taking place a change in attitudes, if not policies, toward squatter settlements," says a United Nations background paper circulated among the 4,500 delegates to the conference here. "In part, this change reflects a growing awareness by government that in the absence of alternative forms of low-cost dwellings, a policy of repression is both futile and self-defeating."

While they appear to be the most backward form of settlement in the light of changed circumstances the shantytowns are viewed as having some significant progressive aspects. A vital ingredient to improvement of the quality of life in all the world's communities, by conference consensus, is public participation in planning and development. It is one of six major topics to which conference deliberations are directed.

Squatter settlements are communities with a high degree of citizen participation. Typically, they develop governmental structures headed by counterparts of the old-time American ward boss, who procures and dispenses favors in return for cooperation and support. "The marginal settlement, in all its ramifications of providing housing, services and community to poor urban settlers," the United Nations study found, "is the broadest-possible application of the participatory approach, albeit in an unplanned way."

A draft recommendation for national action, which the conference is expected to adopt, says: "Newcomers, squatters and other so-called marginal populations should be assisted in the provision of services, especially those to which they have already contributed by spontaneous initiatives."

CAIRO, June 8 (UPI)—The staff of the Egyptian Embassy in Damascus, which was stormed on Saturday, returned here early today on Government orders. A staff member said the embassy had been stormed by 600 Syrians. The Egyptians retaliated by ordering the staff members of the Syrian Embassy to leave Cairo in 48 hours. They left yesterday.

TOURNEAU

world's first dual display electronic chronograph

CHRONOSPLIT at Tourneau...

An "all sports" and laboratory split-second stopwatch. At touch of a button, bright digits flash 1/10 second readings up to a display total of ten hours with 99.998% accuracy. It's also a precision timepiece that shows hour/minute time of day as a constant readout in bold numbers, plus available readings of seconds and date. Water resistant to a depth of 100 feet. Stainless steel with matching bracelet. $450

TOURNEAU

500 Madison Avenue at 52nd Street
New York City 10022 • (212) PL8-3265

All prices credit cards honored. Mail and phone orders welcome. Add sales tax where applicable.

Thank you, Holston, for seeing to it that I don't miss a minute of summer via too little feather-weights that'll cover for me come last-minute invitations. I'll be sure to slip into S.F.A. and corner the Holston big-wig who'll be here through Friday to help me decide on just the right color and cut. Top, the Will-o'-Wisp. Bottom, the Capful-o'-Curis. Each in monogable modacrylic, regularly $30 to $35, now on sale at 19.90. Wig Boutique, Street Floor. Sorry, no mail or phone orders.

Non-stop wigs and pretty heady savings, my summer indispensables, and they're from

Saks Fifth Avenue

Saks Fifth Avenue at Rockefeller Center

ROLEX

TIME IN THE RIGHT OR

Elegant, impregnable chronometer from Tiffany, for him the Rolex Oyster Perpetual with matching bracelet of solid 18kt. gold with matching bracelet $3,800. For her the elegant hand-crafted complement with matching President bracelet.

TIFFANY & CO.

NEW YORK 37th Ave. 437th St. 12th Floor
ATLANTA CHICAGO HOUSTON SAN FRANCISCO

NIGHT has a and Change
In ph of wo trou
C

On the Plaza in New York and White F

BERGDORF GOODMAN

See the tip of an iceber at lunchtin

Visit Galaxy's Manhattan display pav 666 Fifth Avenue. We'll show and tell enough to whet your appetite for our course lifestyle across the Hudson. I see the whole thing, you'll want to go and call the movers so you can come Galaxy forever.

A view of New York New Yorkers never lifestyle New Yorkers only dream of, 2 1/2 north of the Lincoln Tunnel, 15 minutes Manhattan. Opposite the 79th Street Ma N.Y. Rental Office: 666 Fifth Avenue, N. Call: (212) 247-7455. Open 7 days a week 10 AM to 6 PM. New Jersey Rental Office: 7000 Boulevard East, Guttenberg, N.J. 07093. Call: (212) 279-7400 or (201) 861-7400.

مكتبة من الأصل

ful Forum That Parallels the Habitat Conference Is Virtually Another World

OLDENBERG
New York Times

one to the other as he shook off the dust. The incident underscored the differences between the forum, as the informal conference is known, and "downtown" the official meeting, known as Habitat.

The forum, which seems populated largely by students and younger visitors, has taken on much of the air of a counterculture festival, while the official sessions are attended by gray-suited diplomats who spend most of their time arguing about the wording of resolutions. It is, as an architect from New York remarked, the haves and the have-nots. "For the official delegates, going to the forum was like slumming," he said. The two groups have little contact, and there is no central force to pull them together. The split appears to be widening; posters show a cartoon of the Habitat symbol—a stick figure within a triangular shelter which the figure bursts out of.

So far it is uncertain just what such communication would be. The main conference is dealing largely with political matters as it struggles toward agreement on a final version of a set of guidelines for international action on housing and urban issues. The guidelines, which advocate in general terms such policies as public participation in planning and public control of land use, were given tentative form months ago on a preliminary agenda.

The Forum, housed at Jericho Beach, miles from the downtown hotels of the main conference, is a casual, confused teach-in in the 1960's. Much of the forum has been taken up with such issues as energy, which the main conference has not dealt with in detail. If the forum participants attempt to confront the official conference with any demand, it is expected to be consideration of the prohibition of nuclear reactors. The forum has also sponsored sessions on subjects the main meeting is considering, such as public participation in the planning process, which it favors less equivocally than the official session appears to.

I'm off to market, picking up some sun on the way. A little tucked sundress that couldn't be fresher!

If I get lost in the woods I may not get home to change for dinner. Give me one strapless sundress that's sensational for any eventuality!

When I go out I take my flowers with me... on a little puckered dress that loves the sun as much as I do!

When the sun shines, be beautifully in bloom with cotton sundressing that wraps, bares, ties and is very much in season.

Left, tucked-front sundress that wraps, blue or tan, for 6 to 14 sizes, $38.

Center, flounced, strapless sundress, red or tan, for 4 to 12 sizes, $36.

Right, puckered sundress with a halter that ties, navy or red, for 6 to 14 sizes, $38.

Sportdress Collections, Third Floor. Call (212) PL 3-4000. Add sales tax on mail and phone, 1.25 handling charge beyond our regular delivery area.

Sunning myself in a bare new way. Fresh-cut flowers, one of the pleasures of summer from

Saks Fifth Avenue

Rogers
Peet

SPECIAL PURCHASE!

MEN'S SUMMER SPORT SHIRTS

We are offering a special group of short sleeve sport shirts. Cut & sewn and knit models of polyester blends, all cottons and Qiana® nylon.

S-M-L-XL

975
Values $14 to $20

We honor the American Express, BankAmericard and Master Charge cards.
• 479 FIFTH AVENUE • 600 FIFTH AVENUE • 238 BROADWAY AT WARREN
• THE FASHION CENTER, PARAMUS, N.J.

Kissinger Says Rights Offenses Hurt U.S. Relations With Chile

Continued From Page 1, Col. 4

rights group to conduct an inspection here. The United States considered this a breach of an agreement and is now emphasizing the importance of the O.A.S. human-rights group.

Mr. Kissinger proposed that the rights commission, an organ of the O.A.S., be given a stronger mandate and an enlarged staff and budget to investigate the status of human rights without having to wait for complaints.

This seven-member commission has submitted to the O.A.S. general assembly a public report covering human-rights violations in more than a dozen Latin American countries, and two restricted reports on violations in Chile and Cuba.

The 191-page report on Chile describes continuing mass arrests, torture and the disappearance of prisoners, despite what the commission called legal decrees and statements by the Chilean military Government to "tranquilize and confuse world opinion."

The 85-page report on Cuba, the first on that country since 1970 by the commission, said: "In the past five years, far from showing any decline in human-rights violations, these continue, especially in the treatment of political prisoners, arbitrary procedures of extreme rigor that reveal a total disregard for human dignity."

Cuban Deaths Noted
"Numerous political prisoners have been killed arbitrarily or have died from torture received or from lack of medical treatment," said the report on Cuba.

Mr. Kissinger said that the commission had demonstrated "independence, even-handedness and constructive potential" in its work, which has not been given a warm welcome in the Latin American dictatorships.

Since most of the 25 countries in the O.A.S. are under military regimes, Mr. Kissinger's statement was cautious and designed to avoid a split in the assembly over an issue that was not even on the agenda until last year.

He made only veiled reference in his statement to the restrictive political conditions in such countries as Brazil, where repressive security forces go hand in hand with intensive economic development.

"Technological progress without social justice mocks humanity and nationalism without a consciousness of human community—which means a shared concern for human rights—refines instruments of oppression," said Mr. Kissinger. Mr. Kissinger met for an hour today with Gen. Augusto Pinochet, the Chilean President, the Minister of Justice, Miguel Schweitzer, and Minister of Finance Jorge Cauas.

A State Department official said Mr. Kissinger had given General Pinochet advance notice of the content of his statement. But Chile gave no support to the proposal to strengthen the human-rights commission.

Mr. Kissinger also met with Antonio Francisco Azeredo da Silveira, Brazil's Foreign Minister, who is a friend. There was no immediate reaction from Brazil on the proposal.

360 People Freed
"It is an uphill struggle to get this accepted," said a United States official accompanying Mr. Kissinger.

State Department officials said they hoped that Chile would carry out the promises made earlier to Treasury Secretary William E. Simon to show greater respect to human rights.

Since Mr. Simon visited here a month ago, about 360 people have been released from detention centers. There are unconfirmed reports that some of the better-known remaining prisoners, such as members of the Communist Party leadership as Luis Corvalan and former ministers in the government of the late President Salvador Allende Gosses would be released soon.

These moves are viewed as responses to official United States warnings that Congress will cut off all economic aid as well as military aid to Chile if the human-rights situation does not improve. Military aid was halted last year, and a House measure has cut back proposed economic aid of $90 million for fiscal 1977 to a maximum of $25 million.

Mr. Kissinger said the United States wanted a "close relationship" with Chile, but he said this would not be possible until "obstacles raised by conditions violating human rights here were removed."

Kissinger-Vorster Talks Will Be Held in Hamburg

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's meeting with Prime Minister Joho Vorster of South Africa will be held June 23 and 24 in Hamburg, West Germany. The announcement of the meeting was made last week but the location was not disclosed until today. The meeting was arranged to discuss the civil war in Rhodesia and other problems in Southern Africa.

THE FRESH AIR FUND
1877-1977

BERGDORF'S PRIVATE LABEL HOSIERY SALE

- Demi-toe Pantyhose or Sandalfoot Pantyhose, 2.00 regularly 2.50
- Control-top Pantyhose, 2.50 regularly 3.00
- Girdle-top Pantyhose, 4.00 regularly 5.00
- Demi-toe or Sandalfoot, 1.00 regularly 1.25
- All of nylon in Classic Beige, Tawny, Bisque, Navy, Morning Mist, Espresso, Brown or Black.
- Hosiery, Street Floor

Mail to 754 Fifth Avenue,
New York 10019.
(212) PL3-7300
Please add 1.10
beyond our delivery area and on all orders
under 10.01.

On the Plaza in New York and White Plains

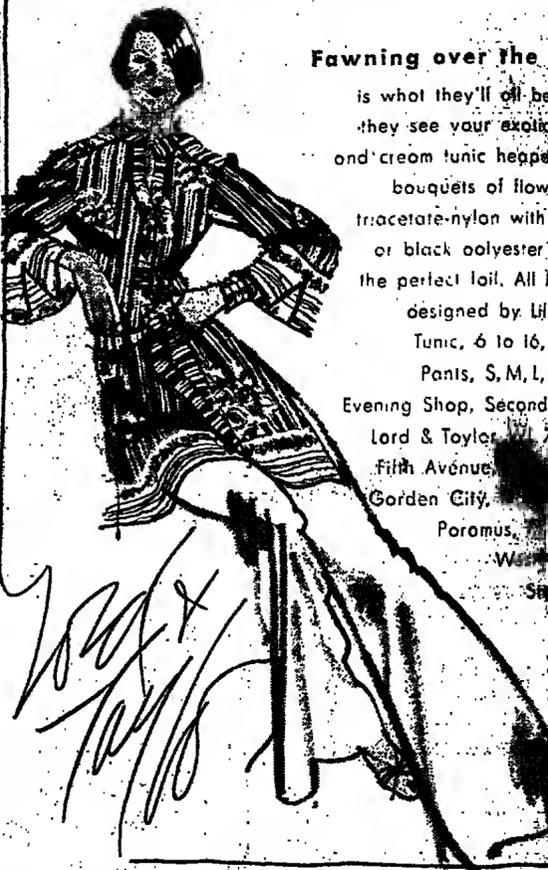

BERGDORF GOODMAN

Paul Stuart

Explore the suburbs in the safari jacket, accountants, full around belt, bellows pocket from a sturdy cotton poplin, be worn through summer and autumn. $55. Size. Please add for delivery fee. New York residents add applicable tax.

MADISON AVENUE AT 45TH STREET, NEW YORK, N.Y. 10017. MU 2-0320. OPEN 9-6.

Fawning over the is what they'll all be they see your exciting and cream tunic heaped bouquets of flow triacetate-nylon with or black polyester the perfect tail. All designed by L.H. Tunic, 6 to 16, Pants, S, M, L, Evening Shop, Second Lord & Taylor, Fifth Avenue, Garden City, Paramus, N.Y.

We'll show you and your friends how to look without spending a king's ransom. Or our name isn't Eisenberg & Eisenberg.

What we do is manufacture and sell our own men's suits, sport jackets, slacks. We make them on the 10th and sell them on the 11th since we're not in the heart of the high rent district—there's a savings in it for you. More than that: we sell the lines of men's designer shirts and plus the products of the world premiere raincoat manufacturer, overcoats, casual coats and luxury leathers—all at extraordinary prices. So if it's savings you want on clothing—including the fashion-vested European model—we've got it. (Our suits sell from $4.95 to $139. If it's savings plus the famous label want on men's furnishings—we've got it. If it's free expert alterations you want—we've got it.

If it's a 5th Avenue address you want—we've got it. But...if it's a famous store label you want—well, Eisenberg & Eisenberg is not exactly a household word. But we have been in business 77 years and a lot of people know how terrific we are. So if you're the kind of person who might label on the garment and not about the label on the store—Master Charge and BankAmericard are accepted. Open weekdays from 9 to 6; Thursdays 9 to 6; Saturdays 9 to 5; Sundays 10 to 5.

*Our complete summer line is ready for your inspection.

"The 5th Ave. Store" on the 11th Floor
Eisenberg & Eisenberg
149 5th Ave., (21st St.) OR 4-0300

STORE ONLY
SELL STOCK OFF

STREET

DISKA

comes To Copying. No One.

HUGHBY'S

250 من الامال

هكذا من الأصل

PAUL STUART
AVENUE STORE ONLY
JUST SELL
Hosiery Stock
1/3 off
NETWARE AND FINE GIFTS
FANTASTIC SAVINGS!

- Hammarplast plastic MIXING BOWL reg. $5.95 now $3.97
- Swedish crystal 10 1/2" PITCHER reg. $12.95 now $8.63
- Washable acrylic PLACEMATS Reg. $1.98 now $1.32
- Teak TRIVET reg. $4.95 now $3.30
- WAXER $1.97
- BOXES

Quantities All Sales Final
ORDISKA
Manhasset (at 58th Street) Thurs. to Sat.
Master Charge No mail orders.

INTRODUCING THE NEW
Savin
750 PORTABLE PLAIN PAPER COPIER

DEMONSTRATION OF THE SAVIN AT WILLOUGHBY'S
VROOM OR CALL FOR FREE
DEMONSTRATION IN YOUR OFFICE.
212 564-1600

When It Comes To Paper Copying,
1 Copies No One

The patent on reliability. Introducing the Savin 750 Plain Paper Copier. The shortest possible paper path, for the most reliable trouble free operation. Paper goes from self-storing cassettes to reproduction. Precise originals instead of grayed-out copies. Savin's patented balance control gives you round tone. Switch-on the first copy takes just 4 seconds. Wait one second longer. Get better copies even costs less than its major competitor. 750 Plain Paper Copier today.

Savin SAVIN BUSINESS MACHINES CORPORATION

WILLOUGHBY'S
COPY MACHINE CENTER
116 W 32nd St. 212 564-1600

For a big, big job? Look for it in the Business/Finance Section of the New York Times. And look under MARKETPLACE...in the Business/Finance pages every Tuesday.

RALLY IN ANGOLA TO SUPPORT TRIAL

Regime Arousing Interest in Case Against Mercenaries

By MARVINE HOWE
Special to The New York Times

LUANDA, Angola, June 8—The Angolan Government today scheduled a mass rally for tomorrow afternoon to show support for the forthcoming trial of two Americans and 11 other foreigners as mercenaries in the recent civil war.

For days, the nationalized press and radio have led a campaign against the 13 men who were captured in northern Angola in February while with the Western-supported National Front for the Liberation of Angola.

The state prosecution has demanded the death penalty for the prisoners—nine Britons, one Irishman and one Argentine in addition to the Americans. Antimerenary posters have been put up on the walls of the Palace of Commerce, where the trial is to open by Saturday.

The nationalist movement that set up the Luanda Government, the Popular Front for the Liberation of Angola, won the civil war with the help of Cuban troops and with aid from the Soviet Union. It crushed both the National Front and another Western-supported movement, the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola.

Exhibit Inaugurated

An international commission of inquiry on mercenaries, composed of jurists and academicians of varying degrees of leftist opinion from 27 countries, began its work here today. It is charged with observing the legality of the trial and drafting a proposal for an international convention condemning mercenaries and their recruitment. The commission is presided over by a delegate from Congo. Its secretariat includes representatives from Cuba, Angola, Belgium and the Palestine Liberation Organization.

An American correspondent who came to cover the trial for The Christian Science Monitor and The Washington Post was arrested tonight and reportedly expelled. Official action was taken against the correspondent, 28-year-old Robin Wright of Boston, after she refused the state prosecutor's request to testify at the trial.

Sources close to the authorities said that Miss Wright was accused of having "contacts" with the anti-Government National Front for the Liberation of Angola.

Miss Wright spent four days in northern Angola covering the mercenaries. She was the first journalist to report that she had shot 14 mercenaries who had refused to fight.

"I told everything I knew in my articles," Miss Wright said tonight shortly before her arrest in Luanda. "I came to the trial as a journalist not a participant."

Last night, the Angolan Minister of Justice Diogenes Boavista, opened an exhibit on the mercenaries, including war equipment, photographs of casualties and destruction, photocopies of captured documents and other evidence expected to be presented at the trial.

A principal document on display is a photocopy of a letter telling mercenaries how to get to Angola.

The letterhead reads: "Mercenary Forces Group, 15272 San Joaquin St., Kernan, California 9363. It is addressed to 'Bufkin' Mercs' and is signed 'Dave.' Bufkin has been reported as one of the principal American recruiters of mercenaries for Angola.

The first group of American mercenaries reportedly entered northern Angola on Feb. 8. British mercenaries had arrived at the end of January.

By Feb. 14 the Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola and Cuban troops had captured, killed or driven out all the mercenaries from northern Angola.

Warning in Letter

The two Americans among the prisoners are 34-year-old Daniel Gearhart, a Vietnam war veteran from Kensington, Md., and Gary Acker, 21, a former marine corporal from Sacramento, Calif.

The letter signed "Dave" warned mercenaries against trying to reach the other pro-Western movement, which operated in central and southern Angola. "You will bomb out,"

it said, explaining that Americans were not being accepted there "at this time."

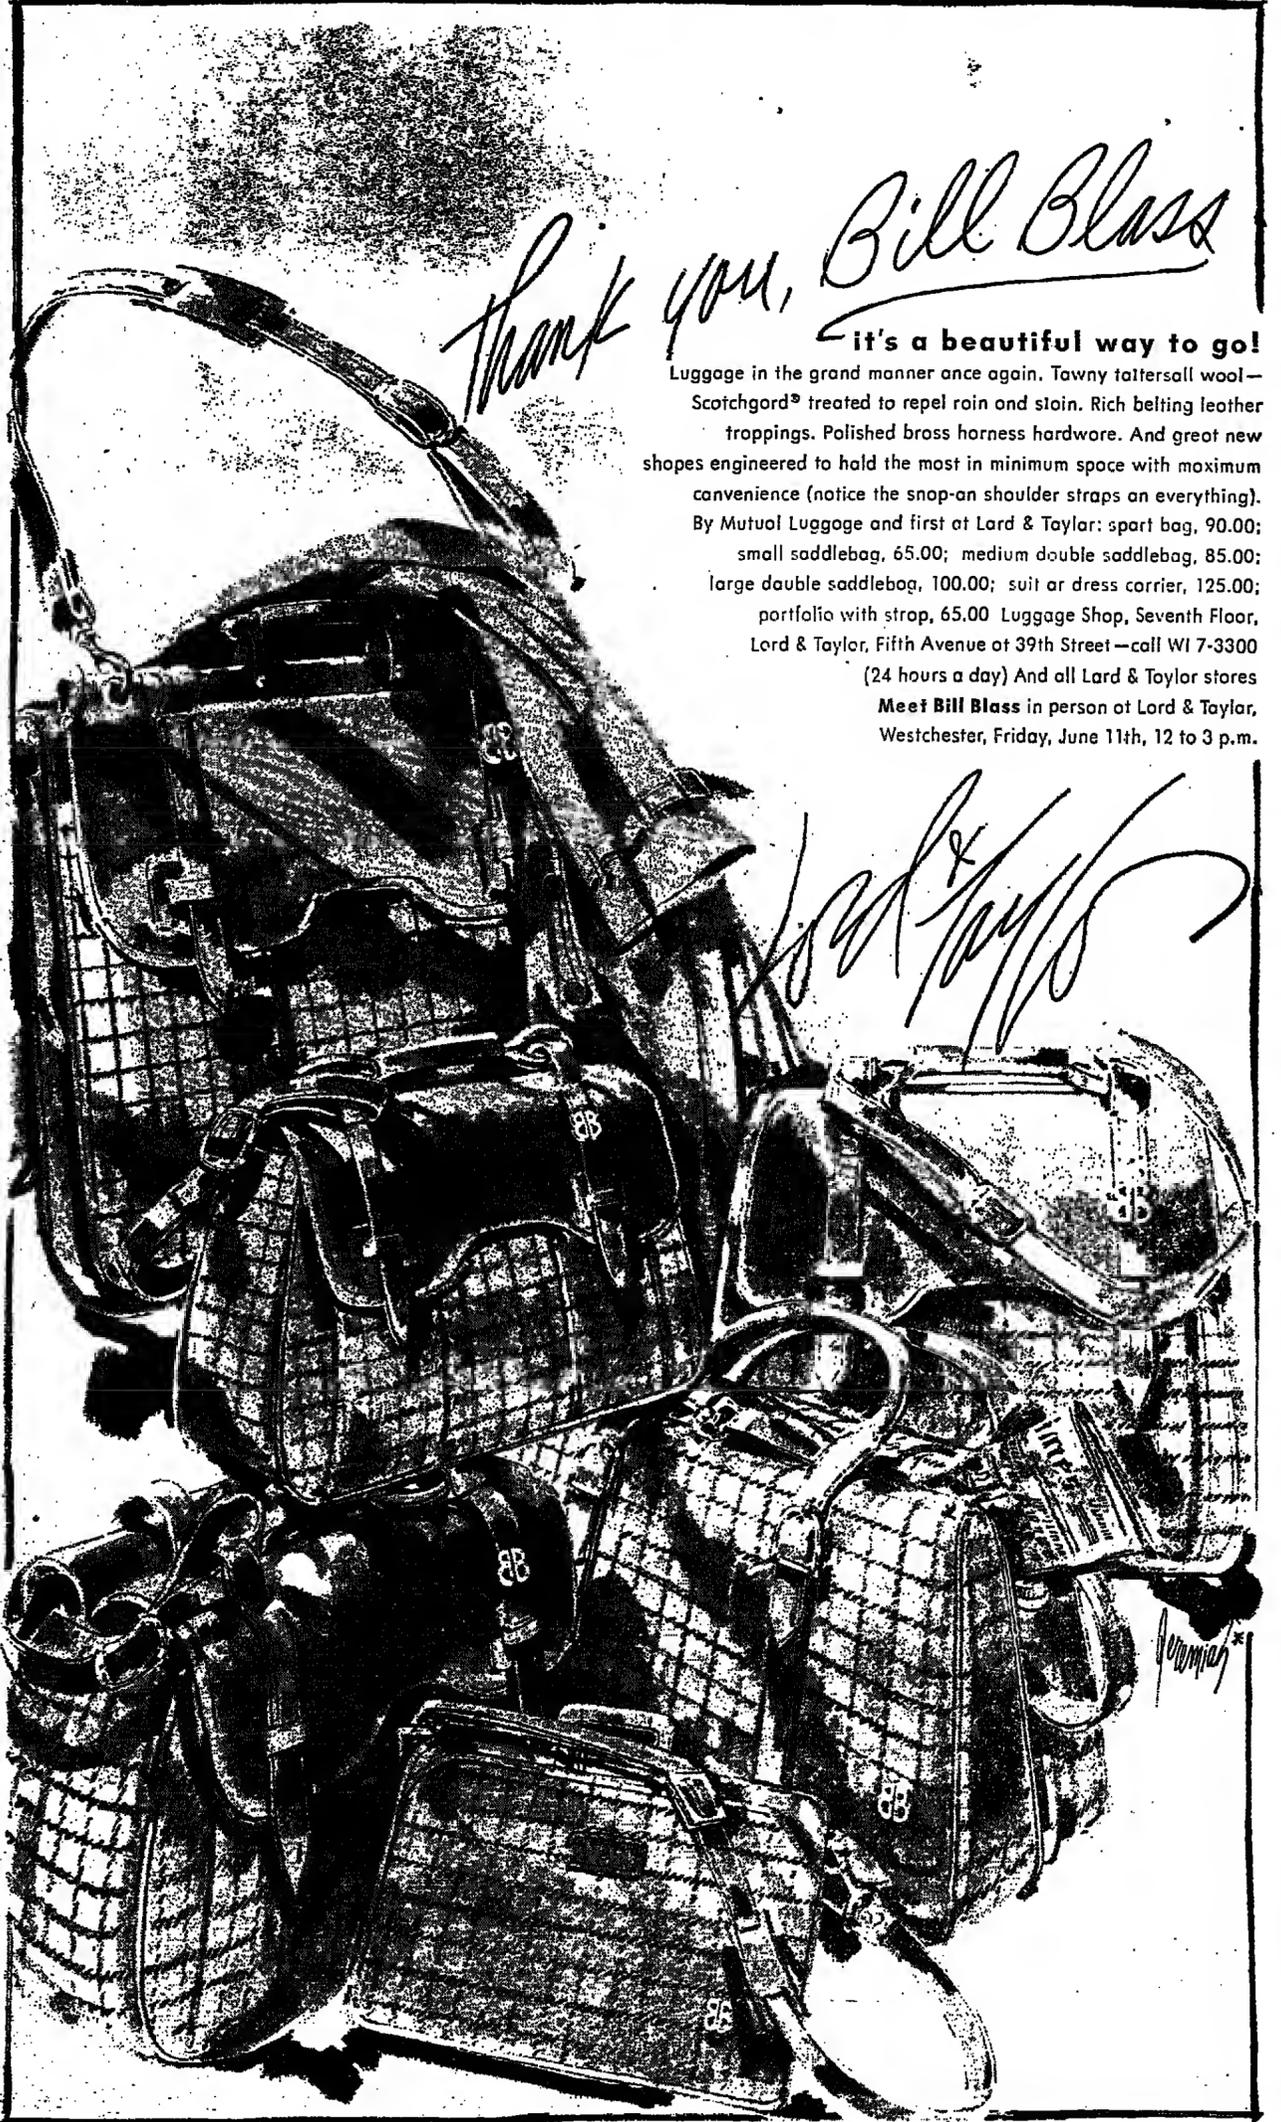

On the other hand, the letter said there were possibilities of contracts for up to five years in Rhodesia.

The mercenary exhibit is on display in the museum of Angola, adjoining a splendid display of stuffed animals and religious sculpture. There are photographs of war scenes, documents and dollar bills in possession of the mercenaries.

Also shown are American-made recoilless rifles and heavy mortars, a Chinese anti-aircraft gun and other captured arms.

The display also features a filmed interview with some of the mercenaries. In it Mr. Acker tells how he was recruited by Bufkin. The Argentine, Gustavo Marcello Grillo, is shown in a hospital bed, stating that the mercenaries' equipment came from the Central Intelligence Agency.

SUPPORT THE FRESH AIR FUND

Thank you, Bill Bliss

it's a beautiful way to go!
Luggage in the grand manner once again. Tawny tattersall wool—Scotchgard® treated to repel rain and stain. Rich belting leather trappings. Polished brass harness hardware. And great new shapes engineered to hold the most in minimum space with maximum convenience (notice the snap-on shoulder straps on everything).
By Mutual Luggage and first at Lord & Taylor: sport bag, 90.00; small saddlebag, 65.00; medium double saddlebag, 85.00; large double saddlebag, 100.00; suit or dress carrier, 125.00; portfolio with strap, 65.00 Luggage Shop, Seventh Floor, Lord & Taylor, Fifth Avenue at 39th Street—call W1 7-3300 (24 hours a day) And all Lord & Taylor stores
Meet Bill Bliss in person at Lord & Taylor, Westchester, Friday, June 11th, 12 to 3 p.m.

Bill Bliss

Eisenberg & Eisenberg

Europeans Question U.S. Flu-Shot Plan

Continued From Page 1, Col. 3

Center for Disease Control of the United States Public Health Services in Atlanta four were found to carry a swine-type virus much like that thought to have caused the global epidemic of 1918.

The 1918 pandemic caused many millions of deaths and last winter one of the four bearers of the virus at Fort Dix died. Critics here point out, however, that despite a worldwide alert, not one of the 96 influenza monitoring centers has reported a further appearance of this virus.

Furthermore, there appears to have been no spread in the United States. Throat swab tests indicate that about 500 persons in New Jersey showed immune reactions indicative of past infection with the virus or something like it. They did not necessarily become ill.

According to Dr. W. Charles Cockburn, director of the Communicable Disease Division of the World Health Organization here, some virus strains are "errand" leading to an epidemic or even pandemic. Other are not.

At the time, he said in a recent interview, the Fort Dix strain looked like a spreader. Now, he added, it no longer does so.

Dr. Cockburn, a noted British virologist, took pains not to criticize the American plan. He pointed out, however, that with winter approaching in the Southern Hemisphere, the flu season has already begun there and flu centers in Australia, New Zealand and Singapore have not seen the deadly virus. Instead people are still suffering from the Victoria strain—so called because it was first detected in the Victoria region of Australia. It continues to be the prevalent form throughout the world.

For months before an influenza pandemic caused by a new strain of virus, like that of so-called Asian Flu in 1956, there have been local outbreaks of the strain that later cause it. An Asian flu outbreak occurred, for example, at a Boy Scout Jamboree in the United States. When winter came the virus spread world-wide. Recently, Dr. Cockburn said that none of this "seeding process" is evident.

It is possible, he added, that for the first time the prospective villain has been detected far in advance and will strike late in 1977. As noted by other specialists, however, influenza vaccines, unlike those for smallpox and polio, tend to lose their effectiveness in less than a year and any mass vaccination program this year would be of little use a year hence.

In April, influenza specialists from as far afield as China, the Soviet Union, Chile and Japan as well as the United States and Europe assembled here to assess the news from Fort Dix.

"Each country currently producing vaccines," the conference concluded diplomatically, "should decide what course is most appropriate for its resources and needs." The report added, however, that such a decision "may be based on information which will be obtained during the next few months via the surveillance network."

The fact that the network has not detected any spread of the virus has reinforced the view that the American plan is unwise.

While W.H.O. officials are reluctant to criticize the policy of a powerful member state, interviews with science advisers and officials of various European countries have shown considerable doubt regarding the American plan. They note that, of 12,000 men at the Fort Dix training center only four became ill with the new virus.

The United States plan is to vaccinate all but the very young with killed viruses from a "recombination" strain derived from the Fort Dix variety. Because a new strain like the Fort Dix type may not grow readily in chicken eggs, it is combined genetically with one that does so. This is done by growing the two strains simultaneously within the same culture allowing them to exchange genetic material to form a "recombination." It is such strains derived from the Fort Dix variety and grown on chicken eggs in mass quantities that are being stockpiled in a number of countries.

The United States proposes to vaccinate high-risk people such as the elderly with a vaccine containing recombined forms of both the Fort Dix and Victoria strains.

$1.06 Million For City

Representative Peter Peyser said yesterday that he had been notified by the White House that it was releasing $1.06 million to New York City for the administration of swine-flu vaccine for its residents late this summer, according to the Associated Press.

The Westchester-Bronx Republican said he had notified the city's health commissioner, Dr. Lloyd E. Bellin, who was described as "delighted" at the news.

Dr. Berlin estimated that from 4.5 million to 5 million New Yorkers would avail themselves of the injections, which are to be administered without charge in late August or early September.

SUPPORT THE FRESH AIR FUND

Another Timely Fina Gift At An Upstairs Price

The Hot Clock

Sale! Our most popular 800-day dome clock for mantle or table-top. At this reduction its practically a steal.

*Reg. $70.00 At Fina $39.95.

*Manufacturer's suggested retail

Upstairs at Michael C. Fina

580 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10036
 Open Monday to Friday, 9 AM to 5:30 PM. • (212) 757-2530
 On Mail & Phone Orders add $1.50. In N.Y. State add sales tax.
 Master Charge & BankAmericard

A GREAT COMEBACK

If dad's a swinger, he'll enjoy improving his game with Auto-Shag—the comeback golf ball. It lets you chip, pitch or drive as hard as you like... then comes bouncing back safely on the ground. Hit from the tee, mat or grass—stake holds tether line that attaches to belt and allows 30 yd. clearance for backyard practice or course warm-up. After the shot, the lay of the line helps determine whether you sliced, hooked or hit straight-away. By Randal Enterprises, (97-337) #12 Street floor, Call 24 hrs. a day (212) 682-0900, Mail P. O. Box 4258, Grand Central Station, NYC 10017. Add sales tax, 1.25 handling (1.85 beyond UPS). Sorry, no COD's. Charge: A&F, AE, MC, BA, DC, CB.

ABERCROMBIE & FEE
 Madison Ave., 45th St., N.Y. 10017 (212) 682-0900; Short Hills, N.J. 07078

Unexpected Pleasure!

Cool Dresses Sizzling Buys at just $7.90

Exciting special purchase! Super Shirtdresses! Dramatic black and white prints! Plenty of pretty pastels! Fabulous selection of short sleeve and sleeveless styles in carefree polyester. All so right for summer and like "found money" at just $17.90. You'll want several! 10-20. Bonds Charge, Master Charge, BankAmericard or American Express.

The New Bonds

MANHATTAN: Broadway at 45th Street BROOKLYN: 400 Fulton St. BRONX: 324 E. Fordham Rd.
 LONG ISLAND: Valley Stream, Hicksville, Bayshore, Massapequa NEW JERSEY: Jersey City, Paramus, Menlo Park, Newark, Easttown
 MAIL AND PHONE ORDERS FILLED PROMPTLY, 582-0200 Please add 7% within delivery area. $1.25 outside delivery area. Add $56 for C.O.D.s. Add local sales tax.

COME TO OUR ZOO

A how-to demonstration on shooting the Great Outdoor camera. June 7-26 in our Gallery-on-Six, Madison Ave.

ABERCROMBIE & FEE

The straw hat, 4.00

Catch the spirit of the season. Provocative. Beguiling. Sure to get a second look. This, the straw hat in natural, from our collection specially priced at 4.00. No mail or phone orders, please. Street Floor, Lord & Taylor, Fifth Avenue, Manhasset, Westchester, Garden City, Millburn, Ridgewood-Paramus, Stamford.

TIME-OUT

If you are a reader of—or advertiser in—Time, People, Illustrated, Fortune or Money magazine, their editors' production staffs urge you to consider the impact the current strike against Time Inc. will have on these publications.

All of you have come to expect Time Inc.'s magazines to the highest quality both in content and appearance. No company is without the talents of most of its best writers, correspondents, researchers, copyreaders, artists and others who got the publications to press swiftly but carefully. Stories in the magazines that appear this week have been "house" for weeks. But what of the weeks to come?

Our proposals are modest: a guaranteed cost-of-living index for instance, that would give us back in real wages what we already lost to inflation.

Help support us—so we can get back to work and give you quality once again.

Time Inc. Unit
 Newspaper Guild of New York
 133 West 44th Street

Comprehending...the quality of Barnes's reviews of the theater in The New York Times. Right? Right in The Times.

تحتفظ من الأصل

DELTA

هكذا من الأصل

Rumsfeld Clears Pentagon Aide of Conflict of Interest in Missile Program; Eagleton Charges a 'Whitewash'

N. W. FINNEY
 The New York Times
 June 8 — Deputy
 Secretary Donald H.
 Rumsfeld cleared Dr.
 Currie, the director of research and engineering, of any conflict of interest in a missile program believed to be headed by Rockwell International F. Eagleton with a statement field investigation

 "and an unmitigated ash" of Dr. Currie, chief official in the program, in a letter to the Senate. The Democratic deni-gation after Dr. Currie was reported in a Labor Day year at a Rockwell fishing lodge
 as, he became arrest in defending the program, which was headed by Rockwell International, a television surface missile program for the Navy at an estimated cost of $1.5 billion.

Then Promoted was severely reprimanded Rumsfeld for defense contractors in violation of regulations of conduct.
 Currie has been fired and was replaced by Rumsfeld's
 choice, Dr. Currie now heads the program.

Currie was promoted over the House Appropriations committee recom-

ended termination of the $700 million program, which is still being developed. The committee acted in approving a $106 billion defense bill after rejecting proposals by Representative
 Joseph P. Addabbo, Democrat of Queens, to delete funds for production of the B-1 bomber and for a start of construction of a fifth nuclear-powered aircraft carrier.

G.A.O. Report Cited
 In support of its recommendation on the Condor program, the committee observed that, in a report last February,
 the General Accounting Office raised serious questions concerning Condor's affordability, operational utility, effectiveness, reliability, its vulnerability to enemy countermeasures, as well as the Navy's and contractor's ability to maintain adequate quality control.

The committee's recommendation comes at a time when a Defense Department panel, known as the Defense Systems Acquisition Review Committee, is moving toward authorizing production of the missile, although its engineering testing has not been completed, according to Pentagon officials.

The Navy wants to produce 800 of the missiles at a cost of about $560 million. In addition, it will cost nearly $200 million to modify Navy A-6 attack planes to carry the missile,
 which, because of its expense, is known in Pentagon circles as

 "the silver bullet."
 For reasons that Secretary
 Rumsfeld could not explain, Dr.
 Currie, according to Pentagon officials, has removed himself from the current consideration of production of the Condor missile, although normally he is one of the principal officials sitting on the review panel.

No Further Penalties
 At a news conference at the Pentagon, Mr. Rumsfeld said that, while Dr. Currie's reprimand was justified, the "facts" did not justify any further penalties against Dr. Currie or his exclusion from various weapons programs.

in a letter to Senator Eagle-ton reporting on the investigation, Mr. Rumsfeld said that Dr.
 Currie was the "architect" of the plan adopted last fall not to approve production of the Condor missile, as proposed by the Navy, until it had gone through further reliability tests.
 Thus, he said, Dr. Currie "acted contrary to the business interests of Rockwell International in his action."

The Defense Secretary's conclusion runs contrary to the recommendation of several Pentagon staff officials who participated in the discussions of the Condor program. According to these officials, the issue before the review panel was whether to cancel the program, as had been proposed by two members of the committee.

 Dr. Currie, these officials reported, argued that the committee would overcome the reliability problems besetting the missile end urged as a compromise that a commitment be given to production after further testing. This was the position ultimately adopted by the Defense Department.

Seeking Employment
 Within the defense industry, there are reports that Dr. Currie made the rounds of defense contractors about a year ago seeking employment, and that he now has half a dozen job offers, including some from major defense contractors.

ton, Mr. Rumsfeld said. "Dr.
 Currie has not inquired about prospective employment with any defense contractor. Dr.
 Currie was approached on various occasions by contractors suggesting possible arrangements for employment. In each case, Dr. Currie stated that he is committed to stay at least through the present Administration and that he favors returning to commercial business from which he was recruited rather than to the defense industry."

In response to questions at the news conference, the Defense Secretary said he did not know whether Pentagon aides in defense contractors had been questioned in the course of the investigation, which was conducted by Richard A. Wiley, general counsel of the Defense Department. Mr. Rumsfeld also could not recall whether, prior to the investigation, Dr. Currie had informed him about job overtures from defense contractors.

The Secretary said he had discussed with Dr. Currie whether he had accepted other forms of hospitality from defense contractors, but he added that he could not remember Dr.
 Currie's response.

Senator Eagleton said in his statement that it "appears that the charges against Dr. Currie were given short shrift" and that Mr. Rumsfeld "has been badly misled by his staff."

DELTA IS NO. 1 TO ATLANTA

Delta has the most nonstop seats to Atlanta and the most Wide-Ride L-1011 TriStars. Plus nonstops round the clock to other major cities across the South.

To Atlanta, New Orleans, Houston

Leave New York	Arrive Atlanta	Arrive New Orleans	Arrive Houston
7:20a N (Ex.Sun.)	9:17a NS	10:47a	11:03a
7:25a L	9:23a NS	10:47a	11:03a
9:15a N	11:13a NS TriStar	12:40p (Ex.Sun.)	1:02p TriStar
9:30a L	11:28a NS	12:40p (Ex.Sun.)	1:02p TriStar
12:20p L	2:14p NS	3:07p	—
1:00p L Royal Service	—	—	3:30p NS
1:15p N	3:12p NS	4:30p	5:04p
1:30p L Royal Service	—	3:20p NS	—
3:20p L	5:18p NS	6:15p TriStar	—
5:00p L	6:55p NS	8:34p	—
5:25p K	7:30p NS TriStar	8:34p	—
5:30p N	7:22p NS	8:34p OS Thru	9:22p
5:45p L Royal Service	—	—	8:15p NS (Ex.Sat.)
6:00p K Royal Service	—	8:01p NS	9:29p OS Thru
9:00p K Night Coach	11:00p NS	—	—
9:25p N Night Coach	11:18p NS TriStar	12:35a	1:12a
9:30p L Night Coach	11:23p NS	12:35a	1:12a
9:45p K Night Coach	—	11:46p NS	1:11a OS Thru
3:05a K Night Coach	5:01a NS	6:35a	7:00a

To Ft. Lauderdale, Miami, Tampa/St. Pete

Leave New York	Arrive Ft. Lauderdale	Arrive Miami	Arrive Tampa/St. Pete
9:00a K	—	—	11:23a NS
9:25a N	—	11:56a NS	—
10:00a K TriStar	12:34p NS	—	—
10:00a N	12:28p NS	—	—
10:00a K	—	12:38p NS	—
1:40p K Royal Service	—	4:18p NS	—
1:40p K Royal Service	4:13p NS	—	—
4:59p L Royal Service	—	—	7:25p NS
5:30p K Royal Service	8:04p NS	8:56p OS Thru	—
6:00p L Royal Service	—	8:45p NS	—
9:00p K Night Coach	—	—	11:23p NS
9:05p L Night Coach	11:35p NS	12:20a OS Thru	—
9:05p N Night Coach	11:33p NS	12:19a OS Thru	—
9:05p K Night Coach	11:38p NS	—	—
9:10p K Night Coach	—	11:48p NS	—

One-way fares: Atlanta — Day Tourist and Night First Class $80, Night Tourist $84; New Orleans — Day Tourist and Night First Class $109, Night Tourist $87; Houston — Day Tourist and Night First Class $125, Night Tourist $100.

No other airline beats Delta's low fares. Save on round-trip Freedom Fares to every Delta city in the continental U.S. Check Delta or your Travel Agent for complete details.

Choose from dozens of thrifty Delta Dream Vacations. Florida Fly/Drive, $205 to $317 (for party of 1 to 4), 8 days, 7 nights, plus air fare. Great for couples, families, groups. Take your pick of 5 types of cars. (Size and car company determine package price.) And take your pick of hotels and motels just about anywhere in Florida. You get room for party of 1 to 4 persons for 7 nights and a car with unlimited mileage for 8 days (gas and collision waiver extra). Drop-off charge if not returned to original renting station. Eff. to Dec. 15, 1976. HDL-GOGAK3 HDL-GOGAZ3

Delta accepts American Express and all other major general-purpose credit cards. For instant reservations thru Deltamatic, call Delta in New York at (212) 239-0700, in Nassau at (516) 292-1555, in New Jersey at (201) 622-2111. Or see your friendly Travel Agent. And have a nice trip. DELTA The airline run by passengers.

DELTA IS READY WHEN YOU ARE.

A GREY COME

ABE TO ROMBIE

OPENERS

fabulous selection of

for every

to your every created by st-

famous fashion and a bold, new ne

in and yourself. Of

you can have examined tact

lenses officials, 8th

York only.

ngdale's

125 New York, 225-7320

and Thursday evenings

SEATS

*129

8th BED $129

6th BED $269

2nd BED $311

0th BED $369

SECTION OF

R FABRICS

RE HOUSE

RTIBLES

Robert FLAKS

6 (212) 245-4770

12-4 (Closed Sat.)

WAY 12-5

BANKAMERICA

FREE PARKING

FOUR

VERY

reasonable distance

N.Y. Magazine

MUSCOTT

ITALY

DGE

OR YOU IN

York Times

Military Accused of Bias in Recruiting

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP) — The four major military services discriminate against potential black recruits to keep the armed forces from attracting more blacks than commanding generals believe the officers can handle, a military manpower specialist says.

The specialist, Edward Scarborough, said that information about these practices was gathered in a recent study by the Defense Manpower Commission but was not published in the commission's report.

A commission staff paper written by Kenneth J. Coffey and Frederick J. Reeg concluded that the recruiting policies were "racially motivated," Mr. Scarborough said in an interview.

Asked if the seven-member citizens' commission had rejected a staff recommendation that discriminatory practices of the services be described in the April report, Mr. Scarborough said, "It did not appear in the final document in the kind of detail our staff study showed." He said that the report mentions discriminatory practices generally but does not specify which services employ them or the extent of their use.

Asked to comment on the report, Defense Secretary Donald H. Rumsfeld said that, as far as he knows, the armed services do not discriminate against blacks in recruiting.

The Army, Air Force and Marines denied allegations that they had sought to hold down the number of black recruits. The Navy had no immediate statement on the subject.

According to Pentagon figures, about 16 percent of the roughly two million personnel in uniform were blacks as of the end of 1975. By comparison, the Pentagon calculates that about 13 percent of the United States military-age population is black.

The Army reported that 23 percent of its enlisted personnel were black, the Marine Corps 18 percent, the Air Force 15 percent and the Navy lowest at 8 percent.

Gen. Bruce Palmer Jr., retired, currently director of the Defense Manpower Commission, was quoted by The Washington Post as saying the commission had decided that it would be wrong to kick the services in the teeth by describing alleged discriminatory practices.

The staff paper contends that the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps have all adopted policies that help control the flow of black enlistments even though control is not the "stated objective."

Mr. Rumsfeld, who took over the Pentagon leadership last November, said that nobody had raised with him any questions of discriminatory practices in recruiting enlisted men or officers.

He noted that the staff paper furnished to the Defense Manpower Commission reflected conditions in the 1975 fiscal year, which ended nearly a year ago.

Remember The Luxury of All-Cotton?

We haven't forgotten.

BURTON Ltd.
381 Fifth Ave. (212) MU 5-3760

Hammacher Schlemmer FATHER'S DAY, JUNE 20th

VALET STAND. A handsome, handy-roll-about that keeps jacket, waistcoat, slacks perfectly. Pull-out tie and belt holders, accessory tray, 18" wide, 31" high. Easily assembled. Dull walnut finish. . . . $29.95
Free delivery 50 miles land all L.I.; beyond add 1.25

ANTIQUE GUMBALL MACHINE. Accent piece for home bar, game room, office. Cast-iron pedestal painted gumball red with pear shaped glass dome. Fill it with gumballs, peanuts or jelly beans. Insert a penny and you get yours. Price of Gumball Machine Empty. . . . $79.95
5 lbs. of gumballs, peanuts or jelly beans. . . . Each 9.95
Free delivery 50 miles land all L.I.; beyond add $2.25

COLD CAN POPPER UPPER. 38 1/2" long insul. keeps 6 cans cold for hours. Hidden spring p one at a time. Plaid with tan carry straps. . . .
Free delivery 50 miles land all L.I.; beyond add 1.25

ELECTRIC PANTS PRESSER VALET. Hold belt, accessories. Presses both men's and wc with gentle heat. Well built in dark wood with Slip-proof tie rod, automatic 30 minute timer. 17x14x40" high. Made in England. UL listed. Walnut or Light Teak finish. Please specify.
Free delivery 50 miles land all L.I.; beyond add $2.50

YOU MAY CHARGE TO YOUR AMERICAN EXPRESS, MASTER CHARGE, DINER'S C OR BANK AMERICARD. PHONE ORDERS: (212) 937-8181 or (914) 946-7725.

at wallachs

Soft kidskin leather casual shoe by Rossi. Supple crepe sole for maximum flexibility. Available in tan or blue. 34.00

easy living

wallachs For your convenience there are 24 fine stores in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Use your Wallachs Credit Card, American Express, BankAmericard or Master Charge.

WORLD WIDE RULER THERMOMETER
Versatile desk piece for home, office or school; handsome design on acrylic. Face registers room temperature and Fahrenheit, also inches and centimeters. Useful as well as elegant paperweight. 12" long, 1 1/2" high, 1/2" thick. Add $2.95 for blousing and binding.

UNCORKERS THREE
An automatic Corkscrew for average and strong corks, a Corkscrew Easier for crumbly, aged corks and a Cork Retriever for wrong-way corks that were pushed down into the bottle. Gold electro-plated. Boxed Set of 3. . . . $15.95
Free delivery 50 miles land all L.I.; beyond add 1.25

PUB MUGS
Traditional 20 oz. "Pint" that has coasted down the bars of British pubs for centuries. English-imports of heavy, clear glass and add so much enjoyment to the good taste of brew. . . . Set of 6 $12.95
Free delivery 50 miles land all L.I.; beyond add $1.25

Famous makers' Summer dress

1/3 TO 1/2 OFF

Now when you need them, save on cool dresses to enjoy from now through early fall. The colors are great and so are the styles, in one and two parts, for sizes 4 to 14. Third Floor, Lord & Taylor, Fifth Avenue, Monhasset, Westchester, Garden City, Millburn, Ridgewood-Pomonus and Stamford.

Hammacher Schlemmer
147 East 57th St., New York, N.Y. 10022
Instant Phone Orders: (212) 937-8181 or (914) 946-7725
N.Y.C. Add 8% sales tax. Elsewhere N.Y. State as applicable.

Charge My H.S. Acc.
 Check
 Amer. Exp. F

Name _____ Address _____

RESORTS PUERTO RICO

The sporting life

Four sporting offers make this the perfect summer to vacation where millionaires vacation every winter. It's really your chance to score, at our expansive, luxurious resort, cooled all year by the balmy trade winds of Puerto Rico's stunning north shore. (We're 20 miles from San Juan.)

Two reasons: first, our much lower summer rates (to Oct. 20) give you an extraordinary break. And we don't charge a thing. Not our two miles of beaches, our two pools, two Robert Trent Jones-golf courses, or our superb tennis courts. (And now Dorado Beach tennis is run by Sports Illustrated Tennis Centers with videotape instruction.)

Second, our Family Plan, Golf Week, Tennis Week and Dorado Beach Honeymoon packages put it all together your way.

And our way, with marvelous savings for you. See your travel agent or call any Loews Reservations Office. In New York, (212) 586-4459. Or mail this coupon today.

DORADO BEACH HOTEL
Dorado Beach, Puerto Rico
Operated by Rockresorts, Inc.

Rockresorts, Inc., Suite 5400, 80 Rockefeller Plaza
New York, N.Y. 10020
Please send me a brochure and rate sheet for Dorado Beach Hotel.

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____

at Dorado Beach

تسكن من الأصل

A
of TI

Visit
A&S

هكذا من الأصل

At last, an apartment of my very own. That's Independence!

A nice "2 1/2 rms. w. vu" in the Heights or the Village, on the East Side or the West Side.

Working singles who want their own place have a place to help make it happen. Independence Savings Bank.

At Independence Savings Bank, we have a variety of savings accounts for short-range goals like furnishing an apartment—all paying the highest rates allowed by law.

And now, free checking.

Now you can keep your checking account at Independence, too. And Independence Checking is truly free checking. No monthly service fees, no charge for checks written, no minimum balance required. You don't even have to have a savings account with us to get free checking at Independence. Ask about it at any of our 9 offices in 6 counties.

Free checking where you earn top savings rates.

That's Independence!

INDEPENDENCE SAVINGS BANK

It's a way of living. Since 1850.

Member FDIC

BROOKLYN OFFICES: Atlantic Avenue & Court Street • 18th Avenue & 65th Street • Newkirk Plaza & Foster Avenue • MANHATTAN OFFICE: Lexington Avenue & 34th Street
BRONX OFFICE: 1416 East Avenue, Parkchester • QUEENS OFFICE: Bay Terrace Shopping Center, Bayside
NASSAU OFFICES: Hillside Avenue, West of Herricks Road, New Hyde Park • A & S Shopping Center, Manhasset • SUFFOLK OFFICE: Walt Whitman Shopping Center, Huntington

Visit our newest office, at the north end of the Walt Whitman Shopping Center (between A&S and Hills) in Huntington, L.I. Open 9:45 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

A FOUND PROJECT

1000 More Files
tion of Mail

New York Times
ISCO, June 8—
Intelligence Agen-
tional records
ns whose mail
's mail interceptafter it had in-here six months
rch of its files te.

came as the discrepancies its to the court to the number on a microfilm
g to a report court here yes-

number of addi-uncovered—a of the 191,873
by now says it
20-year history
-the disclosure of the C.I.A.'s responses to viduals for inn them, on file

first-raised in ght in Federal are by Stephe-who was told at her mail to let Union over had not been se her name n their file in-then brought er officials of United States ntending that correspondence ened because the agency's

William E. Col-of Central sides statua microfilm of all those the Soviet ed or whose photographed.
Kipperman's hat index.

istrict Judge ew dismissed il 28 on the davis, saying the C.I.A. "has od faith and oy." He re-May 27 after at Justice innew informaed.

esterday, the
Mrs. Kipper-
not found in 00 newly disinged.

Mrs. Kipper-
the court to ook at the files neutral party

at what effect
2,000 addi-g on the agen-responding to s for informa-
m. As of last an 5,000 per-for records on L.A. says that on only 134

rt also men-time two othon programs the Bay of 1961, and in how, the all intere in New and New br the C.I.A. inappropriate

the case is

es Held eighed olumnist

June 8 (UPI) a House was m in March Jack Ander-by drugging
l appear in-ublic appeacommittee re-subsequent the Watergate with a retired Agency change res-throw from in hopes of ungenic drug an to discrewho aroused tion's ire ecret White revealing Mr. vor of Pakis-stween India olving Ban-are published ct Committee a special sup-report.

project was was deter-icable.
committee found no re Washing-
Bob Wood-
75, that the use had at-nate Mr. An-report said rt was made ith a former Anderson to ending him a public aparently over the planning

acher Schler
HER'S DAY

acher Schler

ie ortingl

at rado Bo

Balk if Boycott

TERRORISTS LINKED TO CHICAGO BLASTS

A.T. & T. Sued by 12 Reporters On Subpoena of Phone Records

Puerto Rican Group Blamed — 5 Hurt in the Loop

By PAUL DELANEY
Special to The New York Times

CHICAGO, June 8—The police here blamed Puerto Rican terrorists today for four bombings that shook the downtown section and injured five persons last night.

The damage was slight—broken windows amounting to $6,000—at the four buildings that were hit. Two of the injured remained hospitalized in satisfactory condition today. All were sprayed with glass and debris, which fell on theatergoers at 11 P.M.

The building targets were Police Headquarters at South State and 11th Streets; the John Hancock Building on North Michigan; and the Bank Leumi Le Israel and the First National Bank Plaza, situated within four blocks of each other in the Loop. The injuries occurred near First National.

The blasts came nearly a year to the day after simultaneous bombings in Chicago and New York. Capt. James O'Grady, chief of criminal investigations for the police, said that the explosions had probably been the work of the Armed Forces of National Liberation, an organization committed to independence for Puerto Rico. This group said it had been responsible for the June 14, 1975, bombings in the twin cities.

The bombs were placed in garbage cans outside the buildings, the one at Police Headquarters was the most powerful, the police reported.

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—Twelve reporters and four organizations asked a Federal court today to order American Telephone and Telegraph Company to inform newsmen when their phone records were subpoenaed by the Government.

The action by the newsmen charged that the First Amendment was violated when phone records were secretly handed over to the Government because, it was alleged, the disclosure "drastically curtails the plaintiffs' ability to gather and disseminate news."

The Reporters' Committee for Freedom of the Press and the other plaintiffs have requested that the phone company give members of the news media at least five days' notice before their records are given to the Government.

Defendants in the case are American Telephone and Telegraph and Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, the Washington subsidiary of A.T.&T.

In January, 1974, A.T.&T. disclosed that it had secretly turned over phone records of reporters to law enforcement agencies on at least eight occasions.

Later, the phone company announced that it would notify all customers when their records were subpoenaed except when the Government "certifies" that disclosure would impede a criminal investigation and "interfere with the enforcement of the law."

David Anderson, attorney for the plaintiffs, urged the court "to give reporters the opportunity to have their vital rights balanced before the Government starts on a wholesale search through their records."

Stanley Wright, attorney for the Government, which has intervened in the case, said that notice to a reporter that his records had been subpoenaed, and the publicity that would follow, "could destroy legitimate law enforcement investigations."

David Ginsburg, attorney for A.T.&T., said that anyone could now call the phone company to ask whether his records had been subpoenaed. If they have been, he said, the phone company will answer that it is not in a position to comment. But if they have not been subpoenaed, the company will tell the person, so he added.

A.T.&T. will not call to inform a person of the subpoena of his records until after a 90-day Government certification period has passed," Mr. Ginsburg said.

Federal District Judge June L. Green took the case under advisement.

Other plaintiffs in the suit are: Knight Newspapers, The New York Times Washington bureau, Dow Jones & Company; columnists Jack Anderson and Marquis Child, David E. Rosenbaum, New York Times; Richard D. Duman, St. Louis Post-Dispatch; Emmett Dedmon, Chicago Sun-Times; Morton Mintz, Washington Post; Bruce Morton, CBS; James Polk, NBC; Richard Salant, CBS; Daniel Schorr, CBS; and Frederick Taylor and John Pierson, Wall Street Journal.

Oh!bach's Summer Time Sale Last 4 Days!

fly

THE AUTOMATIC SLR FROM NIKON

You might say the Nikkormat EL is the ultimate 35mm SLR camera. It operates with the ultra-precision of Nikon's center-weighted metering system. Its rugged metal focal plane shutter is continuously variable from 4 full seconds through 1/1,000th. It gives you the great versatility of using any of the 50 incomparable Nikkor lenses. There's even the option of all-manual operation whenever you wish. All in a 35mm camera that's superb Nikon quality all the way.

$359.95 with 50mm F2 Nikkor lens

FREE FOR FATHER'S DAY: A Nikon Jacket and a 4-Hour Nikon Owner's Course with every new Nikon purchase before June 20th.

WILLOUGHBY'S

43rd STREET & LEX. AVE. 110 WEST 32nd STREET 66 WEST 48th STREET
Send Mail Orders To: Box 750 Grand Central Station, N.Y. 10017 Or Phone (212) 687-2581

FAMOUS MAKER CLOSEOUT OF MISSES' PRINT DRESSES!

12.99 Selling elsewhere for $30

Two and three piece skirt sets and jacket dresses, some 1 piece styles, too. Interlock polyester in vivid patterns. Many one of a kind styles. Sizes 10-18 in group. (Budget Dresses-18)

SAVE 1/3! MISSES' FAMOUS MAKER SUMMER SEPARATES!

7.99-14.99 Originally $11.99

Shorts, culottes, skirts to team up with terrific T-in easy care polyesters, polyester/cottons, Cris! and pastels. Sizes 8-16. (Moderate Sportswear-4)

SAVE $5 TO $25 ON MEN'S LIGHTWEIGHT CASUAL JACKETS!

7.99
12.99
19.99

Originally 12.99 to 44.99
From our collection of better outerwear, find golf jackets, safari's, boating styles and more. Cotton or cotton/polyester. Sizes 36-46 in group. (Men's Outerwear-94)

Bodysuits very specially priced
5.99 and 7.99

Sporty stripes and solid colors. Short sleeves, long sleeves. Cottons and nylons. S, M, L. You're sure to find bodysuits you'll want of our special event. Street Floor, Lord & Taylor. Call WI 7-3300 (24 hours a day) And at Manhasset, Westchester, Garden City, Millburn, Ridgewood-Pomonus, Stamford

Save more

this weekend... You can... of the US... a weekend... August 1st... Children's... you don't... travel... have to... per or later

تحتنا من الأصل

هكذا من الأصل

Seldom Balk at Boycott by Arabs

F. D. BERSHEE JR., director of the Office of Export Control, said the transactions carried out at the bank were more than 1,000 a month in the four-month period ending in March. He said 72 cases in each month, on an average, were referred to at least one of the banks. Banks complied with the requests to participate in the were 24 other cases in which the bank found certain terms of the contract "unacceptable" and pressed for their removal. In all but one of these cases involving discrimination against Americans—it was successful, Mr. Berkovitch said.

In outlining the results of the Commerce Department survey, Mr. Meyer said that the 119 banks had received 10,443 restrictive requests covering 5,190 transactions all of them directed against Israel.

About 80 percent of the requests, he added, came from Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates, Kuwait and Iran, with the rest from other Middle East states.

financing in 4,071 cases, while declining to 288. The rest were either decided by other parties or were cases in which the banks did not indicate their disposition.

Mr. Meyer resisted attempts by Democratic Representatives Robert F. Drinan of Massachusetts and Edward Mezzanese of Iowa to get him to admit that his department had been lax in dealing with those companies that the Congressmen said violated public policy or that legislation was needed to bar American participation in boycotts.

Mr. Meyer said that "about five or six" companies had been fined $1,000 each for failing under the new requirements to report boycott requests.

U.S., ISREAL LEAVE AS P.L.O. SPEAKS

Both Delegations at Geneva Late Rejoin Jobs Parley

Special to The New York Times

GENEVA, June 8—The American and Israeli delegations walked out of the International Labor Organization's World Employment Conference here today when an observer from the Palestine Liberation Organization rose to speak.

However, both delegations ended their protest against the recognition accorded the P.L.O. as soon as the observer, Abdolmuhsin Abu Mizer, had completed his 15-minute statement.

Robert N. Blackman of the United States Department of Labor made no reference to the walkout when he spoke later at the same meeting. The other American delegates who walked out were the labor and employer representatives—Irving Brown, international representative of the A.F.L.-C.I.O., and Charles H. Smith Jr., board chairman of Sifco Industries Inc.

The American delegation decided last Friday to leave the conference room whenever the P.L.O. observer spoke. Its decision came after the I.L.O. governing board voted 31 to 23 with one abstention to accept a delegation of P.L.O. observers at the two-week employment conference.

Last year, the I.L.O. assembly also gave observer status to the P.L.O. As a result, the United States delegation gave a two-year notice of its intention to leave the organization a United Nations agency, if it continued to become embroiled in political issues.

Today Mr. Mizer, the P.L.O. observer, charged in his speech that "Zionist repression, supported by American imperialism" had prevented the Arab peoples from "participating fully in the solving of the economic and social problems of the world."

The United States Government, labor and employer representatives on the governing body all opposed the presence of the P.L.O. on the ground that it would introduce a political note to a purely technical conference. They also held that the P.L.O. had nothing to contribute to the session.

Mr. Blackman was critical today of the failure of the I.L.O. to emphasize birth control as one measure to be used to eliminate poverty by the year 2000. It is "idle" to discuss such a goal "unless attention is given to the potential reductions in population growth rates that can be attained by providing poor families the education, information and means necessary to decide the number and spacing of their children," he said.

Mr. Blackman also said that the I.L.O. had failed to pay adequate attention to the "need for individual initiatives and opportunities to develop and grow in a free society." Such opportunities should not be stifled by a highly centralized bureaucratic process, he said.

Cosmos 824 Launched

MOSCOW, June 8 (UPI)—The Soviet Union has launched another unmanned earth satellite, No. 824, in its Cosmos series to continue the study of outer space, Tass, the Soviet press agency, said today.

Professor Says Solid Food Often Provides More Fluid

LOMBARD, Ill. (AP)—Solid food provides some people with more water than they drink from the tap, according to a professor at Michigan State University.

"We think of milk as a fluid, but it contains less water than some foods we consider solid or dry," Dr. Olaf Mickelsen told the International Water Quality Symposium recently. "Milk contains 87 percent water," he added. "But green beans, a solid, contain 88 percent water, and lettuce, another solid, contains 95 percent water."

It is from foods such as these, and beverages other than water, that people get most of the two quarts of fluid a day their bodies require, according to Dr. Mickelsen.

boon
nerthin
ast 4 Days

actions are the only federal that companies, report to the department all inch contracts pre- contain restric-

Restrictions al directive last that American it not engage in would result in against United common restric- upon by the that goods of Is- from blacklisted be shipped to that Israeli ves- not be employed ctions and that packaging not David.

es of two major ks — Chemical Organ Guaranty —old the sub- did not approve that laws for- ripheral partic- rican companies impede trade ne banks is gen- plying or guar- of credits, con- ts that insure ter is paid for

Removal rkovitch, senior or Morgan Guar- ank had partic- letters of credit 3 million during an December to o declared there

Aid Drive
Sclerosis

Tom Seaver, d other figures of sports have s fund-raising sional Multiple

7.99-14.99

"Athletes va e seeking co- society's Hope ated multiple- and local pa-may be sent to Sclerosis So- Avenue South, 10010.

FOR KIDS
R FUND

EMENT

Since 1881
AGES OF RIENTAL &

ian gs ion lay 13th
June 12 Noon
3 At 2 PM
he lorf ria

Oh St., N.Y.C.
NY MOVIE BOOKS, ST age Privileges
ed by whod of
and meditation
-3128
RMEZIAN

On weekends fly to Boston for beans.

Save more than 30% on Eastern's weekend Air-Shuttle service.*

This weekend shuttle up to Beantown for a little sightseeing. You can frolic through Boston Commons. Take a tour of the U.S. Constitution in Boston Harbor. Or dig into a seafood dinner in Old City Hall.

All this for as little as $46 round-trip any weekend through August 15th. And for your little ones, the fare is even less. Children 2 to 12 fly round-trip for just $31. At these prices you don't have to wait for a special occasion just to visit friends or relatives.

All you have to do is catch an outgoing Air-Shuttle flight at 8 pm or later on Friday, and catch a return flight as late as 10 pm on Sunday; the same weekend. On weekends an Air-Shuttle flight leaves LaGuardia almost every hour on the hour to Boston from 8 am to 10 pm. You don't even need a reservation. Just show up. The same $46 is also good on one of our scheduled flights from Newark that require reservations.

For more information about Eastern's weekend excursion fares to both Boston and Washington call your travel agent, or call Eastern at 986-5000 in New York or 621-2121 in Newark.

We've got the right time and the right place for you.

The Air-Shuttle
EASTERN

*All fares subject to change.

How to make him feel like a million?

Our collection of luxurious nappa glove leather wallets from Italy should fit the bill. For the world traveler, the Secretary holds most foreign currencies plus credit cards, 42.00. Take-charge types will appreciate the Credit Carder with its ample room for charge cards, 35.00. Traditionalists ask for the slim Billfold Wallet, 30.00. All from Bond Street in black with gold-hued metal corners; or brown with silver-hued trims. The Men's Shop, First Floor 57th Street Wing

BONWIT TELLER

Mail and phone. Call (212) EL 5-2600 any hour. Add 1.35 outside delivery area, and sales tax where applicable. 721 Fifth Avenue, New York and all stores

Much Courage Amid Horror in Lebanon

Continued From Page 1, Col. 2 and thoughtfulness as he has seen anywhere. How, then, can so much individual decency add up to such appalling collective violence in a country of fewer than three million people?

In the view of qualified analysts of the Lebanese character, religion has ceased to restrain violence in a relatively poor country that lies between the Arab world and the West but belongs to neither and that has become the arena for another clash—between warring traditional values and the crassest modern materialism.

As the civil conflict has waxed and waned the international community—governments, churches, their Islamic equivalents and individuals included—has stayed aloof.

Perhaps 20 foreign physicians are here as volunteers. The charitable organizations that flock to scenes of conflict or devastation have largely stayed out of Lebanon.

On the other hand, the field guns, ground-to-ground missiles and other arms have come from abroad, either supplied as gifts or bought with foreign funds.

Dozens of Armed Bands

Armed bands that did not exist before the war have sprung up by the dozen, supplied with advanced weapons from abroad. Since they have no real political identity, their proliferation is one of the reasons why a political settlement has become all but impossible. They demand a voice—and their voices together amount to a veto.

The growing population of Palestinians, the overwhelming majority Moslems, has added powerfully to religious and social tensions. They are crowded into camps that over the years have become suburban slums. They have played a vital role in the war as well as conducting raids into Israel.

Plain citizens on each side continue to be convinced that the random killings, ritual murders and torture are committed only by the other side. Those who have seen what happens know better.

A committed Moslem surgeon, a leftist, has seen the Christian victims of atrocities committed by fellow Moslems and does not hide the fact. A Christian professional man who started to compile a book on Moslem atrocities describes his surprise and horror when he found that his side was committing the same crimes.

In the midst of the blood-letting, examples of the courage, decency and thoughtfulness spring to mind.

A young doctor, a pediatrician, has not been outside her hospital, in one of the most dangerous areas of the capital, for five months. Day after day she handles the severely wounded being rushed in, sometimes at gunpoint, in addition to running her own ward in another part of the building, which has taken several direct hits.

A Tale of Two Specialists There is a famous surgeon, who in his specialty, is out of a select group of 20 in the world. An elegant man with more than a little vanity, his passion was to ski in the Italian Alps. Now, on the really bad days, he is the tough, ubiquitous boss of the emergency wards of the American University Hospital, moving through an inferno and imposing his authority.

But one of his colleagues, also a skilled specialist, has taken another option. "This is not what I am trained for and it doesn't interest me," he said as he prepared to spend the next year in the United States.

In the pattern of the first surgeon, a secretary made the dangerous trip across the front line in a taxi three days in a row during a period of the worst shelling and sniping simply because the family of a slain colleague needed emotional support.

The One Restraint Firearm and pharmacy delivery men have been unsung heroes. So are the workers who have kept power supplied and telephones going.

Conversations with doctors and sociologists provide some hints but no definite answers.

A Lebanese father fleeing with his wounded child from the scene of recent fighting in mountains near Beirut.

to the question how so much individual decency can add up to such appalling collective violence.

"All religions wars have been cruel," a Moslem psychiatrist commented. "Think of the Crusades and the Inquisition."

He explained that for most Lebanese religion had been the one thing that restrained their feelings of aggression, but the war has removed the restraint and religion has become a vehicle promoting aggression against those of a different creed.

He has also found that many of the crimes with sectarian overtones can be traced to those who were not strong believers before the conflict but who felt all their lives that they were trapped in a stifling political system that kept the Christians in power.

A person's religion—indeed, the sect within that religion—has largely determined the limits of political and social expectations.

Other analysts stress broadly cultural factors, noting that Lebanon, a halfway house between the Arab world and the West but benefits materially from both, so that many of its citizens have developed what is described as a monumental self-hatred.

"I am Lebanese, good country, bad people," a semiliterate driver said in English as he wound through green mountains high above the sea and through recently shelled villages. Through this reporter has heard the same thought expressed here many times, he has never heard it in any other country, even in times of turmoil.

Artificial Modern Babel Some analysts, stressing the tension between traditional values and modern materialism, view Beirut as an artificial modern Babel where great new wealth has been amassed quickly by the powerful and least scrupulous and where anything could always be bought.

Most of the real wealth belongs to foreigners from the West and oil-rich countries. The good life—decent, at least, the best life—is accessible only to a tiny minority.

Now the barriers have broken down, thanks to the gun. The guess is that there are three weapons for every male Lebanese. To thousands of adolescents guns and stolen cars have at last supplied the power to enjoy the temptations of the city.

Four men went to one of the few restaurants that are open at night. They got the last table and the waiter discreetly hid their weapons.

know that they did not expect to spend much money, if any. (This sort of thing is not resisted, being regarded as kind of an informal income tax.)

At first all went well. The four dined satisfactorily. One asked an affluent neighbor for a light, and the man obliged with his cigar.

And Then a Robbery

Then, apparently acting on an idea that had come to them during the meal in the heady surroundings, they brandished their submachine guns and their hand grenades and stripped the guests of their money and jewelry, punching some in the process.

Before leaving, one of the women and disappeared. Two kidnappings had been added to Beirut's grisly daily statistics.

The gun has also become a sex symbol and substitute in a society where sex continues to be severely repressed in traditional quarters but is flaunted in the streets, in dress, conversation, hook stores and cinemas; and before the war, in innumerable nightclubs and bars.

Before the war Beirut movie houses served a steady diet of violent thrillers. While some still show thrillers, the new fad is pornography of varying degrees, all of which, in principle, are forbidden. The ban is no longer enforced because the censors, along with the rest of the Government, have ceased to function.

Clans at the Center

Most of the political parties are clans built around a family or an individual, not traditional clans like those in Scotland. "They are gangs," said a sociologist. "With no tradition and little or no purpose or principle other than to 'make their leader richer and more powerful' and to protect him bodily against other gang leaders."

Thus it is that Lebanon has become a battleground. The fire, once started, could not be contained, and foreign powers have found it easy to use the conflagration for their own purposes.

The despair Lebanese feel stems from the thought that even when the official end of the war comes and the authorized and instigated killing stops, the kidnappings and revenge killings will continue and the nation will be in ruins psychologically as much as economically.

"Do you really think that after the orgy everybody will just quietly go home and accept his fate as before?" a Lebanese asked.

ARABS OPEN TALK ON LEBANON CRISIS

League Convenes in Cairo — P.L.O. Assails Syria and Threatens Retaliations

Special to The New York Times CAIRO, Wednesday, June 9—Representatives of all 20 Arab League countries began an emergency meeting here last night at the request of the Palestine Liberation Organization to discuss the deepening Syrian military intervention in Lebanon.

Yasir Arafat, the P.L.O. chairman, demanded a ceasefire and a complete withdrawal of Syrian troops from Lebanon, according to Rabbie Awad, a representative of Al Fatah, the largest Palestinian guerrilla organization.

Mr. Arafat denounced the Syrians, saying they were using heavy armor, rockets, tanks and artillery against the Palestinians and leftist Lebanese forces.

The participants in the meeting, which continued early today, also debated a proposal for a cease-fire in Lebanon with troop positions frozen and an Egyptian call for a token Arab peace-keeping force to be sent to Lebanon.

Mr. Arafat said the Palestinians supported the Egyptian proposal. But the Syrian representative present, Mamouna Atassi, who is deputy delegate to the Arab League, said his Government would not agree to any resolution until Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam arrived in Cairo later today. Mr. Khaddam had been expected to boycott the meeting.

Most of the Arab League members sent their foreign ministers. Lebanon, however, was represented by its Ambassador to Egypt, Mohammed Subra.

Fatah Leader Killed

Shortly after the meeting began, Mr. Awad, the Fatah representative, announced that Maj. Jawad Abu Shaar, commander of the Palestinian force in Lebanon and a member of Al Fatah's revolutionary council, had been killed by Syrian gunfire.

Mr. Arafat arrived in Cairo yesterday afternoon and immediately conferred with the Egyptian Foreign Minister, Ismail Fahmy, and the Arab League's Secretary General, Mahmud Riad. It was the Palestinian leader's first time in Cairo since September, when Egypt signed the second Sinai disengagement agreement in Israel.

The Fatah representative charged that Syrians were shooting citizens "indiscriminately, using the most sophisticated weapons."

"It is the responsibility of all Arab regions to protect the Palestinian revolution and protect the Palestinian people," Mr. Arafat said.

If the Syrians are allowed to continue their push against the Palestinians they will be forced to form terrorist groups such as those created after Jordan suppressed the guerrillas in 1970, he said adding: "Tens or even hundreds of these groups will be created."

The Fatah representative said he could "not rule out" a possibility that the Syrian invasion had been coordinated between the Pentagon, Tel Aviv, Jordan and Syria.

He said Syrian forces were shelling Beirut from the airport and other areas around the city and that Lebanese Christian Phalangist forces were participating in the shelling.

Israel Unruffled As Syria Steps Up Drive in Lebanon

Special to The New York Times TEL AVIV, June 8—Israel remained calm today as Syrian forces pushed farther into Lebanon and Defense Minister Shimon Peres said the Israeli Government had acted properly in deciding not to intervene at this point.

Speaking at a meeting of high school students in Nazareth, he affirmed the Government's position that it had the right and the duty to act if Syrian intervention in Lebanon threatened Israeli security.

Israel has informed the Syrians through the United States how far they could go without provoking a reaction, and officials here have explained that this "red line" is both a geographic and qualitative concept involving consideration of the nature and purpose of the Syrian actions.

Cabinet ministers said in Jerusalem last week that the Syrian purpose appeared to be the imposition of law and order in Lebanon and that their forces were not large enough for conquest. But the Syrians have since sent additional forces across the border, and reports from Beirut said they had about 12,000 troops in the country.

In Parliament's cloakroom in Jerusalem today, opposition representatives and members supporting the Government of Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin agreed in general that the long-term outlook was dangerous but that events in Lebanon were too unpredictable to make any firm calculations.

Nevertheless, they seemed to concur in the view that Syrians would not crack down on the Palestine Liberation Organization as King Hussein of Jordan did in September 1970, when his armed forces suppressed the Palestinian guerrilla movement.

U.S. Is Concerned Over Risks in Lebanon

Continued From Page 1, Col. 2

Washington has been that the Syrians might send in so many troops that they would touch off Israeli intervention. But now, officials here seem more worried that other Arab forces might enter the conflict, thereby making a cease-fire even more difficult to achieve.

American intelligence has been unsure of the exact number of Syrian forces in Lebanon and officials said that the Syrians had not coordinated their moves with the United States.

Frederick Z. Brown, a State Department spokesman, said, "The situation continues to be very complex and fluid and we hesitate to offer any detailed comment."

"It is quite clear, however, that the level of military activity has risen," he said. "There have been overflights of Lebanese territory by Syrian planes."

"Our position on military intervention remains what it has always been," Mr. Brown said. "I think we have made this position clear on many occasions and I would express again our hope that the crisis in Lebanon in the past, the concern in which avoids the risks of a wider conflict, and which preserves Lebanon's independence, territorial integrity, its national unity and its cohesion. By this we remain opposed to partition, or de facto partition as a solution to the conflict there."

Ford's View Reported

Special to The New York Times UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., June 8—William W. Scranton, the United States delegate, said today that President Ford was insisting on doing everything possible to promote a Middle East settlement.

Mr. Scranton said that the President's determination had been expressed several times to him in recent weeks and added: "I believe him, I believe him deeply."

1,600 Respond to Tree Offer JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UPI)—More than 1,600 requests for tree bundles have come to the Missouri Department of Conservation from the state's communities.

HELP THE FRESH AIR FUND

HELP THE FRESH AIR FUND

Summer Scenery

The Oriental Print

Abstract strokes of white against a dark background give a fresh new look to this three-piece outfit of polyester knit. In rust or teal blue. By Cobina. Sizes 10 to 18.

Call 682-8170. Add tax. Off on sale. $1.00 handling charges. Some no.

479 FIFTH AVE. • 600 FIFTH AVE. • 258 BROADWAY THE FASHION CENTER, ROUTE 17

Peter Morrell

sips THE BICENTENNIAL AFTER DINNER DRINK

COGNAC, OF COURSE

Jas. HENNESSY & CO. which has the largest stocks of aged cognacs world salutes the 200th Anniversary of American Independence with a Bicentennaire, a deeper and richer cognac reminiscent of the old brandies known to have been bottled in the 18th century.

It is presented in a special bottle sealed with cork and wax. Only 784 numbered bottles remain.

HENNESSY CUVÉE BICENTENNAIRE BOTTLE LESS THAN $ 17.76

Morrell & Company 307 East 58th St. New York, N.Y. 10022

9AM-9PM 212-688

CARPETING FOR HOME OR OFFICE

BUY DIRECT FROM WAREHOUSE AND SAVE

RESIDENTIAL COMMERCIAL INDUSTRIAL EXPERT INSTALLATION

YOUR NEXT SUMMER JUNE 14

Registration by Mon. June 7 4:00-7:00 PM Mon. June 14 2:00-5:00 PM

Enroll today! The No. 1 School

R&M FLOOR COVERINGS CO. 428 E. 91 St. N.Y. (bet. 139 Ave. & York) TEL. 369-5256

OPEN MON. thru FRI. 9-5 FREE Parking Next Door

Advertisement for Bancroft Men's Shirts, featuring 'ONE OF NEW YORK'S LARGEST SELECTIONS OF MEN'S SHIRTS 2 for $18.50' and store address: 363 Madison Avenue.

Advertisement for Flaks convertible pillows, featuring 'UNBELIEVABLE! To See It—Is To Believe It' and 'SALE $389'.

Advertisement for a camera, featuring 'SALE!' and '$239'.

Advertisement for Peter Morrell Cognac, featuring 'BICENTENNIAL AFTER DINNER DRINK'.

Advertisement for Hennessy Cognac, featuring 'Jas. HENNESSY & CO.' and 'BOTTLE LESS THAN $ 17.76'.

Advertisement for Morrell & Company, featuring '307 East 58th St. New York, N.Y. 10022'.

Advertisement for R&M Floor Coverings, featuring 'CARPETING FOR HOME OR OFFICE' and 'BUY DIRECT FROM WAREHOUSE AND SAVE'.

Handwritten Arabic text at the bottom of the page.

هكذا من الأصل

Is Cut Off as Syria Sends Big New Force

On Page 1, Col. 1 represented by Capt. Ahmed Jabr... between As Saïq... continued in... between Palestin... and pro-Syrian... added to the... 14-month civil... between rightis... and Moslem... Syrians have not... stories, but they... ve thrown their... the attacks.

Syrian Presi... Assad, has two... is — to occupy... od other leftist... circle them and... n submit under... way back, said... diplomatic. "He's... a peace here... ps."

Syrian task force... led toward Bei... t has meet with... from Palesti... anose Moslems... o tanks and ar... and taken some... ve on the capi... evo fiercer... hat may have... formation of the... team that ar... ing. "He's... in side, the me... was represente... shal Najj Jamil... force and accon... ent Hafez al As... Halder, Deputy... for Economic... or Abdel Salam... a and Algeria's... ster, Abdel Ka... oud, who have... us trying to act... were in the... movement was for the second consecutive day.

But reports from the area said the column had fallen back to the western fringes of Russef Sofar.

A military communique issued by a hastily assembled "joint command" of leftists and Palestinian fighting groups said three Syrian tanks had been destroyed in Ruessat Sofar, 12 miles east of Beirut.

The communique said that Syrian MIG-17s had strafed positions in Alish, stronghold of the Leftist leader, Kamal Jumblatt, and in the southern town of Nabatiya.

One traveler reported seeing Syrian tanks in the Baruk Cedars Range firing toward leftist positions in El Mukhtara, the home of Mr. Jumblatt.

The Damascus radio, which is the only source of news on Syrian movements, reported that Beirut was quiet. The events in Lebanon were the third item on its newscast, following an announcement that Mr. Assad would visit Paris on June 17.

The Paris visit is believed to set a time frame for Mr. Assad's next military or political moves in Lebanon. Events in Lebanon obliged the Syrian President to cancel a visit scheduled in March and one Western diplomatic informant said another cancellation would be a "catastrophe."

This gives Mr. Assad three days to bring the chaotic situation here under control, but the resistance his troops have been meeting may compel him to order the use of considerable force.

There was no immediate confirmation of the details of the various military bulletins.

Most of the Syrian troops have crossed into Lebanon through the main checkpoint at Masnaa but others have reportedly been sent into the northern Akkar region above Tripoli.

There have been unconfirmed reports of a rebellion at a Lebanese air base north of Tripoli, which was said to have gone over to the leftists.

SOVIET ARMS HELP IN BEIRUT DOUBTED

NATO Aides Find No Special Effort for Either Side

By FLORA LEWIS
Special to The New York Times

BRUSSELS, June 8—According to high NATO sources, there is no evidence that the Soviet Union has launched any special supply runs to the belligerents in Lebanon as it did to Egypt and Syria when the 1973 Middle Eastern war began.

The sources said today that they considered the substantial reinforcement of the Soviet fleet in the Mediterranean merely a precautionary measure that did not seem intended to exert direct influence on Syria's invasion and its battles with its erstwhile Palestinian and Lebanese leftist protégés.

Since the Middle East is outside the area of the Atlantic alliance, officials of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization have avoided formal discussion of developments in Lebanon. But ranking delegates are acutely aware of the importance of the eastern Mediterranean to the alliance and are uneasy over a lack of essential information.

They are particularly concerned by uncertainty over Syria's intentions—whether it plans a full-scale takeover of Lebanon or maintains the limited goal of imposing peace.

Beyond the negative evidence that there have not been any special Soviet measures, there is no reading about Moscow's stand. Some leading officials believe the Russians are torn between opposition to any basic change and to the eruption of uncontrollable hostilities, on the one hand, and the obligation to stand by Syria if they want to conserve a base of Middle Eastern influence on the other.

The pattern of arms supply is the key to untangling the role of the various participants in the war. It has been murky from the start, with large-scale black-marketeering of weapons from many parts of the world.

Basically, Syria is supplied by the Russians and, until a few months ago, it supplied the Moslem and Palestinian forces in Lebanon.

Then for a time the Syrians aided both sides, only to switch sympathies and cut off arms to the Palestinian forces and those of Kamal Jumblatt, leader of the Moslem leftist forces.

The consumption of weapons and ammunition has been extremely high in the Lebanese fighting, so that resupply is crucial to the outcome.

One of the factors bedeviling experts trying to figure out the prospects has been what they consider an incredible continuation of the arms trade between the combatants. The reasoning given for arming the enemy, said a European who returned recently from Lebanon, is that they will get supplies anyway so it is as well to rebuild war chests in the process.

Libya is said to have been providing the major financing for the leftist Palestinians' arms purchases. The actual supply routes and finances for the right-wing Christians remain a considerable mystery.

The Proceedings in the U.N. Today

JUNE 9, 1976
GENERAL ASSEMBLY
Decolonization Committee
—3 P.M.
Subcommittee on Small Territories—10:30 A.M.
SECURITY COUNCIL
Meets on Palestinian rights
—10:30 A.M.

Tickets may be obtained at the public desk, main lobby, United Nations headquarters. Tours: 9 A.M. to 4:45 P.M.

Rumsfeld Meets Australian
WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—Australia's Defense Minister, James Killen, and Secretary of Defense H. Rumsfeld today discussed how to intensify aerial surveillance of Soviet fleet operations in the Indian Ocean.

COUNTRY FUN FOR KIDS
GIVE FRESH AIR FUND

FREE ELECTRONIC FLASH!
Canon FTB and Canon 110ED

State Canon FTB 11.8 SSL lens of metering sec to 1/1000 orig. list $244.
Canon lenses $239

Canon 110 ED Pocket Camera with FREE ELECTRONIC FLASH!

95 orig. list $119.
with 50mm MC lens
orig. list $276.
$214.

Minolta XL 400 Super 8 Movie Camera
with fast 11.8 Zoom lens
orig. list $229.
$174.95

212/752-0520 or come in person at Ras & Electronics Corp.
Avenue (Between 52nd & 53rd St.) New York, N.Y. 10022

ENLARGE YOUR Papers, Catalogs, Lines, Tax Records, Journals.
Super Cutter with tidi-files

TWICE AS MUCH
Space At 1/2 The Price over File!

Grained Files $24.90
19 1/2" Wide Grained Tidi-Files
11 1/2" Wide Grained Tidi-Files

There is only one First...
THE NEW YORK BANK FOR SAVINGS
The bank that pioneered savings in 1819

Now
ABSOLUTELY FREE CHECKING

And savings accounts at high savings bank rates!

No minimum balance. No monthly service charge on your absolutely free checking account. This is great news for anyone who wants the best possible deal for personal banking — and wants to do it all in one convenient place. Start today — in person. All you need to qualify is to have a savings account at The New York Bank for Savings. Any kind — regular or term. If you have no account with us, you can open a Day To Day Account with as little as a $1 deposit. There is no minimum balance required on your free Checking Account, but naturally you will need to maintain sufficient funds to cover the free checks you write.

Otherwise, write as many checks as you like — absolutely free. Your itemized monthly statement includes your cancelled checks as proof of payment.

Borrowing power, too! Ask about setting up a loan reserve of up to $1,000 on your free checking account.

Start today — at the new place for one-stop banking!

The Three-Billion Dollar
NEW YORK BANK FOR SAVINGS

Main Office: 1230 Avenue of the Americas • Telephone (212) 957-8000

Broadway at Exchange Place	Grand Central Terminal	50th St. at Broadway	135th St. at Lenox Avenue
14th St. at Eighth Avenue	43rd St. at Broadway	58th St. at Madison Avenue
22nd St. at Park Avenue South	46th St. at Lexington Avenue	72nd St. at Third Avenue	In Westchester:
23rd St. off Park Avenue South	49th St. at Avenue of Americas	78th St. at Lexington Avenue	Route 6, Jefferson Valley
34th St. at Broadway	RCA Building, Lower Level	86th St. at Broadway	Route 117, Bedford Hills

SPECIAL SERVICE CENTERS
Consumer Loans and Life Insurance, 60 West 49th St. • Life Insurance, 230 Park Avenue

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Two Indians Go on Trial In Deaths of F.B.I. Agents

By GRACE LICHTENSTEIN
Special to The New York Times

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, June 8—Two Indian men went on trial for the murder of two Federal Bureau of Investigation agents here this week in a case that has become a national issue. The American Indian Movement hopes to prove shows systematic Government harassment and an F.B.I. reign of terror on the troubled Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota.

The men, Robert Eugene Robideau and Darrell Dean Butler, are accused of taking part in the killing of the agents, Jack R. Coler and Ronald A. Williams, in a shootout on the reservation last June 25. An Indian man was also killed.

In his opening argument today, Robert Kenna, Assistant United States Attorney for the northern district of Iowa, said the Government had weapons and fingerprint evidence linking the two men to the crime. He also said the defendants admitted "direct participation" in the murders to cell mates while in jail.

However, it was clear that the defense would counterattack with arguments trying to connect the shootout, prior and subsequent events on the reservation with recent Congressional inquiries into misconduct by the bureau.

Defense attorneys also said they would subpoena Clarence M. Kelley, the F.B.I. Director; Senator Frank Church of Idaho and Representative Otis G. Pike of Suffolk. The last two have headed committees investigating the cover-up activities of the bureau and the Central Intelligence Agency.

Mr. Butler, delivering his own opening argument, charged that the Government had chosen him and Mr. Robideau as "political scapegoats" because they were activists in the American Indian Movement, which led the takeover of Wounded Knee on the Pine Ridge Reservation three years ago.

"Bob and I killed nobody in our lives," declared Mr. Butler, who, like Mr. Robideau, wore an Indian shirt. He charged that the trial was a continuation of F.B.I. harassment and that it deprived him and his codefendant of their sovereign tribal rights.

Lew's Gurwitz, an attorney for Mr. Robideau, began his opening statement by showing the jury of seven men and five women a sacred pipe. He said it would be kept on the defense table each day as a reminder of the Indians' religion, which forbids murder.

The defense noted that the shootout last June came in a period of severe tension on Pine Ridge, the second largest reservation in the country. Intense warfare between supporters and opponents of Richard Wilson, who was then the tribal chairman, had been blamed for numerous deaths in the preceding months.

Mr. Butler said A.I.M. members, who were opponents of Mr. Wilson, had been convinced that the Federal Bureau of Investigation was aiding what they called Mr. Wilson's "unpopular, repressive regime."

The killing of the two agents, according to Mr. Sikma, came as the F.B.I. men were tracking a fugitive, James Theodore Eagle, later indicted along with a fourth man in the murders.

In two separate cars, the two agents drove up to a cluster of houses on the rolling plains of the Sioux reservation, only to be met by heavy gunfire from three sides, the prosecutor said.

One agent's revolver was found on the site where Mr. Butler was arrested Sept. 5 in South Dakota. A rifle that may have been Mr. Coler's was found in a car in which Mr. Robideau was riding just before his arrest, Mr. Sikma said.

The defense, which included William Kunstler, the attorney for numerous activist groups, charged that the bureau had failed to solve the 243 violent deaths they contended had occurred on the reservation over a three-year period. Yet, the defense said, the Government pursued the agents' murderers with unlawful zeal.

"It's so more important to find out who killed F.B.I. agents than to find out who killed Indian people," Mr. Gurwitz said. He charged that the bureau was "so intent" to get even that "they have the wrong people here."

The defense cited a report by an investigator for the United States Commission on Civil Rights, which said that many Pine Ridge residents were arrested in the week after the slaying of the agents of being arrested without cause for questioning and being searched without warrants.

Caril Ann Fugate arriving for parole hearing in York, Neb., yesterday.

COUNTRY FUN FOR KIDS GIVE FRESH AIR FUND

Woman Accused in 11 Deaths Paroled

Special to The New York Times
YORK, Neb., June 8—Caril Ann Fugate won freedom today, 18 years after accompanying Charles Starkweather on a murder rampage.

She said she wanted to be "a dumpy little housewife."

Miss Fugate, 32 years old, has spent more than half her life in confinement. She was 14 when the 11 murders occurred in Nebraska and Wyoming in 1958.

The Nebraska Parole Board granted her a parole on a 4-to-1 vote, effective June 20. She wept briefly as the decision was announced. Most of the 25 persons attending the meeting applauded.

"We wish you the best of luck," John Greenholt, chairman of the parole board, said. "I'd just like to say thank you very much," replied Miss Fugate, clad in a white dress and white shoes. Miss Fugate is to establish residence elsewhere, and report to a parole officer in St. John's, Mich. But officials declined to say where she will live.

Before the board's vote, Miss Fugate told the members that she wanted to fade back into society without fanfare.

"I just want to settle down, get married, have a couple of kids, dust the house and clean toilets," she said. "I just want to be an ordinary dumpy little housewife — wash the socks, burn the toast."

I simply want to go out and do my best. That's all I ask. I don't want any publicity.

Starkweather, who was her boy friend, died in the electric chair as a result of the murders. He pictured her as a willing and sometimes active companion. She has insisted she was innocent, and that she accompanied him because she was afraid.

She was convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to life in prison. She wept at the end of the trial. "If they were going to give me life, why didn't they give me the chair," she said at the time.

Miss Fugate has been at the Nebraska Center for Women in York, where there are no guards or guns. Although surrounded by a chain link fence, it otherwise resembles a small college campus.

In recent years, Miss Fugate studied there to become a geriatrics nurse's aide. She has worked at the Henderson Hospital and Nursing Home.

COALITION ATTACKS GRAND JURY SYSTEM

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—A coalition of lawyers, politicians and church groups criticized the Federal grand jury system today, saying that it had become a Government "sword against the people."

Calling attention to alleged abuses of constitutional rights by United States attorneys seeking grand jury indictments, the "Coalition to End Grand Jury Abuse" urged support for legislation "to democratize" grand juries.

Judith Avner, a Washington lawyer and codirector of the coalition, told reporters. "The grand jury has lost its control of the indictment function."

"The modern grand jury rubber-stamps the indictments the Government wants," she said. The grand jury, set up by the Founding Fathers, hears witnesses called by Federal prosecutors. A grand jury indictment-based sole jurors' presentation of critical process. Bills pending in House and Senate number of the permitting law witnesses before and ordering the present excuse as well as evidence lead to an indictment. A House Judiciary committee will open the hills Thursday.

NASA Studies HOUSTON (UPI)—The National Space Administration new techniques detect micro-organisms on Mars can be used to bacteria in the Government wants. Officially incorporate the a system that is developing to quality electronic

Flood Waters in Idaho Recede, But Anger Over Dam Is Rising

By R. DRUMMOND AYRES Jr.
Special to The New York Times

REXBURG, Idaho, June 8—The swollen Snake River is receding now from the towns and farms it flooded when a controversial Federal irrigation dam collapsed near here Saturday.

But a flood of citizen anger and frustration is rising over who should be blamed for the disaster, who should pay for the widespread damage, and whether the Tetan Dam should be rebuilt, given reports that it was built on an unstable base.

The residents of Rexburg and half a dozen other communities strung out 50 miles or more downriver have begun moving back into their silt-filled homes and stores—those that are still standing—and some housewives and merchants can hardly control their anger.

"Knew It Was Dangerous" "I over wanted that dam," Mrs. Ted Ard sobbed this morning as her husband picked about the sodden mess that was once his service station. "I just knew it was dangerous, and the Government had better repay us or it will be un-American."

"You'd better go on home or you're going to come apart," Mr. Ard said, putting a muddy arm around his wife's shoulders. The home she headed for was covered with silt and half-skewed from its foundations.

Meanwhile in Washington, Congress was preparing several investigations into the dam break, which killed at least seven persons, left more than 40 missing, inundated 50,000 acres of farmland, washed away 4,000 homes and businesses and sited over untold hundreds of others. Some members of Congress plan to fly to Idaho for a first-hand look.

Federal Reimbursement Senator Frank Church, Democrat of Idaho, announced after visiting the disaster area that he would sponsor legislation to provide Federal reimbursement for victims. No official damage estimates were immediately available, but some disaster officials said the final figure might approach a billion dollars.

"There is no precedent for this sort of need, so it will require special legislation," Senator Church said. Gilbert G. Stamm, Commissioner of the Bureau of Reclamation, the Federal agency that constructed the dam, went to the White House to tell President Ford that the bureau would conduct an investigation, using independent experts from private business.

Acknowledging reports that the dam's designers had been warned by environmentalists and others that the construction site was particularly porous rock and soil, and furthermore, was subject to periodic earth tremors, Mr. Stamm said 222,000 persons in the United States were saved from "We were aware of an unstable foundation and took extreme care. Theoretically, what happened could not happen. But it did."

What happened, as far as is known at this point, is that the dam, a nearly completed earth-and-rock structure, sprung a leak last Thursday and the leak spread until a total collapse occurred at noon Saturday.

The dam cost about $60 million, was 300 feet high and 3,000 feet wide, and was put up to impound water to irrigate some of the best potato-growing soil in the United States. Farmers upstream from the break now face a water shortage.

But that is hardly the case below the break. "My farm itself escaped serious damage, but a lot of my friends were cleaned out and I lost some real estate in town," Jim Howe, a Rexburg farmer, said. "I think the Government should repay us—it was their dam—and I don't think the dam should be rebuilt. There are enough dams around here already."

A "Mighty Nucleus" Nile Boyle, the manager of Johnson Drug and Hardware in Rexburg, said any proposal to rebuild the dam would be cause a "mighty nucleus."

He estimated his loss at more than $600,000 and said he would have to "go out of business" if the Government did not repay him. "Except for all the environmentalists and hunters and fishermen, most people were all for the dam when they decided to put it up," he continued. "But I can't see them replacing it now unless they can come up with some foolproof engineering."

Perhaps the most outspoken comment on rebuilding the dam came from Keith Walker, chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Madison County, one of the hardest-hit counties. "The man who started rebuilding probably would be shot," he said.

Opposition to rebuilding did not appear to be unanimous, however. Jim Wilson, an Idaho Falls insurance agent, came out in favor of another dam, despite the destruction to his State Farm Insurance office here.

"I know some people are now against it, but the farmers need it, need it bad," he said. "The builders just need to do it right next time."

Spending on Cancer Cures HOUSTON (UPI)—Americans spend about $2 million annually on "miracle cures" for cancer, the M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute reported. The institute said treatment for cancer could be diminished chances for recovery. It said 222,000 persons in the United States were saved from cancer last year.

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

bfo The Original BFO

OPEN EVERY DAY, INCLUDING SUNDAY, 9:30-5:30

We Think Expensive Clothing Has Become Too Expensive!

There's no question about it. Prices on men's clothing are much higher and you may find yourself spending more for your clothes than you planned. What choice do you have? You could lower your quality standards...you'd pay less, but you'd get even less in return. If you particular...if you like to dress well...like to wear expensive clothes...then you need BFC

Here we sell only the finest quality clothing...the "expensive" famous brands, fabrics and tailoring seen elsewhere, yet our prices are usually below original wholesale!

How can BFO do it? It's simple...for us. Manufacturers who need cash, or find they're overproduced, come to us. And get a check 24 hours. Manufacturers who want to keep their men and machines busy between seasons come to us. And we place huge orders.

It's a matter of whom you know. And we know everybody in the business. After all, we manufactured clothing ourselves for 60 years.

Superb Quality, Summer SUITS None higher than $75... Others $65 and $55

Distinguished fashions in every respect...impeccably tailored in vested models, lean looking European Designer shapes and classic soft shoulder styles. Huge selections.

Luxury SPORT COATS and BLAZERS None higher than $45... Others $35

Checks...plaids...bright new colors...in crisp fabrics perfect for the warm weather. A great selection in smart looking European Designer shapes or classic traditional.

Famous Brand SLACKS None higher than $20... Others $15 and $10

An all-but-endless selection of summer slacks...most with the quality labels in them.

Alterations available on premises (Manhattan and Yonkers Only)

Planning a vacation? For your fun in the sun, you can choose or handsome Sport Coats and complement a pair of our colorful Slacks and you'll have outfit for about $50 or $60!

Authentic French Designer Fashions SUITS None higher than $ None higher than $

The true European silhouette...the tapered higher armholes. Our reputation for out selection and miracle low prices for this clothing is rapidly spreading.

Cool and Comfortable LEISURE SUITS $35-$45 Some at $5!

Look dressed up without feeling dressed have an outstanding selection of this population.

YOUR MONEY BACK WITHIN 7 DAYS on any unaltered garment

We honor the American Express Card, Master Charge and BankAmericard.

MANHATTAN (6th Floor)
149 Fifth Avenue at 21st Street
Phone (212) 254-0059-0060

OTHER LOCATIONS:
YONKERS—In the BFO/Waldbaum Shopping Plaza (former site of P. Murphy's) 1745 Central Ave., just north of Tuckahoe Road. Phone (914) 6700. Open Mon. through Fri. Noon till 10 P.M. Open Sat. 10 AM-7 PM. Closed Sun.
CLIFTON, N.J.—550 Getty Avenue (Strass Factory Bldg. Adjoining the Clifton State Parkway) Phone (201) 546-9800. Open Mon. through Fri. No 10 P.M. Open Sat. 10 AM-7 PM. Closed Sun.
CINCINNATI—Genby Shops, 745 Swifton Center.

bfo
Quality Clothing For Men Since 1914

Copyright BFO 1976

What's Are Ex

We're Amer

Th

th

Virtual Messenger Association American Choice for Domestic Air Travel

N

N

هكذا من الأصل

17 Pictures of Mars Are Expected on TV July 4

K. J. PRIAL
Close-up pictures of the red planet are scheduled to be shown on television July 4, minutes before the Viking 1 lander touches down on the planet.

Photographs of the planet near it were taken in July 1971, a global dust storm obscured the planet's surface and delayed its photographic mission for several weeks. Two Soviet spacecraft have failed, one just before and the other just after a Mars landing. The landing at 10:20 P.M. Eastern daylight time, which will begin a year-long quest for signs of life, past or present, could be delayed if pictures taken from Viking spacecraft before the landing disclosed a problem with the landing area and an alternative site is needed.

Viking project leaders have warned that everything must work perfectly for the landing of Viking 1 to come off on schedule, including the Martian weather, orbital maneuvers and the descent to the planet's surface by the landing unit.

Two Soviet Failures
They noted that when Mariner 9 arrived in Martian orbit in 1971, a global dust storm obscured the planet's surface and delayed its photographic mission for several weeks. Two Soviet spacecraft have failed, one just before and the other just after a Mars landing.

Area Will Be Investigated
Viking 1 will orbit Mars while its twin cameras investigate the landing area, called Chryse, a basin near a channel that appears to have been gouged out by the flow of water. Viking 1 could remain in orbit for weeks or even months, if necessary, to await favorable landing conditions or to search for a better landing site.

RCA Corporation built the communication equipment for Viking, but the overall construction contract was with the Martin-Marietta Corporation. The Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which is operated for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration by the California Institute of Technology, designed the orbiting part of Viking. Langley Research Center, a NASA facility at Hampton, Va., designed the lander.

Viking 1 was launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., last Aug. 20, after nine days of technical problems. Viking 2, also delayed in launching, was sent into space last Sept. 9 and is expected to begin orbiting Mars Aug. 2.

COURT GIVES LIFE TO RURAL SCHOOL

Judges End 80-Mile Round Trip by Bus in Nevada

CARSON CITY, Nev., June 8 (AP)—A small high school in the Nevada desert has been brought back to life by a court ruling that puts greater emphasis on the closeness between school and home than budget figures. A budget-minded school closed Lund High School this school year, forcing its 30 students to ride a bus 80 miles a day to and from a high school in Ely. But the Nevada Supreme Court ruled unanimously yesterday that rural schools were worth saving. The court said that the close relationship between a school and the home was "something very precious to American education, which has been deteriorating in large communities."

The court rejected the argument that students from Lund would get a better education in Ely. An 80-mile round-trip bus ride impairs a student's performance and participation in school events, the court said. Fall Reopening Planned
The ruling means that the 50-year-old school will reopen next fall. Residents of Lund greeted the decision enthusiastically. Phil Carter, a resident of Lund and member of the school board, called the decision "the greatest thing that has ever happened in the White River Valley." Louise Reid, who helped organize a drive to reopen the school, said, "I'm so overwhelmed I don't know what to say. You'd have to quite the tears of happiness which were shed."

Karla McKenzie, 16, who made that 80-mile trip during the closure said she was happy that her upcoming senior year would be in her hometown of Lund. "I didn't like Ely very well. Mostly I didn't like riding back and forth," she said. And I think I learned more in Lund. I got the same grades in Ely but I didn't have to work as hard." "There's a lot more kids there," she explained. "The teachers can't pay as close attention. The kids get away with lot more." "The only thing I liked about it was that I met some new friends. That's about all," said Miss McKenzie, whose parents run a dairy farm. The high court's ruling overturned a lower court decision that had supported the White Pine County School Board's 4-to-3 vote last year to close the school.

Board members who wanted to close Lund high to save money and improve the students' schooling had no comment or were unavailable for comment on the decisions. One argument for the shutdown was that the county school district would otherwise face a $75,000 budget deficit. The Supreme Court said the figure was not correct. Lund citizens contended that the school district really had a $250,000 surplus.

Particle 'Charm' on Coast

A new particle that has the charm of a particle has been discovered at California's Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory.

Established with the new particle as has by theory. If it is present the first than a quarter of a fundamental strongly interest as been identified.

of the particle yesterday by Berkeley Laboratory.

redicted properties electric charge, indestructible in collision between as first suggested by James D. Bjorken at Stanford University, and L. Glashow, at University.

icles, known as been discovered and a half that possess charm property.

article, which is those previously said to have manifest charm, a physicists to instance of this arty. Physicists reportedly try the California icle was discovered over the at Stanford's colliding ring called hicle, which has ned, has a mass lectron volts (it the size of a lists for a rela: before decay- more common eason and three

1977 AIR FUND

RECTOR CHAIRS ACCENT PIECE FINISHES WHILE NATURAL WASHING 22 NVAS COLORS

24 EACH with canvas phone or mail. g extra.

THE CHAIR STORE

SEE TIP NO. 1 E UP FOR SPRING PRES. • WALKING PROBLEM TREATMENTS; ALPHILE

We're American Airlines. Doing what we do best.

The #1 fare from the #1 airline.

Airline Passengers Association names American No. 1 choice for domestic air travel.

In a recent independent survey, frequent fliers were asked: "If you were traveling anywhere in the U.S. and had your choice of any U.S. airline, which airline would you choose—and why?" More people chose American than any other airline. And the overriding reason was "service."

American's Nightcoach.

Adults save 20%.
Kids save 47%.
No advance purchase.
No minimum stay.

American's Nightcoach fare is the #1 fare because it's the least expensive way to fly with no restrictions. Fly to selected cities any night of the year and we'll save you 20% off the regular coach fare. And save 47% if you take the kids (2 through 11). We're #1. If we can't give you a good deal, who can?

FROM NEW YORK/NEWARK ONE WAY TO:	REG. DAY COACH FARE	NIGHT COACH	YOU SAVE	FROM NEW YORK/NEWARK ONE WAY TO:	REG. DAY COACH FARE	NIGHT COACH	YOU SAVE
Baltimore	$33.00	$26.00	$7.00	Ontario	$198.00	$158.00	$40.00
Cleveland	$54.00	$43.00	$11.00	Phoenix	$175.00	$140.00	$35.00
Dallas/Ft. Worth	$124.00	$99.00	$25.00	San Diego	$198.00	$158.00	$40.00
El Paso	$158.00	$126.00	$32.00	San Francisco	$198.00	$158.00	$40.00
Los Angeles	$198.00	$158.00	$40.00	Tucson	$174.00	$139.00	$35.00
Oklahoma City*	$120.00	$99.00	$21.00	Tulsa*	$113.00	$99.00	$14.00

*All fares subject to change without notice. *Percentage savings lower due to routing thru Dallas-Ft. Worth.

No restrictions at all.

For information or reservations call us or your Travel Agent.

American

DEMOCRATS DROP PLANS FOR PICNIC

Continued From Page 1, Col. 8
and steaks back to the state committee staff, which began frantically looking for a new site for the picnic.

The state committee, several hours later, settled on the Promenade Cafe at Rockefeller Center, or less, as the replacement site of the fund-raiser, which will now be a dinner.

The Mayor's Position
Earlier yesterday, the Mayor — in an obvious counter to Mr. Rosenbaum's threat of a suit — said he had been assured by S. Stanley Kreutzler, counsel to the city's Board of Ethics, and the City Corporation Counsel "that such functions in no way violate any statutes."

Just to be sure, however, the Mayor offered the mansion lawn to other political parties. A few hours later, he canceled next Monday's picnic. A spokesman for the Governor said Mr. Carey had had nothing to do with the cancellation.

Gracie Mansion and its expansive lawn have been used for political, social and charitable events in the past, but veteran City Hall newsmen could not recall its use for political fund-raisers.

Mr. Rosenbaum had been tipped off to the picnic and the possibility of a law suit by his nemesis, George L. Clark Jr., the Brooklyn Republican chairman and leader of the Ronald Reagan forces in the state. Mr. Clark, several years ago, successfully ejoiced a Brooklyn Democratic fund-raiser in a high school.

What Would Have Been
The picnic site was to be gaily decorated with streamers and balloons and a striped tent over a wooden dance floor. The Democrats would have been well fed and watered at three barbecue pits and three bars.

The picnic was to have been the social highlight of an intense two days of Democratic activity early next week. Earlier Monday, the state's Democratic National Convention delegates will meet at the Statler Hilton Hotel, which will be the Democratic National Convention headquarters next month, to hear at least three Presidential hopefuls—Jimmy Carter, the former Georgia Governor; Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. of California, and Senator Frank Church of Idaho.

On Tuesday, the Democratic State Committee will meet at the hotel to designate a candidate to oppose Senator James L. Buckley, the Conservative-Republican incumbent.

Rhodesian Tribal Leader Kidnapped by Guerrillas

SALISBURY, Rhodesia, June 8 (UPI) — Black Nationalist guerrillas have kidnapped one of Rhodesia's senior tribal chiefs near the area where three whites were killed in weekend attacks, Internal Affairs Minister Jack Musset said today.

Mr. Musset called Chief Mabika, the abducted leader, "an outstanding administrator and outspoken opponent of terrorism." Chief Mabika was one of the country's 10 senior chiefs and sat in the Senate, a body nominated by the country's 250-member Council of Chiefs.

Osteopath Is Booked in 10 Baby Deaths on Coast

LOS ANGELES, June 8 (AP)—An osteopathic physician convicted of second-degree murder 16 years ago has been booked for investigation of murder in the deaths of 10 infants at his cut-rate medical clinic.

Deputy District Attorney Dinko Bozianich said today that the deaths of the newborn children allegedly stemmed from "a wanton and reckless disregard for life."

Investigators in the district attorney's office said that Dr. Joseph Emory, 55 years old, had been booked for investigation of 10 counts of murder. Dr. Emory's wife, Harriett, 51, was also booked on 10 counts and his son, Alan, 32, was booked on five counts.

The authorities said that the babies purportedly died either in delivery or within a few days at Dr. Emory's Highland Park clinic, which officials said was not licensed to perform any medical operations.

California Physician Operated a Cut-Rate Clinic—Wife and Son Also Accused

Dr. Emory lost his osteopathic license after the murder conviction in 1960 in the death of a woman who had undergone an abortion and another conviction three years later for performing an illegal abortion, the authorities said.

They said that Dr. Emory had served two years in state prison from 1967 to 1969.

Dr. Emory's wife and son, neither of whom are licensed for any sort of medical practice, allegedly assisted in the deliveries cited in the current charges, the investigators said. District Attorney John Van de Kamp said that 25 babies had perished at the clinic operated by Dr. Emory since his license was reinstated on May 2, 1974. Since then, the authorities said, Dr. Emory's name had appeared on more than 700 birth certificates.

Mr. Van de Kamp said that nearly all of Dr. Emory's patients were Mexican aliens attracted by the prices charged by Dr. Emory for child delivery, usually about $200 to $300, about half the normal rate.

Mr. Bozianich said the district attorney's office was "alleging more than mere incompetence. We are alleging an institutional and systematic course of conduct in the deaths. We are not excluding the possibility of intentional killings," he said.

You won't need 3 guesses to name this Famous American Designer Nyesta Sportswear at 50% and more off!

What a find! Everything you want in summer separates in light, drape-y, shape-y, packable, washable, dressy, sporty Nyesta of Antron® nylon in 8 fantastic colors (cream, café, electric blue, orange, ultra violet, warm pink, black), including a super, slit-up-the-side T-dress with its own self scarf/belt and 3 different scoop-neck T-shirts! The labels are all in, every one is marked irregular, and each part is coordinated to all the others. If you miss this one, don't say we didn't tell you!

The T-Shirt Dress now selling elsewhere at $40 — 17.99
Sleeveless T-Shirt now selling elsewhere at $16 — 6.99
Short sleeve T-Shirt now selling elsewhere at $18 — 7.99
Long sleeve T-Shirt now selling elsewhere at $20 — 9.99
Short sleeve Golf Shirt now selling elsewhere at $24 — 10.99
Pants now selling elsewhere at $36 — 17.99
Skirts (A-line and all-around-skirted, both with self belts) now selling elsewhere at $40 — 17.99
Long skirt now selling elsewhere at $52 — 19.99

Bolton's
FAMOUS DESIGNER CLOTHES FOR THE WOMAN WHO KNOWS

Manhattan: 225 E. 57th St., East of 3rd/45 E. 8th St., bet. Bway & University Pl./1180 Madison at 86th St./2251 Broadway at 81st St.
Long Island: New Hyde Park, Hillsida at Marcus/Cedarhurst, 86 Cedarhurst off Central Paramus, N.J.: Rt. 4, opp. Loehmann's/New Rochelle: 714 North Ave., opp. Iona College

Purchases $10 and over may be charged on Master Charge or BankAmericard

What's the difference between their $500 desk and our $325 desk? About 40 blocks.

Just a 40 block jaunt to 23rd Street and 10th Avenue can make an astonishing difference in the price you pay. And, if you can save $175 on a $500 desk, just imagine what the savings would be on a whole office full of furniture.

The nicest part is no one could ever know. Because our

Chairs & Sofas:

Just	Usually	Safe
14	Wedge-shape blue fabric lounge chairs.....	$280	$ 79
2	2-seaters-Mirror chrome frame. Black fabric.....	435	150
1	94" Rust Vinyl sofa.....	730	390
2	Plum tweed fabric club chairs.....	550	149
4	Brown glove leather lounge chairs.....	650	250
1	Marigold or Olive nylon covering 74" dark green fabric sofa.....	975	490
75	Seey posture chairs Black - Blue - Tan.....	97	69

Desks & Cabinets:

Just	Usually	Safe
7	L-shaped Walnut traditional desks, 66x32 w/return.....	$990
18	66" Chippendale executive L-shaped desks - right returns.....	865
24	Patty color steel sliding door cabinets w/lock - one shelf 30"H x 36 1/2"W x 15"D.....	135
7	Executive swivel chairs-Blue,.....	150
8	66 x 34 single pedestal desks Mozambique finish.....	46:

Save up to 45% on Manufacturers Closeout.
Assorted steel desks..... $ 29
Assorted steel files..... $ 24

ABIE'S BABY, INC.
A SUPERMARKET OF OFFICE FURNITURE

524 WEST 23rd ST. (BET. 10th & 11th AVENUE)
FREE PARKING
Weekdays 8:30 A.M. to 6:00 P.M.
CLOSED SATURDAYS
All prices F.O.B. Warehouse
All items subject to price change

This week: Sensuous $25 world famous body shirts for a sleek $13.

These sensational shirts from Spain sell around town for $25 and more. Chic patterns and prints. These are some of our very best, at a price that is muy bueno.

It's time to Discover Merns

75 Church Street (corner Vesey St.) Evenings till 6:30—Thursday till 9:00
525 Madison Ave. (bet. 53rd and 54th) Evenings till 6:30—Thursday till 8:00
Both stores 6 PM Saturday—Master Charge, Citicard and BankAmericard.

American gleam. Macy's very own necklace of '76

It's definitely the year of stars and stripes, and Macy's joins the celebration with our very own jewelry creation: the 14K gold American necklace. The stars are delicate open shapes strung together with golden bars. The design was dreamed up by our very own buyer—her golden opportunity to wish America a tastefully understated Happy Birthday. (That's the spirit, Joyce!) 15" with 7 stars. $65. 18" with 9 stars. $75. Fine Jewelry (D.079). St. Floor, Herald Sq. only. We regret, no mail or phone.

Macy's

The fresh Earth shoe

FOR MEN AND WOMEN

Style 170
Fine leather sandal available in two smooth. $25.50

The Earth® brand sandal is unique. The design will help guide you to walk, smoothly, easily, and more comfortably than you ever believed possible.

Earth Shoe Stores

The Earth shoe is available only at the following locations in the New York, N.Y. 107 East 17th Street, 1023 Lexington Ave. 1st St. Garden City, N.Y. 223 Franklin Ave. White Plains, N.Y. 109 Mountain Ave. And in Massachusetts only at: Cambridge, Mass. 14 Story St. Burlington Mall, Mass. Amherst, Mass. 284 N. Pleasant St. *Reg. T.M. of Vibram S.p.A. of Albizzate (Varese) Gift Certificates Available.

تحتنا من الأهل

هكذا من الأصل

Carter and Israel: He Goes Almost the Distance on U.S. Support and Aid

By LESLIE H. GELB
Special to The New York Times
WASHINGTON, June 8—Jimmy Carter has defined a series of positions on the Middle East that add up to a nearly complete list of what Israelis and American supporters of Israel like to hear.

His idea, as it emerged in a speech in Jewish leaders in New Jersey Sunday, is to make the United States commitment to the survival of Israel so solid and so unequivocal that the Israelis would have the confidence to relinquish occupied Arab territory. With the prospect of having territory returned, the Arabs would be ready to make peace with Israel. The two sides in Mr. Carter's view, would reach a general peace settlement, which would then be carried out in stages over a period of years as each came to trust the other a little more.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's Middle East experts have examined a similar approach and raised many questions about its feasibility. Even among them there is some disposition toward trying to reach an overall settlement that would come into force in stages.

Mr. Kissinger seems to have decided that his step-by-step diplomacy has run out of possibilities, and he has turned to the idea of a preliminary Geneva conference of all concerned parties except the Palestinians. This has gotten nowhere because the Soviet Union and the Arab countries insist on the participation of the Palestine Liberation Organization, which the Arabs and their allies view as the legitimate representative of the Palestinian people.

Difference in Strategy
Whatever form Mr. Kissinger might choose for negotiation, his strategy unlike that of Mr. Carter, has been to mix support for Israel with pressure on the Israelis to compromise. Thus he endorsed large-scale aid and at the same time, started a review of American interests in the Middle East and put out statements about Israeli intransigence—all of which placed the American commitment in doubt.

Mr. Carter said in his speech that "maneuvers of this type are bound to produce—as they have produced—both failure in negotiation and suspicion among its participants." He would be unequivocal in his dealings with Israel, he asserted, adding: "The survival of Israel is not a political issue. It is a moral imperative."

The former Governor of Georgia would bring Congress in "from the outset on a bipartisan basis," rather than allowing policy to be "made and executed by just one man." The Israelis feel that their staunchest backers are in Congress, and many believe that Mr. Kissinger, the one man in question, has not been helpful.

Mr. Carter said that he could not accept the intervention of Soviet combat forces in any Arab-Israeli conflict. Such a statement is designed to relieve Israelis of the fear that if the going got rough the United States would not be there to help.

The survival of Israel "as a Jewish state" was called for by Mr. Carter, his previous formulation having been as "a viable and peaceful nation."

"Only face-to-face communication can build the trust and nurture the accommodation that will be needed" between Israel and its Arab neighbors, Mr. Carter maintained. Standard negotiating fare for the Israelis is their test of the seriousness of Arab leaders on peace.

According to Mr. Carter, the Arabs, in return for getting back their territories, would have to grant "recognition of Israel, diplomatic relations with Israel, open frontiers and an end to embargo and official hostile propaganda against Israel."

These are also Israel's terms. Finally, Mr. Carter urged that the United States continue to supply aid to Israel "in the full amounts necessary, so Israel can pursue peace from a position of strength and confidence." Such aid is essential, in the Israeli view.

When Mr. Kissinger's experts looked at a similar list of confidence-building measures they had problems. From their vantage point the present Israeli leaders are so weak and hopelessly divided that no set of proposals would be enough to satisfy them or give them the political courage to confront their electorate with a policy entailing territorial concessions.

In the view of American experts, the Israeli leaders require pressure from the United States to do what they cannot do on their own.

It is not clear from Mr. Carter's speech how much territory he would have Israeli return to the Arabs. He said, "Final borders between Israel and her neighbors should be determined in direct negotiations between the parties." Only last January he was much more specific: "I think ultimately a final solution may very well entail a withdrawal of Israel basically to the 1967 boundaries." He went on to exclude the Golan Heights and the Jewish and Christian holy places in Jerusalem.

He was also less specific Sunday about how to handle the Palestinian problem. He said simply that the Palestinians "have rights that must be recognized in any settlement, and the Government of Israel is sensitive to that fact."

Formerly he advocated a Palestinian homeland on the West Bank.

Whatever the differences between Mr. Carter and the Ford Administration on Middle Eastern policy, they do agree on two key points: that the United States must continue to develop better relations with the Arabs and that no peace inevitably means the prospect of another war.

Body Found in Bay
The decomposed body of a woman, was found yesterday wrapped in a blanket and floating in Jamaica Bay, off North Chauncel Bridge in Howard Beach, Queens. The police said wire and a chain attached to a 10-pound anchor had been bound around the victim, whose identity was unknown.

1977-1977
THE FRESH AIR FUND

It's the difference
when their $500
I our $325
about 40 blocks

4988
Yes, real platinum
shaver head!
A smooth, smooth
the incomparable new Eltron stands alone

less when you can get the technical European firm has made famous. Here are the features that make it a standout.

efficient AC motor works in any country model #660.
just about indestructible.
el cutting blades
with off-on switch
urse, Macy's is a Braun Eltron service agent.
79.88

per-efficient razor cleaner, sale 1.49

(971-6000) or your nearest phone order
1.50 delivery. Add sales tax. Sorry, no
Razor Centre (D:211) Lower Level,
Square. Also at Macy's Parkchester, Flat-
Kings Plaza, Staten Island, Roosevelt Field, South Shore Mall, Smith Haven, White Plains.

macys

wood KX-620 cassette Deck. The best features for the best price. Front loading, switchable bias,
switchable equalization,
push-key control,
Earth-B noise reduction,
Servo motor, pause
action, microphone generator, line and tape inputs, stereo phone jack, and more.

Harvey sound
The Home of the Professionals
2 West 45th Street (212) 475-5000 • Video Center 155 East 45th Street (212) 687-9881
New York City 2353 Central Ave. (914) 337-6300 • White Plains, 236 East Post Road (914) 948-3380
WOODBURY, 60 Crossways Park West (516) 364-2300

SAVE 15%

Northwest's special Vacation Fares save you money to all these cities:

Destination	Round-trip Vacation Fare	Savings Off Normal Coach Fare	Destination	Round-trip Vacation Fare	Savings Off Normal Coach Fare
CHICAGO	$133	$23	MPLS./ST. PAUL	$167	$29
CLEVELAND	92	16	PORTLAND, ORE.	337	59
DETROIT	105	19	ROCHESTER, MINN.	161	29
LOS ANGELES	337	59	SAN FRANCISCO	337	59
MADISON	143	25	SEATTLE/TACOMA	337	59
MILWAUKEE	134	24	SPOKANE	303	53

Accompanied children 2-11 save 50% off normal Coach fare. You must make reservations at least 14 days before departure, fly round-trip and stay 7-30 days. There are some simple ticketing requirements. Vacation Fare seats are limited so make your reservations now and save. (Fares are subject to change and to rule No. 137 of CAB Tariff 142.) You can pay for your air fare with the American Express Card.

For complete details on how to qualify for Vacation Fare savings, see your travel agent or call Northwest: New York City 564-2300; Westchester County 946-1183; Newark/Hackensack 643-8555; Long Island 485-0200; New Jersey and Connecticut 800-221-7300 (toll-free); New York State 800-522-2177 (toll-free).

The best of both worlds
NORTHWEST ORIENT

Ford Wins in New Jersey; He and Carter Carry Ohio

Continued From Page 1, Col. 3
poll taken by The New York Times and CBS News, in which voters were interviewed immediately after casting their ballots. Such polls are considered more valid indicators of voter sentiment than early scattered returns.

Going into yesterday's voting, Mr. Ford led Mr. Reagan in committed delegates, 800 to 686, in a tabulation by The Times. Mr. Carter had 906 Democratic delegates compared with only 306 1/2 for Mr. Udall, his closest competitor.

Before the polls closed, there was encouraging news for Mr. Carter, who returned to Georgia at the end of a 16-month, two-week campaign in the primaries.

The news came from Chicago and its Mayor, Richard J. Daley, who said at a news conference that he admired Mr. Carter because of his religious beliefs. "Something we need some of."

"Dropping his reluctance to take sides in the Presidential contest, the 74-year-old Mayor said he would play no part in a stop-Carter movement and would oppose any move by the convention to draft Senator Humphrey.

"We understand one another," Mr. Daley said of his relationship with Mr. Carter. "We've known each other for a long time. I have great respect for any man with the courage he's got. He started months ago and entered contests in any state.

"He's won some and he's lost some and, by God, you have got to admire him."

A victory in Ohio, Mr. Daley said, would mean that Mr. Carter would be a source of delegates, as is Mr. Wallace. Mr. Jackson has himself almost enough delegates to assure the Georgian the nomination, and the two have been in touch recently.

Report on Jackson Denied
However, Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida, a Jackson supporter, said after a telephone conversation Monday that there was no truth to the Time magazine report that Mr. Jackson was ready to endorse Mr. Carter.

Almost forgotten as millions of voters went to the polls in the three states was the man whose downfall did much to characterize of the campaign: Richard M. Nixon.

The former President and his wife voted quietly yesterday morning at an elementary school near their home in San Clemente, Calif. Arriving at 7:30 A.M., they were the 25th and 26th persons to vote in their precinct.

Mr. Nixon gave no indication of whether he had voted for Mr. Ford or Mr. Reagan.

commented, would mean that Mr. Carter "will walk in under his own power." The bloc of 86 delegates controlled by the Mayor and Senator Adlai E. Stevenson 3d could contribute significantly to putting Mr. Carter over the top.

The other candidates were scattered around the country as the results of what the politicians called Super Bowl Tuesday poured in. Mr. Ford and Mr. Church were in Washington, Mr. Reagan and Mr. Brown in Los Angeles and Mr. Udall in Cleveland.

Ohio, California and New Jersey were the last stops on a trail that began officially with the New Hampshire primary on Feb. 24 but actually started with the Iowa caucuses on Jan. 19.

Departure of Wallace
Along the way, new figures such as Mr. Carter emerged on the national scene and old ones passed. Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, making his fourth Presidential bid, was suddenly transformed from a powerful vote-getter into a sad presence.

One by one, Democratic contenders dropped out—Senator Birch Bayh of Indiana, Sargent Shriver, Senator Henry W. Jackson of Washington.

On the Republican side, Mr. Reagan mounted, after a slow start, the most effective challenge to a Republican incumbent since Chester A. Arthur was denied renomination in 1884.

Now the focus of the two parties will diverge, with Mr. Carter working quietly behind the scenes to round up the final delegates he needs for a majority of 1,505, and Mr. Ford and Mr. Reagan battling through a series of crucial state conventions.

In Mr. Carter's quest, such men as Mr. Daley and Mr. Jackson are obvious targets as a source of delegates, as is Mr. Wallace. Mr. Jackson has himself almost enough delegates to assure the Georgian the nomination, and the two have been in touch recently.

Report on Jackson Denied
However, Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida, a Jackson supporter, said after a telephone conversation Monday that there was no truth to the Time magazine report that Mr. Jackson was ready to endorse Mr. Carter.

Almost forgotten as millions of voters went to the polls in the three states was the man whose downfall did much to characterize of the campaign: Richard M. Nixon.

The former President and his wife voted quietly yesterday morning at an elementary school near their home in San Clemente, Calif. Arriving at 7:30 A.M., they were the 25th and 26th persons to vote in their precinct.

Mr. Nixon gave no indication of whether he had voted for Mr. Ford or Mr. Reagan.

Election officials waiting for voters at Public School 32 in Jersey City early yesterday morning.

Ohio Gives Ford and Carter Big Victories They Sought

By WILLIAM K. STEVENS
Special to The New York Times

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 8—President Ford and former Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia swept Ohio today in Presidential primaries considered to be of major importance to both.

Mr. Ford was beating former Gov. Ronald Reagan of California by a wide margin in the contest for Ohio's 97 delegates to the Republican National Convention. The President had been favored to reap the great majority of those delegates, and a strong showing here was widely thought to be vital in helping to offset an expected Reagan victory in California.

Mr. Carter was comfortably ahead of Representative Morris K. Udall of Arizona, who was running second in the Democratic primary, and Senator Frank Church of Idaho, who was third. Mr. Carter had hoped to gain at least 100 of Ohio's 152 Democratic convention delegates, couple that with a victory in New Jersey, and thereby all but grasp his party's nomination.

With 20 percent of 12,948 precincts reporting, the tally was:

REPUBLICANS
Ford	104,475 (55%)
Reagan	86,287 (45%)
DEMOCRATS
Carter	113,438 (54%)
Udall	37,954 (18%)
Church	28,183 (14%)
Wallace	12,340 (6%)
Donahy	10,920 (5%)
Jackson	7,026 (3%)

Mr. Carter had been favored here, but the developing size and scope of his margin over Mr. Udall was a surprise.

Among the Democrats, Mr. Carter was leading in the competition for 26 delegates, and Mr. Udall for 32. The remaining 34 were either undetermined or split among several trailing candidates.

Mr. Ford was winning 76 delegates and Mr. Reagan 3, with 18 undetermined.

In the most important of many state and local races in Ohio, former United States Senator Howard Metzgerbaum was leading Representative James V. Stanton for the Democratic senatorial nomination. Senator Robert Taft Jr., the Republican incumbent, was unopposed in the primary.

The Buckeye State, sixth largest in the nation, was considered particularly important to the Presidential contenders because of its heavy convention delegations and its mostly winner-take-all system for selecting delegates.

Estimates of the candidates' showings were based on projections taken by The New York Times and CBS News after the voters cast their ballots. This statewide pattern is considered a more accurate expression of the result than are scattered early returns.

No delegate totals were available on the basis of the early returns.

Also on the statewide Democratic ballot were Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington, Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama and Ohio State Treasurer Gertrude W. Donahy, who is heading a "favorite daughter" ticket.

In the Democratic primary, 38 at-large delegates were to be allocated proportionately among candidates who got 15 percent or more of the state-wide vote. A more numerous body of delegates, 114 in all, were selected in separate Congressional district contests, awarded candidates on a winner-take-all basis within each district.

Only Mr. Carter, among the Democrats, was on the ballot in all of the state's 23 Congressional districts. Mr. Udall bowed out in the largely Black 21st District so as to give Representative Louis Stokes, the Black Representative from Cleveland, Mr. Ford's favorite-son race there.

Mr. Church was on the ballot in 14 districts, Representative Wayne L. Hays, a backer of Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, was running as a favorite-son candidate in six.

All of the 97 Republican delegates were to be allocated winner-take-all, 28 at large and 69 from the Congressional districts. Both Mr. Ford and Mr. Reagan were running statewide, but Mr. Ford on all 23 district ballots, Mr. Reagan on 15.

All five of the active campaigns converged on Ohio in the last 48 hours before the election.

Although Mr. Reagan said that he was expecting to win a few delegates and was coming only to "show the flag," he nevertheless spent two days in the state last weekend.

Mr. Ford ended his campaign here yesterday with a motorcade that hopped through the vote-rich western tier of the state from Cincinnati to Toledo. As stops along the way he chided Mr. Reagan as a man "who can't win" in November, and whose nomination would destroy Republican chances there.

Mr. Ford was so strongly favored here that most attention focused on the more complicated Democratic contest.

Mr. Udall, fresh from a near-victory over Mr. Carter in neighboring Michigan, plunged buoyantly into Ohio three weeks ago. In his self-assigned role of chief Carter-stopper, he enjoyed at least one advantage here that he did not have in Michigan, the backing of the United Automobile Workers in the industrial areas of northern Ohio, where more than half the Democratic votes are.

Further, as the campaign proceeded, Mr. Carter appeared to have angered some Black leaders by refusing to withdraw from the race in Mr. Stokes' 21st Congressional District, as Mr. Udall had. The Black vote was crucial to Mr. Carter's winning Michigan victory.

But Mr. Udall also faced a number of obstacles that had not confronted him in Michigan. First, Ohio is a less liberal state generally speaking, than Michigan.

Second, Mr. Udall had Michigan's big liberal constituency, except for the Black vote, largely to himself. But Senator Church also entered Ohio. And although his campaign at the end was limited when he returned to Idaho after the Teton Dam burst there, his Ohio campaign was thought to have cut into Mr. Udall's liberal constituency.

Third, large numbers of voters of Southern heritage live here, as do many farmers whose vote might be decisive in many Congressional districts of southern Ohio. Both groups were thought to have favored Mr. Carter.

Fourth, the Udall campaign seemed to have lost spirit after the Arizona's defeat in South Dakota last week. Furthermore, crossover voting, which is difficult under Ohio law, was thought unlikely to develop on any scale. Mr. Udall owed much of his near upset in Michigan to the apparent fact that many moderate-to-conservative Democrats, who might otherwise have supported Mr. Carter, crossed party lines to vote for Mr. Ford, the home-state candidate.

do some of the things provided in the initiative measure.

Both major parties had spirited campaigns for the Senatorial nomination. Here the traditional California celebrity endorsement got a workout, too.

Senator Tunney, when he began his political career with election to a United States House seat from a district centered on Riverside, was able to capitalize on the fact that his father was Gene Tunney, once world heavyweight boxing champion.

In 1970, Mr. Tunney won his Senate seat from George Murphy, a former film actor who in 1964 defeated Pierre Salinger, the Kennedy Administration press secretary.

Senator Tunney's Democratic opponent, Mr. Hayden, was a founder of Students for a Democratic Society and one of the "Chicago Seven" defendants. He is married to Jane Fonda, the actress and political activist.

In addition to the issues they generated, Mr. Tunney and Mr. Hayden had celebrities do commercials for them. Gregory Peck served Mr. Tunney; Mrs. Hayden's father, Henry Fonda, and Will Geer, of the Waltons television program, eyed Mr. Hayden.

Meantime, Mr. Hayakawa, who made semantics well known to generations of students, and who was the famous "standpat" president of San Francisco State College during a student rebellion, changed his registration to run as a Republican for the Senate.

Mr. Finch, former Lieutenant Governor and former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, entered the race, as did Mr. Bell, a wealthy representative in Congress.

Mr. Bell produced a celebrity list that was stunning in its subliminal impact. It included Maureen Reagan, daughter of Mr. Reagan, and Mr. Reagan's former wife, Jane Wyman, the actress, and Charlton Heston, Hugh O'Brien, and John Wayne, actors.

Raul Castro Visits Guinea
MIAMI, June 8 (AP)—Raul Castro, head of the Cuban armed forces, has visited in Guinea on a tour of African countries, the Havana radio said today. Mr. Castro, younger brother of Prime Minister Fidel Castro, and President Sékou Touré discussed the role played by Cuba and the Soviet Union in Africa, according to the broadcast monitored in Miami.

Humphrey-Brown Takes an Edge

Continued From Page 1, Col. 6

ers as a spectacular victory, perhaps surpassing his earlier victories in Maryland and Rhode Island.

The 38-year-old Governor never had his name on the ballot here and only came in at the last minute with a late-breaking campaign that attracted large and enthusiastic crowds.

Senator Dugan said that the growing margin of the uncommitted delegates proved that Mr. Carter "could not win in the industrial Northeast" and that the "party must now re-examine the support it had given Mr. Carter."

While Senator Dugan is a strong supporter of Senator Humphrey, he did concede that it was Governor Brown's late entrance that had proven to be "an important factor" in the surprising success of the uncommitted campaign.

With that in mind, Senator Dugan, speaking above the growing pandemonium that followed each new vote tabulation, said that he and other party leaders seeking an open convention next month would now exert new pressure on party organizations throughout the country to deny Mr. Carter a first ballot nomination.

Earlier in the evening, it was virtually impossible to analyze initial returns or project a leader in the delegate race, because election officials had insisted upon counting votes cast in the non-binding preferential-primary section of the ballot.

Since the results had no political value, the major candidates had refused to enter it—except for Mr. Carter, who dominated its vote over candidates who had either pulled out of the race or were marginal to himself. But Senator Church also entered Ohio. And although his campaign at the end was limited when he returned to Idaho after the Teton Dam burst there, his Ohio campaign was thought to have cut into Mr. Udall's liberal constituency.

Third, large numbers of voters of Southern heritage live here, as do many farmers whose vote might be decisive in many Congressional districts of southern Ohio. Both groups were thought to have favored Mr. Carter.

Fourth, the Udall campaign seemed to have lost spirit after the Arizona's defeat in South Dakota last week. Furthermore, crossover voting, which is difficult under Ohio law, was thought unlikely to develop on any scale. Mr. Udall owed much of his near upset in Michigan to the apparent fact that many moderate-to-conservative Democrats, who might otherwise have supported Mr. Carter, crossed party lines to vote for Mr. Ford, the home-state candidate.

do some of the things provided in the initiative measure.

Both major parties had spirited campaigns for the Senatorial nomination. Here the traditional California celebrity endorsement got a workout, too.

Senator Tunney, when he began his political career with election to a United States House seat from a district centered on Riverside, was able to capitalize on the fact that his father was Gene Tunney, once world heavyweight boxing champion.

In 1970, Mr. Tunney won his Senate seat from George Murphy, a former film actor who in 1964 defeated Pierre Salinger, the Kennedy Administration press secretary.

Senator Tunney's Democratic opponent, Mr. Hayden, was a founder of Students for a Democratic Society and one of the "Chicago Seven" defendants. He is married to Jane Fonda, the actress and political activist.

In addition to the issues they generated, Mr. Tunney and Mr. Hayden had celebrities do commercials for them. Gregory Peck served Mr. Tunney; Mrs. Hayden's father, Henry Fonda, and Will Geer, of the Waltons television program, eyed Mr. Hayden.

Meantime, Mr. Hayakawa, who made semantics well known to generations of students, and who was the famous "standpat" president of San Francisco State College during a student rebellion, changed his registration to run as a Republican for the Senate.

Mr. Finch, former Lieutenant Governor and former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, entered the race, as did Mr. Bell, a wealthy representative in Congress.

Mr. Bell produced a celebrity list that was stunning in its subliminal impact. It included Maureen Reagan, daughter of Mr. Reagan, and Mr. Reagan's former wife, Jane Wyman, the actress, and Charlton Heston, Hugh O'Brien, and John Wayne, actors.

Raul Castro Visits Guinea
MIAMI, June 8 (AP)—Raul Castro, head of the Cuban armed forces, has visited in Guinea on a tour of African countries, the Havana radio said today. Mr. Castro, younger brother of Prime Minister Fidel Castro, and President Sékou Touré discussed the role played by Cuba and the Soviet Union in Africa, according to the broadcast monitored in Miami.

Michigan From Its P

LANSING—Former Sen. McCarthy of appeal on 6 Michigan as President today by the Canvassers.

The board, vice of Ator, Kelly, voted 27,000 petitioned by Mc

The board: Kelly that not allow on on the ballot t

Mr. McCork an independent refused to f sought the 1 identical nomin 1972.

His nomine ferred only to candidacy of Carthy."

Mr. Kelley procedure pro opportunity" candidates wh office.

Michigan From Its P

LANSING—Former Sen. McCarthy of appeal on 6 Michigan as President today by the Canvassers.

The board, vice of Ator, Kelly, voted 27,000 petitioned by Mc

The board: Kelly that not allow on on the ballot t

Mr. McCork an independent refused to f sought the 1 identical nomin 1972.

His nomine ferred only to candidacy of Carthy."

Mr. Kelley procedure pro opportunity" candidates wh office.

Michigan From Its P

LANSING—Former Sen. McCarthy of appeal on 6 Michigan as President today by the Canvassers.

The board, vice of Ator, Kelly, voted 27,000 petitioned by Mc

The board: Kelly that not allow on on the ballot t

Mr. McCork an independent refused to f sought the 1 identical nomin 1972.

His nomine ferred only to candidacy of Carthy."

Mr. Kelley procedure pro opportunity" candidates wh office.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Reagan waiting to vote yesterday at their polling place in Pacific Palisades, Calif.

25 من الأول

Water Will Try to Enlist Southern Liberal Democrats

Are Important Part of Heart and of Party, Georgian Declares, Angering Their Opposition Matters

By CHARLES MOHR Special to The New York Times

A June 8-Jimmy Carter today believed Democrats of the Democratic Party are reconciled to the of his nomination with the exception of an Eastern liberal...

He seemed reconciled to the possibility that some liberals would probably conquire their opposition to him until after the nomination. He recalled that Senator Herbert Lehman of New York and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt had waged a "futile" best ditch stand in 1960 against John F. Kennedy because "he simply was not acceptable to them."

Denies Jackson Backs Him Mr. Carter was asked about a report that Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington had decided to support him. He replied that he had met face to face once with Senator Jackson and had twice telephoned him since the Senator withdrew from active candidacy, but "Scoop has not told me what he intends to do."

By his calculations, Mr. Carter will be 200 to 200 delegates short of the convention majority of 1,505 after today's elections. He intends to devote most of his time from now until July in trying to woo uncommitted delegates and those pledged to other candidates, some of whom are no longer serious contenders. He also will get in touch with his remaining active opponents.

He had not done that until now, he said, because it might be considered "insulting" to do so. Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama seems particularly important in this context, and Mr. Carter left no doubt he would seek to talk with him soon.

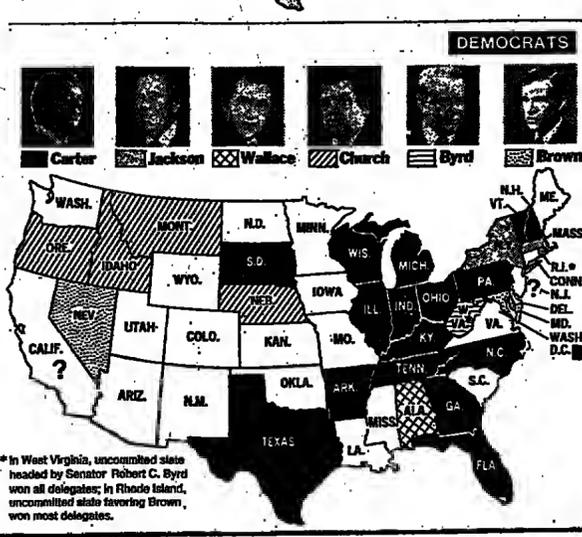

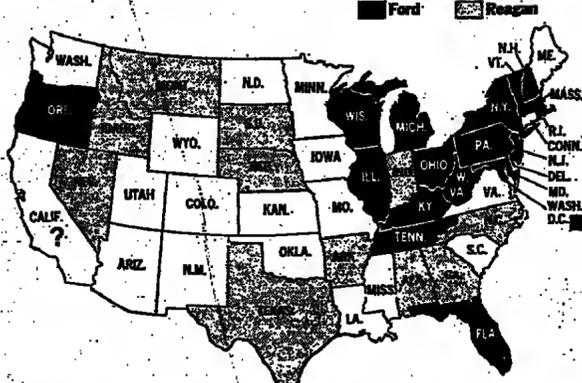

Mr. Carter skillfully turned aside questions about a running mate, but at one point said it appeared that "the West" was where he personally had shown the least strength as a campaigner.

Of the Vice Presidency, he said that he realized that almost every recent President had promised to give the Vice President a meaningful role and to maintain close relations with him, and that all had failed. Still, Mr. Carter said, he was determined to try hard to succeed in this goal, saying he wanted a Vice President who could be known to be "speaking for me" when necessary.

Mr. Carter said he believed that such liberals wanted a role in the general election campaign, in formulating issues for the party and in building a new administration, and said he intended to invite them to play such roles along with other Democrats.

Winners of 1976 Presidential Primaries

Based on Presidential preference in states that had such voting, largest share of convention delegates in remainder.

* In West Virginia, uncommitted state headed by Senator Robert C. Byrd won all delegates; in Rhode Island, uncommitted state favoring Brown, won most delegates.

Senator Williams Beats Rival in Jersey

By MARTIN WALDRON Special to The New York Times

TRENTON, June 8—Harrison A. Williams Jr. tonight won the Democratic nomination for a fourth term in the Senate on the basis of substantial but incomplete returns.

Running against an under-financed lawyer, Stephen J. Foley, who campaigned as a "pro-life" candidate, Senator Williams got more than 80 percent of the early vote.

With almost one-fifth of the state's 5,569 precincts reporting, Senator Williams had 64,000 votes and Mr. Foley 5,000. In the Republican Senate primary, David P. Norcross, who has been an aide to then Gov. William T. Cahill, won the nomination over three minor candidates.

Without waiting for more than scattered returns, Mr. Norcross claimed victory about 9 o'clock, an hour after the polls closed.

He said that in the general election campaign he would force Senator Williams to abandon the "phantom campaign" against Mr. Foley. Mr. Norcross said he would ask Senator Williams to agree to a series of debates throughout the state.

Both Mr. Norcross and Senator Williams were well in front in their primaries from the time the first vote was counted about 8:15 P.M.

The counting of the estimated 700,000 cast in the Senate primaries and in the state's 15 Congressional districts was delayed because of the intense interest in the Presidential primaries.

The major Congressional interest centered on the Ninth District, where there was a turbulent Democratic primary involving Representative Henry Helstoski, who was indicted last week by a Federal grand jury.

The Bergen County and Hudson County Democrats in the Ninth Congressional District were apparently not overly influenced by the criminal charges made against the six-term Congressman.

With half the precincts counted, Mr. Helstoski, 51 years old, held a lead over his major opponent, Assemblyman Byron M. Baer of Bergenfield for the Democratic nomination. The unofficial count gave Mr. Helstoski 8,125 votes to Mr. Baer's 7,709.

Harold C. Hallenbeck won the Republican congressional nomination in the North District without opposition.

In the only other hotly contested Congressional race in the state, James J. Sheehan, the organization candidate, defeated the insurgent, James A. Quarzamba of Ridgewood, for the Republican nomination to oppose the incumbent Congressman, Andrew Maguire, who was unopposed in the Democratic race.

With three-fourths of the precincts reporting, Mr. Sheehan, a 38-year-old former Mayor of Wyckoff, had 10,581 votes and Mr. Quarzamba 8,128, a margin considered too large for the insurgent to overcome.

In the Second District, the incumbent, William J. Hughes of Ocean City, was expected to easily turn back Solvig Ingrid Henschen, a political unknown, from Bayville.

Robert F. Dufala of Millville, who had the endorsement of the local Republican leaders, was favored to win over James R. Hurley, also of Millville, for the Republican nomination to oppose the winner of the Second District Democratic primary.

In the Third District, Ralph A. Scigliano of Red Bank was the favorite over Joseph L. Heimbold Jr. of Monmouth Beach, who ran as a Conservative in the Republican primary. The winner will oppose the incumbent Congressman, James J. Florio, in November. Mr. Howard had no opposition in the Democratic primary.

In the Eighth District, Robert A. Roe, the incumbent of Wayne was expected to easily defeat his sole opponent, Frances Ales of Clifton, who ran on a platform of "tax revolt."

Bessie Doty, of Haskell, who was unopposed, won the Republican nomination in the Eighth District.

Richard A. Buggelli, of Union, was the favorite to win the Democratic nomination in the 12th Congressional District. His opponent was A. Howard Freund, of Roselle Park, who ran against a state income tax. The incumbent Congressman, Matthew J. Rinaldo of Union, had no opposition in the primary.

Representative Helen S. Meyner, the wife of the former New Jersey Governor, was expected to have an easy time winning renomination for a second term in Congress. She was opposed by two minor candidates, one of whom, Ray Rollinson of Columbia, was also running for President. The other candidate was Edward J. Gaffney of Newton, who ran a "pro-life" campaign.

William E. Schluter, of Pennington, was expected to be an easy winner of the Republican nomination over Jay Rosner of West Trenton in this district.

Indictment an Issue Mr. Baer had hit very hard at Mr. Helstoski's indictment in the last few days of the bitter campaign in the Ninth District.

Mr. Baer, a former supporter of the Congressman, said that Representative Helstoski would lose his effectiveness in Congress because of the shadow cast on him by the criminal charges.

Playing a long-shot hunch that voters of the district would not respond to Mr. Baer's attacks on the incumbent and that Mr. Helstoski had lost much of his voter appeal because of the charges, the third candidate, Mr. Mauro, campaigned mainly on the issue of overhauling government spending.

The indictment against Mr. Helstoski was returned June 2 by the fourth Federal grand jury to investigate him during a two-year period.

He was accused in the 13-count indictment with extorting $8,375 from illegal aliens from Chile and Argentina in return for sponsoring private bills to allow them to remain in the United States.

Mr. Helstoski was also accused of "obstructing and impeding the administration of justice by giving false and misleading testimony before the grand jury," and with conspiring to get other witnesses to lie.

The Congressman and three aides who were indicted with him, are scheduled to appear in Federal Court for arraignment at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Representative Helstoski, calling the investigation of him "politically inspired," has brought a civil suit against the United States attorney at Newark, Jonathan L. Goldstein. The suit was later dismissed by the courts.

Most of New Jersey's 15 districts, there was very little Congressional campaigning.

Seven of the state's incumbent Democratic Representatives were renominated without opposition—James J. Florio, James J. Howard, Frank Thompson Jr., Andrew Maguire, Peter W. Rodino Jr., James G. Minchin and Edward J. Patten.

None of New Jersey's three Republican Representatives—Millicent Fenwick, Edwin B. Forsythe and Matthew J. Rinaldo—drew primary opposition.

Jackson Sounding As if He'd Accept 2d Spot to Carter

Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington, who has dropped his active Presidential candidacy, sounded like a Vice-Presidential contender last night as he met with a group of New York Democratic National Convention delegates pledged to support him.

While acknowledging that he had little chance of winning the Presidential nomination, the Senator did not rule out the second spot on the ticket.

"I am not going to discuss my question here but to reporters clustered outside the Queens Democratic headquarters in Forest Hills.

However, when asked to describe a suitable running mate for Jimmy Carter, he said, "I think it should be a person who can appeal to the large industrial areas, to labor and to ethnic and religious minorities."

When a reporter noted that the description might fit him, the 62-year-old Senator smiled and responded, "I did pretty well until I got to Pennsylvania."

There have been reports that the Senators may be ready to support Mr. Carter as the Democratic nominee.

Manes of Queens, the state chairman of the Jackson campaign in the New York Presidential primary, indicated the difficulty of holding the 103 New York Jackson delegates together, however, saying "There has to be a great deal of realism now."

Mr. Manes said that Mr. Carter had asked for his support in a telephone conversation within the last week. Mr. Manes said he had answered that he was not making a decision "at this time."

Electability Supersedes Issues

Continued From Page 1, Col. 8 character of Mr. Carter's vote. Liberals, who had supported him before but had never been in his mainstay, gave Mr. Carter significantly more support yesterday, drawing from what had been a Udall constituency.

Half of the Ohioans who said they had voted in the 1972 primary for Senator George McGovern voted for the Georgian this time.

Although Mr. Carter's overtures to Jews returned no desirable dividend in New Jersey, he was able to draw even with Mr. Udall in strength among the comparatively fewer Jewish Democrats in Ohio.

In both Ohio and New Jersey, Mr. Carter continued to receive a massive majority of the black vote. And in both primaries his Southern heritage and his stress on a religious fervor appeared to have little effect on the outcome.

His opponents in New Jersey—supporters of Governor Brown and of the unofficial candidacy of Senator Hubert H. Humphrey who rallied behind an uncommitted delegate slate—gave the Georgian considerably stiffer competition.

There was, however, no clear picture of the extent to which the uncommitted slate derived its support from party regulars favoring Mr. Humphrey or Democrats attracted to the late-blooming candidacy of Mr. Brown. But it appeared as if a majority of the uncommitted votes came from Humphrey partisans.

Ohio, a state that has been crucial in past national campaigns, may serve as the key to efforts by both Mr. Carter and Mr. Ford to persuade their respective parties that they deserve the bulk of uncommitted delegates.

Among Ohio Republicans who voted for Mr. Reagan, one in four said he would be a strong nominee, and an equal portion of the electorate gave him little or no chance to win the November election.

More than half of the President's Ohio voters said, however, that he stood good chances of retaining the White House for the party, and barely one voter in 10 assessed his chances as poor against the Democrats.

Mr. Carter's appeal in Ohio was underlined by the survey findings that he was able to obtain the votes of half the Democrats who defected four years ago to vote in the general election for President Nixon.

and the contractors and labor unions involved in construction and delivery of equipment. He said he would ask Mayor Beame of New York City and Governor Carey of New York to solve some of the problems raised by the newspaper representatives.

The organizations were also concerned about security of work areas in the Garden and the convention headquarters hotel, the Statler Hilton, access around the clock to news areas, and equipment delivery complications.

They cited rental prices of $50 a day for a television set, $25.50 each for stack chairs, $35 for a typewriter stand, $140 for a filing cabinet and $8 for a wastebasket, plus a $5 delivery charge.

One supplier was reported to be charging $15 a foot for the installation of work-space divider drapes.

Al Buell, the executive newspaper editor of The Associated Press, complained of a "ridiculously high" estimate for installation and removal of photo equipment and facilities in Madison Square Garden, including triple percentage mark-ups by prime and subcontractors.

The price quoted to the Associated Press was $46,420 for the one-time installation and removal of equipment and facilities that were installed and removed twice at the Democratic and Republican conventions in Miami Beach in 1972 for a total of $14,000.

Robert S. Strauss, the Democratic national chairman, pledged to consult immediately with the owners of the Garden

Friedman Calling a Meeting Deputy Mayor Stanley M. Friedman said last night that he would call a meeting of "all appropriate parties," ask New York City's consumer affairs commissioner to sit in and make sure that "no unfair advantage" would be taken of organizations that needed to move material into Madison Square Garden for the convention.

Charles Urbe, the vice president of A. J. Contracting, 470 Park Avenue, which is doing the reconstruction work inside the Garden, coordinating the arrival of rented material and is also renting some desks and chairs, said that rental prices had been forced up because "we have to pay the Garden a handling charge."

Arthur McCauley, the Garden's executive vice president, who is in charge of convention arrangements, said that he had been endeavoring to schedule the arrival of material so that no one would have to pay overtime rates for Garden laborers. The regular-time hourly cost is $15, he said.

Ford Aide Predicts Close G.O.P. Contest

By PHILIP SHABECOFF Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, June 8—A Ford campaign official said today that the race for the Republican Presidential nomination remained "fluid" after the primary elections today and predicted that it would go right down to the wire.

Stuart Spencer, the deputy campaign chairman, told reporters as results were coming in that the contest between President Ford and Ronald Reagan would probably not be settled until the last state convention to select delegates on July 15, and perhaps not even then.

He said the Ford campaign would work intensively over the next few weeks in the 11 states that select their delegates by convention.

Rogers C. B. Morton, the President's campaign chairman, also interviewed as results were coming in, said, "It looks like a good night for us. He said that 'anything better than losing 30 delegates [out of the three primaries] is a victory for us and we're not going to lose anywhere near that.'"

The big issue in the convention states will be who is most electable. Mr. Spencer said "Reagan is not electable." Mr. Reagan's supposed non-electability is a theme that the President has been stressing in his campaign talks recently.

Asked why President Ford had apparently lost the California primary, which he had described as one he might win, Mr. Spencer said, "The bottom line is that Republicans in California like Reagan."

President Ford announced today, even before the primary results started coming in, that he would go to Missouri on Friday to begin his search for the still uncommitted delegates that could give him the Republican Presidential nomination.

five for Mr. Ford and three uncommitted, with 29 to be chosen on Saturday.

Together, the 11 states have 327 delegates, of which only 44 have been chosen so far. This total is almost as many as the 331 at stake in today's primaries in California, Ohio and New Jersey.

President Ford's campaign aides, while still predicting a first ballot victory for the President, said today that the winner of the Republican nomination would be determined by the uncommitted vote, not by today's primaries.

President Ford remained in the White House today dealing largely with routine business. However, he had an unscheduled meeting this morning with Secretary of the Interior Thomas S. Kleppe and Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz to be briefed on the dam break that has caused great damage in Idaho.

Mr. Reagan, the former California Governor and Mr. Ford's leading rival for the nomination, spent his day relaxing near his home.

According to The New York Times tabulation, Mr. Ford led Ronald Reagan before today's voting, 800 delegates to 686 with 159 uncommitted in the states that have already selected part or all of their delegates to the Republican National Convention in Kansas City, which starts on Aug. 18.

Mr. Ford's aides had been saying for some days that, realistically, the President would end today in not much better shape than he began it, as expected, the winner-take-all California primary, with its 167 votes, went to his challenger while Mr. Ford took almost all of New Jersey's 67 delegates and most of Ohio's 97.

To reach the 1,130 votes needed to win the Republican nomination, therefore, the delegates of the 11 convention states that have yet to complete their delegations loom large for the President and Mr. Reagan as well.

A White House spokesman said that Mr. Ford would visit Springfield, Mo., on Friday. He said that he did not know if Mr. Ford would visit other areas of the state or what additional plans the President had for visiting other convention states before the primaries.

However, other White House officials said that they did not believe Friday's trip would be the last pre-convention stumping by Mr. Ford.

The following are the other convention states selecting their delegates over the next few weeks: Washington, 38 votes; Iowa, 38; Delaware, 17; Minnesota, 42 of which 24 have already been chosen, 16 for Mr. Ford, four for Mr. Reagan and four uncommitted; Montana, 20; New Mexico, 21; Colorado, 30; North Dakota, 16; Utah, 20, and Connecticut, 35.

Officials at the President Ford Committee said today that Mr. Ford would take the majority of the delegates from the convention states. Some, such as Montana and New Mexico, they conceded, will probably go heavily for Mr. Reagan. Mr. Spencer said tonight that Mr. Ford would probably "take a bath" in Washington, where Mr. Reagan has done a lot of early work.

But the aides said that they "feel good" about the remaining delegates in Missouri and Minnesota as well as in Iowa, Delaware and Connecticut.

They also said that the balance might not be tipped conclusively to Mr. Ford until the Connecticut convention, which takes place during the second week in July—by which time the Democrats may already have selected a Presidential candidate.

Haircut and Golf for Reagan Special to The New York Times PACIFIC PALISADES, Calif. June 8—Ronald Reagan spent the day near his home here after voting early this morning he got a haircut and played a round of golf.

This evening he dined with friends at the home of Holmes Tuttle, a car dealer who is a close friend and a major political adviser.

Wants Election Subsidy Continued Beyond Conventions

By WARREN WEAVER Jr. Special to The New York Times

STON, June 8—Jimmy Carter asked the Federal Commission today to rule so campaign could be paid to successful Presidential candidates after the next month current favorite—fluctuating House influence tediously press late do him, and the available Federal matching did increase that infinitely.

The election Commission refused today to give the Democrats a $200,000 of convention subsidy that remains unpaid but is not due, according to the agency's rules, until July 1.

John G. Murphy Jr., the commission's counsel, reported that the Democrats had already received $1.3 million of their $2.2 million total subsidy and had $500,000 on hand. The Democrats said, "are not in dire straits."

In any event, the Democratic and Republican committees will not receive $218,000 of their subsidy, or 10 percent, until after their conventions. This is considered a safety fund for unpaid bills.

1,500 VOTERS POLLED FOR EACH ELECTION

The New York Times polled about 1,500 voters yesterday in each of the three primary-election states—Ohio, California, and New Jersey.

The surveys, in which voters were questioned after they cast their ballots, were conducted jointly by The Times and CBS News in Ohio and California, the one in New Jersey was a Times operation, with the assistance of George Fine Research Inc.

Twenty-five voting precincts were chosen in each state. Within each precinct, each voter had an equal chance of being selected.

One possible source of error in a survey such as this is sampling error, which varies according to the number of persons interviewed. In addition, as in any survey of public opinion, there is an additional margin of error because of unavoidable imperfections in the way the survey was constructed and because some voters refused to be interviewed.

Assisting The Times in its 1976 election survey coverage is Prof. Gary Owen of Harvard University.

Onion Sandwiches: A Memorable Whimsy of Humble Origin

By CRAIG CLAIBORNE

There are many foods in this world indelibly inscribed in our memory, and the gamut goes, almost without saying, from the ridiculous to the sublime.

One of the dishes we remember best is a fantasy we sampled with cocktails many years ago in the home of James Beard, and it took the form of a sandwich, a captivating bit of whimsy made with thin rounds of white bread stuffed with thin onion slices, the sides smeared with mayonnaise and rolled in finely chopped parsley. We found them irresistible trifles, and Jim explained that they were the invention of a former business partner and friend, Irma Rhode.

Somewhat we never had the fortune to meet Miss Rhode in all those years until we recently received a copy of her newly published book, "Cool Entertaining" (Atheneum, $3.95), and in it she expounds on the genesis of that devilishly good recipe.

Although the recipe has appeared as "Irma's Onion Sandwiches," she writes, "I cannot claim credit. The true story of the evolution . . . is as follows: In the twenties, in a Parisian establishment described by Polly Adler as 'a house that's not a home,' two slices of leftover breakfast brioche spread with mayonnaise and filled with a slice of onion, were served with the aperitifs to my brother Bill."

In the 1930's Miss Rhode, James Beard and her brother opened a catering establishment called Hors d'Oeuvres Inc. "Bill remembered the combination," she said, "and we started testing. How thick the brioche slices, how thin the onion? What size cookie cutter? Two bites or a bite and a half?"

"When the three of us had finally decided on these questions, there arose another one. How to dress them up? There always was a big bowl of chopped parsley around and, of course, mayonnaise. I can still see Jim rolling the edges in mayonnaise and then in chopped parsley, and the new onion rings were born. But it all goes back to the thrifty madam of that establishment in Paris."

We telephoned Miss Rhode to ask if we might visit her to discuss her involvement in the world of food. When we arrived at her apartment in Manhattan, she was in the midst of preparing the ingredients for a fascinating and unusual sweet, a devastatingly rich pumpernickel, chocolate, rum and cream dessert. It was, she explained, a creation remembered from her European childhood in a time when thrifty housewives dried their leftover black bread and put it to numerous uses.

"I was born in 1900 in Berlin," she recalled, "and in the tradition of those days, before I entered the university I had to learn how to run a household. Young women lived under the thumb of their families, and I was obliged to attend the household school of the Grand Duchess of Baden."

"Before I came to America in 1923, I had taken a chemistry degree from the University of Kiel, and my specialty was mineralogy and geology. In this country I became involved in the field of clay and ceramics."

"I did a lot of close work with microscopes, and as a result my eyes were weakened. I was advised by a doctor to stay away from microscopes."

It was then that she, James Beard and her late brother opened their hors d'oeuvre shop at 68th Street off Lexington Avenue, across from the Cosmopolitan Club.

"Our business prospered from the beginning, but then the war came along and there was nothing to do. How can you use 20 pounds of butter a day which we needed, when there were restrictions everywhere?"

"We gave up the enterprise, and I joined a marine hardware shop on Staten Island and stayed there working mostly on marine lamp assemblies."

"After the war Bill had a contract to write an encyclopedia of food, and I helped him with that, but he died before it was completed. It was hard to find a job in those days, and I went to Philadelphia and worked as a catering manager for a large department store, then back to New York, where she has been ever since."

Her present book, a fine compendium of recipes to make entertaining look effortless, actually came about because of the demands of her friends for her recipes.

"It seems I was forever getting one recipe or another mimeographed to distribute to people who seemed to invariably ask for recipes when they came to my home for dinner, and this book solves the problem."

Miss Rhode has many interesting thoughts on food, among them that files of beef is far simpler to cook than steak. It is also easier to serve and not one bit more expensive in that it is frequently on sale in supermarkets. Her book has a compelling recipe for a sweet potato salad found in a small giveaway cookbook published more than a hundred years ago by a Manhattan baking powder company.

Onion Rings

- 6 slices firm white bread, on the sweet side, or 12 slices challah (Jewish bread used for Sabbath)
  - 1/2 cup mayonnaise, approximately
  - 12 very thin slices onion
  - Salt to taste
  - 3/4 cup very finely chopped parsley, approximately
- With a 1 1/2-inch cookie cutter, cut four rounds from each slice of bread or two rounds from the challah slices. Arrange them in 12 pairs. Spread each round with mayonnaise.
  - Using either a slicer or a potato peeler, cut the slices of onions and put one on a bread round. Salt lightly, then top with the second round, sandwich fashion. When all 12 are assembled, spread some mayonnaise on a piece of wax paper and have the chopped parsley ready in a bowl.
  - Take a sandwich between thumb and forefinger, and roll the edges first in the thinly spread mayonnaise, then in the chopped parsley. Make sure there are no bare spots; if so, dab a bit of mayonnaise on the spot and dip again in parsley. Place on wax paper on a flat tray or cookie sheet and cover with wax paper. Chill well.
- Yield: 12 pieces.
- Note: If it is too hard to get very thin slices of onions perfectly round, part slices will do, too; use two or more parts. The thinness is important.

Roast Fillet of Beef

- 1 six-to-seven-pound untrimmed beef fillet (tenderloin)
  - 4 strips bacon
  - Cumberland sauce (see recipe)
- Preheat oven to 375 to 400 degrees.
  - If you are courageous, buy the beef tenderloin "as is" with all the fat on. Just start peeling off the layers of fat. Trim off the fat on the sides and remove the tendons that run along the sides of the fillet. (Save that strip of meat; it is good ground and also as a goulash.) Dig in at the "head," the thickest part, and don't be discouraged by the mountain of fat that is removed. A six-to-seven-pound fillet "as is" trims down to about 3 1/2 to 4 pounds, but that is enough for eight to 10 people, even if the fillet is the only meat served.
  - The classical way to prepare the fillet for roasting is to lard it with "smoked bacon"; a simpler way is to put the four strips of bacon over the length of the fillet. Roast for 40 minutes for rare. Remove bacon strips after 30 minutes roasting time. Take pan with meat from the oven and let cool, then chill. Slice rather thin when cold. Serve with Cumberland sauce.
- Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Cumberland Sauce

- 1 orange peel
  - 2 tablespoons dry mustard
  - 4 tablespoons red wine
  - 1 10-ounce jar currant jelly.
- With a potato peeler remove skin from orange. Do not press hard; just the yellow part is needed, not the white skin underneath. With a pair of scissors snip this peel very fine.
  - Mix the mustard and red wine to a paste. With a fork beat the currant jelly, and the orange peel snippings and mustard paste and blend. Chill before serving.
- Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

Irma Rhode, constantly asked by friends to provide them with her recipes after they have been to her home for dinner, came up with a solution: She assembled her recipes in a book.

The New York Times/Alfred Wessner

Sweet Potato Salad

- 1 1/2 pounds sweet potatoes (about 3 large)
  - 1/2 cup of 4 lines
  - 2 large apples
  - 1 cup thinly sliced and then chopped celery
  - 6 ounces coarsely chopped cashews or pecans
  - 1 cup mayonnaise, approximately
- Cook the sweet potatoes until soft; drain and cool enough to peel. Quarter lengthwise, then cut into cubes. Place in a mixing bowl and sprinkle with lime juice. Chill.
  - Peel, core and dice the apples. Add to potatoes together with celery and nuts. Add enough mayonnaise to coat well. Chill before serving.
- Yield: One quart.

Pumpernickel Dessert

- 8 ounces pumpernickel bread (usually one package)
  - 1 to 1 1/4 cups rum
  - 8 ounces semisweet chocolate
  - 1 1/2 pints heavy cream
  - 1 cup sugar
  - 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
  - 1 cup seedless raspberry jam
- Preheat oven 250 to 300 degrees.
  - Crumble the pumpernickel on a baking sheet and dry in a slow oven. Put in a blender and blend fine. Put in a bowl and pour rum over it. The drier the bread the more rum it will soak up.
  - Grate the chocolate in a nut grater or Mouli cheese grater.
  - Whip the cream, gradually adding sugar and ending with vanilla extract.
  - In a deep, eight-cup glass serving bowl, spread a layer of the whipped cream, sprinkle with pumpernickel crumbs and grated chocolate, and dot with the jam. Cover with a layer of whipped cream, repeat the layer of pumpernickel, grated chocolate and jam. Cover again with whipped cream and repeat once more. Cover with whipped cream. Dot with dabs of jam and if there is any leftover chocolate, use this for decoration, too. Cover lightly and chill overnight.
- Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

waldbaums

Waldbaum's food specials also avail. in TSS Hempstead & Lawrence.

GRAND RE-OPENING Now Going On
WALDBAUM'S at RIVERDALE
5680 Broadway and 234th Street

- Waldbaum's chocolate milk amplifier #107 NYT
59¢ 1-lb. jar
- Shout stain remover #108 NYT
75¢ 12-oz. spray can
- Puss & Boots cat food #109 NYT
6 89¢ 15-oz. cans pack
- Apollo wheat germ #110 NYT
49¢ 1-lb. can
- Janitor-In-A-Drum #111 NYT
69¢ quart can
- Hefty food bags #112 NYT
39¢ pkg.
- Sof Spread Imperial margarine #113 NYT
59¢ 1-lb. pkg.

PLEASE REQUEST A comparable item or price check (good anytime at any Waldbaum's) if an advertised item is temporarily out of stock.

Waldbaum's is happy to accept Government Food Stamps. To find how to apply for Food Stamps, call the toll free number: 800 342-2710.

Prices avail. in N.Y. State stores only. Coupons are limited to 1 per family. No substitutions. Plus tax where applicable.

- Kraft quart mayonnaise #104 NYT 59¢ jar
- Alba dry milk #105 NYT
8 199¢ 4-qt. can
- Morton's salt #106 NYT
2 29¢ 1-lb. box

bakery savings

- not avail. Kingston, Yorktown Heights, Mt. Kisco or West Mill, Waldbaum's old fashion donuts 8 69¢
- not avail. in Kingston, Yorktown Heights, Mt. Kisco or West Mill, delicious corn muffins 6 79¢
- Waldbaum's large white bread 1-lb. 6-oz. loaf 39¢

health & beauty aids

avail. in stores with Health & Beauty Aids dept.

- reg. or unscented Sure anti-perspirant 12-oz. can 1.69
- handy 100 Wipe 'n Dippe reg. or herbal, disposable douche 99¢
- Summers Eve 4 39¢
- family favorite Aim toothpaste 5.4-oz. tube 85¢
- Nabisco, cookies Oreo 15-oz. pkg. 79¢
- Double Stuf

dairy specials

- save 10¢, 100% pure Florida Tropicana orange juice quart can 35¢
- save 5¢, Pillsbury buttermilk or country style or Ballard oven ready biscuits 2 27¢
- Friendship low calorie, Calorie Meter fruit salad cottage cheese save 14¢ 12-oz. can 65¢
- save 16¢, Pauly baby Muenster 8-oz. pkg 79¢
- save 22¢, non-dairy whipped topping Lucky Whip 8 63¢
- save 30¢, Vita party snacks 12-oz. jar 1.19
- save 34¢, past. process Kraft American singles 1-lb. pkg. 115¢
- save 26¢, semi-soft Dorman's Bon Bel 8-oz. pkg 89¢
- save 14¢, Maybud Gouda 7-oz. pkg 85¢
- save 20¢, Hoffman Swiss on rye 9-oz. pkg 95¢
- save 10¢, in our margarine dept., 4 quarters regular Blue Bonnet 1-lb. pkg. 45¢
- save 14¢, cream cheese whipped Temp Tee 8-oz. cup 63¢ grocery specials

with coupon only, save 60¢

- Kraft quart mayonnaise 59¢ jar
- save 6¢, chunk light Del Monte tuna 43¢ 6 1/2-oz. can
- save 14¢, fancy Green Giant peas 25¢ 1-lb. 1-oz. can
- save 20¢, soup pads 18 S.O.S. 49¢ box
- save 16¢, Contadina tomatoes or puree 1-lb. 12-oz. can 47¢
- Waldbaum's, save 10¢ fabric softener 79¢
- Waldbaum's, unflavored bread crumbs save 4¢ 19¢
- Waldbaum's, 12-oz. Bartlett pears halves or sliced, 55¢
- Waldbaum's, 11-oz. Mandarin oranges 29¢
- Waldbaum's, economical, save 6¢ Marcal Hankies 39¢
- Waldbaum's, 1 1/2-qt. Ajax liquid cleaner save 24¢ 79¢
- Waldbaum's, 3 1/2-oz. Chuckles candies, assorted, save 47¢ 1.19

appetizer specials

avail. in stores with appetizing dept.

- all beef, Jüdes migdets bologna or kosher salami 1.39
- 8 assorted varieties Brach's candies 79¢
- Koehler Parve, assorted fancy cookies 99¢
- head & serve fish cakes 69¢
- head & serve noodle pudding 79¢
- aged over a year, New York State sharp Cheddar 1/2-lb. 89¢
- best quality bologna, liverwurst or spiced luncheon loaf cold cut sale sliced to order 1.39
- delicious baked salmon 1/2-lb. 89¢
- freshly made shrimp or tuna salad 1/2-lb. 79¢
- delicious smoked Whiting 1-lb. 99¢
- made with loads of onions & cream sauce, herring fillets 2 for 89¢
- imported from France, genuine Kirsch cherry Gourmandise cheese 1.19

July 1, 1976

هكذا من الأصل

Kennedys Plus Valentino Equal Magic

By BERNADINE MORRIS
Three boys and two girls, some wearing "Special Olympics" T-shirts, did somersaults, backflips and handstands on three mats in the middle of the dance floor in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Pierre. The hack-tie audience rose to its feet applauding and Pat Kennedy Lawford, in her Paris dress by Jean-Louis Scherrer, ran over to the children and kissed each one.

They were students from Intermediate School 291 in Brooklyn and they looked both pleased and proud on Monday night. They were members of an athletic program only two months old at their school sponsored by Special Olympics. They were mentally retarded and they had achieved.

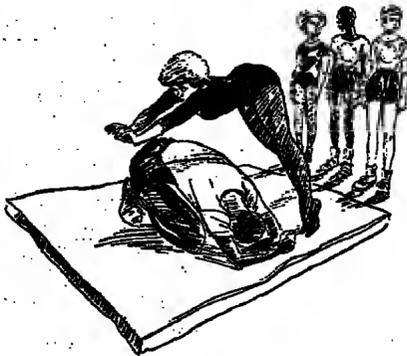

After their gymnastics demonstration, Frank Gifford, the former football player who now is a sportscaster, invited members of the audience to come to the mat and do some athletics alongside the children.

So on the floor was a wriggling mass, silver slippers and men's dancing pumps were kicked to the side, and you could pick out the figures of C. Z. Guest and Eunice Shriver trying to rise to their feet as they sat back to back, arms linked. A short distance away Mrs. Shriver's daughter, Maria, in her ombred chiffon halter-top dress by Vicky Tiel, was trying the same exercise with Larry Brown, the linebacker for the Washington Redskins.

Other gymnasts
Elsewhere in the crowd, the dancer Sterling St. Jacques, the fashion designers Diane Von Furstenberg and Valentino; Barbara Denipoli, the Italian model whom Valentino brought with him from Rome, and Sara Kapp, the New York model, tried to lift their partners on their backs or rise with them from a sitting position.

The strenuous Kennedy-style activity brought an unusual supper dance, to an unusual conclusion.

As charity balls go, this one was almost intimate, with 21 tables seating 10 guests each. At the official starting time, 8 P.M., it seemed more a media event, with photographers and onlookers outnumbering the participants. "Don't look too pretty," Pat Lawford admonished her daughter, Sydney, as the photographers clustered around them. Sydney Lawford wore a black-and-white striped, one-shoulder tunic over a white cotton undershirt, in contrast to her mother's more formal beaded chiffon.

Children in Special Olympics program demonstrate gymnastics at Kennedy party, above. Diane Von Furstenberg and John Latham exercise too, right.

Watching Valentino fashion show, from left, above, Jacqueline Onassis, William Walton and Eunice Shriver. Both women are wearing Valentino dresses. Left, Jean Kennedy Smith in a mauve Halston. Right, Pat Kennedy Lawford in peach dress by Jean-Louis Scherrer.

The New York Times/Larry Morris sketches by Manning

Jean Kennedy Smith was in a mauve crinkled cotton Halston dress with a few discreet ruffles, and Eunice Shriver wore a simple white Valentino dress that wrapped at the waistline.

"I saw prettier dresses in the show," Mrs. Shriver said later. She is president of Special Olympics, which is financed by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation, and she planned the party to raise money for and publicize the international organization, which holds events for retarded and handicapped children. The newest chapters are in South America and Italy.

Showing of 120 Styles

By far the most fashionable woman was Jacqueline Onassis, who achieved the distinction without seeming to try. Mrs. Onassis, who arrived with Valentino and William Walton, the artist, wore a black strapless dress by Valentino, a longtime favorite designer of hers, and she simply gleamed.

Valentino started the evening off with a showing of his fall collection in the Cotillion room. He brought 120 styles, which he showed against a simple white background decorated with translucent balloons. At the back of the stage there was an arrangement of bleacherlike seats to suggest a college campus.

"Sporty, as simple as possible, to save money for the charity," Valentino explained.

Presumably to reinforce the college atmosphere, Sterling St. Jacques bounced a basketball around in the first scene, which featured knitted clothes. Later he danced with the mannequins. He is a better dancer than basketball player.

Total Beige

While the clothes are not exactly campus material, they are good looking and sporty, especially the pants, which have a tight band at the ankle and blouse up a bit above it.

Valentino, whose fashion shows are also social events in Rome, followed his usual plot of showing his clothes in color sequences, starting with total beige.

What was new for Valentino was the animated presentation and the dancing, which have become familiar here. When he showed the same collection in Paris in April, he had not yet switched over to the new manner, he said afterwards at the dinner table. Photographers were banned after the show.

"I've never seen a show like that," said Mrs. Onassis, his dinner partner. "This was an event, not just a fashion show."

When he alluded to the awkward time—5:30 P.M.—allotted him for his presentation in Paris, Mrs. Onassis chided him. "You know, Valentino, people would come to see your clothes even if they were shown at midnight," she said.

The clothes themselves brought praise from the audience. Bill Blass called them "beautiful." Nan Kempner was enchanted by "those black transparent evening things," and Mala Rubinstein, who was wearing "one of the first Valentino dresses ever made—I forget when I got it"—loved everything.

To His Taste

The Redskins' Larry Brown found things that appealed to him, especially the velvet evening suits and the sweaters. "I really love clothes," he said. "Who needs football uniforms?"

Mrs. Shriver, who said she had decided she would wear sports clothes after seeing Valentino's casual things, was impressed with the cooperation she had received in putting the party together. "The girls looked lovely," she told Estée Lauder, whose company had done the make-up for the show and had provided the gifts.

One of the volunteers was C. Z. Guest, who contributed the flowers and arranged the centerpieces of babies' breath, yellow and white daisies, bachelor buttons and blue delphiniums.

Mrs. Guest, who is the author of a recently published book on gardening, "First Garden," said it took her from 11:30 A.M. to 3 P.M. to do the 27 tables.

The fashion show reminded her that gardening activities had taken so much time she hadn't had a chance to get clothes. She was wearing a pink-and-blue flowered dress with a camisole top that Maiobocher made for her—"I can't remember when it was the last one." The designer retired five years ago.

Marion Javits called the presentation "one of the greatest shows I've seen—the clothes could go anywhere." She said they were good for Europe and America and "if I went to Israel I could wear them—and to the Arab countries too."

grocery produce specials

French fries 59¢ lb.

4 1/2 doz. oranges 8 for $1

25 size, imported Smith apples 3 lb. $1

25 size bulk, Washington State, red russet apples 3 lb. $1

2 doz. lemons 5 for 39¢

1 doz. medium size, California white potatoes 5 for 79¢

4 doz. large ears 8 for $1

U.S. #1, 1 7/8" min. size, fancy yellow fruit

Southern peaches 3 for $1 firm ripe cherry tomatoes 49¢ dry pint cont.

1 doz. nas 99¢

appetizer 1.99

HAVE A GREAT AMERICAN PICNIC AT WALDBAUM'S!

Fresh air and sunshine and family fun are what picnics are made of. And Waldbaum's has been filling millions of picnic baskets and setting millions of picnic tables for well over 70 years. We know what it takes to make your picnic the extra-special occasion it should be. With delicious picnic treats (who can resist a Waldbaum's pickle?) and all the little things that help make for the perfect picnic. And for a mouth-watering start, feast your eyes on our special low price for succulent USDA Choice London Broil or Roast Beef. It's enough to get you reaching for the charcoal bag (or dashing to the park). So come on in and pick a picnic. Waldbaum's has everything for Great American Picnics - like yours!

GRAND OPENING now going on at WALDBAUM'S at STARRETT CITY 1380 Pennsylvania Ave., Brooklyn

U.S.D.A. Choice beef, boneless

London broil or roast beef 99¢ lb. cut from the shoulder.

meat specials

all beef patties 3 lb. pkg. 2.88

chicken parts sale

with rib bone chicken breasts 1.09
chicken drumsticks .89¢ chicken thighs .85¢ chicken legs with thighs .89¢ chicken wings .69¢

frozen
grade A ducks 89¢

frozen
sliced beef liver 45¢

chicken livers lb. 89¢
Mitzach bologna midgets or kosher salami 1.09

delicious
DuBuque bacon 1.49 1-lb. vac. pkg.

fresh Codfish steak 1.69
pan ready Flounder 1.29

pork loin sale

loin portion	center cut pork roast	rib portion
1.09 lb.	1.59 lb.	99¢ lb.
center cut pork chops	thinly sliced
1.59 lb.	1.69 lb.
9 to 11 rib end & center cut pork chops	quarter pork loin
		1.29 lb.

waldbaum's

Waldbaum's Food products also sold at Y&R, Woodland & Lanesville.

Certain items & prices not avail. where prohibited by law. All prices effective thru Sat. in stores with complete supermarket only.

If there's no D'Agostino near you...move.

MEAT

- U.S.D.A. Choice Beef BONELESS CHUCK or BONELESS BOTTOM ROUND ROASTS lb. 1.17
- Frozen GRADE A DUCK lb. .79
- Fresh Rib or Loin End LOIN PORK CHOPS lb. .95
- Frozen SLICED BEEF LIVER lb. .49
- U.S.D.A. Choice Beef Eye & Bottom ROUND LONDON BROIL lb. 1.69
- U.S.D.A. Choice Beef Round EYE of ROUND ROASTS lb. 1.79
- FRESH CHICKEN LIVERS lb. .59
- U.S.D.A. Choice Beef Chuck Boneless CHUCK FILLET STEAKS lb. 1.39
- Jones Reg. or With Bacon MINUTE BREAKFAST LINK SAUSAGES 8 oz. pkg. .89
- Jones Reg. or Thick SLICED BACON lb. pkg. 1.79
- Armour or Schickhaus SLICED BACON lb. pkg. 1.69
- Oscar Mayer ALL MEAT or ALL BEEF FRANKS lb. pkg. 1.39
- Dak SLICED HAM 4 oz. pkg. .89, 6 oz. pkg. 1.32, 8 oz. pkg. 1.76

FROZEN

- Stouffer's MACARONI & CHEESE 12 oz. .59
- POTATO AU GRATIN 11 1/2 oz. .59
- SPINACH SOUFFLE 12 oz. .59
- NOODLES ROMANOFF 12 oz. .59
- SCALLOPED POTATOES 12 oz. .59
- Sara Lee Brownies 13 oz. Chocolate 13 1/2 oz., Banana, Orange, Golden 13 1/2 oz.
- DESSERT CAKES .99
- Foodtown Cut or French GREEN BEANS 9 oz. 4 for .99
- Foodtown FLounder or SOLE FILLETS 16 oz. 1.49
- Good Humor ICE WHAMMY 12 pack .79
- Golden Blintz All Varieties BLINTZ 15 oz. .89

D'AGS

DAIRY

- Colombo All Flavors YOGURT 1/2 pt. 3 for .89
- Dorman's Endeco Slices MUENSTER CHEESE 6 oz. .59
- Swiss Knight Cheese GRUYERE 6 oz. 6 port. .59
- Dellwood "99" SKIMMED MILK qt. cont. .39
- Reddi Whip REAL WHIPPED CREAM 7 oz. .69
- Petit Cheese GOURMANDISE 4 1/2 oz. .69
- Minute Maid ORANGE JUICE qt. cont. .39
- Imperial Quarters MARGARINE 16 oz. .69

D'AGS

GROCERY

- Viva Dec. & Ass't BIG ROLL TOWELS 123 sheets .49
- Hawaiian All Flavors PUNCH 46 oz. .49
- Foodtown CHUNK LIGHT TUNA 6 1/2 oz. .49
- Green Giant SWEET PEAS 17 oz. .29
- Carolina RICE 3 lb. .99
- Foodtown 9" WHITE PAPER PLATES 100's .79
- Syrofoam CUPS 51 pack .49
- Foodtown POTATO CHIPS 10 oz. bag .59
- Pfiffers RED WINE VINEGAR, 1000 ISLAND, FRENCH, or CHEF ITALIAN DRESSING 8 oz. .49

D'AGS

One of the nice things about New York

PRODUCE

- Luscious Sweet Large Bing CHERRIES lb. .59
- Firm Slicing TOMATOES 9 oz. cart 3 for 1.00
- Tropical Treat MANGOES each .59
- Washington State Extra Fancy RED DELICIOUS APPLES 3 lb. 1.00
- Maggio California CARROTS lb. pkg. 2 for .39

All Prices apply Wed. June 9 thru Sat. June 12, 1976. We Reserve the Right to Limit Quantity to Three (3) Sale Items.

Pickles Aren't the Only Use For Cool, Clean, Airy Dill

By HEMI-SHERATON
Say "dill" to most Americans, and chances are the instantaneous word association will be "pickles." As much as one may prize this cold, crisp and tangy specialty, to him dill, to that use is to sell short one of the most sweetly and gently odoriferous of herbs. And though dill may lack the status accorded tarragon and chervil, oregano and basil, its fresh air flavor, reminiscent of country mornings and cool spring water, lends itself to far wider uses than the more overpowering French and Italian favorites.

Valued as much for its pungent, golden-brown seeds as for its fine, feathery leaves, fresh dill is available almost the year round, excepting only a few weeks in late summer when it flowers and goes to seed. Clipped and dried, its leaves lose color and that particular airiness of flavor, and become an entirely different seasoning, spicier, and more like the closely related fennel or anise.

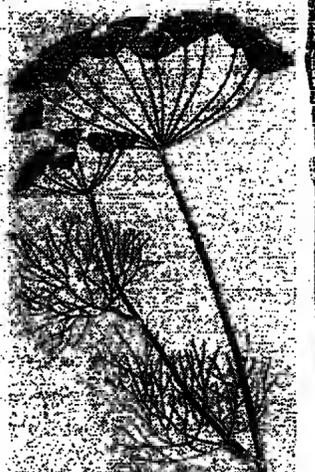

Its old Saxon name, dillon, meaning to lull, is a clue to dill's main use in medieval and Victorian England, when dill water was considered soothing to crying babies, and a remedy for poor digestion in adults.

More highly prized now as a seasoning than as a carminative, dill is most popular in northern and eastern Europe, Russia, the Balkans and the Middle East. Like lemon and parsley, dill seems to clean up and lighten the flavors of fish and seafood and lends sprightliness to smoked fish and herring.

A Variety of Uses
Russians, Poles, Czechs and Hungarians favor it in sour cream sauces, in hot and cold soups, and in cabbage horschts, while both Greeks and Swedes add it to egg-lemon sauces that complement chicken, lamb or poached fish. It is standard in Russian salmon en croute, koulbiaka, while the Dutch and north Germans adore it clipped into pea soups or stirred into rich-cream sauces served with eel, salmon, shrimp or crayfish. Greeks and Armenians also add snippets of dill to mushrooms simmered in a lemon and olive oil marinade and Turks like it in the creamy feta filling for their pastry turnovers, bourek.

But dill reaches its true apotheosis in Scandinavia, where it is used in gigantic bouquets adding its clean, refreshing flavor to the water in which shellfish is cooked, or cut into fern-like clippings to adorn open sandwiches and canapés, or chopped and sprinkled on boiled new potatoes in rags jackets, dripping with the world's best butter.

As much a standard in my weekly vegetable order as parsley, garlic and lemons, dill finds its way into salads of halibut, shrimp or tuna fish, potato soup, and chicken soup, although for this use I prefer to sprinkle it in just before serving, as it tends to sour chicken soup when cooked in it.

Following one of my grandmother's favorite practices, I place newly-fried, crisp slices of breaded flounder on a bed of dill to cool, to be served at room temperature on hot summer nights, and, finally, when fresh dill seed comes into season, along with the new unwaxed kerry cucumbers, I make dill pickles.

"I am always pleased with that particular time of year which is proper for the picking of dill and cucumbers," wrote the 18th-century English essayist Addison, and so am I.

By now, Scandinavian gravad laks, dill-cured salmon, is a well-known favorite for canapés and first courses. Not long ago a Danish friend, who teaches and writes about cooking in Copenhagen, served me some mackerel, cured in the same way, a far less expensive, but no less interesting variation. Because mackerel is oilier than salmon, the olive oil generally used in the mustard dressing is omitted. Ice cold aquavit is the best accompaniment, with equally well-chilled vodka or dry Dutch gin the next best choices.

Gravad Mackerel With Mustard Sauce

- 6 mackerel, preferably large
  - 1 large bunch dill, washed and dried
  - 1/2 cup salt
  - 3 tablespoons sugar
  - 1 1/2 tablespoons crushed white peppercorns
  - 2 teaspoons dried dill seeds, crushed
  - Buttered Danish or Westphalian pumpernickel
- Mustard Sauce (see below)
- Mackerel should be scaled, boned and washed. Heads should be cut off, but halves should remain intact with skins on. With fingertips and tweezers, work over flesh of fish carefully, removing all tiny bones. Pull or scrape off any bits of black membrane remaining on the flesh side of the fish.
  - Select a glass, ceramic, or enameled baking dish or deep serving dish and cover the bottom with a thin layer of dill sprigs. Place half of the fish pieces, skin side down, on the dill, alternating heads and tails so they fit squarely into the dish. Combine salt, sugar, peppercorns and dill seeds and pat half of the mixture onto the flesh side of the fish. Cover with remaining dill. Pat the other half of the spice mixture onto the remaining fish halves then place them skin side up over the

- Cover with a double thickness of waxed paper and over that set a plate that just fits inside the dish holding the fish. Weight down with a heavy object or several unopened cans.
  - Place in refrigerator to cure for 24 hours. Turn fish completely over after 12 hours, so that the skin of the bottom fish is on top and re-weight. Do not pour off liquid that accumulates in the fish. To serve, scrape off dill and spices and slice thinly, undercutting wide, horizontal slices as for smoked salmon. Serve on squares of buttered dark pumpernickel, topped with mustard sauce.
- Yield: 10 to 12 hors d'oeuvre servings.
- Mustard Sauce
- 1/2 cup Dijon style mustard
  - 1/2 cup sweet brown mustard
  - 2 to 3 tablespoons sugar
  - 2 tablespoons white vinegar
  - 3 tablespoons finely minced, fresh dill
- Salt and white pepper, to taste.
- Blend mustards together. Stir in sugar and vinegar until sugar dissolves. Stir in dill. Add salt and pepper if needed. Chill at least 2 hours before serving.
- Yield: About 1 1/2 cups.

Dilled Carrot Salad

- 5 or 6 medium-size, fresh carrots, scraped and rinsed
  - 1 to 2 cups water
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1 clove garlic, peeled and cut in half, optional
  - 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
  - Pinch of powdered mustard
  - Salt and white pepper
  - 3 tablespoons sesame or sunflower oil
  - 2 tablespoons minced chives
  - 2 tablespoons finely minced fresh dill
- Cut carrots into 1/4-inch thick round slices. Cook in lightly salted water to cover for seven or eight minutes, or until carrots are tender-crisp but still quite firm. Drain well, and blanch under cold running water. Drain thoroughly.
  - Rub sides of a glass, ceramic or stainless steel bowl with the cut sides of the

- garlic clove. Garlic can be left in or discarded, depending on how mild a flavor you prefer. Turn carrots into bowl and sprinkle with lemon juice, mustard, and a pinch each of salt and white pepper. Turn gently, but thoroughly with a wooden spoon, adding oil slowly as lemon juice is absorbed and mustard dissolves.
- Add chives and dill and stir through gently. Chill about 1 hour before serving. Salad should be cool but not cold. If it is made far in advance of serving, keep in refrigerator but take out 30 minutes before serving.
- Yield: 4 servings.
- Variations: two or three stalks of celery can be added to this salad. Cut into 1/2-inch thick slices and cook with carrots for the last three or four minutes. A little more seasoning and oil may be needed.

Stewed Chicken With Dill

- 1 4-5 pound roasting or spring chicken, cut in 8 pieces
  - 6 to 8 cups water
  - 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
  - 8 peppercorns
  - 1 large carrot, scraped and cut in half
  - 1 leek, well washed, or 1 medium-size onion, peeled
  - 1 stalk celery with leaves
  - 1/4 cup butter
  - 1/4 cup flour
  - Salt and pepper to taste
  - 2 tablespoons lemon juice, or to taste
  - 3 large egg yolks
  - 1/2 cup minced fresh dill, approximately
- Singe, wash and trim chicken pieces. Place in enameled or stainless steel soup pot with just enough water to cover. Bring to a boil, reduce heat, and simmer, covered, removing scum as it rises to the surface. When clear, add salt, peppercorns, carrot, leek or onion, and celery. Cover and simmer gently but steadily for 1 to 1 1/2 hours, or until chicken is tender but not falling away from bones. Remove chicken pieces with a slotted spoon. Reserve and keep warm. Keep remaining broth hot. Discard vegetables.

- Melt butter in a large saucepan and when hot and bubbling, stir in flour. Cook over low heat, for three or four minutes, or until bright yellow and simmering. Pour in 4 cups hot chicken broth, all at once, simmer over low heat, stirring constantly for about five minutes, or until smooth and thick. Season with salt and pepper and stir in lemon juice. Remove from heat.
  - Beat egg yolks with a tablespoonful of cold water until thin. Slowly trickle in about half of the chicken sauce, beating the yolk mixture constantly as you do so. When half of the sauce has been added, slowly pour the yolk mixture back into the remaining sauce, beating constantly.
  - Add reserved chicken and dill and heat gently for 2 or 3 minutes, but do not boil. Adjust seasoning, adding more lemon juice or extra broth if needed. Serve with rice or boiled potatoes.
- Yield: 4 servings.
- Note: This same recipe can be prepared with three pounds of lean stewing lamb, cut in cubes, a 3- or 4-inch piece lamb bone, cooked along with it, adds body to the sauce.

TODAY IS

Food Day

IN THE NEW YORK TIMES

Handwritten signature or mark at the bottom center of the page.

Pickles Available For Cool, Clean

هكذا من الأصل

COME ONE... COME ALL
PRICE & PRIDE HAVE
BARGAINS GALORE!

ADVERTISED ITEM POLICY

Each of these advertised items is required to be readily available for sale at or below the advertised price in each A&P Store, except as specifically noted in this ad.

CARNIVAL OF VALUES

FAMILY PACKS
Great on the Grill

TH THIGHS Chicken Legs	5 Pounds or More	lb. 75¢
TH RIBS Chicken Breasts	5 Pounds or More	lb. 95¢
ROUND BEEF and Chuck	3 Pounds or More	lb. 99¢
and Steak	3 Pounds or More	lb. 1.69

FREEZER BUYS

Whole Pork Loins
12 to 16 Lbs.-Untrimmed

Cut into Ribs & Chops of Charge

1.29 lb.

Whole Top Round
18 to 22 Lbs. Untrimmed

Portion Cut Steaks, Slices & London Roast of Charge

1.49 lb.

Soft Parkay

MARGARINE Two 8-oz. Cups 1-lb. package

59¢

CREAM CHEESE

Tea Whipped 8-oz. cup 59¢

PASTRY PROC.

Velveeta 2 lb. loaf 1.89

DAIRY CASE

Topping 15-oz. can 99¢

Ann Page

Tomato Ketchup 14-oz. bttls. 3 1.00

Recue Sauce 18-oz. btl. 59¢

CONDENSABLE (Except Blue Cheese) For Salads

3 1.00 8-oz. bttls.

Jelly 24-oz. jar 69¢

Miller's Macaroni 16-oz. pkgs. 2 89¢

Hi-C Drinks Any Flavor 46-oz. can 39¢

Schaefer Beer 12-fl. oz. bttls. Less Than 6 1.29

Chickens
Whole Fresh 2 to 3 Pounds

45¢ lb.

FOOD STAMPS ARE WELCOME AT A&P

U.S.D.A. FOOD STAMPS

Your U.S.D.A. food stamps are always welcome at A&P. We even help you buy more with them at A&P. You have a choice of name brands and money savings A&P brands.

Don't Miss Reason to Shop A&P

Perdue Chickens
Whole Frying 2 to 3 Lbs. Average 53¢ lb.

Italian style Sausage
EATWELL Pure Pork Hot or Sweet 1.39 lb.

FREIRICH SMOKED
Beef Tongue Water Added lb. 1.29

MEAT or BEEF
A&P Frankfurters 1-lb. pkg. 89¢

WHOLE FROZEN-NEW ZEALAND SPRING
Legs of Lamb Oven Ready lb. 1.29

12-OZ. PKG. 99¢
Bologna OSCAR MAYER 8-oz. pkg. 79¢

BROWN N' SERVE
Swift Sausage 8-oz. pkg. 89¢

HEBREW NATIONAL
Kosher Franks 12-oz. pkg. 1.29

Chicken Parts
LEG QTRS. with Back BREAST QTRS. with Wing 55¢ lb.

Chuck Steaks
Beef Bone-In First Cuts 69¢ lb.

London Broil
Boneless Beef Shoulder 1.49 lb.

Jane Parker Bakery

Apple Pie Reg. 8" Size 22-oz. pkg. 59¢

Jewish Rye or Pumpernickel Bread 16-oz. loaf 39¢

Jane Parker Rolls
Hamburger or Frankfurter 10-oz. pkg. of 8 3 89¢ pkgs.

Sliced White Bread
MARVEL Enriched 20-oz. loaf 3 1.00 for

In Stores With Deli Dept.

Baked Ham
VIRGINIA STYLE Sliced to Order half pound 1.19

FREIRICH-LEAN
Roast Beef half pound 1.29

ROBERT'S
Turkey Breast half pound 1.39

REGULAR STYLE
Potato Salad pound 45¢

Niblets Corn
12-oz. can or Sweet Peas 17-oz. GREEN GIANT 3 89¢ cans

Green Beans
GREEN GIANT French Style or Sliced 16-oz. can 4 99¢ for

Sealtest Ice Cream
half gallon 1.19

Pineapples
Red-Spanish Tangy-Sweet Fresh Flavor Large Size 69¢ ea.

Cherries
Large, California Bing Luscious, Sweet 69¢ lb.

REGULAR or PINK-FROZEN
Minute Maid Lemonade 6-oz. cans 5 99¢

WESTERN SWEET
Cantaloupes ea. 69¢

FIRM CRISP
Cucumbers 3 for 39¢

FOR SALADS
Fresh Escarole lb. 29¢

FOR SALADS
Romaine Lettuce lb. 29¢

RED-RIFE
Watermelon Whole 1.99

FOR SALADS
Fresh Chicory lb. 29¢

U.S. NO. 1-NEW CROP
Yellow Onions 3 lb. bag 69¢

GARDEN FRESH-TENDER
Carrots 2 lb. bag 39¢

DELICIOUS TASTY TREAT
Squash Green or Yellow lb. 29¢

WALDEN FARMS-LOW CALORIE
Salad Dressing 12-oz. btl. 89¢

FROZEN-THICK
Celentano Pizza 11-oz. pkg. 79¢

FROZEN-ANY VARIETY
Leader's Bagels 2 12-oz. pkgs. 89¢

HOW CAN A&P CHARGE 50¢ LESS FOR A POUND OF COFFEE THAT TASTES BETTER?

Eight O'Clock is bean coffee. Comes in a paper bag. You don't pay for processing or shipping of an expensive can.

Yet Eight O'Clock tastes better, because it's a superb blend of Brazilian coffees which A&P custom-grinds for you so it's the freshest you can buy.

Eight O' Clock Coffee
1-lb. bag 1.45 | 3-lb. bag 4.25

20¢ OFF ONE 1-LB. CAN- Maxwell House Coffee	25¢ OFF TWO 2½-OZ. PKGS. Lipton Make-A-Better Burger	12¢ OFF ONE 24-OZ. BTL. Golden Griddle Pancake Syrup	7¢ OFF ONE 12-OZ. PKG. Keebler Vanilla Wafers
--	---	---	--

Offers effective thru Sat., June 12th in A&P Stores in Brooklyn, Queens, Nassau, Suffolk Counties. Detergents not sold in Suffolk Cty. Not responsible for typographical errors. Items and prices in this ad are not effective in A&P Store located at 2205 Linden Blvd., East New York. In order to assure a sufficient quantity of sale items for all of our customers, we reserve the right to limit sales to 3 packages of any item unless otherwise noted.

Food!

CONSUMER NOTES

Fabric Softener Stirs Complaints

By FRANCES CERRA

An upstate New York consumer organization has petitioned the United States Product Safety Commission for a ban on Bounce, Procter & Gamble's new type of fabric softener.

According to Judy Braiman of the Empire State Consumer Association of Rochester, the petition is based on 76 complaints of skin irritation, attributed to the product, 13 of them characterized as severe by the consumers. A spokesman for the Product Safety Commission, which has the petition under consideration, said it had received 47 other complaints of skin irritation, as well as seven complaints of fires in clothes dryers that the complainants attributed to Bounce.

The product in question is a thin rayon sheet impregnated with chemical fabric softeners and perfume, and is used by tearing a sheet from a roll and putting it in a dryer with wet clothes. After the dryer cycle, the spent rayon sheet is thrown away.

A spokesman for Procter & Gamble said that 35 million households had used more than 1.4 billion sheets of the product, which has been in national distribution since the beginning of this year, and that "the total consumer complaint experience is consistent with other products we have introduced over the years."

He explained that whenever a new product went on the market the company expected a certain number of consumers to "associate the use of the product with a skin condition that develops due to other factors."

Further, the spokesman said that extensive premarket tests, including one that involved 217 infants, who wore diapers dried with Bounce, had resulted in no cases of skin irritation.

Mrs. Braiman said that prior to filing her petition with the Product Safety Commission, she met with representatives of Procter & Gamble who showed her the test results. "I'm not convinced because I see people coming down with these reactions after they wear clothes dried with Bounce," she said. "I told them (the representatives) that in their place I would put a warning on the product to tell people to stop using it if a skin rash develops, but they declined. So we filed the petition to have the product investigated."

As for the complaints of dryer fires, the spokesman for Procter & Gamble said that Bounce could not catch fire at the temperatures inside a dryer and that there "has never been... a confirmed case of Bounce causing a dryer fire."

The Product Safety Commission spokesman said that the commission had investigated reports of dryer fires from other fabric softeners in the past, and had found that use of softeners resulted in clothes giving off more lint. If this lint is not removed often enough from filters in a dryer, it is possible, he said, for the lint to catch fire.

He said the commission had not felt it necessary to have warnings about this lint buildup put on fabric softener labels because clothes dryers come with instructions to clean lint filters regularly.

Lilco to Back A-Power With Customer Money In its recent decision awarding the Long Island Lighting Company a 6.1 percent increase in electric rates, the New York State Public Service Commission also gave the company permission to use customers' money to finance an advertising campaign to promote nuclear power.

"There is no simple scientific answer and such important questions as the comparative safety and economic of nuclear vs. fossil-fueled generation, or the case for and against the imposition of particular environmental protections," said the majority of the commission in justifying its decision. "... in these circumstances there is a definite rate-payer interest in a free and fair public discussion of the issues, and we feel the utility companies do have a contribution to make to that discussion."

Edward Berlin, the commissioner appointed by Governor Carey to represent consumer interests in the commission, took exception to that line of reasoning, arguing that it is "basically unfair to assess against rate-payers the cost of advertisements urging the adoption of positions with which they disagree."

But Mr. Berlin went further, noting that even if the majority of the commission had ruled that payments for such advertising must come from "below the line," meaning out of money otherwise destined for stockholders, consumers would still, in less direct ways, end up paying.

His solution was to allow utilities to advertise in the political area, and even to lobby, so long as the amount spent was "minimal," and so long as an equal amount of money was provided to spokesmen for the other side. Mr. Berlin was joined in his dissent by Commissioner Harold A. Gerry Jr.

In immediate response to that suggestion, Richard M. Kessel, of Long Island Consumer Action, an organization that has received funds from the Oil Health Institute of Long Island, last week petitioned the commission to make equal funds available.

Lilco is opposed to the petition, and Mr. Berlin's argument, according to a spokesman, because "opponents to nuclear power are getting their message across just by shouting sensational statements that get media attention." In contrast, she said, "it's very difficult to get the real story out because it's very dry and uninteresting."

Regents Clear Listing Of Dentist Specialties The New York State Board of Regents has approved a regulation allowing dentists to list their approved specialties in the Yellow Pages. This practice had been prohibited almost everywhere in the state, making it difficult for consumers who might want to compare the prices charged by orthodontists, for example, to find other such specialists.

Group Files Complaint On Waxing of Produce The Center for Science in the Public Interest has filed a complaint with the United States Food and Drug Administration objecting to the use of wax coatings on fruits and vegetables without disclosure of the waxing to consumers. The center estimates that about 35 percent of fresh apples are waxed, about 50 percent of fresh tomatoes, and 75 percent of cucumbers. Other often-waxed produce includes peppers, cantaloupes, oranges, peaches, lemons, pears, prunes, rutabagas, grapefruits and plums.

Hearings on the "generally recognized as safe" status of two kinds of wax, carnauba and Japan wax, will be held later this month. The Select Committee studying the question says there is presently insufficient information to form a conclusion.

Senator Suggests Curb On Credit Card Fees State Senator Caesar Trunzo, Republican from Brentwood, L.I., has introduced legislation prohibiting banks from charging a fee to credit-card customers who pay their bills in full each month. Mr. Trunzo said the bill was a response to the initiation of such charges by Citibank, whose Master Charge customers will begin to see the fee on this month's bill.

GRAND OPENING SAVINGS at: 3027 AVE. V BROOKLYN, N.Y. 2350 CENTRAL AVE. YONKERS, N.Y. 2340 HEMPSTEAD TPKE EAST MEADOW, L.I. E. 108 ST. & FLATLANDS AVE. BROOKLYN, N.Y. 755 COOP CITY BLVD BRONX, N.Y.

15% OFF THE REGULAR PRICE WITH COUPON 7 Ounce Aero Behold Furniture Polish 40% OFF THE REGULAR PRICE WITH COUPON Two Pound Can Maxwell House Coffee 10% OFF THE REGULAR PRICE WITH COUPON 25% Ounce Can Broadcast Corned Beef Hash 15% OFF THE REGULAR PRICE WITH COUPON Package 15 Tall Kitchen Hefty Bags 15% OFF THE REGULAR PRICE WITH COUPON Package 75 Baggies Food Storage Bags 15% OFF THE REGULAR PRICE WITH COUPON 33 Ounce Container Sta-Puf Conc. Fabric Softener 15% OFF THE REGULAR PRICE WITH COUPON 28 Ounce Container Ajax Liquid Cleaner 30% OFF THE REGULAR PRICE WITH COUPON Ten (10) Strained Jars Beech-Nut Baby-Food 10% OFF THE REGULAR PRICE WITH COUPON 12 Ounce Package Hebrew National Franks or Knocks

DAIRY FOOD ABBOTT'S ICE CREAM HALF GALLON 99¢ BREAKSTONE MIDGET Farmer Cheese 4 OZ PKG 49¢ GOLDEN KEY INDIVID. SLICES Cheese Food 12 OZ PKG 89¢ ALL FLAVORS Breyer's Yogurt 3 8 OZ CONTS $1 KRAFT Cheez Whiz 8 PORTION GRUYERE Swiss Knight 4 OZ PKG 69¢ NON DAIRY 1/2 LB. PRINTS Imperial Margarine 1 LB. PKG 55¢ FROZEN FOOD GLAZED or JELLY MORTON'S DONUTS 9 OZ PKG 69¢ MINUTE MADD Orange Juice 6 OZ CONT 29¢ FRENCH FRIES or CRINKLE CUT Key Potatoes 2 LB. POLY 69¢ Deluxe Celeste Pizza 10 OZ PKG 89¢ HOWARD JOHNSON Croquettes SHRIMP OR CHICKEN 12 OZ PKG 79¢ HAWAIIAN PUNCH KEY CROCKNECK SQUASH or Key Zucchini 8 OZ CAN 29¢ 10 OZ PKG 25¢ CHOCK FULL O' NUTS POUND CAKE 16 OZ PKG 89¢ DELI SPECIALS Lean...Sliced to Order Boiled Ham $1.29 1/2 LB. Chicken Roll White Meat 1/2 LB. 99¢ Salad Sale Potato-Macaroni Cole Slaw 1 LB. 49¢ Salami Sale GENOA AC HARD BC 1/2 LB. $1.19 Kipperd Salmon 1/2 LB. 89¢ American Cheese Sliced to Order 1/2 LB. 69¢

Prices effective Monday-Saturday, June 7-12, 1976.

U.S.D.A. Grade A...Oven Ready Chickens Broilers & Fryers 45¢ LB. Whole...2 1/2 LB. Avg.

Chickens 49¢ Split or Quartered LB. Roasting Chickens 53¢ Whole 3 1/2 LB. Avg. LB.

Pork Shoulder Fresh...Bone In 79¢ LB. U.S.D.A. Choice Beef Chuck Steaks First Cuts...Bone In 69¢ LB. Chicken Cutlets Boneless Breasts $1.89 LB. Pastrami Meaty...Water Added $1.29 LB. Chuck Chops Fresh Ground 89¢ LB.

SHOPPING is a Pleasure...at KEY FOOD

KEY Quality Sliced White Bread 1 Pound...6 Oz. Loaf 3 $1.00 Wesson Oil Gallon Container $2.99

KEY Ice Tea Mix 10 SERV. 89¢ Joy Liquid Detergent 22 OZ. CONT. 69¢ Kraft Grape Jelly 2 LB. JAR 89¢ Clorox Bleach Plastic Gallon 69¢ Uncle Ben's Rice 3 LB. PKG. $1.29 KEY Wipe Cloths 10 39¢ KEY Non Fat Dry Milk 5 QT. PKG. 99¢ Green Giant Green Beans KITCHEN CUT or FRENCH STYLE 16 OZ. CANS 4 $1.00

FRUIT & PRODUCE SAVE California...Bing Cherrie Large Size 3 LB. $1.00 69¢ Calif. Potatoes 5 LB. BAG 89¢ Large Mangoes Extra Fancy Large EA 59¢ Seedless Limes Florida 5 FOR 45¢ Sunkist Lemons California 5 FOR 45¢ Apples Granny Smith South African LB. 39¢ Golden Apples Wash. St. Fancy Delicious LB. 39¢ Florida Oranges 12 FOR $1.00 Wash. State Fancy Red Delicious Large 88 Size...California LB. 8¢ Apples 3 LB. $1.00 Navel Oranges 12 FOR $1.00

Fun... HAP BIRTH AMER... 1776 Fresh Qu Chic Par Legs B Backs on 1... our box their bag... taste... RUCHO

Do your best shopping with the Food Day feature of The New York Times Every Wednesday in The New York Times

هكذا من الأصل

The Secret of Success for Food-Buying Cooperatives

LEE WARREN me the turn of a small food to do the shop-
-night some of
-ative little
-ing the other
-ld be pleased
-They weren't
-or another co-
-case of fennel
-too late, that,
-family, an one

ke many such
-reaken beyond
-organizations
-sen too strong
-and a few
-great many of
-ups began call-
-mortality rate
-ted and in this
-now far more
-ops than ever.

Are Strict
-are likely to
-at keep the
-g to the line
-members really
-ance, anyone
-e Hunts Point
-t for the 18-
-Ferry co-op
-s to be in
-t buy three
-les, three sa-
-three fruits
-(carrots, cele-
-stones) but no
-ld be bought.

Forbidden are
-(poor flavor),
-at of season,
-have a rule
-apples (likely
-nd one called
-Great Neck
-erto Rican
-and safe and
-swain ones.
-important, the
-ly say, but
-s them more.
-stated among
-with some co-
-shopper-driv-
-eace a week,
-wo weeks. In
-ers with cars
-ed. Marianne
-formed the
-co-op four
-ago in SoHo
-could have
-for others
-"I'm sorry to
-e, but if we're
-in new mem-
-naturally pre-
-or of people."

uch diversity.
-For every
-ated one like
-which has
-s, or a big
-e like the
-on the West
-members are
-units, there
-one similar
-Beak in Cro-

od Unit
-how many
-in the Pel-
-ether," said
-with three
-d that co-op
-ave 15 fami-
-nce, 40 buy-
-eses and 40
-seafood, but
-feal of over-
-have 40 fam-
-alth foods
-in Real Food
-t dngs, cot-
-rown rice,
-yogurt. But,
-ose families
-the others."

e co-ops buy
-the ones in
-storage space
-rigerators is
-en's, named
-on East 82d
-s co-op's 25
-o their pur-
-nd a way
-fficulty. It
-Wholesale
-n Street, a
-cut, weigh,
-iver once a
-he members

wonderful
-are from 30
-said Toni
-ized the co-
-p, depend-
-able will
-deliver
-easier, but
-th that fine
-e that, most
-have in a
-s countless
-re them.

ed that the
-e ones that
-called of
-instead of
-the most
-e there are
-in the Ken-
-can agree
-ints as the
-ey want be-
-their driver

n't undesir-
-in any co-
-the bag-
-has been
-t done with
-berries are
-on the bot-
-is the wait-
-in be picked

Probably the most undesirable part of being in any co-op is the bagging. If it isn't done with care the strawberries are likely to end up on the bottom. Then there is the waiting for the bags to be picked up; there are always members who don't show up until late at night.

up and there are always one or two members who don't show up until late at night. Some co-ops manage to have a central and fairly permanent distribution point but even then the shopper and driver must hang around until the very last bag has been called for. The Dobbs Ferry co-op uses the garage of a member. The Broadway Local uses a church basement.

The Pelican's Beak also uses a church and so does the St. Stephen's co-op. What about the savings after all this driving, shopping, bagging and distributing? No one seems to have figured out the cost of driving to and from the market but, say members of the various groups, the savings on produce, in comparison with supermarkets, are from 30 to 70 percent, depending on the articles. Mrs. Boal of the Kensington co-op could not make comparisons, but her accounts book for a recent trip to Hunts Point showed she had paid $4.50 for 48 Indian River grapefruit, $6 for 50 pounds of new potatoes, $4 for 50 pounds of onions and 10 cents a head for Boston lettuce.

"And the grapefruit and heads of lettuce were beautiful big ones," she said. Mrs. Boal went on to say, "When we were novices we thought we had to do comparison shopping and we'd run from stall to stall but we soon learned that everybody charges pretty much the same." Susan Pearl who, as a member of a co-op in Hastings, goes to Hunts Point once every nine weeks, said, "After the men get to know you they're usually friendly and nice. They let us taste things and on our last trip my partner and I could make a second breakfast of the grapes and peaches we were given to try. And when I said, 'I wished we were buying limes—I needed some for a party—and my shopper said no, they were too expensive, a man in the stall handed me nine of them as a gift.' Mrs. Boal said: "Sometimes the men at the market will help, but it's usually up to us to lug the cases and carry the boxes to the car. But if you keep going back to the same stalls, everything is more pleasant."

White Wine Sale

	Rate	Case
1974 Blanc de Blanc Liera 33.8 oz.	2.29	25.00
1974 Pouilly Fuisse (Jacques Pneu)	3.99	47.00
1973 Chablis Fourchaumes (Patent)	2.99	34.50
1973 Bordeaux Blanc	1.69	20.00
1973 Ockfener Golsberg Riesling (Wilhelm-Gymnasium)	2.89	33.00
1973 Riesporter Goldtropfen Kabinett (Lyendecker)	2.49	28.00
1974 Longuecher Probstberg Kabinett	2.29	27.00
1971 Chateau Timberlay Bordeaux Blanc	2.49	28.00
1974 Chablis	2.89	34.00
1974 Pouilly Fuisse	2.99	34.00

CROSSROADS

55 W. 14th St. New York, N.Y., 10011
SAVE *2<sup>00</sup> More EACH case
by Picking your order up at our store.
We deliver

For Delivery N.Y.C., L.I. west of Westchester and Rockland.
Minimum order $25.00
Call 924-3060
FREE PARKING

TRY NEW PEPSI LIGHT

Here are three good reasons why:

1. Lemony taste in.
2. Half the calories out.
3. 25¢ off.

Until now you had to choose between good taste and low calories. Until now.

Now there's new Pepsi Light. Real cola, with a hint of light, bright lemony taste that makes Pepsi Light really tangy and refreshing. And best of all, when we put the lemony taste in, we found we could take half the calories out. Pepsi Light. Lemony cola taste with only half the calories of regular colas. Try it. Use the coupon and save a quarter.

BOTTLED BY PEPSI COLA BOTTLING CO. N.Y. & N.J. UNDER APPOINTMENT FROM PEPSI-COLA, INC., PURCHASE, N.Y.

Store Coupon—Pepsi-Cola Company

At Groceries to receive prompt payment, send this coupon to Pepsi-Cola Company, Box 177A, Clinton, Iowa 52704. You will receive 25¢ plus 5¢ for handling if you receive it in accordance with the terms of our consumer offer. Consumer must pay any deposit and/or sales tax involved. Invoices proving purchase 60 days prior to submission of sufficient stock to cover coupons submitted must be shown upon request. Cash value is 1/20th of 1¢. Offer void where prohibited or license required. Offer limited to one coupon per family, group or organization. Any other use constitutes fraud. Pepsi Light is available in limited areas only. Expiration date 12/31/76.

25¢ OFF

On your next purchase of any multi-pack of bottles or cans, or purchase of two large size bottles (26 oz. or larger).

WINE TALK

California Labels Outdo French in Blind T

By FRANK J. PRIAL

Several California white wines triumphed over some of the best Burgundy has to offer in a blind tasting in Paris recently. More startling: The judges were French.

mond Oliver, owner of the restaurant Le Grand Vefour; Jean-Claude Vrinat, owner of the restaurant Taillevent; and Christian Vanneque, wine steward at the restaurant La Tour d'Argent.

Miljenko Mike Grgich samples a glass of his prize-winning pinot chardonnay.

is always the case. American wineries are producing their long list. The fact is, 18 American wineries can produce extraordinary wines in this from the premium are in extremely and cost a great ey—anywhere for $20 a bottle. It is true of the bur

All Sol Miljenko Mike winemaker at Montelena, said, 800 cases of the donny; all of been sold. The w mented extremely spent six months oak barrels. The 1974 chardonnay was leased in August, said. "The one to be the 1975," think it will be nay of the cent will be about 5, the 1975, he said. The 1973 M available for $8 in a few stores York area, inclu Liquor Store in Forest Hills, Queens, Winestat chester, Sysset Long Island and Spirits in Tenafly

TREES, LAKES, GI THE FRESH AI

Table with 3 columns: Wine Name, Price per bottle, Price per case. Includes items like Carruades de Chateau Lafite Rothschild 1967, Clos Chantegrive 1971, Perrier Jouet English Cuvée Brut 1969, etc.

Our own Haverhill House California Wines—A tribute to California's Wine Masters

Table with 3 columns: Wine Name, Price per bottle, Price per case. Includes items like Cabernet Sauvignon, Barbera, Taster Muscadet de La Sablette 1974, etc.

We offer a potpourri of wines for 1.95 bottle case of 12/21.75. You can mix them for the same case price!

- List of wine selections: 282. Weingarden Moselblumehen 1974, 292. Marceau Grand Vin Blanc de Bordeaux, 280. Weingarden Liebfraumilch 1974, etc.

How about replenishing his liquor cabinet with:

Table with 3 columns: Liquor Name, Price per bottle, Price per case. Includes items like MackGiege 12 yr. Imported Scotch, Taster Vodka 80, Red Star Blended Whiskey 85.

TEMS 71 Erbacher Marcobrunn Riesling Spätlese 1971. A connoisseurs wine. Germany's finest vintage year. Remarkable bouquet and taste. Lasting wine. $9 12/$97

Advertisement for Rheingau Schloss Schonborn 1971er wine. Features a large image of the wine bottle and the text 'Tantalize Dad's palate with his favorite Wines and Liquors at Macys'. Includes a handwritten note 'To Daddy, Love Cindy' on a tag attached to the bottle.

Macy's Fine Wine & Liquor Store, Lic. L-1 459 Seventh Ave., 34th St. New York, N.Y., 10001

Come in, write or phone 594-6200. No charge for delivery within UPS delivery area on orders of $25 or more. On orders under $25, please add 2.75 for delivery within UPS area. Add 8% sales tax in NYC and applicable sales tax in other areas. Sorry, no delivery outside of NY State. We deliver to parts of Rockland, Orange Counties serviced by UPS. NY State law does not allow us to charge liquor or wine to your account.

BUYRITE LIQUOR

EACH STORE IS INDEPENDENTLY OWNED & OPERATED

ONCE & FOR ALL DEMAND THE BEST!

Advertisement for Buyrite Liquor featuring various liquor bottles and their prices. Includes Schenley Gin (9.99), Canadian Lord Calvert (10.99), Ambassador Deluxe Scotch (7.99), Seagram's Seven Crown (11.99), Glen Rossie (5.60), Martell Cognac (10.20), and Leed's Brandy (7.42). Also features a 'STILL 90 PROOF' seal and a 'PARTY SIZE' label.

Table listing Buyrite liquor store locations across various New York City boroughs: Manhattan, East Side, West Side, Queens, Brooklyn, Nassau, Suffolk, and Westchester. Each entry includes the store name and address.

CONSUMER PLEASE NOTE: THIS ADVERTISEMENT SPONSORED AND PAID FOR BY THE LISTED RETAILERS AND DOES NOT CONSTITUTE A CHAIN ENTERPRISE JOINT OPERATION OR COMMON INTEREST OWNED.

Handwritten Arabic text: 'هكذا من الأصل' (Like this from the original).

هكذا من الأصل

Campaign Fund That Gives Women Candidates a Lift

Several dozen women (and 11 men) decided the other evening that it was a "special scandal" in the Bicentennial that there were no women in the United States Senate or Supreme Court.

"Only 19 out of 435 seats in the U. S. House of Representatives are held by women," said Anne R. Zill, chairman of the Woman's Campaign Fund, which was meeting at the First Woman's Bank for its first fundraiser in New York City.

They were standing on a plush green carpet, having cocktails, paté and provolone, and discussing finance and the campaigns of 1976. The problem, they were saying, is how to get women elected to political office.

Mrs. Zill and several female politicians were urging other women to contribute to the Women's Campaign Fund. "Our budget is $35,000, but we don't have that in our hands," said Norma Bartle, Democratic candidate in the largely Republican 30th Congressional District in upstate New York. "We have to buy time on six TV stations."

'On the Wane'

Jeanette Keifman, who ran unsuccessfully for the Pennsylvania State Senate in April, told the crowd, "Ten years ago there were 13 women in the Pennsylvania legislature. Now there are seven. We're on the wane."

Ruminating over her own campaign experience, she said, "My opponent outspend me on television 5 to 1. In the campaign, media is the name of the game. When I asked my opponent to debate me he said, 'How can I debate a grandmother? Well, I have two sons but they have no children. I was told Pennsylvania was not ready for women. It's time for a woman, if she's given support.'"

Abigail McCarthy, author, lecturer and former wife of Eugene J. McCarthy, stood before the group in a long dark dress and said, "It's nice to be in such a nice bank." Everyone clapped. She said that the women's movement had brought women together to help one another. "And there are increasing numbers of women who are willing to support the Women's Campaign Fund," she said.

Formed in 1974, the fund is the only national bipartisan organization to give money to women who are running for office either for the first time or for re-election.

Money-raising is conducted at a grassroots level across the country, although most of the contributions are from large urban areas on the East Coast. The fund contributed more than $22,000 in its first year to 28 women running for Federal and statewide office. Seventeen of them won.

Fund Raising

A minimum of $100,000 is expected in 1976 — through direct mail appeals, local fund-raising events and individual solicitations — to be donated to candidates for state and national office.

Seven women, including Representative Bella S. Abzug, Democrat of Manhattan campaigning for her party's Senate nomination, and Gloria Schaffer, Secretary of the State of Connecticut who is aspiring to the Democratic nomination to the United States Senate, have already received financial aid, and 28 others are being considered for campaign funds.

"We have a special Bicentennial fund this year to improve things," said Mrs. Zill, noting that women hold about 4 to 7 percent of the country's elective offices although they make up 53 percent of the voting population. Candidates wishing to receive contributions from the Women's Campaign Fund must have what they call a "progressive" stand on issues affecting the quality of life and human needs, a reasonable chance of winning and a demonstrated need for campaign financing.

"I would define progressive as one who understands the potentials and limitations of government, who is innovative and accountable, and who favors the Equal Rights Amendment and the right of a woman to have freedom of choice in what she does with her own body," Mrs. Zill said.

The funds gathered about $5,500 from the reception earlier this week from the 85 people who attended and through mail contributions. "We're still receiving checks in the mail," said a spokesman. Those who gave $100 were entitled to go next door to the Galleria for a buffet dinner of chicken, grapes and gravy at the Atrium Restaurant.

One Man Spoke

Stewart R. Mott, the General Motors heir who has supported the fund since its inception, was the only man to speak. Dressed in a lime green leisure suit he said he ordered from Gimbels mail-away, he urged everyone to give more money and ordered his "benchwomen," as he called them, to pass out pledge cards. "I will not be happy," he said, "until there is more equality in Congress."

Brown Gold is the Richest Coffee in the World

100% COLOMBIAN COFFEE

The richest cup of coffee comes from Colombia! Shade grown high in rich volcanic soil of the Andes Mountains. Brown Gold 100% Colombian Coffee! A delicious blend of the two most expensive Colombian beans, Medellin Excelso... for rich body and flavor. Armenia selso... for enticing aroma. Enjoy Brown Gold, the richest coffee in the world, regular or freeze-dried. Your guests will love you for it!

Makes the world's richest Automatic Drip Coffee, too!

OUT COUPON AND SAVE 25¢

SAVE 25¢ WHEN YOU BUY A CAN OR JAR OF BROWN GOLD 100% COLOMBIAN COFFEE

STORE COUPON

FRUIT

CE & FOR ALL DEMAND THE BEST!

1199

599

399

742

Save 15¢ on the Juice of Juices.

Minute Maid ORANGE JUICE 12 FL. OZ.

Save 15¢ on the purchase of TWO cans of any size of Minute Maid frozen concentrated orange juice.

Minute Maid The Juice of Juices.

EXPIRES JULY 31, 1976

15¢

PEPPERIDGE FARM

6 Cinnamon Raisin Muffins

Now save 10¢

Try English Muffins with the sweet difference of raisins and cinnamon

10¢ STORE COUPON

10¢ PEPPERIDGE FARM. 10¢

Save 10¢ on any package of our English Muffins.

10¢ Pepperidge Farm remembers. 180/1297 10¢

Wine Sale HAROLD BEARAK savors it!

"Although there are many white wines available in today's market, we are offering one that truly is a stand-out. At a recent tasting, this crisp, light Muscadet refreshed everyone & distinguished itself as the perfect casual wine for summer."

Cevede Vin

MUSCADET '75, SEVRE ET MAINE	bot.	case	3cs. lots	6cs. lots
	$2.49	$27	$24	—

OTHER CEP DE VIN SELECTIONS:

Macon Villages Blanc '73	2.99	32.00	29.95	28.50
Chard '71	2.89	29.95	27.00	24.00
Bourgogne Blanc '74	2.49	27.00	24.00	22.00
Cotes du Rhone '74	2.49	27.00	24.00	22.00

CEP DE VIN SAMPLER $46

20 bottles—4 of each of the above

Any 6 cases at the 6 case price. CALL FOR DELIVERY—212-8188

Summer Sipping Special

Chai, La Tour Blanche '71 (Sauternes)	5.99	64.70
Clos Chantegrive '70 (Graves)	3.99	43.10
Chai, La Grive '71 (Graves)	2.99	32.30
Chai, Lattre Haut Brion '74 (Graves)	6.99	75.50
Chai, Banyonnes-Chaurin '70 (Sauternes)	2.99	32.30
Sancerre '74, Archaubault	2.79	40.94
Pouilly Fume '74, St. Laurent L'Abbaye	3.99	45.10
Vino Sol '71, Torred	2.59	27.98
Pieding '73, Trimbach	3.79	40.94
Cuvee Charles Brut Champagne '69, Epernay	8.99	97.10
Pinot Grigio '75, Quarto Vecchio	2.49	24.90
Sauvignon Blanc-Dry '74, Callaway Vineyard	4.40	48.50
Mousaut Perrieres, Bernard	3.40	37.70

SAMPLER CASE $51.00

One case of the above 10 wines

Delivery Information—Our trucks cheerfully deliver to all five boroughs, Nassau & Westchester and throughout N.Y. State. Call or write. We will gladly send you our monthly "Notes From The Cellar," free of charge.

The Wine Merchants
Forest Hills Liquor Corp.
108-09 Queens Blvd.
Forest Hills, New York 11375
Telephone: 212-268-0800

"A Bicentennial present from me to thee."

Through June 15th you can purchase, at a surprising discount, great seats to great theatre. In this, our 22nd Season, we offer the theatre of Shakespeare with As You Like It and The Winter's Tale. And, The Crucible, by Arthur Miller.

Our Bicentennial Special Subscription: buy all three plays for Tuesday through Thursday performances and save 25%. Buy all three plays for Fridays and save 20%. Either way, save $6.00. Another surprise—you may win a free British Airways Show Tour to London. All subscription buyers are eligible for our drawing June 16th. You and your guest will spend one week on the Show Tour.

Order today and come to The American Shakespeare Theatre. Enjoy us soon.

1976 Repertory Performance Schedule.

WEEK OF	TUES. EYE	WED. MAT.	THURS. EYE	FRI. MAT.	SAT. EYE	SUN. MAT.
JUNE 8-12	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU
JUNE 15-20	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL
JUNE 22-27	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU
JUNE 29-JULY 3	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL
JULY 5-11	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU
JULY 13-18	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL
JULY 20-25	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU
JULY 27-AUGUST 1	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL
AUGUST 3-9	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU
AUGUST 11-15	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL
AUGUST 17-22	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU
AUGUST 24-29	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL
AUGUST 31-SEPT. 5	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU
SEPT. 7-12	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL
SEPT. 14-19	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU	CRU
SEPT. 21-26	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL	AYL

CRU—The Crucible WT—The Winter's Tale AYL—As You Like It
 (to be announced (Not included in regular subscription)
 Performance Times: Eves. 8:00 P. M. Mats. 2:00 P. M. Latecomers seated at discretion of management.

Location: The American Shakespeare Theatre is located off exits 31 and 32 of the Connecticut Turnpike or exit 53S on the Merritt Parkway. Only an hour and fifteen minute drive from New York City.

No Refunds: EXCHANGES must be made within the dates listed as Eligible Performances, or price difference must be made up by subscriber. Program subject to change.

For Further Information call (203) 375-4457 (CT.) or (212) 966-3900 (New York City—Toll Free) Instant Charge Phone Numbers: Connecticut 378-1864, New York 581-5031. Easy Exchange for Subscribers. Tickets may be exchanged for the same play by mail or in person up to 24 hours before performance time (subject to availability).

Shakespeare Newsletter. Extra insights on Shakespeare and the inside story on the people who make AST. Published exclusively for subscribers.

Order Form.

Bicentennial Bargain Subscription, Regular price—$24.00 (Tues., Wed., Thurs., Mats. or Eves.) 25% discount—$6.00 savings.

Play	Date	Mat.	Eve.	Alternate Date	Mat.	Eve.
CRU	<input type="checkbox"/>
WT	<input type="checkbox"/>
AYL	<input type="checkbox"/>

Orch.  Mezz.

No. of Orch. or Mezz. subscriptions @ $18.00 Total: $

Friday Evening Subscription, Regular price—$30.00 (Any 3 Fridays) 20% discount—$6.00 savings.

Play	Date	Mat.	Eve.	Alternate Date	Mat.	Eve.
CRU	<input type="checkbox"/>
WT	<input type="checkbox"/>
AYL	<input type="checkbox"/>

Orch.  Mezz.

No. of Orch. or Mezz. subscriptions @ $24.00 Total: $

Saturday and Sunday Subscription, Price—$30.00 (Mats. or Eves.) No discount.

Play	Date	Mat.	Eve.	Alternate Date	Mat.	Eve.
CRU	<input type="checkbox"/>
WT	<input type="checkbox"/>
AYL	<input type="checkbox"/>

Orch.  Mezz.

No. of Orch. or Mezz. subscriptions Sat./Sun. @ $30.00 Total: $

If order cannot be filled as requested:
 Please return check
 Please substitute best available location and price
 Full Payment Enclosed

Handling & postage $1.00. Total Remittance $

Or charge my American Express Account #
 BankAmericard Account #
 Master Charge Account #

Interbank #  Expiration Date

Authorizing Signature _____
 Name _____
 Address _____ Apt. _____
 City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Telephone (Home) _____ (Business) _____

Make check payable and mail now to:
 American Shakespeare Theatre, Stratford, Connecticut 06497

American Shakespeare Theatre
 Stratford, Connecticut. Michael Kaln. Artistic Director

THE BEST COMEDY OF THE SEASON
 WINNER 1976
 DRAMA DESK & OUTER CRITICS CIRCLE AWARDS

THE NORMAN CONQUESTS

MOROSCO THEATRE 217 WEST 4TH STREET 246-6290
 MAT TODAY AT 2 SEE ABC'S FOR DETAILS

Electronic 'Pipe Organs' Distressing to Biggs

By ALLEN HUGHES
 E. Power Biggs, an elder statesman of the music world whose indefatigable labors over nearly half a century have made his name almost synonymous with organ-playing, came down to New York from his home in Cambridge, Mass., on Monday to deliver himself of some tart opinions on the pipe-organ situation in New York concert halls. Invited here by the New York chapter of the American Guild of Organists, he spoke at a public session on the subject held at Holy Trinity Church on Central Park West.

The New York Times
E. Power Biggs
 Superstar of the organ.

Mr. Biggs is distressed by the existence in Carnegie Hall of an electronic imitation of a pipe and concerned by the fact that the Licofo Center management has not yet made a firm commitment to install a pipe organ in Avery Fisher Hall, which is now being reconstructed.

A few years ago, Mrs. Leo Simoon offered Carnegie Hall a pipe organ, and a sizable instrument was designed and built for the hall by D. A. Flentrop of the Netherlands and was shipped to this country. At that point, Mr. Biggs said, "the matter came to an unexplained end."

"Electronic With Keyboards" He said that uninformed protests about the instrument, made by people who knew little or nothing about it, "so confused the trustees and others at Carnegie Hall that this kingly gift was refused. Through stupidity, this fine organ was lost to Carnegie Hall and New York audiences."

The instrument installed two years ago (though out bought by Carnegie Hall) was described by Mr. Biggs as "electrotronics with attached keyboards" and he said flatly, "The present device cheapens the hall and ruins its image as a place of excellence."

Isaac Stern, president of Carnegie Hall, and Julius Bloom, executive director, have said that the Flentrop pipe organ had been rejected because it might have altered the Carnegie Hall acoustics. Mr. Biggs' reply to this was that "short of putting up the organ, or a dummy case, that question can't be proved one way or another." "But I must mention," he continued, "that we have had an organ for 76 years in Symphony Hall in Boston, and no one has ever said it spoiled the acoustics."

"And think of the Concertgebouw in Amsterdam, and a score of other European concert halls with their wonderful acoustics and their organs."

Born in England
 If anyone knows about organs and their settings in Europe it is Mr. Biggs. Since 1952, he has traveled up and down and across Europe playing on organs of all ages, sizes and conditions, and recording as he goes. He is currently represented by more than 50 listings in the Schwann catalogue of records and tapes, and at least half a dozen of these are anthologies of performances played on different European organs.

Mr. Biggs himself is from across the Atlantic. He was born in Westcliff, England, on March 29, 1906, and came to the United States in 1930, after having studied organ at the Royal Academy of Music in London.

How did he happen to emigrate to this country? "I instinctively wanted to come to America," he replied seriously, and then, after a slight pause and with a twinkle in his eye, he said: "As a matter of fact, I was fired from my church in London. I wanted to play the organ and I suppose I wasn't interested in the day-by-day routine."

Home at Harvard

Within a month or so after he got here, Mr. Biggs found a job in Newport, R.I., where he stayed for two years. Then he moved to Christ Church in Cambridge. "I got fired from there two years later," he noted cheerfully, "and that pushed me out into the cold world."

By 1937 Donald Harrison had installed an experimental small organ modeled on classic examples in the Germanic Museum at Harvard, and Mr. Biggs found the artistic home that he had been seeking. In the late 1930's he made his first recording there, and in 1942 he began the famous series of weekly coast-to-coast radio broadcasts over CBS that made his name a household word in homes that listened to good music. The series continued until 1958, and added up to approximately 800 programs.

Meanwhile, Mr. Biggs was playing recitals, concerts with symphony orchestras, making recordings, doing musicological research and editing organ music for publication. His way of playing was rather cool and reserved; he was uncompromising about performance style, and his interpretations sometimes exasperated organists of a more Romantic turn of mind. But he persisted and now, at 70, is reaping acclaim earned by a career marked by a single-minded pursuit of musical excellence.

Arthritis is not making things any easier for him nowadays, but he will be playing Rheinberger's Organ Concerto No. 2 with the Boston Pops under Arthur Fiedler's direction at the American Guild of Organists national convention in Boston later this month, and is obviously going to continue performing.

"I'm not averse to recitals," he says, "but I'm gradually dropping that. I want to communicate now through recordings."

2 Held in Newark Holdup

NEWARK, June 8 (AP)—Two men were arrested and charged yesterday in a $40,000 armed robbery of a Midlantic Bank branch here, the police said. The men were identified as Ronald Parrish, 39 years old, and Charles Brames, 23, both of Newark. The police said the men entered the bank at around yesterday, ordered more than 25 customers to stand against the wall and emptied three cash drawers. They escaped by car and were later apprehended, the police said. Thirty thousand dollars of the stolen money was recovered.

The American Theater Company

... showing us work we haven't seen, before and now, in all conscience, to thank."
 —Walker Kerr, N.Y. TIMES.

FINAL PERFORMANCES

June 10, 16, 17 at 8 PM

The Patriots, Etc.

by Col. Robert Munsford in 1776
 ... quite destroys the pretty-pretty picture most of us have in our heads of the origins of our independence."
 ... splendid comedy might well be seen."
 —Walker Kerr, N.Y. TIMES
 —Don Nelson, DAILY NEWS

Battle of Brooklyn

by an anonymous Redoubt in 1776
 "A treat to see on Oct. 1, Josephine Washington."
 —Sy Syms, WISCONSIN CHILD

June 13 at 3 PM

Aaron Burr

a new play by Charles Hallett
 ... splendid comedy might well be seen."
 ... and you, historically."
 —Howard Thompson, N.Y. TIMES
 $2.50 • Equity Approved showcase • TDF
 106 East 14 St. (off Union Sq.)
 989-0023

'VANITIES': A WINNER!

... pop culture, drive-ins, the Supreme."
 VANITIES is unreservedly funny," exclaimed Newswatch. See also CHARGIT by phone (212) 238-7177

BOX OFFICE OPEN!

PREVIEWS BEGIN FRI. AT 8 P.M.

BEWARE THE JUBJUB BIRD

THEATRE FOUR
 424 W. 56 ST. • 246-8545

FIRST PERFORMANCE IN U.S.A.

RESTAURANT SINGING SESSIONS (46 GOLD RECORDS)

KAMAHL

American Premiere
 Mon., June 21—8 P.M.
 CARNegie HALL
 TICKETS ON SALE NOW
 3.50-4.50-5.50-6.50-7.50
 AT BOX OFFICE

TONIGHT AT 8 P.M.

DIVINE IN WOMEN BEHIND BARS

THE OUTRAGEOUS COMEDY HIT
 TRUCK & SHEDHOUSE THEATRE,
 108 Broadway • Phone 977-2444
 78 West 40 St. 977-2444
 BRUSH HOLLOW — SEE ABC'S FOR DETAILS

TONIGHT AT 8:00

LET MY PEOPLE COME

A SEXUAL MUSICAL
 PHONE RESERVATIONS
 473-7270 / 473-3570
 VILLAGE GATE
 FLECKER & THOMPSON STS.

OPEN ALL THE FILES!

JOIN THE FIGHT TO EXPOSE THE GOVERNMENT'S CONSPIRACY TO SUPPRESS OUR CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS TODAY

Copy of a Picasso print presented to sons of the Rosenbergs, by the artist.
 Gifted to Michael & Abby Rosenberg Picasso

A TRIBUTE TO Ethel and Julius ROSENBERG

on the 22nd Anniversary of their Execution Carnegie Hall, Tues. June 15, 8 P.M.

- |   |   |
|---|---|
| SPEAKERS   | ENTERTAINERS   |
| MICHAEL and ROBERT (sons of the Rosenbergs)MORTON and HELEN SOBELLMARTIN SOSTREPAUL ROBESON, JR.CORA WEISSMARSHALL PERLIN, ESQ.JOSE ALBERTO ALVAREZ (PSP) | PETE SEEGERDANNY KALBHOWARD DA SILVATONY RANGALLJACK GILFORDVINIE BURROWSJOHN RANDOLPHJOSH BURTONSARAH CONNINGHAMELLEN HANLEYFRANCES CHANEYROBERT BALABANALLEN GARFIELDCYNTHIA HARRISBURTON HAYMANMICHAEL KANEROSALIND HARRIS |

Following the meeting—
 Join the Torchlight March From Carnegie Hall to FBI HQ at E. 69 St. & 3rd Ave.
 NATIONAL COMMITTEE TO RE-OPEN THE ROSENBERG CASE
 Steven Laver, Chairperson

250 W. 57th St., N.Y.C. 10019, Room 606 212-265-0918
 Tickets and information 11 to 7 P.M. Call 212-265-7136 or 0952
 Also at Carnegie Hall Box Office

AVAILABLE TICKETS—$3., $4., $10., $20. & $50. (patrons)

Enclosed is my check for _____ tickets at $ _____

NAME _____ PHONE _____
 ADDRESS _____ ZIP _____

I cannot attend but enclosed is my contribution of $ _____

Make checks payable to NCCRR. If order arrives late, tickets will be left at box office.

Tonight at 8.
The Paul Taylor Dance Company.
 AUREOLE, TABLET, RUNES, CLOVEN KINGDOM (World Premiere)

Charge tickets on major credit cards by calling CHARGIT (212) 238-7177. No refunds. Programs subject to change. Group sales call (212) 925-5464. Ticket information call (212) 925-5410. TOP Vouchers plus $2.50 accepted at Box Office day of performance only.
 Billy Rose Theatre • 239 West 41 St., New York City

MON. JUNE 14
 THRU SUN. JUNE 20
RICH LITTLE
 Musical Director, ROBERT E. HUGHES
 SPECIAL GUEST STAR
TERESA BREWER
 Musical Follies
 Westbury
 BRUSH HOLLOW RD., WESTBURY, LI.

SEATS NOW AVAILABLE AT BOX OFFICE
 DANNY O'DONOVAN PRESENTS
 AN EVENING WITH
DIANA ROSS
 DIRECTED BY JOE LAYTON

LIMITED ENGAGEMENT! 8 WEEKS ONLY—MAIL ORDERS ACCEPTED

PRICES: CHEERING NIGHT (JUNE 10) $4.50-$14.50. FRI. & SAT. EYES ONLY (JUNE 11) $4.50-$14.50. FRI. & SAT. EYES ONLY (JUNE 12) $4.50-$14.50. FRI. & SAT. EYES ONLY (JUNE 13) $4.50-$14.50. FRI. & SAT. EYES ONLY (JUNE 14) $4.50-$14.50. FRI. & SAT. EYES ONLY (JUNE 15) $4.50-$14.50. FRI. & SAT. EYES ONLY (JUNE 16) $4.50-$14.50. FRI. & SAT. EYES ONLY (JUNE 17) $4.50-$14.50. FRI. & SAT. EYES ONLY (JUNE 18) $4.50-$14.50. FRI. & SAT. EYES ONLY (JUNE 19) $4.50-$14.50. FRI. & SAT. EYES ONLY (JUNE 20) $4.50-$14.50.

PALACE THEATRE 1564 BROADWAY NEW YORK, N.Y. 10019
 A DANNY O'DONOVAN PRODUCTION

NEW YORK BALL
 NOW THROUGH JUNE 8

TONIGHT AT 8:00 THE FOUR TEMPERAMENTS, VIRIATY, PUENTE ET EN SUPIA, SHERIDAN
 THURS. JUNE 10 8:00 WATERBURY, TSHARREKOVY SUITE
 FRI. JUNE 11 8:00 LINES, FANTAST, MENTATION, SQUIN IN E MAJOR

Tickets also at Bloomingdale's, Manhattan and Mackay's. Box Tuesday-Saturday, 10-9; Sunday, Noon-8. Program subject to change.

GROUP SALES/THEATER PARTIES Call 877-4

CHARGIT ORDER TICKETS BY PHONE WITH N (212) 238-7177 (214) 425-2630; (814) 352-07

NEW YORK STATE THEATER, LINCOLN CEN

SEATS NOW AT BOX OFFICE
 3 Weeks Only! JUNE 28-
Hurok presents
RUSSIAN FESTIVAL
 produced and staged by
Igor Moise

AMERICAN EXPRESS, DINER'S & CARTE BLANCHE ACCEPT
 Tickets also at Bloomingdale's and Ticketron (For Out-Of-Town Charge your tickets by phone, call CENTERCHARGE)

METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE (212)

TODAY 2:00 TOM'W AT "Gi
 5:00
 Mat. Today: D'Antony, Khril, Menendez,
 Tonight: Makarova, Baryshnikov, van Hamel,
 Tom'w Eve.: Seymour, Nagy, Menendez, S

ABT
 HRO
 AI
 B
 TI

NOW THRU JUNE 26
METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE
 (212) 767-9890
 See show at 8:00
 Mat. Wed. & Sat. at 2:00

AMERICAN EXPRESS, DINER'S & CARTE BLANCHE ACCEPT
 Tickets also at Bloomingdale's and Ticketron (For Out-Of-Town Charge your tickets by phone, call CENTERCHARGE)

2 PERFS. TODAY! at 2 &
 "FUN AND GAMES FOR YOU OF ALL AGES!"

The Magic Show
 "TERRIFIC! BRILLIANT!"
 —Clive Barnes, N.Y. Times

CORT THEATRE 138 W. 48th St./4

SEATS AT BOX OFFICE NOW
AMERICAN BALLET THEATRE
 6 SPECTACULAR WEEKS! June 2
 For Patron Seat information call (212) 265-
 Regular Price Tickets Now at the Box Office
NEW YORK STATE THEATRE

TONIGHT AT 8 P.M.
 "PLENTY OF OLD FASHIONED LAUGHS!"
 —Nelson, Daily News
 ALL SEATS $8.95

"LIVIN' FAT"
 ST. MARKS PLAYHOUSE
 133 SECOND AVE. (RD. 31) 4-3530

"An electrifying performance!"
Anthony Quinn
 EQ and Play with FLYING

SHOULD BE SEEN IN AMERICAN THEATRES
HARRIS'S PERFORMANCE ASTONISHING!
JULIE HARRIS
THE BELLE OF AMERICA

THEATER
 EAT

250 من الازيل

Taylor Company in 3 Romps

ROMANCE
no longer ideas do in and ten works used since the er: His com- dances as al offerings on, and they all of verve occasional darker cor- s. The com- s two-week Rose Than- th a glitter- n repertory, which was year will if enter into f works that at his best, rting with er too self- a smile or in into the frence of the nancy in char- ical doll Big Bertha. Bettie deLong reminds one of all the fairy-tale wicked women as she flounces around in her gaudy finery and Nicholas Gunn is grimly terrifying as he becomes transformed.

The Program
PAUL TAYLOR DANCE COMPANY. Choreography, Paul Taylor. Lighting, Jennifer Tatum. At the Billy Rose Theatre.
PUBLIC DOMAHN, music composed by John Herbert. Occasional costumes: John Rawlings, with Carolyn Adams, Ellen Crowley, Nicholas Gunn, Monica Morris, Elie Chabib, Lila York, Victoria Uris, and Christopher Gunn.
MISS BERTHA, music from the St. Louis Melody Museum collection of local children. Special sound effects, John Herbert. Occasional costumes and scenery, Alice Sutherland. With Bettie de Long, Nicholas Gunn, Ellen Crowley and Carolyn Adams.
ESPLANADE, music, J. S. Bach; Costumes, John Rawlings. With Bettie de Long, Rose Thanet, Monica Morris, Elie Chabib, Lila York, Robert Kahn and Ruth Andrien.

roll across the stage while others get on with nonsensical romps that dissolve serious emotional body sets into hitchhiking gestures and the like.
Ruth Andrien found herself in a formation of women dancing happily when, even more happily, she was left alone to carry on as they lost interest and departed. The whole piece proceeds in fits and starts, including a little pole vaulting by Mr. Gunn. Several years ago, after recovering from an ankle injury, Mr. Taylor himself joyously brandished a no-longer-needed crutch in the same section.
The dance is humorously flexible and bursts out regularly like rays of sunshine. Monica Morris, Elie Chabib, Lila York, Victoria Uris and the newcomer Christopher Gunn all contributed to the fun. It's nice to have the Taylor Company back in town.

egalitarian six women they flippy turns and geography, early aware as us. When an article py once, about his and when s of Miss e becomes the is the cast members were a little leghall followed dutifully or perhaps lasciviously by a tiny tennis ball. Periodically they and Brando are superb!"

—New York Post

JACK NICHOLSON
MISSOURI BREAKS

Today Only!
Swept Away" T-Shirt to the first 500 customers.

PLAZA
31 East of Madison Ave. EL 5-3320
RESORTS BAHAMAS

Hon Bay. The 1st resort of the 17 Islands.

Hon Bay. The resort that was once yours. Your little hideaway. Fast to go. On our superb seaside, designed by Robert Trent Jones. In our 6 professional tennis courts, beach, 5 miles of silky white sand, 7 aquamarine waters, and fish at bargain prices, while rates are low. Just call your travel agent or LRI (Loews Resorts Inc.), In 212-586-5099.

COTTON BAY
BENCH GOLF AND TENNIS RESORT
EUTHERA, BAHAMAS

CHILDREN OF PARADISE
PARIS

CHILDREN OF PARADISE
PARIS

CHILDREN OF PARADISE
PARIS

MAN WHO FELL TO EARTH
CINEMA I 11:40, 1:40, 3:45, 5:50, 8, 10
CINEMA II 12:40, 2:40, 4:45, 6:50, 9, 11

SWEPT AWAY
2:40, 6:20, 10

SEDUCTION OF MIMI
1, 4:40, 8:20

FAMILY PLOT
1:30, 5:45, 10

FRENZY
3:45, 8

MURRAY HILL 3rd St. at 34th St.

FACE TO FACE
12, 2:20, 4:45, 7:10, 9:40

BLAZING SADDLES
1:30, 3:10, 4:55, 6:40, 8:20, 10

CLOCKWORK ORANGE
2:30, 4:50, 7:15, 9:30

FAMILY PLOT
1:30, 5:40, 9:50

FRENZY
3:35, 7:45

ART 8th St. East of 5th Ave.

THE NEW YORK EXPERIENCE

PLAYTIME
THALIA

When was the last time you were REALLY SCARED!!!?

PSYCHO
The EXORCIST
JAWS

Now there's DEEP RED

DEEP RED
You will NEVER forget it!!!
Starring DAVID HEMMINGS, Daria Nicolodi

FREE DEEP RED MASK TO MASK THE TERROR!
Starts TODAY at a FLAGSHIP theatre near you.

PARADISE
PARIS

AWAY WITH US!
A dazzling, whimsical, slapstick funny comedy.
—Liz Smith, Cosmopolitan

Guild 50th
10:12-30, 3:30, 8, 10-30

LOVE AND DEATH
10:12-30, 3:30, 8, 10-30

THRU TUESDAY
ST. MARKS CINEMA
133-2nd Ave. 771-1955
Robert Di Nero
TAXI DRIVER
Warren Beatty/Goldie Hawn
SHAMPOO

GUERNICA
A FILM BY ARRABAL

JACK NICHOLSON
ONE FLEW OVER THE CUCKOO'S NEST

Before the West ever saw the American Cowboy...
Wanted... had become a Blackfoot Legend.

Winterhawk
CHARLES B. PIERCE

STARTS TODAY AT A FLAGSHIP THEATER NEAR YOU

MANHATTAN 12TH ST. CINEMA 12TH ST. CINEMA	ROOSEVELT ROOSEVELT CINEMA ROOSEVELT CINEMA	WESTCHESTER WESTCHESTER CINEMA WESTCHESTER CINEMA	ROCKAWAY ROCKAWAY CINEMA ROCKAWAY CINEMA	BRONX BRONX CINEMA BRONX CINEMA	QUEEN QUEEN CINEMA QUEEN CINEMA	STATEN ISLAND STATEN ISLAND CINEMA STATEN ISLAND CINEMA	WESTCHESTER WESTCHESTER CINEMA WESTCHESTER CINEMA
--	--	--	---	--	--	--	--

THE LAST WOMAN
Nothing will prepare you for the devastating climax.
COLUMBIA PICTURES presents
A film by MARCO FERRERI
GERARD PHARPAUD
CRINELLA MUTI

Katie and Les are having a little problem. It's called 10 years of marriage!

I will, I will... for now

ELMOTT GOULD - DAINE KEADON - PAUL SORVINO - I WILL, I WILL... FOR NOW

EMBRYO
NOW at Blue Ribbon Theatres

MANHATTAN 12TH ST. CINEMA	ROOSEVELT ROOSEVELT CINEMA	WESTCHESTER WESTCHESTER CINEMA	ROCKAWAY ROCKAWAY CINEMA	BRONX BRONX CINEMA	QUEEN QUEEN CINEMA	STATEN ISLAND STATEN ISLAND CINEMA	WESTCHESTER WESTCHESTER CINEMA
-------------------------------------	--------------------------------------	--	------------------------------------	------------------------------	------------------------------	--	--

3rd SMASH WEEK AT SELECTED THEATRES

"ONE FLEW OVER THE CUCKOO'S NEST"

5 ACADEMY AWARDS
INCLUDING BEST PICTURE

"SOCK! A MORE ENTERTAINING ENTERTAINMENT."
—Alexandra Kenos, Newsday

THAT'S ENTERTAINMENT, Part 2

THE ZIEGFELD
CINEMA 150
CINEMA 46

Candy's Candy
A tidal wave of exuberant & sensitive ranch!

The New York Times

Founded in 1851
ADOLPH S. OCHS, Publisher 1896-1955
ARTHUR HAYS SULZBERGER, Publisher 1955-1961
ORVILLE S. DEBYPOOS, Publisher 1961-1965

ARTHUR OCHS SULZBERGER
Publisher
JOHN B. OAKES, Editorial Page Editor
FRED HECHINGER, Assistant Editorial Page Editor
A. M. ROSENTHAL, Managing Editor
SEYMOUR TOPTING, Deputy Managing Editor
ARTHUR GELB, Assistant Managing Editor
PETER MILLONIS, Assistant Managing Editor
JACK ROSENTHAL, Associate Editor
CHARLOTTE CURTIS, Associate Editor
CLIFTON DANIEL, Associate Editor
MAX FRANKEL, Associate Editor
TOM WICKER, Associate Editor

Arab Reversals

In a swift and ironic reversal that none could have foreseen a few short months ago, Syria's President Assad suddenly finds himself in awkward estrangement from his Arab colleagues—just the isolation that he so relished inflicting on his arch-rival, President Sadat of Egypt.

Taking upon itself the pacification of Lebanon's fighting factions, Syria has engaged as the "enemy" the Palestinian forces which so recently had been Syria's special protégés. The dramatic Syrian advance into Lebanon has sharply altered the political complexion in the Mideast.

Last September it was President Sadat whom the Arab world branded as an outcast, upon his conclusion of an interim Sinai agreement with Israel. Now that distinction falls upon Mr. Assad because of his incursion into Lebanon and his opposition to Yasir Arafat's segment of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

To outside diplomats it is clear that President Sadat is fully exploiting this opportunity to embarrass and weaken the Syrian position, despite the fact that the resistance to Syrian advances is coming from the same leftist Lebanese and Palestinian factions who until recently had only opprobrium for Cairo.

President Sadat has announced that the Palestinian radio station will once again be allowed to transmit from Cairo; it had been silenced last September when, with Syrian encouragement, it sounded bitter criticism of the Egyptian-Israeli agreement. An urgent meeting of the Arab League foreign ministers has been called in Cairo, at the initiative of the beleaguered Palestine Liberation Organization—or whatever is left of it—and the Syrian intervention has been bitterly denounced.

For the United States, Israel and other outside powers, the only immediate course is rigorously to avoid any step that might further inflame a tense confrontation. Syrian forces have advanced too deeply to turn back, but they have carefully avoided any actions that could be seen by the Israelis as a threat. There is every reason to believe the United States has kept both Damascus and Jerusalem informed of the other's intentions, as far as they can be discerned in a rapidly moving situation.

The time and circumstances may shortly be at hand when the United Nations Security Council could usefully call for a cease-fire and political settlement among the Lebanese that all sides would have an interest in accepting. Only then, when calm returns to the battered towns and countryside of Lebanon, can attempts be made to sort out the wider problems of adjusting the entire Middle East to the sudden new political realities.

Grim Report on Cyprus

Though clothed in diplomatic language, Secretary General Waldheim's semiannual report to the Security Council on the United Nations operation on Cyprus makes grim reading. After citing the increasing difficulties encountered by the United Nations forces—known as UNFICYP—in gaining access to Greek Cypriots remaining in the Turkish-occupied northern part of the island, Dr. Waldheim sums up:

"As a result of these restrictions, UNFICYP has been unable to contribute in any effective way to the welfare, well-being and security of the Greek Cypriots in the north except for the supply of material items and distribution of social welfare benefits. There is a continued outflow of these people to the south."

That outflow, according to abundant information from independent sources, is induced by Turkish pressure. Dr. Waldheim reports many complaints from Greek Cypriots that they are coerced into signing requests to leave and warned that if they refuse they will be moved regardless—but without their personal possessions. Because of Turkish restrictions, United Nations police have "no possibility of verifying whether people wish to leave."

As Dr. Waldheim says, the plight of Greek Cypriots in the north is a matter for serious concern, not merely on humanitarian grounds but because it "increases tension between the two communities and tends adversely to affect the efforts toward a just and lasting peace in Cyprus."

The Secretary General asks the Security Council to extend the mission of the U.N. forces on Cyprus for another six months, which it probably will do later this week. But the Council ought to face the reality, which is that Turkey at present has no intention of withdrawing from any of the territory—40 percent of the island—that its forces seized in 1974, nor of allowing the reconstruction of any central Government worthy of the name.

On a visit to West Germany last month, Rauf Denktaş, the Turkish Cypriot leader, said flatly that the Turkish side was not prepared to make any territorial concessions. The Turkish proposals for a "Federal Republic of Cyprus" would give a central Government so little power that the end result would be partition of the island—something expressly forbidden by the Security Council resolution of March 1975.

There may be nothing effective that the United Nations or the United States can do about Turkey's fait accompli on Cyprus. But Turkey must know that its actions imperil Congressional approval of the billion-dollar arms and bases agreement with the United States; and the Security Council ought to have no compunctions about exposing the broken promises and bad faith of Ankara.

Katharine McBride

Katharine McBride—scholar, scientist, teacher and expert administrator—never viewed the mission of a women's college in particularly feminist terms. The reason undoubtedly was that she demanded for men and women equality of effort as well as of opportunity. Her sense of quality and of equality permitted no arti-cial academic distinction to be made between men and women.

President of Bryn Mawr College for 28 years, Miss McBride understood that the obligations that flow from stewardship of a truly distinguished educational institution do not stop at the campus edge. When others were cowed by political bullies of the McCarthy era, Miss McBride stood firm against all encroachments on freedom. When some spokesmen for the exclusive colleges scoffed at mass education, she called for expanding educational opportunities.

Katharine McBride presided over the education of a generation of young women without sentimentality or special pleading. Seeking no personal glory, she bestowed the special glory of steadfastness and integrity on her own campus and on the enterprise of higher education.

CUNY: Political Hostage

The political game plan fielded by State Senator Warren M. Anderson, Republican majority leader, offers a choice between two devastating alternatives.

Mr. Anderson's proposal of a $24 million "loan" to enable the City University to meet its current obligations and to reopen its doors is predicated on retention of the present funding formula, under which the state matches the city's allocation dollar for dollar. Because this also means that the state matches every cut imposed by City Hall, that formula has become a prescription for disaster. Thus, the Anderson deal offers a Hobson's choice of continuing the present shutdown or reopening CUNY under conditions of fiscal chaos in September.

Since CUNY's surrender of free tuition was the sine qua non for amelioration of the rigid 50-50 matching formula, Mr. Anderson's proposal amounts to betrayal of an implied bargain. The terms of that bargain were reflected in Governor Carey's plan to provide $195 million in state aid, while allowing the city to reduce its contribution to about $160 million, considerably less than 50-50. Together with income from tuition, this would give the university a $470 million budget. Even that level of funding was estimated to fall short of projected needs by about $48 million.

Senator Anderson, who is talking about a statewide study of higher education, implies that there is no hurry about revising the 50-50 formula now and that CUNY can make the necessary adjustments later. The fact is that the Regents have already reviewed the statewide study and have recommended revision of the funding. Mr. Anderson's delaying action ignores the need to plan for the next academic year. After all, CUNY is in its present predicament precisely because it was forced to sustain budget slashes in mid-year without prior warning. Now Mr. Anderson would send the institution, its students and its faculty into another academic year with no certainty other than the inevitability of fiscal collapse.

It is an act of political cynicism for the Republican leadership to create the impression that it is generously providing the means to reopen CUNY now, while callously undermining the university's future.

Judge Lord Was Right

Five months ago a United States Court of Appeals disqualified District Court Judge Miles Lord from taking further part in the case of the Reserve Mining Company because of his alleged "gross bias." The higher court may have had a point about the judge's emotionalism in denouncing the way the company had, in his view, "frustrated the conclusions which had to be arrived at"—but the conclusions themselves continue to be persuasive.

Essentially, they are that the dumping of taconite tailings into Lake Superior is a grave menace to the public health, though the effects may not be felt for some years, and that an end to such dumping cannot come an hour too soon. The ground rock tailings contain asbestos fibers similar to those that are known to produce a high rate of cancer in asbestos workers, and the company has been pouring 67,000 tons of them into the once pollution-free lake, chief source of drinking water for a great region, every day since 1956.

Since Judge Lord's removal from the case, his successor, Judge Edward Devitt, has ordered Reserve to pay some $288,800 for water filtration at Duluth and subsequently fined the company $1 million more for violating water-discharge permits in 1973 and 1974. But he has refrained from ordering the plant to close as long as the company is still negotiating an on-land disposal site for its mining wastes.

Here again the company is obviously in no hurry to move. Late in May a Minnesota hearing examiner recommended a land site other than the one chosen by Reserve Mining. The company's proposed site would cost it less money but would not, according to the examiner, remove the risk of further contaminating Lake Superior. So the examiner's finding is to be contested.

Reserve Mining, which is owned jointly by the Republic Steel Corporation and the Armco Steel Corporation, two of America's largest industrial giants, has enjoyed the rich profits that come from producing iron for 15 percent of the country's steel manufacture. Its legalistic dodging over a period of seven years in order to escape the costs of protecting Lake Superior from the potentially poisonous effects of its operations must be brought to an end.

Should people in the area develop cancer fifteen years from now as a result of taking in asbestos fibers with their drinking water, they will no more excuse the law's delay than they will forgive the unconscionable reluctance of the Reserve Mining Company to allow considerations of public safety to cut into its profits.

Letters to the Editor

Of CUNY, Tuition and Leadership

To the Editor:

As a student at CUNY, I found the decision by the Board of Higher Education to impose tuition disappointing and frustrating. Worse than that, however, is the prospect that, even with tuition, further cutbacks may be made in an already ailing university.

The tuition imposed by the B.H.E., which is to be comparable to that charged by SUNY, $750 to $900 a year, comes as a shock to those of us used to paying less than $250 a year in registration fees. The tuition also does not guarantee that students will get the courses they need for graduation.

Middle-class students, myself included, will be hit the hardest by tuition because our parents make too much money for us to be eligible for financial aid and too little to afford us the alternative of private universities. Perhaps a more just imposition of tuition would be a gradual increase until the prescribed amounts are met.

Also, students paying the tuition without the help of Federal or state financial aid should be given first choice of offered courses. I agree that no one should be denied the opportunity of higher education, but I also believe that, in times of economic crisis, those who pay the paper should call the tune.

PETER A. GINGER
Bronx, June 3, 1976

To the Editor:

Fred Hechinger's May 18 column ("Who Killed Free Tuition?") omits one important fact. Just as state universities, by imposing tuition, held down costs and limited the student body to those who could afford to pay, so the city colleges demanded in place of tuition the academic excellence which obviously served to curtail enrollment and keep the budget within reasonable bounds.

Restrictions, whether economic or scholastic, have always been built into higher education; to talk of a long-ago, more generous day is to mislead.

When a much more humane City University opened its doors to all and even offered remediation to those whose skills had not yet reached college level, the balloon of sheer numbers carried away the ballast which had been provided by the founders and supporters of free tuition. So it is both unfair and inaccurate to depict

Of Legislators and Raises

To the Editor:

At the same time New York City's 129-year-old university was closing its doors for failing to meet its faculty payroll, Assemblyman Leonard Silverman of the 48th Assembly District in Brooklyn introduced a bill for study that would raise legislators' salaries from $23,500 a year to $44,600 at the minimum and $65,000 at the maximum.

Two years ago legislators who were receiving $15,000 a year managed to raise their salaries to the present $23,500, and it is questionable whether one would conclude that this increase was based on merit. Surely no New Yorker would conclude that a further increase of at least $31,000 could be based on merit. If anything, this last request for an increase should provoke outrage and disgust, and indeed it has.

It boggles the imagination to conceive of an official making a request for a large salary increase in light of New York's fiscal crisis. While Mr. Silverman has been fending off criticism from both the press and public, Governor Carey as a politician who has surrendered to pressures, or to paint Chairman Giordano as a lonely hero in the controversy over tuition. The bitter, incredible truth is that the city has lost its wealth at the very moment when it was most needed; and the crisis is causing one group to turn on another, each looking for a scapegoat.

The Federal Government, which is supposed to understand the total picture—and the city-suburb shift is certainly a national phenomenon which has contributed to New York's difficulties—chooses to regard the whole matter as irritating, minor, isolated, and totally self-induced. That lack of vision and leadership is the city's real tragedy and will prove its inevitable destruction.

(Prof.) M. C. KUNER
Dept. of English, Hunter College
New York, May 26, 1976

To the Editor:

The imposition of tuition at the City University removes one of the best incentives for young middle-class families to remain in the city. It is surprising that, before a free-tuition policy of well over a century was discarded, an obvious alternative was not considered—renegotiation by the city of the labor contract governing the salary and work load of the 16,000 faculty members of CUNY.

The salary scale of the City University is among the nation's highest. At the same time the required work load is among the lightest. For salaries ranging up to $35,000 a year, only five to eight hours per week of actual classroom instruction is required during the nine-month school year. This work load could easily be doubled or tripled—with enough savings effected by resulting staff reductions to eliminate the need to impose tuition.

GEORGE E. RUBIN
New York, June 2, 1976

To the Editor:

The end of free tuition at CUNY may well be necessary at this time. The need for tuition might have been averted, however, if high school standards were more strict. The graduation of some functional illiterates by the city's schools made open enrollment a failure.

JAY SCHECHTMAN, M.D.
Bronx, June 3, 1976

other legislators have been quietly preparing a bill to provide them with a sizable cost-of-living increase.

ARLINE L. BRONZAIT
Associate Professor, CUNY
Brooklyn, June 8, 1976

Mideast Realities

To the Editor:

The present civil war in Lebanon should put the quietus to the proposal that Israel agree to a Palestinian state on the West Bank, a state that would be controlled by the P.L.O. The word remembers the attempt by the P.L.O. to take over Jordan. Now we see a similar effort to Lebanon. Syria, which has supported the P.L.O. over the years, now finds it impossible to control the P.L.O. in Lebanon. To ask Israel to permit the P.L.O. to set up a Palestinian state on the West Bank files in the face of the realities of the Middle East.

JOSEPH H. AARON
Brooklyn, June 2, 1976

An editorial on this subject appears today.

To Pay a Physician

To the Editor:

There has been no public discussion of the influence of insurance on the high cost of medical care. When covered by health insurance, patients are unable to question increasingly exorbitant fees. The doctor/businessman feels free of guilt because the patient/consumer, although unhappy about high bills, is not paying them out of his own pocket. In fact, the consumer pays enormous medical insurance premiums to companies with no long-term interest in keeping medical costs down. On the contrary, the higher the medical costs, the greater the insurance company's gross revenues, and hence, net profits.

Recently, I received a bill for $115 for fifteen minutes of a doctor's time. When I called to complain, the doctor could not understand my motives. "You're insured, aren't you?" After some discussion, he told me to pay him what I felt was right. However, when I said I would send him $50 along with the insurance forms, he replied that he would have to fill out the forms in the original amount, since to reduce the fee would result in his "profile" being lowered by the insurance company, thus jeopardizing his right to charge his customary fee.

This left me three choices: one, to pay the original amount and collect 80 percent from the insurance company; two, to pay $50 and become a party to fraud by profiting from the insurance; or three, to forfeit insurance coverage and pay a reasonable amount. Under the circumstances, I have decided to pay him 20 percent of his original bill, the amount I would have had to pay, so that bill had I been allowed to use my insurance.

Similar situations are common. It is likely that an important factor in the increase of malpractice suits is patient frustration in dealing with higher medical costs. A medical system which can transform idealistic, young doctors into crass, wealthy businessmen needs change. If doctors are to be paid by institutions rather than by individuals, their earnings must be controlled by law. Either that, or medical services should be provided directly by the insuring institutions, introducing the possibility of some price competition. Otherwise, we are doomed to increasing medical costs compounded by increasing malpractice suits, to the detriment of health care in the United States.

ROBERT M. JAY
Stamford, Conn., June 2, 1976

Issue Evaded

To the Editor:

When Scott R. Ham May 26) says that "the voter threatens to desert party system as we put the cart before the horse" putting the cart before the horse is the reason for the non-vote the apathetic one.

In both the landslide Nixon and Johnson less than of the electorate went to and each time the issue promotive of apathy: the and Watergate. The apathy lack of meaningful voting process, wherein victor appeared as a fore conclusion. Citizen involvement, more direct aversion to demonstrative petitions, etc., in declaration to Administration the lack of credibility.

The currently raised is ama, a swolloe and a budget and a renewal of mentality by downgraded word detente are man embarrassment and expl jockeying for nomination.

In another sense, the beyond the power of the cope with directly or eff old, lack of credibility, has taken another slight social issues of elemental undebated, are vetoed by as legislation and deter programmed neglect as r social facilities proceed r

The relevancy of the to credible needs is program. Participatory democracy of satellite, instant tions is no longer served cal bulk of the past or by of the present; the uninsp designees who regale t with unconscionable evasions.

Is it too much to p horizons of endeavor mo alive institutions than a sidetrackoff, if not betrayi smearing us with the venee

HAI
New York, M

Little Rock Prior

To the Editor:

You recently published a Carlton McMullen, City Little Rock, Ark., in which his city's decision to use Community Development I ted to benefit low-income urban dwellers—land for a tennis complex eot western section of Lit

Since his letter was a your editorial on a survey Housing and Community I block grant program cond organization, we feel obli sent a fuller explanation ings in Little Rock.

Our investigative intern found considerable oppos tennis court project, not community residents, who project as unresponsive to but from staff members lated the Community Deve plication and who que propriety of the fiancia.

Furthermore, we learn proposal for the tennis co was not introduced for dis the final public hearing c munity Development apn was adopted at the last a proposed interstate; I would have been located i moderate-income comm which would have cost r than the land for the tan

When opponents of the plex wrote HUD to questi catioo and community I processes, and to protest l cision, HUD referred the to city authorities. Yet, d the proposed project and composition of those like the tennis court (notwiths proposal to bus in low-inc or the assertion that " termis") seem to us that onary concern. Communi tion is at the center of the view of this project; th ful community participat least some reflection of th tion in spending priorite head counts at the req munity meetings.

Whenever we find that Development funds are bel projects that are not of benefit to low- and mode urban Americans and are n of their priorities, we will the responsible officials, I Mr. McMullen, to insure th poses of the Act are met.

RAYMOND BROWN, E
Atlanta, M

The writers are program t the Southern Governmental Project.

The New York Times Company
229 West 43d St., N.Y. 10036

Corporate

The New York Times

Affiliated Companies

ARTHUR OCHS SULZBERGER, Chairman and President
JOHN J. MCCABE, Senior Vice President
JAMES C. GORDALE, Executive Vice President
MICHAEL S. RYAN, Secretary
RALPH BOWMAN, Treasurer

WALTER MATTHEW, Executive Vice President
JOHN MORTIMER, Senior Vice President
JOHN D. POMFREY, Senior Vice President
DONALD A. NEESEN, Vice President
FRED D. THOMPSON, Vice President

STENNY GRISON, Executive Vice President
BENJAMIN HANDELMAN, Senior Vice President
CHARLES S. BRAKEFIELD, Vice President
WILLIAM E. DAVIS, Vice President
JOHN R. HARRISON, Vice President
ROBERT S. NOVEMBER, Vice President
ARNOLD ZORN, Vice President

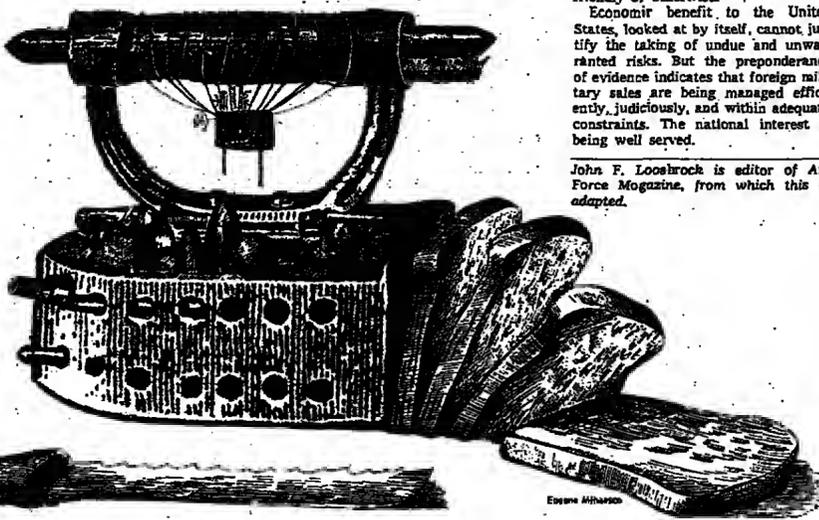

سكننا من الأصل

F. Loosbrock

COUNTRY'S foreign military sales program has been abused and little understood. Much of the myth...

Swords Into Shares

State Department decides, while particularly sensitive and significant proposals must go to the White House. Any transaction above $25 million...

45-Year-Old Rivet in the First Amendment

W. Friendly
Journalists tend to give all Founding Fathers for press, it was the century's judiciary...

down a newspaper or magazine that was "obscene, lewd, lascivious... or maliciously scandalous and defamatory." Two years later, a small Minneapolis scandal sheet, the Saturday Press...

right of free press or whether Chief Justice Hughes's rejection of prior restraints still stands.

Most Dangerous Game

Sulzberger
Germany—The greater spot on the Euro-Yugoslavia, not Italy, in. While the subject...

Yugoslav staff chiefs, General Kulikov and General Potocar, continue intermittently. This in itself is odd because it became known in 1968, through a defecting Czechoslovakian general...

Fred W. Friendly, Edward R. Murrow Professor of Journalism at Columbia University, is author of "The Good Guys, the Bad Guys and the First Amendment."

Now for the Playoffs

By James Reston

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8—The primary elections, over at last, have turned out better than most critics of the system predicted. They have not settled everything but they put out all the extremists except Ronald Reagan...

could take this state from either Ford or Reagan in the fall. What blunts the roificence of the pros, however, is that they haven't the request idea of what all those stay-at-homes will do after they watch the nominating conventions and listen to the winners.

Still there is a feeling of dissatisfaction out here in the end. None of the candidates have swept the country. President Ford almost fumbled away the nomination in the middle primaries. Our friends and allies, thus would be faced with the choice between remaining unarmed and defenseless in a hostile environment or buying from the competition, friendly or otherwise.

You wonder about all those who paid no attention to the primaries and say they will think about the election later.

Accordingly, there is a sense of relief that the last "decisive" primaries are over, but no sense of exhilaration; and you cannot come across the nation without wondering about all those nonvoters who paid no attention and say they will think about the election later.

nobody for him but the cartoonists, and while he slumped in some of the late state contests, he is still so far ahead that it is now riskier to dump him than to nominate him.

So there are two quite different levels in this election. On one level are the political pros, the reporters, the pollsters, and the concerned citizens who follow the candidates and primary statistics as sports fans watch the strategy, tactics and personalities of their teams.

His opponents, principally on the left, have rallied him everything from a hypocrite to a potential Cromwell. They have scoffed at his name and questioned the sincerity of his religious convictions, but he just keeps grinning and preaching his way to the front.

On the other level are the majority of citizens, preoccupied with their private affairs, who either don't know or won't tell what they think about Messrs. Ford, Reagan, Carter or Humphrey, and say they're waiting for the playoffs.

The plain truth is that Jimmy Carter sensed the mood of the voters earlier and more accurately than any other candidate in the field, and he has outworked and outmaneuvered them all.

At the level of the pros, no matter how they calculate the primary votes, former Governor Carter of Georgia stands out as the dominant character of the campaign so far, and probably the best bet to win the Democratic nomination and defeat either President Ford or Ronald Reagan in November.

In no other democratic country in the world would such a minor regional figure become a national leader in so short a time—overwhelming not only the established leaders of politics but overcoming a century of prejudice against Presidential candidates from the old Confederacy as well.

There's only one reason to invest money: to make more.

- The three key factors in making money are:
• premier quality investment advice
• order executions that save you money
• investing through a financially dependable firm

For seventy-two years, E. F. Hutton has been helping people make money.

When E.F. Hutton talks, people listen.

Fly non-stop New York to Tehran

Only on Iran Air's new 747SP.

4 hours faster than any other airline.

Iran Air's new 747SP non-stop service gets you to Tehran 4 hours faster than any other flight—even direct ones. You leave at 8 PM and arrive early the next afternoon. You get a solid night's sleep and awaken refreshed for the next day's business.

A higher flying plane, a smoother flight.

The new 747SP flies higher than any other subsonic commercial airplane. Which means you fly above most weather, not through it. The result: a smoother flight.

747SP: A new kind of comfort.

The 747SP is a completely new 747—a medium length 747. It has about 100 less seats. Which means a lot more intimate service. In first class, it means a whole new approach to designing a lounge—the Persian Room, the newest nightspot in town.

More than one flight a day from JFK.

Along with our new 747SP flights, Iran Air has a new expanded 707 schedule. Now you can leave any day of the week. And on Thursdays and Sundays, you've a choice of two flights. All fly direct to Tehran, so no matter which you take, you never have to change planes.

Immediate connections to Persian Gulf points.

For those doing business in other countries, Iran Air has convenient connections to other Persian Gulf states. And if you are flying on to Isfahan and Shiraz, Iran Air can put you on a connecting flight at once.

Call the travel expert, your travel agent. Or call Iran Air at (212) 949-8200.

We've been welcoming travelers for 2500 years.

تكننا من الأصل

Fresh
Facing

News

The top Fehra

n Air
SP

airline.

her flight.

fort.

om JFK.

Gulf ports.

25th

1000

1000

1000

1000

1000

The New York Times/Burton Silverstein
Jerome Ambro in a Meade in Farmingdale, L.I.

Freshmen on G. O. P. 'Hit List' Facing an Unpredictable Future

By MARTIN TOLCHIN
Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, June 8—It has been 18 months since they were swept into office in the aftermath of Watergate, some from districts that had never before sent a Democrat to the House of Representatives.

Some of them still walk the Capitol corridors wearing expressions of wonderment and vague disbelief. It is not that they lack confidence in their re-election prospects, say many whose families continue to live in their districts, but rather that they consider it prudent not to relocate them in Washington until the voters have again passed judgment.

November will be the big test. "If I win in November, the seat will be mine for as long as I want it," said Representative Thomas J. Downey, Democrat of Suffolk County. "If not, I'll be a 27-year-old former Congressman, and the rest of my life will be an anticlimax."

'G.O.P. Hit-List'

He is among the 19 freshmen Congressmen from New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, nearly a third of the entire 60-member, tri-state Congressional delegation. All but one are Democrats, and many, like Mr. Downey, come from overwhelmingly Republican districts.

It is natural, therefore, for the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee to view the loss of many of those seats as temporary aberrations and to make special efforts to regain them. The result is what the Democrats derisively term a "G.O.P. hit-list" that concentrates on freshmen Democrats elected by less than 55 percent of the vote in traditionally Republican districts. They are now likely to be confronted by strong, popular, well-financed Republican candidates.

Mr. Downey, who was elected with 49 percent of the vote in a three-way race, is regarded as a prime target. His district is 52 percent Republican and 29 percent Democratic, and gave 72 percent of its vote to Richard M. Nixon in 1972.

His Republican opponent is Peter F. Cohan, an attractive politician who is Supervisor of the Town of Islip, which makes up most of the district. Mr. Cohan also has the Conservative Party endorsement. In 1974, the Conservatives put up their own candidate, who received 7 percent of the vote, while the Republican candidate received 45 percent.

The Republicans contend that Mr. Downey's 100 percent rating from Americans for Democratic Action, a liberal organization that among other things rates candidates, indicates that he is out of step with his constituents.

Investigating West Point

Mr. Downey's campaign officially began on June 5, when he expected 1,000 volunteers to commit themselves to his campaign. Unofficially, the campaign began on Election Day in 1974. Since then, he has used the arsenal of incumbency, including a mobile office, town meetings, weekly columns in local newspapers, weekly radio broadcasts, free blood-pressure check-ups, free advice for the elderly and, of course, a Congressional staff that carries a full load of casework.

Mr. Downey is an active member of the Armed Services Committee, in which capacity he is conducting an investigation of the West Point cheating scandal which has also given him attention in the press.

Mr. Downey correctly suspects that his Republican colleagues are sending Mr. Cohan information about his Congressional performance, in con-

Continued on Page 66, Column 2

The New York Times/Grover Tamm
Representative Thomas J. Downey, right, with Peter W. Rodino Jr., on the House subway

Mountain Gods, Owned by New Mexico Tribe, in Earthly Fight on Liquor License

ENSTEIN

M.—In Room, a exans was ver in the nager was cret store-000 worth (piled. In-pusy clear-ing room est Amer-ica. Out-sprinkler og guests, courts and as nawly

l Saturday an of the this resort, unusual In celebrate a ary—of its a landmark the Federal ginst the sico over a 134-room ested in the the Sierra tide an artifi-1 not quite se, is owned ro Apache is on reser-so uncom-its Indian are also the behind it, ors of a fu-sion oo its ert battle cense that millions of he fact that and mostly nd, the inn of the new es being al funds by country, in jobs for In-g reserve-pporring: efficiency is the home Mescalero, id Lipan ared among l and best-ions in the by Wendell advocate of ency. In an er day, he n had been re than a ig wa had' ural beauty, ded that it's full here, but talize on it, be midst of ur thoughts ment." $9.9 mil-ly from the ment's ecient agency n that pro-ublic facil-high unem-ome. tribal funds, used to con-lake, the dern lodge meeting and ools, tennis golf course, test-shooting d. id the tribe o loans to t. However, Bank of New queque said borrowed $6 after Con-law guaran-0 percent of

New Mexico ent Council, oney used to schools, has ciple to buy om the bank, e state's law volved in extensiva litigation against the tribe. When the inn welcomed its first guests last July, drinks were sold at three bars even though the resort had not sought a state liquor license. This provoked a Federal Court suit by the state.

Federal attorneys, representing the tribe, argued that reservations are sovereign entities not subject to state jurisdiction. The case is still being litigated.

The tribe is also embroiled with the state in disputes on water, gross receipts tax, fish and game permits and construction inspection.

"New Mexico has made what it thinks is a coherent and limited assertion of state jurisdiction, particularly as it involves non-Indian activities, persons and property on Indian land," explained Paul Bloom, adviser to the State Attorney General.

Observers believe that if the liquor license case is decided in favor of the tribe,

New Mexico, like all other states where Indians-run profit-making enterprises on reservation land, could lose millions of dollars in state employee-withholding taxes, sales taxes and other revenue.

Also, there is a widespread belief that if the Apaches win the liquor license case, they may try to set up gambling at the inn, even though state law prohibits it. Mr. Chino categorically denied the idea. Meanwhile, the inn has apparently operated fairly successfully for the last year. According to the manager, Walter Lindborg, occupancy was 90 percent during the summer months, 30 to 40 percent during the winter—the tribe operates a ski area nearby. The bars and dining rooms accounted for half the inn's income, he said.

Another irony of the Inn of the Mountain Gods is that the Apaches, who less than a century ago were terrorizing Southwesterners, are now wooing them. Most of the visitors are wealthy non-Indians from New Mexico and Texas.

One of the prime attractions is the inn's proximity to Ruidoso Downs, a major race track. Mr. Chino said the resort was not dependent on the track. However, it runs courtesy buses for bettors from the inn to the track and back every day.

With its Texans, its shag-carpeted rooms, its bare walls, its steak-seafood menu, its dramatic two-story copper fireplace in the main lounge and its handsome chalet design, the inn looks more like the Colorado ski resort of Vail than anything associated with the descendants of Geronimo.

Moreover, the top employees, most waiters and cocktail waitresses are non-Indian, despite Mr. Chino's contention that the prime aim of the resort was to provide employment for the tribe. About half the staff of 180 is Indian, according to Mr. Lindborg. The Indians seem concentrated in the low-paying jobs.

Mr. Chino acknowledged this, saying training of more Indians was a major goal. "If you look at the employment figures, it's not doing what it's supposed to do," he said. "It won't happen overnight." He added that Indian paintings, rugs and cradles would soon decorate the inn to give it more of an Apache motif.

The New York Times/Ray Cary
A Mescalero Apache, above, teoding bar at the Inn of the Mountain Gods, left. Resort, owned and operated by the Indians, is involved in landmark legal fight with the state of New Mexico over liquor license.

News Summary and Index

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 9, 1976

The Major Events of the Day

International

Beirut was in a state of siege with continued shelling and fighting in the Moslem neighborhoods of the Lebanese capital. Western diplomats reported more Syrian troops, armor and artillery entering the country. President Hafez al-Assad seems to have withheld an all-out attack. A high level delegation representing Syria, Libya, Algeria and the Palestine guerrilla movement arrived in Beirut on a mission to defuse the crisis between Syrian and Palestinian forces. [Page 1, Columns 1-2.]

The United States expressed concern again that the conflict in Lebanon, which the United States had been unable to influence, might touch off a wider war. In Washington the State Department avoided condemning either the Syrians or their leftist opponents. Privately, officials said the Syrians might have underestimated their opposition. Their failure to impose prompt order in Lebanon and the stepped-up fighting was thought to increase the risk of intervention from Israel or from other Arab countries. [1:2.]

There are no prisoners in the Lebanese civil war. They are put to death—often slowly. In 14 months of fighting, 18,000 to 20,000 people are estimated to have died, mostly civilians caught near their homes under indiscriminate shelling. On-the-spot slayings and kidnappings on religious grounds have been daily occurrences. [1:2-3.]

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said United States relations with Chile would remain cool as long as the military Government violated what he called "elemental international standards of human rights." Attending the meeting of the Organization of American States in Santiago, the Chilean capital, he endorsed the criticism of the military Government by the human-rights commission of the O.A.S. He credited President Pinochet's Government with offering some "hopeful prospects" of reform. [1:4.]

National

President Ford scored convincing triumphs over Ronald Reagan in the Ohio and New Jersey primaries, but the California challenge for the Republican nomination was running far ahead in his home state. Among Democrats, Jimmy Carter piled up a huge majority in Ohio and was leading in the races for more than 100 of the 152 convention delegates. He fared poorly elsewhere, trailing Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. in California, and falling far behind the uncommitted slate in New Jersey that has endorsed both Mr. Brown and Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota. Despite this blow, Mr. Carter appeared for a delegate harvest that might exceed his target of 200 for the day. [1:4-8.]

New Jersey Democrats gave the uncommitted slate of delegates supporting Mr. Humphrey and Mr. Brown a lead of 55,000 to 40,000 over the Carter slate with approximately one-fifth of the vote counted. Mr. Carter trailed badly in districts such as Essex County, which he had been heavily counting on with the backing of the local party organization. Democratic leaders said that the Brown-Humphrey candidates had reaped a windfall of votes in districts that had been expected to support Representative Morris K. Udall but apparently switched to the uncommitted slate instead. [1:5-6.]

A number of European health specialists are seriously questioning the wisdom of the American plan to immunize almost the entire population with a new influenza vaccine. They say the risk of adverse reactions can be justified only if the risk of a serious outbreak is substantial. Although some European Governments are stockpiling vaccine, none has considered mass vaccination. [1:3.]

Metropolitan

City Hall officials indicated that two or three agency heads might be replaced in the next 60 days as Mayor Beame presses for management changes. The shifts being considered include Alfred Eisenpreis, the Economic Development Administrator, who is said to have indicated he is looking for a job elsewhere; Jasome Hornblass, the Addiction Services Administrator, whose agency is being merged; and Roger Starr, the Housing and Development Administrator, whose disaffection with the post has become clear. Officials relate the changes to criticism by state fiscal supervisors of the Beame administration's management reforms. [1:3.]

Plans for a $125-per-plate picnic sponsored by the Democratic State Committee on the lawn of Gracie Mansion next Monday were canceled by Mayor Beame after Richard M. Rosenbaum, the Republican state chairman, threatened to enjoin it as a violation of the law against using public buildings for party fund-raising. [1:7-8.]

The Other News

International

Legalization of parties due in Spain. Page 2

Brezhnev opposes bamping of détente. Page 3

Neopolitans are disillusioned at reform. Page 3

World's shantytowns gain new respect. Page 4

U.S. banks comply with Arab trade boycott. Page 13

U.S. Israel walkout on P.L.O. address. Page 13

No Soviet arms role in Lebanon discerned. Page 15

Government and Politics

Pentagon aide cleared of conflict of interest. Page 9

2,000 more records found in C.I.A. file. Page 11

Williams is victor in Jersey Senate primary. Page 21

Carter asks extension of campaign subsidy. Page 21

Legislature refusing to act on Carey's nominees. Page 42

Budget cuts for hospitals questioned. Page 65

City Congressmen clash with municipal unionists. Page 65

General

Puerto Rican group linked to Chicago blasts. Page 12

Idaho flood victims angry about dam. Page 15

2 Indians on trial for F.B.I. agent's deaths. Page 16

Woman convicted in 11 deaths paroled. Page 16

Gross murder suspect picked up in South. Page 37

Metropolitan Briefings. Page 43

New York cracking down on day care. Page 43

Lack of funds curbs 'Old New York.' Page 43

Large Jersey lab to build in Queens. Page 66

Quotation of the Day

"I never wanted that dam. I just knew it was dangerous, and the Government had better repay us or it will be un-American." Mrs. Ted Ard, a victim of the Idaho flood. [16:1.]

CUNY plan seen gaining in Albany.

Page 52

Health and Science

Close up Mars pictures expected July 4. Page 17

Amusements and the Arts

E. Power Biggs decries electronic organs. Page 32

Crawdaddy gives 10th anniversary party. Page 34

Eleanor Parker withdraws from "Pal Joey." Page 34

Taylor Dance Company in three tramps. Page 35

Canada's Stratford Festival opens 23d season. Page 36

Diana Children pleases in piano recital. Page 36

"Tumbleweed," a mystery novel, is reviewed. Page 37

Going Out Guide. Page 34

About New York. Page 78

Family/Style/Food Day

Onion sandwiches: A memorable whimsy. Page 22

Kennedys plus Valentino equal magic. Page 23

Dill isn't only for cool, clean pickles. Page 24

Secret success for food buying co-ops. Page 29

California labals beat French in a test. Page 30

Consumer Notes. Page 26

Obituaries

Eleanor G. Colt, labor education specialist. Page 42

Vincent J. Murphy, Jersey labor leader. Page 42

Business and Financial

Dow average up by 1.88 in light trading. Page 53

Pound rises to $1.80 before closing at $1.77. Page 53

Prices hold firm amid heavy bond sales. Page 53

Kauper will resign as anti-trust chief. Page 53

Big oil terminal is opened in China. Page 53

Swiss act to curb demand for franc. Page 53

About Real Estate: Convention center site. Page 66

2 Professors Rebut Report of Monkeys Raising African Boy

BOSTON, June 8 (UPI)—Two Boston professors say that an African boy rumored to have been raised by monkeys is mentally retarded and was not brought up in the wild but in various institutions.

Dr. Harlan Lane, chairman of the psychology department at Northeastern University, and Dr. Richard C. Pillard, an associate professor of psychiatry at the Boston University Medical School, spent 17 days in the east African country of Burundi investigating reports that a 10-year-old boy known only as "John" had been raised in the wild.

"His history had been lost because of inadequately kept records in a country with a strong oral tradition," Dr. Lane told a news conference.

"It's simply untrue that he was found running with monkeys," Dr. Pillard said. "We now know where he was at every moment. He was never in the wild. For one thing there are no monkeys in that part of the country. It's very densely populated."

"He was cared for at three orphanages and spent three years in the adult psychiatric ward of a hospital," Dr. Lane said. "During this time, he lost his true name."

At the hospital, "they named him 'John' because they didn't know who he was and he made noises like a monkey—like he had been in the wild," Dr. Pillard said. "John the Baptist had lived in the wild and this is a strongly Catholic country—so they named him 'John.'"

The child was born normal, but "his mother died a few days after his birth and his father a year later," the professors said. "At about the age of 2, he must have suffered a disastrous illness."

After researching his history and studying the boy extensively they concluded, "John is a severely organically retarded child" as a result of the illness he suffered.

CORRECTION

In the obituary of Julia Murray Cuddihy, former president of the Catholic Big Sisters, in The Times Monday it was erroneously stated that she was a daughter of the late Thomas E. Murray, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. Mrs. Cuddihy was a sister of Mr. Murray.

of Funds Scaling Down 4 Old New York Festival

ERRETTI
Old New York was to have many-faceted Bicentennial, its budget planned at $1,000 because of the city's cost of the festival are the Jazz Festival, the World Jazz, a re-creation of life-size Young New Revolutionary well as a plan to preserve the film. Rodney on the Catharine to val, yesterday of corporate ing. But he growing input city's ethnic means that the y event will be spectacular ay event in corporations listed as reluctant to contribute, varied. Shell Oil said that it had not been approached by that committee. Exxon said that it had an "extensive program for support of the cultural life of New York City" and that it had underwritten a concert by the New York Philharmonic in Central Park on July 4th, the same day as the festival. The company said it supported the American Symphony and was making preparations to underwrite a concert on Labor Day.

It said that it intended to support the July 4th committee, that a $1,000 contribution would be made possibly by next week through the Cultural Council Foundation. The New York Stock Exchange, which contributed $250, said its contribution "reflects our attitude towards the celebration, our evaluation of it—we consider it adequate."

List of Contributors to the Festival

Following is a list compiled by Festival Committee of those who have contributed to the July 4th in Old New York Festival thus far:

- ABOVE $10,000
Astor Foundation
Sumner's Bank for Savings
New York Times Foundation
Total: $38,000
- $5,000 OR MORE
CIS Foundation
Metropolitan Performing Trust Fund (American Federation of Musicians)
New York Telephone-T.A.T.
Total: $2,500 TO $5,000
Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith
Office of the City Council President
J. M. Kaplan Fund
Chemical Bank
United Nations Program
Central Drug
Other Savings Bank

- $200 OR LESS
Lohman Brothers
Total: $200
Woolworth's
National Cleaning Contractors
De Mathis Development Co.
Journal of Commerce
John Della and Son
James E. Friel
Don and Ed
Morgan Stanley
Bank of New York
Brown Brothers Harriman
Bache, Bache & Company
Dialer Foundation
Flint International Bank
Royal Bank of Canada
Deutsche Bank
International Telephone & Telegraph
Stone and Webster
Royal Globe Insurance
Atlantic Mutual Insurance
Henry Schroder Wessels
Thatcher, Proffitt & Wood
U.S. Trust Co.
National Shrine's Association
Society Hutchinson
Rudin Foundation
Dolar Savings Bank
Donations Ladies and Jewelle Foundation
Sackler, Warburg & Perles
New York Stock Exchange
American Stock Exchange
Battery Park City Authority
Henry Chase Gorman & Alexander
Mikhael Yonah Heller & McCoy
U.S. Trust Co.

Some of the parents, children and workers marching from City Hall Park to Governor Carey's office in protest against day-care center cutbacks

New York City Cracks Down on Direct-Lease Day Care Centers

By PETER KIBBS
The New York City administration has begun to crack down on the much-criticized direct-lease day-care centers. Landlords of 17 centers containing major building defects are to be ordered to correct them under threat by the city of withholding of rents and an attempt to cancel their leases.

J. Henry Smith, the Human Resources Administrator, proposed the move at a discussion last week with Ira Duchan, Commissioner of Real Estate, and representatives of the Corporation Counsel's office.

Structural violations cited in the officials' talks included building leaks and even flooding. A pending critical report by Comptroller Harrison J. Golding says one center lacks the rubber-type tile required by the Health Department for roof playgrounds, so that the city in six years has paid $151,200 rent for 8,000 square feet it cannot use.

The talks also involved what might be done about 16 other direct-lease centers, including 11 that have already lost or will lose operating funds as of July 1 in the city budget crisis despite city commitments to continue rents. The Agency for Child Development is to study conversion of the remaining five centers into group residences for neglected or troubled children.

Commissioner Duchan plans to meet each landlord for the 170 direct-lease centers in an effort to lower the city's $18 million annual bill for their rent and real estate taxes.

His effort was described as "friendly persuasion," invoking an argument that landlords for the centers could lose their entire investment if the city's fiscal difficulties drove the city into bankruptcy.

The Human Resources Administration's plans to cut off funds for 49 centers—10 leased directly by the city and 39 by community agencies—on July 1, along with partial cuts for 29 more of the overall total of 391 centers produced a protest march yesterday by parents, children and workers.

Four thousand demonstrators—the estimate of Police Capt. Matthew Coyle—marched peacefully from City Hall Park to Church Street, where they turned north and eventually walked up the Avenue of Americas. The march from 10:40 A.M. to 1:17 P.M. under a hot sun covered four miles to 55th Street, where Governor Carey has an office. Marchers chanted:

"We want day care no more welfare." "We've got rights, we've got a right to fight." "Day care centers got a low priority—but not for you and me." "Blacks, Latins, Asians, whites—we are all in the day care fight." "Governor Carey, we're no fools/take it from the banks and give it to the schools."

In a rally at the end, Liz Gonzalez, coordinator for the demonstration and a day-care center family counselor, reported that a delegation had made an appeal to Stephen Berger, executive director of the state's Emergency Financial Control Board.

Mr. Berger later said that he had told them that the board did not tell them what specific budget cuts to make. But for himself as a former state Social Services Commissioner, he said the city had expanded day care so that it now cost $160 million a year.

This, he said, had been consuming 70 percent of Federal funds available for social services, while serving only 2 percent of an eligible population in what he termed "a distortion in priorities."

He said the city had concentrated on institutional programs rather than perhaps a better mixture of family day care, and had run double or triple national average costs in some centers.

Later yesterday Mayor Beame met 10 leaders of an Ad Hoc Coalition to Save Our Children who said they recognized the need for city cuts but urged alternatives.

Their proposals included limiting the number of children served by public funding be reduced by attrition, replacing them with children subsidized by other means or paying private fees—a mix they said was "used everywhere else in the United States" but claimed by the city to be too complicated.

One coalition leader, Representative Bella S. Abzug, Democrat of Manhattan, gave Mayor Beame a telegram from all 17 New York City members in the House of Representatives supporting the alternatives.

doctors incorporated Festival Council agency the Fourth of ion with the and private at four major responsible for d of the command. tion, the Savings, the and the s Foundation $58,000. tributors—the he Music Period, an arm of eederation of ne New York any-American egraph Comal of $15,000, aware of the y "accurately grate input at he declined

Metropolitan Briefs

Four-stamp block sold for $170,000
A block of four 24-cent 1918 United States airmail stamps with the airplane printed inverted was sold at auction for $170,000 at the New York galleries of the H. R. Harner Organization, 6 West 45th Street. A spokesman for the galleries said that the price was the highest ever paid for a United States stamp. He said the block, which had been owned by Princeton University, was sold to the Raymond H. Weill Company, New Orleans dealers. Only four similar blocks of the same stamps are known to exist, the spokesman said.

U.N. Plaza Hotel Opens; Many Luxuries Offered

The 39-story United Nations Plaza Hotel opened its 288 rooms and suites yesterday for 350 invited guests.

For those who will pay from $37 a night for a "studio" to $300 a night for a two-bedroom duplex suite, relaxing in elegant mauve and beige rooms is not the only attraction the hotel has to offer. A swimming pool is on its 27th floor, there is a tennis court on the 39th floor, and the complex also has a restaurant and a "European" coffee shop.

Mayor Beame was on hand to welcome the opening, saying that "any building, in light of the current economic recession, and particularly the high unemployment in the construction industry, is healthy."

Over 300,000 square feet of office space in the building, which was designed by Kevin Roche-John Dinkeloo & Associates, opened last November.

Mother of Two Girls in Custody Case Asks for Word of Their Whereabouts

Special to The New York Times
MINEOLA, L. I., June 8—The natural mother of two girls missing from a temporary foster home since last Friday called a news conference today to plead for their return and give her side of the story.

Obviously distraught, the mother, Patricia Wallace, asked anyone knowing the whereabouts of the girls or sheltering them to come forward. The girls, 13-year-old Cheryl Wallace and her sister Patricia, 12, ran away from the home in West Islip, L. I., where they had been placed after a two-year custody fight between Miss Wallace and their original foster parents, Dorothy and George Lhotan of Hicksville.

In an interview at a Manhattan hotel Saturday night, the girls said they wanted to return to the Lhotans, with whom they had stayed for five years. The children the disappeared are the object of a 13-state missing-persons alarm issued by the Suffolk County Police Department.

Fighting back tears in her lawyer's office here, Miss Wallace told reporters that she would never give her daughters up, despite the girls' repeated declarations that they considered their real home to be with the Lhotans in Hicksville.

"I don't believe in giving people away," said Miss Wallace, the mother of six children in her first public remarks on the case. Speaking of the two girls, she added: "If they are listening, I want them to know I love them and I am not angry."

Beame Upheld in Council On Street Name Change

By EDWARD RANZAL
The City Council's Parks Committee voted 9 to 1 yesterday to defeat a motion to override Mayor Beame's recent veto of a bill to rename part of Graham Avenue in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn to the Avenue of Puerto Rico.

Luis A. Olmedo, Democrat of Brooklyn, the sponsor of the bill, who voted to override, accused the Mayor and the Council of "racism and discrimination."

And because the chairman of the Council's Black and Puerto Rican Caucus, Frederick Samuel, Democrat of Harlem, had voted to uphold the veto, Mr. Olmedo resigned from the caucus. He is one of the two Puerto Ricans in the 43-member Council.

The bill, which the Council had passed unanimously, was vetoed by Mayor Beame following a public hearing and the receipt of several hundred letters from residents in the area opposing the change of name.

The Mayor noted that no one, not even Mr. Olmedo, had come to his public hearing to speak for the measure. The section on Graham Avenue is a major shopping center in a predominantly Hispanic neighborhood. It was a group of Italian-Americans who protested vehemently against the name change at the Mayor's hearing.

"I believe that a matter such as this was one that, like your bill to establish Adam Clayton Powell Boulevard, should have required solidarity of all the minority members of the council."

Yonkers Man Gets Gambling Term

The head of a Westchester County ring that operated wire rooms in the Bronx and Westchester was sentenced by United States District Judge Robert L. Carter to two and a half years in prison and a $20,000 fine on his plea of guilty to a charge of illegal gambling. The gambler, Michael Yanicelli, 35 years old, of 36 Eville Avenue, Yonkers, is reputed to be an associate of the Westchester County Mafia boss, Nicholas Rattennal. An aide of Mr. Yanicelli's, Frank Gallella, 61, of North Tarrytown, was sentenced to three months in prison and 21 months' probation.

Pool of Manhattan Jurors Increased

Norman Goodman, the New York County Clerk, said yesterday that jurors in Manhattan would now be selected from the New York City tax rolls as well as from voter registration lists. The new procedure has been instituted to broaden the pool of prospective jurors by 2,000 people. The pool now has 800,000 names.

Vance to Head U.N. Corporation

Mayor Beame appointed Cyrus R. Vance, former Secretary of the Army under President John F. Kennedy, as the chairman of the United Nations Development Corporation. The quasi-public organization was established in 1968 to assist the United Nations in its expansion needs. Mr. Vance is a member of the law firm of Simpson, Thatcher & Bartlett.

4 Stamps Sold for $170,000

A block of four 24-cent 1918 United States airmail stamps with the airplane printed inverted was sold at auction for $170,000 at the New York galleries of the H. R. Harner Organization, 6 West 45th Street. A spokesman for the galleries said that the price was the highest ever paid for a United States stamp. He said the block, which had been owned by Princeton University, was sold to the Raymond H. Weill Company, New Orleans dealers. Only four similar blocks of the same stamps are known to exist, the spokesman said.

New York City Aide Suspended

Jerome Glanzrock, who was indicted Monday with Patrick J. Cunningham, the Democratic state chairman, and New York City Councilman Steven B. Kaufman of the Bronx, was suspended without pay from his $22,000-a-year city position as secretary to the Water Resources Department. Mr. Glanzrock, a former Bronx Democratic district leader, was charged with attempting to pressure the Bronx Surrogate to withdraw legal advertising from a newspaper, The City News of Co-op City.

In a letter to Mr. Glanzrock, Environmental Protection Administrator Robert Low said that "I have concluded that in your best interest and the interest of E.P.A. that you are laid off pending resolution of the legal difficulties that you find yourself in."

5 on Newark Council Get Jail Stay

In Newark, the State Supreme Court has granted a stay of indefinite jail sentences imposed on five City Council members who refused to vote for a court-ordered revaluation of taxable property, and agreed to hear arguments in the case June 21. Justice Sidney Schreiber announced the court action, which came about an hour before the Council majority was scheduled to enter Essex County Jail for civil contempt. The Council members, four men and a woman, had refused last week for the 13th time in the last four years to vote for a revaluation of the city's 49,000 real estate parcels because they said it would result in a greater shift of the tax burden on the homeowner. The last revaluation was in 1957.

Beame Testifies Against Aid Formula

Mayor Beame testified in court that the state school-aid formula based on local property taxes inflicted a hardship on New York City. He said: "We are at a point where economically it is counterproductive to raise taxes." He explained that even if his administration wanted to raise taxes, it would affect the city's credit rating for borrowing and thus cost the city more money in interest payments on bond issues. Mr. Beame testified in Mineola, L. I., in State Supreme Court, which is hearing arguments on a lawsuit brought by a number of school districts and four major cities challenging the way the state allocates money to local school districts.

Yonkers Man Gets Gambling Term

The head of a Westchester County ring that operated wire rooms in the Bronx and Westchester was sentenced by United States District Judge Robert L. Carter to two and a half years in prison and a $20,000 fine on his plea of guilty to a charge of illegal gambling. The gambler, Michael Yanicelli, 35 years old, of 36 Eville Avenue, Yonkers, is reputed to be an associate of the Westchester County Mafia boss, Nicholas Rattennal. An aide of Mr. Yanicelli's, Frank Gallella, 61, of North Tarrytown, was sentenced to three months in prison and 21 months' probation.

Pool of Manhattan Jurors Increased

Norman Goodman, the New York County Clerk, said yesterday that jurors in Manhattan would now be selected from the New York City tax rolls as well as from voter registration lists. The new procedure has been instituted to broaden the pool of prospective jurors by 2,000 people. The pool now has 800,000 names.

Vance to Head U.N. Corporation

Mayor Beame appointed Cyrus R. Vance, former Secretary of the Army under President John F. Kennedy, as the chairman of the United Nations Development Corporation. The quasi-public organization was established in 1968 to assist the United Nations in its expansion needs. Mr. Vance is a member of the law firm of Simpson, Thatcher & Bartlett.

Beame Upheld in Council On Street Name Change

By EDWARD RANZAL
The City Council's Parks Committee voted 9 to 1 yesterday to defeat a motion to override Mayor Beame's recent veto of a bill to rename part of Graham Avenue in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn to the Avenue of Puerto Rico.

Luis A. Olmedo, Democrat of Brooklyn, the sponsor of the bill, who voted to override, accused the Mayor and the Council of "racism and discrimination."

And because the chairman of the Council's Black and Puerto Rican Caucus, Frederick Samuel, Democrat of Harlem, had voted to uphold the veto, Mr. Olmedo resigned from the caucus. He is one of the two Puerto Ricans in the 43-member Council.

The bill, which the Council had passed unanimously, was vetoed by Mayor Beame following a public hearing and the receipt of several hundred letters from residents in the area opposing the change of name.

The Mayor noted that no one, not even Mr. Olmedo, had come to his public hearing to speak for the measure. The section on Graham Avenue is a major shopping center in a predominantly Hispanic neighborhood. It was a group of Italian-Americans who protested vehemently against the name change at the Mayor's hearing.

"I believe that a matter such as this was one that, like your bill to establish Adam Clayton Powell Boulevard, should have required solidarity of all the minority members of the council."

POLICE OFFICER AND SON: Mary Glatze, also known as Muggable Mary for her under cover assignments, who won a Medal of Merit for apprehending an armed rapist, and her son, Eric, looking at medals at Police Headquarters. New York City yesterday paid tribute to six police officers who were killed in the line of duty and honored 59 officers and four units for outstanding service.

Hands Perils to Buffalo

8 (AP)—sit of foreign re during the in jeopardy shortage of g to a com- the visits. Castro Jr. of '76 said the raised only 0,000 needed lists. visit Buffalo the Christian region vessel; to, an Italian the Polonez slega, ocean- on Poland.

LOTTERY NUMBER
June 8, 1976
N. J. Pick-It-354

Borek Paces Trials

By GORDON S. WHITE Jr. Special to The New York Times GREENWICH, Conn., June 8—Gene Borek qualified for the United States Open golf championship for the ninth time today and said, "I always work a little harder for this. After all, it is the national championship."

His hard work paid off at the Stanwich Club as he led a field of 59 hopefuls by seven strokes after shooting 69, 70—139. Only seven others qualified from here for the United States Golf Association's big show, which will start June 17 at the Atlanta Athletic Club course.

The Metropolitan sectional qualifying round had eight spots for those who scored well on this long, wooded, hazy-infested course.

Others who qualified included John Gault of Palm Springs, Fla., who shot 73, 73—146 on the par 36, 72—Stanwich course. Also at 146 was Pete Davison, the professional from Middletown in Oceanide, L. I., who had rounds of 72 and 74.

Martin Bosten from Lee-wood in Eastchester, N. Y., got the trip to Atlanta with 73, 74—147, as did Wayne Levi of Little Falls, N. Y., 76, 72—148, and Mal Galletta of Glen Cove, L. I., 75, 73—149.

Douglass Gets Berth Bruce Douglass, the Massachusetts amateur champion, and Russ Helwig, the pro at Essex Fells, N. J., got the seventh and eighth spots in a three-way playoff after tying with Mike Ball of Woodway at 149. Douglass and Helwig birdied the first hole while Ball had a par.

Borek finished in a cloud of sand and a haze of glory, although he had his spot virtually assured when he teed off on the 36th hole early this evening and landed in a fairway bunker.

The 39-year-old pro from Sunningdale Country Club in Scarsdale, N. Y., hit a seven-iron shot out of the trap more than 150 yards to within two feet of the pin.

That fancy demonstration or Open-type golf gave Borek his third hole in the second 18-hole round of the day and he gained the widest margin in the history of the metropolitan qualifying rounds for the Open.

January, Zazley Qualify CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 8 (UPI)—Don January and Kermit Zazley finished with 136 totals today to lead a group of 54 players qualifying for next week's United States Open golf championship in Atlanta.

January, winner of this year's Tournament of Champions, had rounds of 69, 67 and Zazley had 66, 70 over the Myers Park Country Club and Charlotte Country Club courses.

Roger Watson, two-time club professional champion from Cary, N. C., turned in scores of 69, 68 for a 137 total, six under par.

Three former United States Open champions in the field of 139 golfers failed to qualify. Julius Burro finished at 144 and was one of 17 players who had a playoff for the final three spots, but he was knocked from the field on the first extra hole.

Tony Jacklin had an opening-round 80 and shot a 71 in the afternoon for a 151 total. Ed Furgol, the other former champion, had a 146 total.

Boros, who had not expected to make the playoff, said he has been having trouble with his back.

"This is the last time I'm going to try to qualify for the United States Open. This will be it," Boros said.

Gonda and Muraskin Gain Westchester

By DEANE McGOWEN Special to The New York Times SCARSDALE, N.Y., June 8—The 6,544 yard Fenway Golf Club course was hit by 90-degree heat, high humidity and few cooling winds today and the oppressive conditions took their toll on the eight survivors playing in the 57th Westchester Amateur championship.

The two competitors to make their way through the quarterfinals and semifinals were Frank Gonda of Lee-wood and Dave Muraskin of the home club. They will meet for the title and silver trophy tomorrow in a scheduled 36-hole final.

Among the fallen this morning were the 1957 champion, Peter Nisselson of Hampshire, and Jim Maver of Winged Foot, a one-time pitcher in the New York Yankee farm system and the losing finalist in this event in 1970.

Nisselson, 1 down at the turn, lost to John Dreyfus of Century, 4 and 2. The former champion said, "I made two or three mistakes while he played par and I could never catch up."

Dreyfus 3 Under Par Nisselson's card showed four bogeys on the final seven holes. Dreyfus shot a 62 for the 16 holes of the match.

Maver admitted the heat proved too much of a handicap. The Harrison Liquor store owner (in partnership with Mike Voipe) rubbed his his hips and said, "My legs, when they go, it's all over."

Maver, 48, was 1 down to 19-year-old Emmett Fitzgerald at the end of the match and he probably would not have lasted long if he had had to play an afternoon round.

Muraskin, a 23-year-old New York lawyer and a former New Jersey State amateur champion, put out Voipe in the quarterfinal, 6 and 5. After being 2 up at the turn, which he reached in par 35, Muraskin shot even par through the 13th to close out the match.

Gonda eliminated Nick Gushko of Tamarack, 5 and 4, in the morning round. Gonda, a 34-year-old Avon Products package designer, beat the 21-year-old Texas Christian junior, 5 and 4.

Things were different for both Muraskin and Gonda during the round of four. Muraskin turned back Dreyfus, 2 up, but the volatile Muraskin, 1 down at the turn, had to go to the par-4 16th before he gained an advantage on a bogey by Dreyfus. They halved the 17th, their Muraskin, a two-time intercollegiate champion from Rutgers, won the 18th with a birdie 4.

Gonda beat Fitzgerald, 3 and 2, to gain the final, a triumph over the conditions and Fitzgerald's youth. The youngster, heading for either Tennessee Tech or Murray State next fall, said, "I hit it pretty good on the front side (he was 2 down then), but I hit a lot of bad irons and missed the greens coming back. I didn't get a par until the fourth hole. Gonda's putt was better than mine. I was 3-putting and he was 2-putting. They're to meet in the final. I'm going to try to win it."

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

People in Sports

Namath Loses $2.5 Million Sports Illustrated

Joe Namath, who has grown accustomed to losing in the last several seasons with the Jets, lost again yesterday. His $2.5 million lawsuit against Sports Illustrated, regarding the unauthorized use of his picture in an advertisement, was rebuffed by the New York State Court of Appeals in Albany.

The state's highest court, in a unanimous decision, upheld an Appellate Division ruling that threw out Namath's suit. Namath had charged that the magazine illegally used his picture and an article published in the 1969 Super Bowl game in advertisements promoting subscriptions. The ruling appears to clarify a freedom of the press issue regarding the use of news articles and photos for commercial promotions.

"The language from the Namath advertisements does not indicate plaintiff's endorsement of the magazine," Appellate Division Justice Louis Capozzoli wrote in the earlier opinion that was upheld yesterday. "Had that been the situation, a completely different issue would have been presented."

Phil Seghi, the general manager of the Cleveland Indians who had complained "about the Prussian-like attitude of some umpires toward our club," called the American League president Lee MacPhail yesterday to discuss the problem in depth.

Noting that the umpiring quartet of Lou DiMuro, Bill Kunkel, Dave Phillips and Rich Garcia had thrown out 12 Indians in the 17 Indian games they have worked this season, Seghi asked MacPhail to keep the four away from the teams.

"We can't alter crew assignments after they go out, and the assignments have been made through July 4," MacPhail said after the conversation.

But the league president said that after July 4, if the Indians still requested that the DiMuro crew be kept away, some arrangement could be made. MacPhail said such an arangement would not be unusual, and that it was "no reflection on the umpires."

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Tennis Results

WESTCHESTER SENIOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Don Rivkin defeated Andy Seifman, 6-2, 6-1; Bill Tully defeated Gene Terles, 6-4, 6-1; Ed Cusack defeated John Vanado, 7-6, 6-4; The Altones defeated Walt Kischard, 6-4, 6-1; Alan Berk defeated Sam Hochberg, 6-4, 6-2; Len Spiner defeated Bob Kunitz, 6-4, 6-1; Renee Wier defeated Charlie Beck, 6-3, 4-6, 4-1; Fred Golonczka defeated Gordon Frieberg, 6-2, 6-1; Dick Healy defeated Charlie Hochberg, 6-1, 6-2; Bill Serner defeated Dick Waldron, 6-2, 7-5; Bob Schwartz won by default from Dan Morrison; Mary Gierovich defeated Andy Torre, 6-2, 6-1; Tony Franco defeated Dick Mallory, 6-2, 6-1; Mary Kay defeated George Hebert, 6-2, 6-1; David Bernier defeated Kurt Adler, 6-1, 6-1.

Don Rivkin defeated Andy Seifman, 6-2, 6-1; Bill Tully defeated Gene Terles, 6-4, 6-1; Ed Cusack defeated John Vanado, 7-6, 6-4; The Altones defeated Walt Kischard, 6-4, 6-1; Alan Berk defeated Sam Hochberg, 6-4, 6-2; Len Spiner defeated Bob Kunitz, 6-4, 6-1; Renee Wier defeated Charlie Beck, 6-3, 4-6, 4-1; Fred Golonczka defeated Gordon Frieberg, 6-2, 6-1; Dick Healy defeated Charlie Hochberg, 6-1, 6-2; Bill Serner defeated Dick Waldron, 6-2, 7-5; Bob Schwartz won by default from Dan Morrison; Mary Gierovich defeated Andy Torre, 6-2, 6-1; Tony Franco defeated Dick Mallory, 6-2, 6-1; Mary Kay defeated George Hebert, 6-2, 6-1; David Bernier defeated Kurt Adler, 6-1, 6-1.

Don Rivkin defeated Andy Seifman, 6-2, 6-1; Bill Tully defeated Gene Terles, 6-4, 6-1; Ed Cusack defeated John Vanado, 7-6, 6-4; The Altones defeated Walt Kischard, 6-4, 6-1; Alan Berk defeated Sam Hochberg, 6-4, 6-2; Len Spiner defeated Bob Kunitz, 6-4, 6-1; Renee Wier defeated Charlie Beck, 6-3, 4-6, 4-1; Fred Golonczka defeated Gordon Frieberg, 6-2, 6-1; Dick Healy defeated Charlie Hochberg, 6-1, 6-2; Bill Serner defeated Dick Waldron, 6-2, 7-5; Bob Schwartz won by default from Dan Morrison; Mary Gierovich defeated Andy Torre, 6-2, 6-1; Tony Franco defeated Dick Mallory, 6-2, 6-1; Mary Kay defeated George Hebert, 6-2, 6-1; David Bernier defeated Kurt Adler, 6-1, 6-1.

Don Rivkin defeated Andy Seifman, 6-2, 6-1; Bill Tully defeated Gene Terles, 6-4, 6-1; Ed Cusack defeated John Vanado, 7-6, 6-4; The Altones defeated Walt Kischard, 6-4, 6-1; Alan Berk defeated Sam Hochberg, 6-4, 6-2; Len Spiner defeated Bob Kunitz, 6-4, 6-1; Renee Wier defeated Charlie Beck, 6-3, 4-6, 4-1; Fred Golonczka defeated Gordon Frieberg, 6-2, 6-1; Dick Healy defeated Charlie Hochberg, 6-1, 6-2; Bill Serner defeated Dick Waldron, 6-2, 7-5; Bob Schwartz won by default from Dan Morrison; Mary Gierovich defeated Andy Torre, 6-2, 6-1; Tony Franco defeated Dick Mallory, 6-2, 6-1; Mary Kay defeated George Hebert, 6-2, 6-1; David Bernier defeated Kurt Adler, 6-1, 6-1.

Don Rivkin defeated Andy Seifman, 6-2, 6-1; Bill Tully defeated Gene Terles, 6-4, 6-1; Ed Cusack defeated John Vanado, 7-6, 6-4; The Altones defeated Walt Kischard, 6-4, 6-1; Alan Berk defeated Sam Hochberg, 6-4, 6-2; Len Spiner defeated Bob Kunitz, 6-4, 6-1; Renee Wier defeated Charlie Beck, 6-3, 4-6, 4-1; Fred Golonczka defeated Gordon Frieberg, 6-2, 6-1; Dick Healy defeated Charlie Hochberg, 6-1, 6-2; Bill Serner defeated Dick Waldron, 6-2, 7-5; Bob Schwartz won by default from Dan Morrison; Mary Gierovich defeated Andy Torre, 6-2, 6-1; Tony Franco defeated Dick Mallory, 6-2, 6-1; Mary Kay defeated George Hebert, 6-2, 6-1; David Bernier defeated Kurt Adler, 6-1, 6-1.

Don Rivkin defeated Andy Seifman, 6-2, 6-1; Bill Tully defeated Gene Terles, 6-4, 6-1; Ed Cusack defeated John Vanado, 7-6, 6-4; The Altones defeated Walt Kischard, 6-4, 6-1; Alan Berk defeated Sam Hochberg, 6-4, 6-2; Len Spiner defeated Bob Kunitz, 6-4, 6-1; Renee Wier defeated Charlie Beck, 6-3, 4-6, 4-1; Fred Golonczka defeated Gordon Frieberg, 6-2, 6-1; Dick Healy defeated Charlie Hochberg, 6-1, 6-2; Bill Serner defeated Dick Waldron, 6-2, 7-5; Bob Schwartz won by default from Dan Morrison; Mary Gierovich defeated Andy Torre, 6-2, 6-1; Tony Franco defeated Dick Mallory, 6-2, 6-1; Mary Kay defeated George Hebert, 6-2, 6-1; David Bernier defeated Kurt Adler, 6-1, 6-1.

Don Rivkin defeated Andy Seifman, 6-2, 6-1; Bill Tully defeated Gene Terles, 6-4, 6-1; Ed Cusack defeated John Vanado, 7-6, 6-4; The Altones defeated Walt Kischard, 6-4, 6-1; Alan Berk defeated Sam Hochberg, 6-4, 6-2; Len Spiner defeated Bob Kunitz, 6-4, 6-1; Renee Wier defeated Charlie Beck, 6-3, 4-6, 4-1; Fred Golonczka defeated Gordon Frieberg, 6-2, 6-1; Dick Healy defeated Charlie Hochberg, 6-1, 6-2; Bill Serner defeated Dick Waldron, 6-2, 7-5; Bob Schwartz won by default from Dan Morrison; Mary Gierovich defeated Andy Torre, 6-2, 6-1; Tony Franco defeated Dick Mallory, 6-2, 6-1; Mary Kay defeated George Hebert, 6-2, 6-1; David Bernier defeated Kurt Adler, 6-1, 6-1.

Don Rivkin defeated Andy Seifman, 6-2, 6-1; Bill Tully defeated Gene Terles, 6-4, 6-1; Ed Cusack defeated John Vanado, 7-6, 6-4; The Altones defeated Walt Kischard, 6-4, 6-1; Alan Berk defeated Sam Hochberg, 6-4, 6-2; Len Spiner defeated Bob Kunitz, 6-4, 6-1; Renee Wier defeated Charlie Beck, 6-3, 4-6, 4-1; Fred Golonczka defeated Gordon Frieberg, 6-2, 6-1; Dick Healy defeated Charlie Hochberg, 6-1, 6-2; Bill Serner defeated Dick Waldron, 6-2, 7-5; Bob Schwartz won by default from Dan Morrison; Mary Gierovich defeated Andy Torre, 6-2, 6-1; Tony Franco defeated Dick Mallory, 6-2, 6-1; Mary Kay defeated George Hebert, 6-2, 6-1; David Bernier defeated Kurt Adler, 6-1, 6-1.

Don Rivkin defeated Andy Seifman, 6-2, 6-1; Bill Tully defeated Gene Terles, 6-4, 6-1; Ed Cusack defeated John Vanado, 7-6, 6-4; The Altones defeated Walt Kischard, 6-4, 6-1; Alan Berk defeated Sam Hochberg, 6-4, 6-2; Len Spiner defeated Bob Kunitz, 6-4, 6-1; Renee Wier defeated Charlie Beck, 6-3, 4-6, 4-1; Fred Golonczka defeated Gordon Frieberg, 6-2, 6-1; Dick Healy defeated Charlie Hochberg, 6-1, 6-2; Bill Serner defeated Dick Waldron, 6-2, 7-5; Bob Schwartz won by default from Dan Morrison; Mary Gierovich defeated Andy Torre, 6-2, 6-1; Tony Franco defeated Dick Mallory, 6-2, 6-1; Mary Kay defeated George Hebert, 6-2, 6-1; David Bernier defeated Kurt Adler, 6-1, 6-1.

Don Rivkin defeated Andy Seifman, 6-2, 6-1; Bill Tully defeated Gene Terles, 6-4, 6-1; Ed Cusack defeated John Vanado, 7-6, 6-4; The Altones defeated Walt Kischard, 6-4, 6-1; Alan Berk defeated Sam Hochberg, 6-4, 6-2; Len Spiner defeated Bob Kunitz, 6-4, 6-1; Renee Wier defeated Charlie Beck, 6-3, 4-6, 4-1; Fred Golonczka defeated Gordon Frieberg, 6-2, 6-1; Dick Healy defeated Charlie Hochberg, 6-1, 6-2; Bill Serner defeated Dick Waldron, 6-2, 7-5; Bob Schwartz won by default from Dan Morrison; Mary Gierovich defeated Andy Torre, 6-2, 6-1; Tony Franco defeated Dick Mallory, 6-2, 6-1; Mary Kay defeated George Hebert, 6-2, 6-1; David Bernier defeated Kurt Adler, 6-1, 6-1.

People in Sports

Namath Loses $2.5 Million Sports Illustrated

Joe Namath, who has grown accustomed to losing in the last several seasons with the Jets, lost again yesterday. His $2.5 million lawsuit against Sports Illustrated, regarding the unauthorized use of his picture in an advertisement, was rebuffed by the New York State Court of Appeals in Albany.

The state's highest court, in a unanimous decision, upheld an Appellate Division ruling that threw out Namath's suit. Namath had charged that the magazine illegally used his picture and an article published in the 1969 Super Bowl game in advertisements promoting subscriptions. The ruling appears to clarify a freedom of the press issue regarding the use of news articles and photos for commercial promotions.

"The language from the Namath advertisements does not indicate plaintiff's endorsement of the magazine," Appellate Division Justice Louis Capozzoli wrote in the earlier opinion that was upheld yesterday. "Had that

been the situation, a completely different issue would have been presented."

Phil Seghi, the general manager of the Cleveland Indians who had complained "about the Prussian-like attitude of some umpires toward our club," called the American League president Lee MacPhail yesterday to discuss the problem in depth.

Noting that the umpiring quartet of Lou DiMuro, Bill Kunkel, Dave Phillips and Rich Garcia had thrown out 12 Indians in the 17 Indian games they have worked this season, Seghi asked MacPhail to keep the four away from the teams.

"We can't alter crew assignments after they go out, and the assignments have been made through July 4," MacPhail said after the conversation.

But the league president said that after July 4, if the Indians still requested that the DiMuro crew be kept away, some arrangement could be made. MacPhail said such an arangement would not be unusual, and that it was "no reflection on the umpires."

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

Local teams made news yesterday as the Rangers signed Jean-Guy Talbot to a two-year contract as assistant coach to John Ferguson. Talbot, 43, formerly coached the St. Louis Blues following a 16-year career as a player in the National Hockey League, during which

A 'Not-So-Tall' Ship Is First At Bermuda

By WILLIAM N. WALLACE

The Tall Ships, which will be on display during the Fourth of July weekend in New York Harbor and at Newport, R.I., the last week of June, are coming closer to the United States each day.

The second of three races across the Atlantic Ocean, from Tenerife in the Canary Islands 2,530 miles to Bermuda, began yesterday with the first vessel reaching Bermuda.

But this was hardly a tall ship. It was a four-year-old 36-foot ketch, the yacht Great Britain II, which sailed faster across the Atlantic Ocean than did such as Krusenstern, the Soviet Union's 378-foot four-masted barque or Juan Sebastian de Elcano, the four-masted topsail 352-foot schooner from Spain.

Great Britain II was in the fleet because entry had not been based on size or antiquity but on qualification as a sail training facility. All the ships are being sailed by cadets and trainees from 16 to 26 years old.

The Sail Training Ships Association numbers 13 of the Dotted line shows race still to be completed

Tall Ships such as the United States Coast Guard Academy's Eagle, 295 feet, and about 60 smaller schooners, brigantines, ketches, yawls and cutters.

Great Britain II proved again that a relatively small, modern yacht sails faster than the giants of another era. The winds were light southerlies and the point of sailing was reaching. So Great Britain II had no use of her advantage over the square riggers, that she can sail closer to the source of the wind than they can.

Her skipper was Capt. Chris Phelan and in her crew of 21 were 17 trainees from the London Sailing Project. Captain Phelan reported that the weather had been "fantastic," although so light the yacht made 100 to 110 miles a day rather than the expected 200.

After finishing at 2:39 yesterday morning the vessel sailed in circles off the island until dawn. Then she came into the harbor at St. George's to a warm welcome headed by the governor, Sir Edwin Leather.

Great Britain II did not necessarily win the race, which is being sailed on handicap in two classes. Those over 100 feet are in Class A, the others Class B. On June 20 the last race to Newport will start. It is a 650-mile event. The ships leave Newport to sail, not race, to New York on July 1.

The Class A ships will sail along the south shore of Long Island rather than in Long Island Sound because they cannot get under the East River's Brooklyn Bridge to reach New York Harbor. But the Class B yachts will sail through the Sound.

Great Britain II belongs to Chay Blyth, a famous British yachtsman. Blyth had expected to be in the 3,000-mile single-handed race from Plymouth, England, to Newport, which began last Saturday with 123 entrants. But his trimaran, Great Britain III, was struck at sea and damaged last month by a German freighter.

The leader as of yesterday was Jean Yves Terlain in Kriter III, a 70-foot catamaran. In second place was the 128-foot schooner, ITT Oceanic, sailed by Yvon Fauconier.

Third was the 236-foot four-masted schooner Club Mediterranee, sailed by Alain Colas. Club Mediterranee cost over $1 million and weighs 250 tons. Colas trims the sails with the help of internal television monitors. The three French yachts that led the fleet were about 600 miles out of England.

There was no word on the Spirit of America, sailed by Michael Kam of Newport Beach, Calif., one of nine Americans in the fleet.

Another Frenchman, Guy Carrou, sailing Karivur, radioed that he was in pain because of a slipped disk. He was taken off the 33½-foot by a French corvette and was automatically disqualified.

There was no report on Eric Tabery, the seasoned French skipper who taught Colas how to sail and won the 1964 single-handed event. Tabery, who is racing a new 73-foot ketch, Pen Duick VI, was leading the race on Monday.

DOG, CATS AND OTHER PETS

DOG, CATS AND OTHER PETS 2998

DOG, CATS AND OTHER PETS 2998

DOG, CATS AND OTHER PETS 2998

"If your floating notes are... ahem. sinking... or, if you're losing interest in other accounts..."

Come to The Greater where we still offer the highest rates permitted by And, under Uncle Sam's protective custody! Our interest doesn't sink... because it doesn't float. It stays right up there the full term. Short, Intermediate or long. And, you can use your Greater savings either as an come or a growth fund. Meaning, you can receive an auto dividend check as you go... even monthly if you like... your money compound to earn these fantastic yields.

So, if your current hindsight is better than your rec foresight, get those underprivileged dollars into the high income bracket... at The Greater.

8.17% is the effective annual yield of 7.75% a year, guaranteed on 6 to 7 year Time Deposit Account, minimum deposit $1,000.

You have other high-yielding accounts to choose from, too. 7.90% annual yield of 7.50% a year guaranteed on 4 to 6 year Time Deposit Account. $1,000 minimum deposit... 7.06% annual yield of 6.75% a year, guaranteed on 2 1/2 to 4 year, Time Deposit Account. $500 minimum deposit... 6.81% annual yield of 6.50% a year, guaranteed on 1 to 2 1/2 year Time Deposit Account. $500 minimum deposit... 6.00% annual yield of 5.75% a year, guaranteed on 6 months to 1 year Time Deposit Account. $500 minimum deposit... and 5.47% annual yield of 5.25% a year (latest dividend) Savings Accounts, Regular or Day of Deposit to Day of Withdrawal.

All savings plans are compounded daily and credited quarterly. Automatic monthly interest or dividend checks available. Write, visit or phone for complete details. All accounts are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to $40,000. Use the coupon below.

Annual yields are only effective when principal and interest are left on deposit for a full year. Federal regulations permit withdrawals from Time Deposit Accounts before maturity with the rate of interest on drawn is reduced from the date of inception Deposit Account to the Regular Savings effect at the time of withdrawal and interest is forfeited. On Regular and Day Day of Withdrawal Savings Accounts, an effective when principal and dividends a post to the end of the annual period. The Bank reserves the right to withdraw offerings without notice.

The Greater New York Savings Bank, 222 Station Plaza North, Mineola, N.Y. 11501

I enclose $_____ for deposit, or, I enclose the filled out transfer form attached. I want to open the following type of account: 7.75% a year Time Deposit Account. 6 years, 6 years. Minimum $1,000. Other account, indicate type, rate and term. Please check one: Individual Joint Account with Trust Account for Send information on monthly dividend checks Signatures: _____ Soc. Sec. No. _____ Print Name _____ Address _____ City _____ State _____ Zip _____ A/P. No. _____ Tel. No. _____ If you send cash, use Registered Mail. Visit, phone or write for details. 212-752-5900

The Greater NEW YORK SAVINGS BANK MEMBER FDIC

In Brooklyn: 5th Avenue, 9th and 10th Streets, 1121

kin Gam West

هكذا من الأصل

Yankees Knicks Pick 6-8 Shelton; And Ellis Triumph

By SAM GOLDAPER
The Knicks, who illegally signed George McGinnis last summer and paid for it yesterday by giving up their first-round selection in the National Basketball Association college draft, may have involved themselves in another legal entanglement.

Scoring three runs in the first inning, the Yankees went on to defeat the California Angels here last night, 4-2. Dock Ellis, who had lost four straight games, pitched a five-hitter in a return to form for his fifth victory. Greig Nettles drove his fifth homer of the season in the seventh inning.

In the first, Chris Chambliss tripled home two more runs and scored on Nettles' single.

Ellis took care of the rest, pitching the victory in the rapid time of 1 hour 49 minutes.

Tommy Davis, who had expected to arrive at Yankee Stadium nearly two months ago as the Yankees' designated hitter, finally reached the park last night—as the Angels' designated hitter.

Davis, who was born in Brooklyn 37 years ago, was released by the Yankees the last day of spring training. Eight weeks later, as he was about to become the national promotions man for Casablanca Records of Los Angeles, the Angels called him out of desperation and signed him.

Instead of promoting the latest records of Kiss and Donna Summer and The Parliament, Davis singled and scored a run in three times at bat.

His walk in the sixth put the Angels in position to score their second run. In five games as a dh, he has a 6-for-17 record and a .353 average, with one homer and five runs batted in. In his first time at bat after his eight-week layoff, he snapped an eighth-inning, 2-2 tie last Wednesday night with a pinch two-run single.

Davis became an Angel because the team needed someone like him to provide some punch for its offense. The offense had been visible only through special glasses, like the ones used for 3-D movies.

"I saw him take five swings in a workout," Manager Dick Williams said before the game. "and I knew he could help us."

The Yankees thought he could help them when they signed him as a free agent last February. They were his ninth major league team in a career that dated to 1959, which included two consecutive National League batting championships. But the Yankees did not keep him long.

"I don't want to get into court at 11 this morning. Little Dick lost his first service game but was never headed thereafter, beating the brilliant Pole with the accuracy of his ground game and the most positive of his many virtues, patience."

Just on occasion the American thinks he should go to the net, a sort of vacation trip perhaps half a dozen times a match. He missed three volleys and was passed twice, but when it counted most, on match point, he pounded up to put a forehand volley away, winning by 7-6, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4.

"I played exceptionally well," said Dibbs. "I got on top quickly. Fibak had a tough time volleying, but my ground strokes are hard and force errors."

Dibbs, who ranks eighth on the money list this year, faces Orn Orantes next. Dibbs beat him 6-1, in the fifth set recently to take the West German title for the third time.

A year ago in the fourth round here, Harold Solomon won from Brian Gottfried in five sets. This year he did it in four, 1-6, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2. Gottfried led, 5-4, and 30-15, in the second, serving for the set. An error, a double fault

Continued on Page 47, Column 5

By SAM GOLDAPER

The Knicks, who illegally signed George McGinnis last summer and paid for it yesterday by giving up their first-round selection in the National Basketball Association college draft, may have involved themselves in another legal entanglement.

Selecting 25th, and with most of the outstanding players already chosen, the Knicks, in a surprising move, picked Lonnie Shelton, the 6-foot-8-inch, 245-pound strongman who is under contract to Utah, formerly the Spirit of St. Louis of the American Basketball Association.

Shelton, who never played with the St. Louis franchise, is contesting the contract in a $12 million lawsuit against the league and Ron Grinker, his former agent. He has claimed he was coerced into signing the contract.

The Houston Rockets, who had the first pick in the 10-round draft, in which 173 players were selected, announced that they had signed John Lucas of Maryland to a five-year contract.

Before the start of the draft, Marques Johnson of the University of California, Los Angeles, a certain high first-round choice, withdrew. The signing of Lucas, plus the withdrawal of Johnson, altered the pattern of the draft.

The Chicago Bulls, as expected, used the second pick in the draft for Scott May, the player of the year. The 6-7 May was one of the three Indiana University players taken on the first round. The Milwaukee Bucks chose Quion Buckner, the guard from the team that won the National-Collegiate championship, as the seventh pick and the Seattle SuperSonics took Bob Wilkerson fourth picks later.

The Kansas City Kings, picking third, took 6-10 Richard Washington of U.C.L.A. The other first-round selections were: Detroit, Leon Douglas of Alabama; Portland, Eddie Donovan, Dick McGuire and Dick Earnest.

Continued on Page 46, Column 6

The Knicks' board of strategy, from the left: Frank Blauschild, at the desk in the foreground; Mike Burke, Red Holzman, Eddie Donovan, Dick McGuire and Dick Earnest.

Boisclair Makes Hit as Met

By PAUL L. MONTGOMERY
Special to The New York Times

SAN DIEGO, June 8—Bruce Boisclair of the Mets is a novice at pinch-hitting and a novice at facing National League pitching, but he thinks the newness is working to his advantage in his rookie season.

"A lot of these teams don't know me," said Boisclair. "They take a look at me (6 feet 2 inches, 190 pounds) and they think I'm a power hitter with no speed. If they don't know me, I'll try to surprise them."

The rookie outfielder's strategy has had marked success so far this season. He got another pinch hit last night in the Mets' 5-1 loss to the Padres, only one of four hits the New Yorkers managed off the varied deliveries of Alan Foster.

The hit was Boisclair's eighth in 11 attempts as a pinch-hitter this season. It was also his eighth hit in his last 12 times at bat, raising his average for the season to .377.

"This is the first season I've pinch hit more than five times in the year," said Boisclair, who spent the last three years as a regular outfielder at Tidewater in the International League. He was acquired by the Mets in the 1970 free-agent draft and has been working his way up through the minors since. He batted .278 with four home runs and 21 stolen bases last year.

Of the 23-year-old's 20 hits this year, 16 have been singles and four have been doubles. Two of his eight pinch hits have come on home runs. "I'm not a power hitter," Boisclair said. "Not yet. But I guess some of the teams think I am. Usually the third baseman is at least even with the bag, maybe even farther back."

His hitting this year has been something of a surprise to the Mets as well as the other teams. When he made the team in spring training, primarily because of an injury to Mike Vail, his primary use was expected to be as a defensive replacement in the outfield in the late innings.

Last night, Boisclair bunted foul on the first pitch and was 10 feet in front of a slow curve on the second. "I don't expect slow stuff when I go up to the plate," the rookie said. "Most pitchers know you're cold coming off the bench and they try to hush you inside most of the time."

After taking a ball, Boisclair, a left-handed batter, waited on Foster's next curve and stung it to right field for the hit.

The one problem he has had in his rookie year is getting acceptable pronunciation of his name. He prefers was also his eighth hit in his last 12 times at bat, raising his average for the season to .377.

Continued on Page 47, Column 4

"This is the first season I've pinch hit more than five times in the year," said Boisclair, who spent the last three years as a regular outfielder at Tidewater in the International League. He was acquired by the Mets in the 1970 free-agent draft and has been working his way up through the minors since. He batted .278 with four home runs and 21 stolen bases last year.

Of the 23-year-old's 20 hits this year, 16 have been singles and four have been doubles. Two of his eight pinch hits have come on home runs. "I'm not a power hitter," Boisclair said. "Not yet. But I guess some of the teams think I am. Usually the third baseman is at least even with the bag, maybe even farther back."

His hitting this year has been something of a surprise to the Mets as well as the other teams. When he made the team in spring training, primarily because of an injury to Mike Vail, his primary use was expected to be as a defensive replacement in the outfield in the late innings.

Last night, Boisclair bunted foul on the first pitch and was 10 feet in front of a slow curve on the second. "I don't expect slow stuff when I go up to the plate," the rookie said. "Most pitchers know you're cold coming off the bench and they try to hush you inside most of the time."

After taking a ball, Boisclair, a left-handed batter, waited on Foster's next curve and stung it to right field for the hit.

The one problem he has had in his rookie year is getting acceptable pronunciation of his name. He prefers

Continued on Page 47, Column 4

Orioles Draft Local Player

By MICHAEL KATZ

Dallas Williams, who will bat third and play center field today at Yankee Stadium, knew where to spend his lunch period yesterday at Lincoln High School.

"When I got to Coach Maloof's office he was on the phone with the Orioles," said the Brooklyn school's leading pitcher and only 492 hitter.

Five minutes later, the 18-year-old outfielder-pitcher was on Joe Maloof's phone, calling his mother in Coney Island with the news that he was the only local player taken yesterday in the first round of major league baseball's 12th June free-agent player draft.

While Williams will be deciding soon on whether to sign with Baltimore or go to college, the first player of the '76 expected to be chosen over the telephones at Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office in two or three days, was choosing between the major leagues and the minors. And

Floyd Bannister, a left-handed pitcher from Arizona State University selected by the Houston Astros, seemed to be leaning toward the minors.

Bannister, who has a 37-5 won-lost record to three years at Temple, including an 18-1 mark so far this season, is ready to pitch in the majors right now, according to his coach, Jim Brock.

But Bannister, whom the Yankees' coordinator of player development and scouting, Pat Gillick, described as "probably the closest player in the draft to the majors," said he would rather begin his professional career in the minors.

"I've seen too many cases of people starting out in the big leagues and it hurting them," said Bannister, who will be 21 years old tomorrow. "I'd like to start off low and build up my confidence."

The Astros, who earned the No. 1 pick by having the worst record in the National League last season, will probably oblige Bannister with a minor league berth. But Brock also said his ace pitcher "could be the first free calling his mother in Coney Island with the news that he was the only local player taken yesterday in the first round of major league baseball's 12th June free-agent player draft.

Continued on Page 47, Column 5

While Williams will be deciding soon on whether to sign with Baltimore or go to college, the first player of the '76 expected to be chosen over the telephones at Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office in two or three days, was choosing between the major leagues and the minors. And

Floyd Bannister, a left-handed pitcher from Arizona State University selected by the Houston Astros, seemed to be leaning toward the minors.

Bannister, who has a 37-5 won-lost record to three years at Temple, including an 18-1 mark so far this season, is ready to pitch in the majors right now, according to his coach, Jim Brock.

But Bannister, whom the Yankees' coordinator of player development and scouting, Pat Gillick, described as "probably the closest player in the draft to the majors," said he would rather begin his professional career in the minors.

"I've seen too many cases of people starting out in the big leagues and it hurting them," said Bannister, who will be 21 years old tomorrow. "I'd like to start off low and build up my confidence."

The Astros, who earned the No. 1 pick by having the worst record in the National League last season, will probably oblige Bannister with a minor league berth. But Brock also said his ace pitcher "could be the first free

Continued on Page 47, Column 5

Smith And Treat Those Two Imposters...

her thing I've learned," George Foreman said, and triumph you gotta take 'em both the same way're both imposters."

a guy said, "you've been reading Kipling."

George Foreman said, pleased to be caught at a pursuist.

Foreman has known triumph and defeat, if not he was an undefeated fighter with an Olympic gold medal in January 1973 when he knocked Joe Frazier in the first round of the heavyweight championship of the world. He was confused, frustrated, demoralized in the fall of 1974 when Muhammad Ali stopped him and took his title away. Now he is getting ready for his second go-round with Frazier, a rematch men see as a way station on the road to another world championship. They meet next Tuesday night at the MGM Grand in Las Vegas.

Thunder and Lightning to have fun, George said, that he is giving away $200 tickets to the fight to the best hecklers at the MGM. "This is the second time around with Frazier, and I want to have fun and I want the hecklers to have fun. You have to remember this is a boxing match, an international wide-known and appreciated promotion and Gil Chancy, Foreman's manager, at George pay for the tickets, and yesterday he had three. First he handed a pair to two young boys who had hooted while he was doing six perfunctory chummy rounds of sparring with three partners, third young man displayed a big color print of him and Foreman out. "Watch this nut," George said, the young man into the ring, and when the guy played the picture again he got a ticket.

ey, say some horrible things, man," Foreman said to his dressing room: "Yesterday they really hurt my feelings. 'Hey, George, somebody yelled, 'what color gloves you gonna wear? Pink? I got to maintain my cool."

Somebody asked the purpose of his grotesque gavotte with Cookie Wallace, Bob Stallings and Scrap Iron Johnson, all of whom pulled their punches as conscientiously as George pulled his. The exercise in pacifism gave him just enough exercise so that sweat began to mottle the gray longjohns he wore under his trunks. He put in an extended session on the big bag—"four rounds," Clancy said, "but the last was an eight-minute round."

"I wanted to save myself to work on the bag," Foreman said. "I did just enough in the ring so my trainer could see I was making the moves, putting it together, without hitting the other guys so they'd run out. I love the bag. It's the bag that brings thunder and lightning to heart."

"Anything He Can Do—" Somebody asked whether he worried about Frazier, and his reply came instantly. "Of course. And every day I get a little edgier. What do I worry about? I really don't know, but each day that gets it gets a little worse until I want to say 'Come on! Get it over with! Yes, it happens every fight. Almost every. A couple of times I went in and I was scared because I wasn't nervous. 'Gotta hurry and get some butterflies,' I thought."

In his first round of "sparring," Foreman had practiced showing Cookie Wallace away from him, holding him off with both hands, as he had done with Frazier until, as Joe persistently waded in, George nailed him. Joe has always fought like that, boring in and "smoking," as he calls it. Does Foreman believe Frazier can change his style this time?

"I have to make him do what I want," George said. "He's not stupid enough to walk on in there and have disrespect for George Foreman. He's not the kind of fighter who's got the ability to change his whole style into a boxer, being his arms aren't that long. If I can interrupt his rhythm before I knock him out—"

"I work harder," he do, I run farther," he do. I chop more wood than he chop. I run miles and box more. I hit harder. I can do anything he do, and do it better."

Ashe Wins 2 Sets, Then Falls to Taroczy

By FRED TUPPER

PARIS, June 8 — Arthur Ashe, the world's No. 1 player, was beaten by his former hall boy and a pair of clay-court experts Eddie Dibbs and Harold Solomon, reached the quarterfinal of the $210,000 French open tennis championships tonight. Kathy Ryan, the last American woman in the tournament, was ousted.

Ashe won the United States clay-court title in 1967 and minor tournaments on clay in Washington and Louisville since, but it's a game with familiar, some say, he is up a lot of junk today, including a high loft one straight down the middle, but once 22-year-old Balazs Taroczy got his serving range, it became a question of time.

After three hours, the Hungarian economics student had won, leaping the net in delight after a final service ace. The scores were 5-7, 2-6, 6-4, 6-0, 6-4.

"The junk was working for a while," said Ashe, "then he got used to it. It's embarrassing at my age that I didn't know what to do, and then he didn't miss a ball."

Ball Boy in Budapest Taroczy, a name not yet familiar in any living room, was Ashe's ball boy in Budapest at the age of 9. And he has followed the American's career long enough to know "that oo clay he is over in top form. He tries to hit his forehand too hard."

The Hungarian seemed overawed in the first two sets, but the change came when he broke a racquet string in the third set. "I felt I could win then," he said later. From the eighth game of that set on, he never lost service.

Little known in America, Taroczy beat Jan Kodeš on Sunday and holds victories over Manuel Orantes and Adriano Panatta. Raul Ramirez is his next opponent. The Mexican knocked off Bernie Mignot of Belgium with the loss of four games, 6-2, 6-1, 6-1.

Dibbs and Wojtek Fibak won a set apiece last night, blacked out by that one-hour miracle match between Bjorn Borg and Francois Jauffret, and were back twice, but when it counted most, on match point, he pounded up to put a forehand volley away, winning by 7-6, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4.

Continued on Page 47, Column 5

"I played exceptionally well," said Dibbs. "I got on top quickly. Fibak had a tough time volleying, but my ground strokes are hard and force errors."

Dibbs, who ranks eighth on the money list this year, faces Orn Orantes next. Dibbs beat him 6-1, in the fifth set recently to take the West German title for the third time.

A year ago in the fourth round here, Harold Solomon won from Brian Gottfried in five sets. This year he did it in four, 1-6, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2. Gottfried led, 5-4, and 30-15, in the second, serving for the set. An error, a double fault

Continued on Page 46, Column 6

Decisions...decisions...Make your decision

PALL MALL

FAMOUS CIGARETTES

PALL MALL GOLD 100's. The great taste of fine Pall Mall tobaccos. Not too strong, not too light. Not too long. Tastes just right.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

18 mg. "tar," 1.4 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette. FTC Report Apr. 76.

g notes are... if you're losing counts...

8.1
7.7

Great

Speedy Marsha Taroczy Wins Sire Trot Upsets Ashe

By MICHAEL STRAUSS
Special to The New York Times

WESTBURY, L.I., June 8—Meadows Image, a 3-year-old trotting filly who had earnings of only $638 from two previous career starts, enabled her owners, George and Helen Kessler of Holland Patent, N.Y., to acquire a windfall tonight.

The inexperienced daughter of Square Deal won a purse of $22,103 by winning the second of the New York Sire Stakes events that preceded the regular program at Roosevelt Raceway. Amroc Stables Speedy Marsha earned an equal sum by capturing the first event.

Originally, tonight's Sire Stakes—open only to New York-bred 3-year-olds—was listed as one event that offered $58,410, but, when the racing secretary, Lawrence Mallory, found an entry box contained the names of 18 fillies, he had no choice, but to divide the entry and the purse.

There was only a handful of spectators in the stands to view the two non-betting events, each worth $44,205, even though the richest race on the regular program was worth only $7,500.

"These races for New York-bred horses have become familiar to our state's racing scene," explained Mallory. "The big purses result mostly from betting breakage as permitted by the permanent law."

Mallory was asked why, in view of their monetary value, the two races had been scheduled before the regular program.

"That's an easy one to answer," he replied. "Management feels the form shown by some horses entered in New York Sire Stakes is too erratic to have them included in regular wagering races. We feel that to do so would be unfair to the public."

An increasing number of pacers and trotters that have become nationally prominent have been emerging from this New York stakes program. It was introduced about a decade ago to increase breeding operations in the state.

The biggest stir to be foaled so far is Silk Stockings, owned by Claire Ann and Ken Mazik of Bear, Del. This superb daughter of Most Happy Fella had a sparkling season last year as a 3-year-old. She won $36,312 and posted a sizzling record of 1:55.2.

In taking the second of the evening's two early stakes events, Meadows Image was kept off the pace for almost the entire distance. William Morrow finally put his filly under urging in the stretch to beat Lucky Lady Kash by 1 1/2 lengths with a clocking of 2:07.

Speedy Marsha, driven by Joe Falardo, came home faster in capturing the opener, beating Breakaway Lady by a half length in a mile dash that was timed in 2:06. The successful daughter of Speedy Slew, after taking the lead approaching the far turn the second time, retained it for the rest of the journey.

Continued From Page 45

and a Solomon forehead pass put them at 5-all and little Harold took the set.

There was little trouble thereafter. Gottfried kept rushing the net and the passing shots sid by him. The crusher was a Solomon ace down the middle.

"If I can get by [Guillermo] Vilas," he said, "I've got a good chance to reach the final." The Argentine eliminated Conrado Barzanti, 6-2, 6-2, 6-3.

Miss Masthoff loses Helga Masthoff won the British hard-court crown this year and was seeded second here, but the West German fell victim today to the Eastern European onslaught, headed by Renata Tomanova, the Czechoslovakia No. 1.

Miss Tomanova, who won the German title a year ago, hits topspin off both wings, a clay-court asset. She led 6-2, 4-0, before the German stirred herself. Miss Masthoff got back to 3-4 with effort, but then set and match went away at 6-4.

Miss Kuykendall lost to Florence Mihal, the three-ranked Rumanian. Running for everything, Miss Mihal took the first set, 6-2, and then was blanked at 6-0 by the Miamian's deft touch on the drop shot.

"My concentration went," she said later, "and she caught me off balance." The third set went quickly. The Rumanian had Miss Kuykendall swinging from side to side like a pendulum and always had the speed and pace to beat her, taking the match, 6-2, 6-4, 6-1.

Newcombe, Stockton England, June 8 (UPI)—John Newcombe of Australia and Dick Stockton of the United States were beaten and Jimmy Connors won today in the Beckenham Robertson grass-court tennis tournament.

Newcombe arrived from competing in the French championships and was promptly ousted by Russell Simpson of New Zealand, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2. Stockton lost to Charlie Passarel of Puerto Rico, 6-4, 6-2.

Connors defeated 21-year-old Peter Fleming of Chatham, N.J., 8-6, 6-3. Tom Gorman beat Erik Van Dillen, 6-2, 6-3, in another all-American second-round match, and Roscoe Tanner ousted a fellow American, John Holladay, 6-3, 6-4. Raz Reid was a 6-1, 2-6, 6-3 winner over Ray Moore of South Africa.

In women's play, Billie Norton, the Connecticut teenager, beat Veronica Burton, 6-1, 6-3, in a first-round match and Sharon Walsh won her second-round match, rallying to overtake Sue Simmonds of England, 0-6, 6-4, 6-4. Patti Hogan of La Jolla, Calif., won her second-round match, dowering Miami Wikstedt of Sweden, 6-1, 6-3.

Stan Smith of greenville, S.C., 6-2, 6-1, but Sammy Meyers of Manhattan, N.Y., dropped a 6-5, 6-4 match to Bob Carmichael of Australia.

Finger Lakes Results
FIRST—11:00, d. 3YO and up, 5F.
1. (10) 4:00 4:00
2. (10) 4:00 4:00
3. (10) 4:00 4:00
4. (10) 4:00 4:00
5. (10) 4:00 4:00
6. (10) 4:00 4:00
7. (10) 4:00 4:00
8. (10) 4:00 4:00
9. (10) 4:00 4:00
10. (10) 4:00 4:00
11. (10) 4:00 4:00
12. (10) 4:00 4:00
13. (10) 4:00 4:00
14. (10) 4:00 4:00
15. (10) 4:00 4:00
16. (10) 4:00 4:00
17. (10) 4:00 4:00
18. (10) 4:00 4:00
19. (10) 4:00 4:00
20. (10) 4:00 4:00
21. (10) 4:00 4:00
22. (10) 4:00 4:00
23. (10) 4:00 4:00
24. (10) 4:00 4:00
25. (10) 4:00 4:00
26. (10) 4:00 4:00
27. (10) 4:00 4:00
28. (10) 4:00 4:00
29. (10) 4:00 4:00
30. (10) 4:00 4:00
31. (10) 4:00 4:00
32. (10) 4:00 4:00
33. (10) 4:00 4:00
34. (10) 4:00 4:00
35. (10) 4:00 4:00
36. (10) 4:00 4:00
37. (10) 4:00 4:00
38. (10) 4:00 4:00
39. (10) 4:00 4:00
40. (10) 4:00 4:00
41. (10) 4:00 4:00
42. (10) 4:00 4:00
43. (10) 4:00 4:00
44. (10) 4:00 4:00
45. (10) 4:00 4:00
46. (10) 4:00 4:00
47. (10) 4:00 4:00
48. (10) 4:00 4:00
49. (10) 4:00 4:00
50. (10) 4:00 4:00
51. (10) 4:00 4:00
52. (10) 4:00 4:00
53. (10) 4:00 4:00
54. (10) 4:00 4:00
55. (10) 4:00 4:00
56. (10) 4:00 4:00
57. (10) 4:00 4:00
58. (10) 4:00 4:00
59. (10) 4:00 4:00
60. (10) 4:00 4:00
61. (10) 4:00 4:00
62. (10) 4:00 4:00
63. (10) 4:00 4:00
64. (10) 4:00 4:00
65. (10) 4:00 4:00
66. (10) 4:00 4:00
67. (10) 4:00 4:00
68. (10) 4:00 4:00
69. (10) 4:00 4:00
70. (10) 4:00 4:00
71. (10) 4:00 4:00
72. (10) 4:00 4:00
73. (10) 4:00 4:00
74. (10) 4:00 4:00
75. (10) 4:00 4:00
76. (10) 4:00 4:00
77. (10) 4:00 4:00
78. (10) 4:00 4:00
79. (10) 4:00 4:00
80. (10) 4:00 4:00
81. (10) 4:00 4:00
82. (10) 4:00 4:00
83. (10) 4:00 4:00
84. (10) 4:00 4:00
85. (10) 4:00 4:00
86. (10) 4:00 4:00
87. (10) 4:00 4:00
88. (10) 4:00 4:00
89. (10) 4:00 4:00
90. (10) 4:00 4:00
91. (10) 4:00 4:00
92. (10) 4:00 4:00
93. (10) 4:00 4:00
94. (10) 4:00 4:00
95. (10) 4:00 4:00
96. (10) 4:00 4:00
97. (10) 4:00 4:00
98. (10) 4:00 4:00
99. (10) 4:00 4:00
100. (10) 4:00 4:00
101. (10) 4:00 4:00
102. (10) 4:00 4:00
103. (10) 4:00 4:00
104. (10) 4:00 4:00
105. (10) 4:00 4:00
106. (10) 4:00 4:00
107. (10) 4:00 4:00
108. (10) 4:00 4:00
109. (10) 4:00 4:00
110. (10) 4:00 4:00
111. (10) 4:00 4:00
112. (10) 4:00 4:00
113. (10) 4:00 4:00
114. (10) 4:00 4:00
115. (10) 4:00 4:00
116. (10) 4:00 4:00
117. (10) 4:00 4:00
118. (10) 4:00 4:00
119. (10) 4:00 4:00
120. (10) 4:00 4:00
121. (10) 4:00 4:00
122. (10) 4:00 4:00
123. (10) 4:00 4:00
124. (10) 4:00 4:00
125. (10) 4:00 4:00
126. (10) 4:00 4:00
127. (10) 4:00 4:00
128. (10) 4:00 4:00
129. (10) 4:00 4:00
130. (10) 4:00 4:00
131. (10) 4:00 4:00
132. (10) 4:00 4:00
133. (10) 4:00 4:00
134. (10) 4:00 4:00
135. (10) 4:00 4:00
136. (10) 4:00 4:00
137. (10) 4:00 4:00
138. (10) 4:00 4:00
139. (10) 4:00 4:00
140. (10) 4:00 4:00
141. (10) 4:00 4:00
142. (10) 4:00 4:00
143. (10) 4:00 4:00
144. (10) 4:00 4:00
145. (10) 4:00 4:00
146. (10) 4:00 4:00
147. (10) 4:00 4:00
148. (10) 4:00 4:00
149. (10) 4:00 4:00
150. (10) 4:00 4:00
151. (10) 4:00 4:00
152. (10) 4:00 4:00
153. (10) 4:00 4:00
154. (10) 4:00 4:00
155. (10) 4:00 4:00
156. (10) 4:00 4:00
157. (10) 4:00 4:00
158. (10) 4:00 4:00
159. (10) 4:00 4:00
160. (10) 4:00 4:00
161. (10) 4:00 4:00
162. (10) 4:00 4:00
163. (10) 4:00 4:00
164. (10) 4:00 4:00
165. (10) 4:00 4:00
166. (10) 4:00 4:00
167. (10) 4:00 4:00
168. (10) 4:00 4:00
169. (10) 4:00 4:00
170. (10) 4:00 4:00
171. (10) 4:00 4:00
172. (10) 4:00 4:00
173. (10) 4:00 4:00
174. (10) 4:00 4:00
175. (10) 4:00 4:00
176. (10) 4:00 4:00
177. (10) 4:00 4:00
178. (10) 4:00 4:00
179. (10) 4:00 4:00
180. (10) 4:00 4:00
181. (10) 4:00 4:00
182. (10) 4:00 4:00
183. (10) 4:00 4:00
184. (10) 4:00 4:00
185. (10) 4:00 4:00
186. (10) 4:00 4:00
187. (10) 4:00 4:00
188. (10) 4:00 4:00
189. (10) 4:00 4:00
190. (10) 4:00 4:00
191. (10) 4:00 4:00
192. (10) 4:00 4:00
193. (10) 4:00 4:00
194. (10) 4:00 4:00
195. (10) 4:00 4:00
196. (10) 4:00 4:00
197. (10) 4:00 4:00
198. (10) 4:00 4:00
199. (10) 4:00 4:00
200. (10) 4:00 4:00
201. (10) 4:00 4:00
202. (10) 4:00 4:00
203. (10) 4:00 4:00
204. (10) 4:00 4:00
205. (10) 4:00 4:00
206. (10) 4:00 4:00
207. (10) 4:00 4:00
208. (10) 4:00 4:00
209. (10) 4:00 4:00
210. (10) 4:00 4:00
211. (10) 4:00 4:00
212. (10) 4:00 4:00
213. (10) 4:00 4:00
214. (10) 4:00 4:00
215. (10) 4:00 4:00
216. (10) 4:00 4:00
217. (10) 4:00 4:00
218. (10) 4:00 4:00
219. (10) 4:00 4:00
220. (10) 4:00 4:00
221. (10) 4:00 4:00
222. (10) 4:00 4:00
223. (10) 4:00 4:00
224. (10) 4:00 4:00
225. (10) 4:00 4:00
226. (10) 4:00 4:00
227. (10) 4:00 4:00
228. (10) 4:00 4:00
229. (10) 4:00 4:00
230. (10) 4:00 4:00
231. (10) 4:00 4:00
232. (10) 4:00 4:00
233. (10) 4:00 4:00
234. (10) 4:00 4:00
235. (10) 4:00 4:00
236. (10) 4:00 4:00
237. (10) 4:00 4:00
238. (10) 4:00 4:00
239. (10) 4:00 4:00
240. (10) 4:00 4:00
241. (10) 4:00 4:00
242. (10) 4:00 4:00
243. (10) 4:00 4:00
244. (10) 4:00 4:00
245. (10) 4:00 4:00
246. (10) 4:00 4:00
247. (10) 4:00 4:00
248. (10) 4:00 4:00
249. (10) 4:00 4:00
250. (10) 4:00 4:00
251. (10) 4:00 4:00
252. (10) 4:00 4:00
253. (10) 4:00 4:00
254. (10) 4:00 4:00
255. (10) 4:00 4:00
256. (10) 4:00 4:00
257. (10) 4:00 4:00
258. (10) 4:00 4:00
259. (10) 4:00 4:00
260. (10) 4:00 4:00
261. (10) 4:00 4:00
262. (10) 4:00 4:00
263. (10) 4:00 4:00
264. (10) 4:00 4:00
265. (10) 4:00 4:00
266. (10) 4:00 4:00
267. (10) 4:00 4:00
268. (10) 4:00 4:00
269. (10) 4:00 4:00
270. (10) 4:00 4:00
271. (10) 4:00 4:00
272. (10) 4:00 4:00
273. (10) 4:00 4:00
274. (10) 4:00 4:00
275. (10) 4:00 4:00
276. (10) 4:00 4:00
277. (10) 4:00 4:00
278. (10) 4:00 4:00
279. (10) 4:00 4:00
280. (10) 4:00 4:00
281. (10) 4:00 4:00
282. (10) 4:00 4:00
283. (10) 4:00 4:00
284. (10) 4:00 4:00
285. (10) 4:00 4:00
286. (10) 4:00 4:00
287. (10) 4:00 4:00
288. (10) 4:00 4:00
289. (10) 4:00 4:00
290. (10) 4:00 4:00
291. (10) 4:00 4:00
292. (10) 4:00 4:00
293. (10) 4:00 4:00
294. (10) 4:00 4:00
295. (10) 4:00 4:00
296. (10) 4:00 4:00
297. (10) 4:00 4:00
298. (10) 4:00 4:00
299. (10) 4:00 4:00
300. (10) 4:00 4:00
301. (10) 4:00 4:00
302. (10) 4:00 4:00
303. (10) 4:00 4:00
304. (10) 4:00 4:00
305. (10) 4:00 4:00
306. (10) 4:00 4:00
307. (10) 4:00 4:00
308. (10) 4:00 4:00
309. (10) 4:00 4:00
310. (10) 4:00 4:00
311. (10) 4:00 4:00
312. (10) 4:00 4:00
313. (10) 4:00 4:00
314. (10) 4:00 4:00
315. (10) 4:00 4:00
316. (10) 4:00 4:00
317. (10) 4:00 4:00
318. (10) 4:00 4:00
319. (10) 4:00 4:00
320. (10) 4:00 4:00
321. (10) 4:00 4:00
322. (10) 4:00 4:00
323. (10) 4:00 4:00
324. (10) 4:00 4:00
325. (10) 4:00 4:00
326. (10) 4:00 4:00
327. (10) 4:00 4:00
328. (10) 4:00 4:00
329. (10) 4:00 4:00
330. (10) 4:00 4:00
331. (10) 4:00 4:00
332. (10) 4:00 4:00
333. (10) 4:00 4:00
334. (10) 4:00 4:00
335. (10) 4:00 4:00
336. (10) 4:00 4:00
337. (10) 4:00 4:00
338. (10) 4:00 4:00
339. (10) 4:00 4:00
340. (10) 4:00 4:00
341. (10) 4:00 4:00
342. (10) 4:00 4:00
343. (10) 4:00 4:00
344. (10) 4:00 4:00
345. (10) 4:00 4:00
346. (10) 4:00 4:00
347. (10) 4:00 4:00
348. (10) 4:00 4:00
349. (10) 4:00 4:00
350. (10) 4:00 4:00
351. (10) 4:00 4:00
352. (10) 4:00 4:00
353. (10) 4:00 4:00
354. (10) 4:00 4:00
355. (10) 4:00 4:00
356. (10) 4:00 4:00
357. (10) 4:00 4:00
358. (10) 4:00 4:00
359. (10) 4:00 4:00
360. (10) 4:00 4:00
361. (10) 4:00 4:00
362. (10) 4:00 4:00
363. (10) 4:00 4:00
364. (10) 4:00 4:00
365. (10) 4:00 4:00
366. (10) 4:00 4:00
367. (10) 4:00 4:00
368. (10) 4:00 4:00
369. (10) 4:00 4:00
370. (10) 4:00 4:00
371. (10) 4:00 4:00
372. (10) 4:00 4:00
373. (10) 4:00 4:00
374. (10) 4:00 4:00
375. (10) 4:00 4:00
376. (10) 4:00 4:00
377. (10) 4:00 4:00
378. (10) 4:00 4:00
379. (10) 4:00 4:00
380. (10) 4:00 4:00
381. (10) 4:00 4:00
382. (10) 4:00 4:00
383. (10) 4:00 4:00
384. (10) 4:00 4:00
385. (10) 4:00 4:00
386. (10) 4:00 4:00
387. (10) 4:00 4:00
388. (10) 4:00 4:00
389. (10) 4:00 4:00
390. (10) 4:00 4:00
391. (10) 4:00 4:00
392. (10) 4:00 4:00
393. (10) 4:00 4:00
394. (10) 4:00 4:00
395. (10) 4:00 4:00
396. (10) 4:00 4:00
397. (10) 4:00 4:00
398. (10) 4:00 4:00
399. (10) 4:00 4:00
400. (10) 4:00 4:00
401. (10) 4:00 4:00
402. (10) 4:00 4:00
403. (10) 4:00 4:00
404. (10) 4:00 4:00
405. (10) 4:00 4:00
406. (10) 4:00 4:00
407. (10) 4:00 4:00
408. (10) 4:00 4:00
409. (10) 4:00 4:00
410. (10) 4:00 4:00
411. (10) 4:00 4:00
412. (10) 4:00 4:00
413. (10) 4:00 4:00
414. (10) 4:00 4:00
415. (10) 4:00 4:00
416. (10) 4:00 4:00
417. (10) 4:00 4:00
418. (10) 4:00 4:00
419. (10) 4:00 4:00
420. (10) 4:00 4:00
421. (10) 4:00 4:00
422. (10) 4:00 4:00
423. (10) 4:00 4:00
424. (10) 4:00 4:00
425. (10) 4:00 4:00
426. (10) 4:00 4:00
427. (10) 4:00 4:00
428. (10) 4:00 4:00
429. (10) 4:00 4:00
430. (10) 4:00 4:00
431. (10) 4:00 4:00
432. (10) 4:00 4:00
433. (10) 4:00 4:00
434. (10) 4:00 4:00
435. (10) 4:00 4:00
436. (10) 4:00 4:00
437. (10) 4:00 4:00
438. (10) 4:00 4:00
439. (10) 4:00 4:00
440. (10) 4:00 4:00
441. (10) 4:00 4:00
442. (10) 4:00 4:00
443. (10) 4:00 4:00
444. (10) 4:00 4:00
445. (10) 4:00 4:00
446. (10) 4:00 4:00
447. (10) 4:00 4:00
448. (10) 4:00 4:00
449. (10) 4:00 4:00
450. (10) 4:00 4:00
451. (10) 4:00 4:00
452. (10) 4:00 4:00
453. (10) 4:00 4:00
454. (10) 4:00 4:00
455. (10) 4:00 4:00
456. (10) 4:00 4:00
457. (10) 4:00 4:00
458. (10) 4:00 4:00
459. (10) 4:00 4:00
460. (10) 4:00 4:00
461. (10) 4:00 4:00
462. (10) 4:00 4:00
463. (10) 4:00 4:00
464. (10) 4:00 4:00
465. (10) 4:00 4:00
466. (10) 4:00 4:00
467. (10) 4:00 4:00
468. (10) 4:00 4:00
469. (10) 4:00 4:00
470. (10) 4:00 4:00
471. (10) 4:00 4:00
472. (10) 4:00 4:00
473. (10) 4:00 4:00
474. (10) 4:00 4:00
475. (10) 4:00 4:00
476. (10) 4:00 4:00
477. (10) 4:00 4:00
478. (10) 4:00 4:00
479. (10) 4:00 4:00
480. (10) 4:00 4:00
481. (10) 4:00 4:00
482. (10) 4:00 4:00
483. (10) 4:00 4:00
484. (10) 4:00 4:00
485. (10) 4:00 4:00
486. (10) 4:00 4:00
487. (10) 4:00 4:00
488. (10) 4:00 4:00
489. (10) 4:00 4:00
490. (10) 4:00 4:00
491. (10) 4:00 4:00
492. (10) 4:00 4:00
493. (10) 4:00 4:00
494. (10) 4:00 4:00
495. (10) 4:00 4:00
496. (10) 4:00 4:00
497. (10) 4:00 4:00
498. (10) 4:00 4:00
499. (10) 4:00 4:00
500. (10) 4:00 4:00
501. (10) 4:00 4:00
502. (10) 4:00 4:00
503. (10) 4:00 4:00
504. (10) 4:00 4:00
505. (10) 4:00 4:00
506. (10) 4:00 4:00
507. (10) 4:00 4:00
508. (10) 4:00 4:00
509. (10) 4:00 4:00
510. (10

...of the A's sliding safely into third with a stolen base in the first at Boston yesterday as Rico Petrocelli stretched for the throw.

an Gets 2 Homers Again, s Reds Defeat Pirates, 10-5

ARVIN The National valuable play- the leading sly-batting 11-Star game, mething he's his 13 years some-run hit-he was chased by a three-run Pittsburgh rally in the seventh. He gave up eight hits and two walks, while striking out five before he was relieved with two out in the seventh by Fred Norman.

Roundup

me runs last best year ever hen he hit 26 uti Red. mped on Jim sburgh start- s in the first 75 by Pete r-Grieffy, and d a two-run e Coception. mer with no n the second re 5-0. Ken s third home eason in the e-st shot, and mother one-run 8th. continuation of it's sluffest, of seven solo re hit by both a major league eams. He had atted in last one on a sacri-run in the fourth, chasing Lockwood, who walked John Lowenstein and Rico Carxy with two out and gave up a run-scoring single to Alan Ashby, before Campbell came in to get the inning's final out.

Boisclair Delivers In Pinch

Continued From Page 45 Boisclair, the self-styled "62-year-old scuffler with one leg who can't see or hear," ignored his disabilities today to take a few wild swings at the Establishment.

New York wasted a fine seven innings of pitching by Craig Swan, who held the Padres in check most of the way with a buzzing fastball and a curve over which he recently regained control.

Change Game, Veeck Urges A Local Player Drafted

By JAMES TUTTLE NEW ORLEANS, June 8—Bill Veeck, the self-styled "62-year-old scuffler with one leg who can't see or hear," ignored his disabilities today to take a few wild swings at the Establishment.

after every out should be eliminated, among other things. Commissioner Bowie Kuhn is not afraid to make decisions. He just doesn't know what decisions to make.

"A blueprint for the future between the American League and the National League would be the greatest step forward that baseball could take," he said.

Continued From Page 45 agent to get a multi-year contract.

The second player picked today was Pat Underwood, another left-handed pitcher, by the Detroit Tigers. The 18-year-old younger brother of the Philadelphia Phillies Tom Underwood was undefeated at Kokomo High School this year, winning eight games with an earned-run average of 0.03.

Yankees Win on 5-Hitter by Ellis, 4 to 2

Continued From Page 45 it, it doesn't do any good," Davis said of the Yankee experience that resulted in his fourth release.

left-center. After Carlos May was grounded out, Nettles knocked in Chambliss.

innings. In three of his five previous starts, he had out lasted three innings.

The Yankees, selecting 16th, also went for an 18-year-old right-handed hitting outfielder, Pat Tabler, from Cincinnati.

Major League Box Scores and Standings

Table with columns for team names (e.g., Chicago, Detroit, Kansas City), box scores (runs, hits, errors), and league standings (wins, losses, percentage).

West Indies Gains Cricket Test Draw

NOTTINGHAM, England, June 8 (Reuters)—John Edrich and Brian Close batted the West Indies to a draw with England today in their first cricket test.

Sports News Briefs

Springfield to Train Arab Youths SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 8 (AP)—Springfield College announced plans today to train 60 Saudi Arabian youths in five sports this summer in preparation for the October Arab games in Damascus.

Yankees' Records

Table showing Yankees' batting and pitching records with columns for player names and statistics.

Mets' Records

Table showing Mets' batting and pitching records with columns for player names and statistics.

Coaches Challenge N.C.A.A. Rule

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 8 (AP)—A suit has been filed by two University of Alabama assistant coaches challenging a National Collegiate rule limiting the size of coaching staffs.

MEYER'S DRAFT PICKS

Pat Tabler, outfielder, Cincinnati; Calvin Van Buren, left-handed pitcher, Philadelphia; Willie Randolph, outfielder, New York; Steve Garvey, right-handed pitcher, Los Angeles; Fred Lynn, right-handed pitcher, Boston; Tom Seaver, right-handed pitcher, New York; Steve Carlton, right-handed pitcher, Philadelphia; Steve Carlton, right-handed pitcher, Philadelphia; Steve Carlton, right-handed pitcher, Philadelphia.

Advertisement for Citibank's 48-month car loan, featuring the headline '48 reasons why you can afford the car you want.' and details about monthly payments and interest rates.

Advertisement for 'YOUTH PARK Friday, June 11' featuring a cartoon illustration of a young boy.

Advertisement for 'CITY DAILY DOUBLE' featuring a cartoon illustration of a young boy.

Large advertisement for Citibank's 48-month car loan, including a table of credit terms and contact information for the loan phone.

Education

Formal Forces in Learning Discounted

B. FISKE "We should stop taking predictions as if they were deterministic," he said. Dr. Bloom argued that virtually all children could be taught "everything that the schools have to offer" so long as the correct methods were used. The essence of correct teaching, he said, was to make sure that each student had mastered one step before going on to the next.

That is, an increasing percentage of the class shows "mastery" of each succeeding unit on the first try. The methods, for example, were used in an introductory biology course at Olive-Marve College, a predominantly black community college in Chicago. Emmett L. Jones, director of the program, said in an interview this week that whereas two-thirds of students in one class did not achieve "mastery" on the first unit, only one-third was required to do so by the end of the year. Moreover, he said, 88 percent of this class ended up with a grade of A or B as opposed to only 35 percent of a control group that took the same final examination.

CITY SETS CHANGE IN SCHOOL ZONING Buses to Nonpublic Schools Supported

By LEONARD BUDER The borough presidents of Manhattan and the Bronx visited central school headquarters yesterday to urge three members of the New York City Board of Education to continue bus service for 982 pupils who are transported at public expense from their homes in one borough to parochial schools in other boroughs and, in some instances, to schools in Nassau County.

The three members who were visited by Mr. Sutton and Robert Abrams, the Bronx Borough President, were Leah E. Robinson Jr., the board president and Manhattan member; Dr. Robert Christen, the vice president and Bronx member; and Dr. Amelia Ashe, an at-large member. The members who reportedly favor continuation are James S. Regan of Staten Island, Joseph G. Barkan of Queens and Stephen R. Aiello of Brooklyn. But it will take the support of another member to get the necessary four votes to alter last year's board decision.

Under the city board's current practice, a total of 729 parochial school children are transported from their homes in Queens to parochial schools in Nassau County. A total of 253 pupils are taken from Richmond, Queens and the Bronx to nonpublic schools in Brooklyn and Manhattan. The cost of this service is $281,820 a year, with the city being reimbursed by the state for all but $42,017 of this amount. However, Dr. Ashe and others have contended that the actual cost to the city is higher than the nonreimbursed amount because of a debt service factor and, moreover, that the granting of state aid for this transportation cuts down on the amount of state aid that might be available for education purposes. They have also said that the present exceptions led to the proliferation of additional requests for bus service for other parochial school pupils.

UNCH FOR District with 11 FOOD S YERS RY RANGE

Dept. High St. 14814

RESIDENT HALL DIRECTOR

Master's Degree and counseling skills preferred. Ability to communicate effectively with students, faculty and staff.

PHYSICIAN

Qualified graduate to work 35 hr week in a subspecialty health clinic. Requires M.D. license, board certification in internal medicine.

STUDY FRENCH IN GUADELOUPE

7-14 day Academic Travel Program organized by the Foundation of the French Ministry of Education.

SPANISH REMEDIAL ENGLISH

Specialized curriculum in specific areas: grammar, vocabulary, reading, writing, listening, speaking.

READ FASTER '88

5 weeks guaranteed course DOUBLE or TRIPLE your speed! Understand more, retain more! Nationally known program.

Become An Important Member of the Legal Team

PURSUE A CAREER NOT JUST A JOB

Through an intensive 200-hour day or evening course of study offered by LONG ISLAND UNIVERSITY BROOKLYN CENTER and AMERICAN PARALEGAL STUDIES CORP., a college graduate or person with substantial law office experience may qualify for a new and exciting career as a PARALEGAL.

LIU/APS Paralegal Studies Program

I am interested in Fall 1976 Spring 1977. Send brochure and application.

M.S. In N.Y., M.D. In Italy

American pre-meds now have an exciting new way to develop their careers—a unique biomedical graduate program which combines:

INTENSIVE LANGUAGE EXPERIENCE SPANISH OR ITALIAN

Special attention to teachers seeking certification. 9 Credits (Day Time) or 6 Credits (Evening). June 21 to July 30.

SPANISH REMEDIAL ENGLISH

Specialized curriculum in specific areas: grammar, vocabulary, reading, writing, listening, speaking.

usted hablará español para

In just 10 weeks you'll be able to discuss a business deal in Madrid. Or converse at a party in Buenos Aires. Berlitz teaches you how to thrive in any country of the world.

BERLITZ SCHOOLS OF LANGUAGES

Imagine being able to tell a computer what to do.

You can earn a full year's credit this summer

Advance and Repeat Subjects July 6 - August 18 (reserve your place by registering now)

Learn COMPUTER PROGRAMMING & OPERATIONS

Have an ADVANTAGE! Become a PARALEGAL

Notice of Nondiscriminatory Policy As To Students

GMAT SAT

THE SPANISH INSTITUTE

PACE UNIVERSITY

Get credit(s) for your summer AT LIU BROOKLYN CENTER

TWO SESSIONS-DAY AND EVENING June 14-July 22 and July 26-Sept. 2

Full range of undergraduate and graduate courses from accounting and art to taxation and urban studies.

DIRECTOR OF ADMISSIONS LIU/BROOKLYN

Brooklyn, N.Y. 11201 (212) 834-6100

swing into spring

• A UNIQUE INSTRUCTIONAL PROGRAM • SMALL WELL-BALANCED CLASSES • INTENSIVE INSTRUCTIONAL PLAY PROGRAM

LSAT MCAT GMAT GRE

Enroll Now! $86 Weekend Seminars on a 2 1/2 hour exam. Don't leave it to chance!

PREPARE FOR LSAT GMAT COMPACT COURSES AVAILABLE

Stanley H. Kaplan Educational Center City

Net Tuition Costs for City University Students at State University Tuition Rates — 1976-77 Academic Year

Gross Family Income (Based on Family of 5)	Percentage of Students in Income Level	Full-Time Undergraduate Freshmen and Sophomores		Full-Time Undergraduate Juniors and Seniors		Total	Net Tuition Cost
		Tuition & Fees per Yr.	Average TAP Assistance	Average BEOG Assistance	Total
$7,000 or less	31.2%	$775 925	$710 660	$1170 1280	$1880 1880	$1105 965
7-8,000	7.1	775 925	630 565	1050 995	1680 1705	905 780
8-9,000	6.4	775 925	600 520	680 650	1280 1200	505 375
9-10,000	5.2	775 925	570 500	595 525	1165 1025	350 280
10-12,000	12.8	775 925	470 400	610 570	980 1000	205 175
12-14,000	0.7	775 925	340 300	280 260	600 560	175 275
14-15,000	4.3	775 925	210 180	90 80	300 260	475 385
15-20,000	14.6	775 925	100 80	— —	100 80	675 785
20,000 or more	10.6	775 925	50 40	— —	50 40	725 875

* Tuition Assistance Program † Basic Education Opportunity Grants

Democrats' Plan to Aid City University Is Said to Gain

By IVER PETERSON
Special to The New York Times

ALBANY, June 8—The floor leader for the City University far insisted that the formula rescue plan backed by the State Assembly's Democrats said today that the Senate's Republican majority was moving closer to agreement with his plan. But at least publicly, the Senate majority leader, Warren M. Anderson, and other ranking Republicans insisted that they were still opposed to the Democratic plan.

They said they would hold out for a short-term solution to re-open the university and leave long-term financing arrangements to be worked out later.

Assemblyman Irwin J. Landes, the Nassau County Democrat whose name has been given to the Democratic plan, said today: "We are really moving with Anderson. We've had some very good meetings with him, and deep down he understands that the university needs a $470 million funding level for next year."

Mr. Landes is the chairman of the Assembly's Higher Education Committee.

Assembly Speaker Stanley Steingut said that the Assembly would take up the Landes bill tomorrow afternoon, following a final meeting with Governor Carey, Senator Anderson and the legislative Democratic leaders on the university financing crisis.

The Landes plan envisages setting the university's budget at the $470 million figure in the coming school year by scrapping the rough matching fund formula that now links the city and state contributions. But Senator Anderson has so far insisted that the formula be not be breached until an independent study of the state's entire higher-education effort, including financing systems, is completed.

Mayor Beame has said the city's contribution will drop from about $202 million this year to $185.5 million for 1976-77. Unless the formula is dropped, the state's planned outlay of $195 million would correspondingly decline to about $150 million. With some other income losses triggered by this drop, the university's budget would accordingly come in at only slightly more than $400 million, the Democrats argue.

In a statement released today, Senator Anderson said that "the failure of Governor Carey and the Assembly majority" to agree to his short-term plan of advancing the university $24 million—and thus allowing it to re-open—apparently signals a deliberate strategy of keeping the university locked tight until an ill-conceived and exorbitant plan is blindly accepted in a crisis atmosphere. "The $24 million would be deducted from the school year's state aid due July 1, under the Anderson plan," he said.

In calling the Landes plan "exorbitant," Mr. Anderson was referring to the Democratic proposal to breach the matching fund formula. Under the terms of that formula, the state contribution of $195 million, despite a drop to $160.5 million in city aid, would amount to a "windfall" of some $45 million for the City University.

At present, the Senator appears opposed to giving the unmatched sum to the university, which was closed May 28 because it could not meet its payroll. Since he controls a majority of the votes in the Senate, his opposition could block any plan the Democrats put forth.

What Democrats Hope

But the Assembly Democrats hope that local pressure for a City University rescue on the Senate's seven Republican members from the city will become intense enough to make them bolt from their leadership and support the Democratic plan. Their votes, along with those of the Democrats, would provide enough for passage.

The Democrats' effort was aided somewhat today when Governor Carey refused to give Senator Anderson the "message of necessity" he needs to bring his own City University proposal up for a Senate vote ahead of pre-existing legislation.

The Democrats also evidently interpret Senator Anderson's proposal to advance the university $24 million to re-open immediately as an improvement on his earlier silence on the university crisis.

Although they disagree with his plan, Democratic leaders in both the Assembly and the Senate have interpreted the fact that it was offered as a conciliatory gesture, and are building hopes of further concessions from the Republican leadership on that view.

The Republicans, on the other hand, firmly believe that the Assembly Democrats lack the votes among their own membership to put the Landes plan through. They cite friction between upstate members who dislike the plan's authorization of a city-financed supplemental scholarship program for the middle class and city legislators who are still holding out for matched free tuition for city resident undergraduates.

New York Plans to Return to Policy of As Antitrust

At present, the college medicine established by the State College of Osteopathy is being evaluated by the State Board of Osteopathy. The college will be of osteopathic surgery evaluation students in New Jersey and according to Schure, president.

At present, the college medicine established by the State College of Osteopathy is being evaluated by the State Board of Osteopathy. The college will be of osteopathic surgery evaluation students in New Jersey and according to Schure, president.

U.S. Court Rejects Appeal By Oklahoma Ex-Governor

DENVER, June 8 (AP)—The United States Court of Appeals refused today to reconsider its rejection of an appeal by former Gov. David Hall of Oklahoma of his extortion and bribery convictions.

The next step in the appeal process would be to the United States Supreme Court. Attorney General Ramsey Clark said today that he would appeal to the Supreme Court.

Mr. Hall and Mr. Taylor were convicted in March 1975 for participating in a scheme to bribe a public official to arrange for deposit of Oklahoma state funds with Mr. Taylor's company, Federal District Judge Frederick A. Daugherty sentenced Mr. Hall to three years in prison on each of four counts of extortion and conspiracy to bribe a public official. The terms were to run concurrently.

How to Seek City U. Tuition Assistance

By JUDITH CUMMINGS

After months of wrangling over whether the policy of free tuition could survive at the City University as it enters a period of financial austerity, the Board of Higher Education last week approved the charging of tuition to undergraduate students next fall. Charges of $750 a year for freshmen and sophomores and $900 for juniors and seniors—the same rates as at the State University—are virtually assured.

Throughout the months of controversy, proponents of tuition, including the State Education Commissioner, Ewald B. Nyquist, assured city residents that existing financial aid programs would deflect its impact for many, if not most, university students.

Most of the 180,000 undergraduates will be seeking financial aid for the first time, and their adjustment has been complicated by the university's premature shutdown.

Following are some questions and answers about what the programs do and how to take advantage of them.

Q. What are the aid programs, and what do they do?

A. The two major programs are the state's Tuition Assistance Program (TAP) and the Federal Government's Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG). They award money to students on the basis of financial need, to attend public or independent colleges. With TAP and BEOG (pronounced BOG) funds combined, tuition for eligible students whose gross family income is less than $10,000 a year could be fully reimbursed.

Q. Who is eligible?

A. For TAP, you must be a New York State resident and a full-time student in a diploma, degree or certificate program at any accredited college in the state. In addition, your family's net taxable income—that is, gross income minus all deductions and exemptions—on the state income tax return must be less than $20,000 a year. The award is increased slightly if more than one person in the family is a full-time college student.

For BEOG, you may be a full-time or part-time student, but you can't have enrolled in college before April 1973. The Federal program also requires proof of financial need. Although most families of students who got BEOG awards in 1971-75 had gross incomes of less than $15,000, many had higher incomes. It's best to apply and see.

Q. You mean I can't get TAP if I'm a part-time student, because I have to support myself or for any other personal reason?

A. That's right, and state officials acknowledge this shortcoming in the program, especially when it involves an institution like the City University, where about a quarter of the students who are working toward a degree are enrolled part-time.

The City University's vice chancellor for budget and planning, Anthony D. Knerr, said that the financial package currently being negotiated in Albany included $8 million to be used to somehow ease the burden on part-timers. How to do it hasn't been worked out yet.

Q. Should I apply to both?

A. Definitely. You have nothing to lose, and you may qualify for BEOG money to use for non-tuition expenses—transportation, books, lunches—that TAP doesn't cover.

Q. How much money can I get?

A. First of all, you don't get any cash in hand. It goes to the college on your behalf.

In the state program, which covers only tuition, you can get a maximum of $1,500 a year or the cost of tuition, whichever is lower, on a gradually diminishing scale as income rises.

In the Federal program, the award may be as high as $1,400 a year, and it can be used for any college-related cost, not just tuition.

Q. But didn't I hear something about seniors' not being eligible for full aid?

A. In TAP, students who are seniors now will be eligible for only the former maximum of $600 a year because of the way the newer $1,500 maximum is being phased in to stretch out the increased cost to the state. By the 1977-78 school year, though, seniors will be able to qualify for the higher grants too.

Q. Are the awards based on how good my grades are?

A. No. If you meet the other eligibility criteria, you get the aid.

Q. Does the money have to be paid back?

A. No. TAP and BEOG are both grants, which means the money is free and clear. There are other aid programs, such as the National Direct Student Loan, that do have to be paid back, but education administrators urge to exhaust the grants first.

Q. Aren't there other Government aid programs too?

A. There are several smaller ones such as the Federal Government's Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants and the College Work-Study program, plus 7 percent loans through the New York State Higher Education Assistance Corporation. Your college financial aid office can tell you about them.

Q. How do I apply?

A. The City University is printing its own version of the TAP application form. It will be mailed to all new and old students as soon as the university reopens, according to Alan S. Mishne, the university director of financial aid. Otherwise, TAP and BEOG forms can be obtained from high school guidance offices and college financial aid offices, and the BEOG form is even available at post offices.

Q. Must I submit any unusual information or documentation?

A. The two-page TAP form looks like an income tax return stapled into a 16-page instruction booklet—requires information from the 1975 state income tax return of each person who helps support you. The BEOG form calls for comparable income information from the Federal return.

Q. Who has to sign the application?

A. The applicant as well as each person whose income is reported—mother, father, spouse, guardian.

Q. What if I want to claim self-supporting status?

A. Then you must file a separate petition to document it.

Q. What is the filing deadline?

A. March 15, 1977, for BEOG and March 31 for TAP for the school year beginning in September, 1976. Officials say some students take out loans until their grants come through, or the colleges take them on credit, aware that they can withhold academic records until the debt is paid. Mr. Mishne said arrangements had been made so that all students who file this year by July 15 will receive a formal notice of award—which colleges treat like money—by September.

Q. Will there be help available to complete the forms?

A. Robert J. Kibbee, the university chancellor, has said that the university will add "several hundred" counselors to help with financial aid.

Q. Where can I call for assistance?

A. No place yet. But once the university reopens, Mr. Mishne says, his office, though crippled by the shutdown, hopes to make available, through the telephone company and radio stations, recorded and live information about financial aid. In the meantime, if you need to know something about TAP immediately and can't get help elsewhere, you can write to:

New York State Higher Education Services Corporation, Office of Grants and Awards, Tower Building, Empire State Plaza, Albany, N. Y. 12223.

Potlatch

How we performed in the FORTUNE 500.

The figures in this chart are reported from the May 1976 Fortune Directory of the 500 Largest U.S. Industrial Corporations. For more facts Potlatch, write Potlatch Corporation, P.O. Box 3591, San Francisco, California 94119.

Potlatch - We grow the working future.

504,000,000

OLD FIRM MARKET

Heavy Volume Is Good; Optimistic

SELLS WELL

$300 Millions and Notes; Popping 8%

Allan... markets shifted yesterday but investment bank typically heavy of new fixed-income securities left the end of the prices held and the atmosphere of the optimistic.

terminals were... Acator's $200 percent... 99% to yield... $100 million... which will give... percent from... were est... to 85 percent... the 25-year de... is Bonds exempt bond... not so... $75 million... the were... at yields... basis points... peal double-A... reek but $37.52... issue never... unsold yester...

reserve neither... for its own... Federal... a range from... 5% percent... ates declined city of the day... the reception... sagers gave... the some bond... headed toward... d lower interest... the trend that... r to the Memo...

let's not ready... heat in deca... ment bond... ment securities... any announced... it would sell... ree-month and... at its regular... next Monday... from $37.52... ay, contrasts... as peak $7.52... the Treasury... 9 in the big...

ent National... 64, Column 6

mpt logo and text

IRON NOTES... 100.761... in FA... Co... York, N.Y. 10005

AND TRIES... ATION

avenue... N.Y. 10022

Kauper Will Resign As Antitrust Chief

Plans to Return to Teaching—Policy Dispute Denied

By EILEEN SHANAHAN... WASHINGTON, June 8—Thomas E. Kauper, who has headed the Justice Department's antitrust division since 1972, will leave that job at the end of July.

Mr. Kauper said today that he would return to his teaching post at the University of Michigan Law School. He said he was leaving the Government solely because he felt that he was not given sufficient support by his superior, Attorney General Edward H. Levi, or by President Ford.

It was known that he had actually considered resigning a year ago to return to Michigan, but was talked out of it by Mr. Levi.

Mr. Kauper's policies have, however, been overruled several times recently by President Ford, and a new instance of failure of the Administration to support Mr. Kauper's views has occurred in recent days.

The latest episode involved the antitrust bill that is currently being debated in the Senate and the subject of a filibuster by conservative Senators who oppose it.

Although the Ford Administration originally supported all three of the bill's main provisions, President Ford publicly reversed course and withdrew support from the bill.

Richard A. Debs has resigned from the No. 2 position at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York to join Morgan Stanley & Company, the investment banking firm, as a managing director and as president of Morgan Stanley International, which oversees the firm's international units.

At Morgan Stanley he will rejoin Alfred Hayes, who retired last year as president of the New York Fed to become chairman of Morgan Stanley International.

Mr. Debs, who is 45 years old, was the second-ranking officer of the New York Fed under Mr. Hayes and, more recently, under Paul A. Volcker, who succeeded Mr. Hayes last year.

Mr. Debs has been the first vice president and chief administrative officer of the bank and has served as an alternate member of the Federal Open Market Committee, the top policy-making body of the Federal Reserve System.

He will be succeeded by Thomas M. Timlen, 47, effective July 1. Mr. Timlen has been one of two executive vice presidents of the Fed, with wide responsibilities, including member bank supervision, discount-window lending, Government bond and securities safekeeping, accounting control, building and planning, and data services.

Mr. Timlen joined the bank in 1953 as a law clerk and became an attorney at the bank in 1957. He received a Bachelor of Law degree from Harvard in 1953.

Mr. Debs has been deeply involved at the Fed in international money flows involving petrodollar accumulations and has been the principal Federal Reserve representative in dealing with the central banks and monetary authorities of the oil-

Thomas E. Kauper

Continued on Page 64, Column 3

PARENT OF S. & L. RULED INSOLVENT

Mississippi's Bankers Trust Put in Receivership Like the Association It Owns

JACKSON, Miss., June 8—A state judge today declared the Bankers Trust Company, corporate parent of the financially troubled Bankers Trust Savings and Loan Association, insolvent. He appointed a receiver to preserve the assets of the company.

Judge George William Ghaynes, who took today's actions, had previously placed the Bankers Trust Savings and Loan Association, Mississippi's largest state-chartered savings and loan institution, in receivership on May 20 following a $7 million run on the association after it declared a 30-day moratorium on honoring deposits.

The threatened collapse of the Bankers Trust Savings and Loan Association, with 60,000 depositors and $206 million in deposits has precipitated a crisis in the state's financial community. Neither the savings and loan association nor its corporate parent is connected with the commercial bank in New York City called the Bankers Trust Company.

The Bankers Trust Savings and Loan Association is one of 35 savings and loan institutions in Mississippi with 120,000 depositors and a total of some $430 million in deposits, which are not protected by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

Since the original action involving the Bankers Trust Savings and Loan Association, five other savings and loan institutions in Mississippi have invoked a state law placing a 30-day moratorium on honoring deposits.

The Bankers Trust Company's lawyers acknowledged in a hearing before Judge Ghaynes today that the company was now insolvent, but they denied that the condition existed when a stockholder's suit was filed against the company on May 7 seeking the appointment of a receiver.

The lawsuit and a temporary receivership named by Judge Ghaynes had triggered a run on the savings and loan association.

The U. S. Home Corporation is looking for a new president, Charles Rutenberg, chairman of the company, said in a telephone interview yesterday. On Monday Ben F.

Continued on Page 64, Column 7

Pound Up 4c to 1.80 Before 1.77 Close; Swiss Central Bank Acts to Curb Franc

Cuts Discount Rate and Joins Pact to Bar Speculation

By VICTOR A. LUSINCHI... GENEVA, June 8—The Swiss National Bank ordered a series of measures today in the hope of clipping the wings of the high-flying Swiss franc, which has become the despair of the national export and tourist industries.

The bank cut its discount rate to 2 percent from the 2.5 percent that had prevailed since January, placed new limitations on the sale of francs to foreigners and concluded a pact with the big Swiss commercial banks to curb any speculative dealings by their foreign branches that could contribute to the upward pressure on the Swiss currency.

These measures were aimed at reducing the demand for the franc, which has been steadily increasing its value in terms of foreign currencies. They were accompanied by a notice from the National Bank that it was prepared to "intervene massively" on the foreign exchange market to correct "distortions" in the franc's exchange rate.

Dollar and Mark Purchases... The interventions would take the form of purchases of dollars and West German marks, as the National Bank has been doing at times, to absorb the pressure on the franc.

Any increase in the franc's value hits Switzerland's export and tourist industries because Swiss prices become higher in terms of foreign currencies. This endangers the ability of key industries to compete with their foreign rivals.

At the Swiss Credit Bank in Zurich the measures taken by the National Bank were termed "massive." "There is no questioning of the immediate impact they have had," a spokesman for the bank's foreign exchange department said.

"A few days ago the dollar was worth only 2.38 francs," he commented, "while with the new package announced by the National Bank the dollar is now around 2.49 francs."

The dealer said he concurred "absolutely" with the National Bank's determination to deal with disorderly markets.

He stressed that the joint action to provide temporary help to sterling was consistent with the agreements reached at the

Continued on Page 64, Column 1

Central Bank Rates Compared. Table showing interest rates in percent for various countries: Belgium (10), Britain (12), Canada (10), France (10), Japan (5), Netherlands (6), Switzerland (3), United States (8), West Germany (4).

International Support for the Pound. Table showing dates and amounts: December 1968 ($500 million), November 1964 ($3 billion), November 1967 ($1.4 billion), July 1968 ($2 billion), June 1976 ($5.3 billion).

10-Nation Aid Seen Buying Time, Not Ending Problems

By PETER T. KILBORN... LONDON, June 8—The pound jumped 4 cents this morning to $1.80 here, following yesterday's announcement of a record $5.3 billion standby credit.

However, it later fell back and closed at $1.77. By tonight, the heady surge appeared about over. The consensus in the foreign-exchange market was that the huge credit line had bought time for the beleaguered British economy but had done nothing to correct any of the underlying problems.

What spurred the pound's revival the first after a year-long tumble, was the announcement that 10 major countries had agreed to back Britain and the pound with the biggest financial rescue operation in history.

Reserves Instantly Doubled... The loan instantly doubled Britain's reserves of gold and dollars, heavily depleted this year by the $2.5 billion the Bank of England has spent in defending the pound. It showed currency speculators that the lenders had faith in Britain and its economy and that the Bank of England was once again well armed.

However, some currency dealers here suspect that the bank is already spending the money. There were signs today, they said, that sterling might drop to less than $1.77, and at that point, they sensed that the bank had stepped in.

In New York, the pound closed at $1.77 after being down to $1.7625 at 2 P.M. from $1.7675 at 9:30 A.M.

"The authorities—the Bank of England and the American Federal Reserve—have been buying, said the head currency trader here for a major American bank. In the morning, he added, a number of the bank's corporate clients called to sell sterling and take advantage of yesterday's gain. He said he had seen few buyers, other than the "authorities."

Bying by Speculators... Another leading trader said he had also felt the British central bank in the market, but only briefly. He said he had witnessed buying by currency speculators who had been counting on a further fall of the pound and were now buying pounds to reduce losses from yesterday's gain.

He said the loan yesterday had had a stabilizing effect. Other dealers, individuals, and corporations that hold pounds, and their banker-advisors seemed to feel that the loan had taken the pressure off sterling, but that the problems that set off the plunge—from $2.40 early last year—still remain.

"I think the Government has gained some time," said Ernst Fangelmann, head of the London operations of the Union Bank of Switzerland. "It will have more time to solve problems that still have to be solved."

"Don't forget," the Swiss banker added, "this is only borrowed money. You don't solve problems by borrowing money."

Continued on Page 63, Column 5

Confidence in Britain

With Aid on Pound, Labor Government Hopes to Stabilize Domestic Economy

By LEONARD SILK... Before the international rescue party put together a $5.3 billion lifeline to rescue sterling, the British pound had slid as low as $1.70. Yesterday, when word reached the market that help was on the way from the United States and other members of the rich men's club known as the Group of Ten, the pound rallied to $1.80. The rich nations did not have to do much actual buying. They had only to flash their roll of bills. Those who had gone short on the pound—including many multinational corporations, who insist they act defensively, not to make a fast buck—rushed to cover themselves by buying sterling. The market's psychology changed overnight.

"We're feeling pretty pleased," said William S. Rylie, Britain's Economic Minister to Washington. "It's a good and constructive development—and shows that there's general confidence in us, not that there is agreement with every aspect of British policy."

A State of Mind... The British contend that the speed of the turnaround bears out their contention that the foreign-exchange market had got itself into a feverish state of mind and "was out seeing things straight."

On the American side, the rescue operation was also perceived as an operation designed to straighten out an erratic market, where negative psychology was feeding on itself at the expense of the pound.

Edwin H. Yeo 3d, Under Secretary of the Treasury for Monetary Affairs, said in a telephone interview yesterday that the rescue operation had to be viewed in context of our stated determination to deal with disorderly markets.

He stressed that the joint action to provide temporary help to sterling was consistent with the agreements reached at the

Continued on Page 64, Column 4

People and Business

Debs of New York Fed To Join Morgan Stanley

Richard A. Debs has resigned from the No. 2 position at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York to join Morgan Stanley & Company, the investment banking firm, as a managing director and as president of Morgan Stanley International, which oversees the firm's international units.

At Morgan Stanley he will rejoin Alfred Hayes, who retired last year as president of the New York Fed to become chairman of Morgan Stanley International.

Mr. Debs, who is 45 years old, was the second-ranking officer of the New York Fed under Mr. Hayes and, more recently, under Paul A. Volcker, who succeeded Mr. Hayes last year.

Mr. Debs has been the first vice president and chief administrative officer of the bank and has served as an alternate member of the Federal Open Market Committee, the top policy-making body of the Federal Reserve System.

He will be succeeded by Thomas M. Timlen, 47, effective July 1. Mr. Timlen has been one of two executive vice presidents of the Fed, with wide responsibilities, including member bank supervision, discount-window lending, Government bond and securities safekeeping, accounting control, building and planning, and data services.

Mr. Timlen joined the bank in 1953 as a law clerk and became an attorney at the bank in 1957. He received a Bachelor of Law degree from Harvard in 1953.

Mr. Debs has been deeply involved at the Fed in international money flows involving petrodollar accumulations and has been the principal Federal Reserve representative in dealing with the central banks and monetary authorities of the oil-

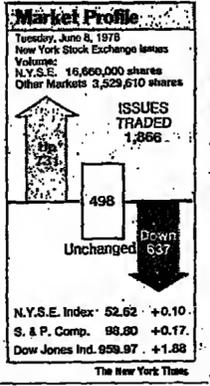

Dow Rises 1.88 in Light Trading

By DOUGLAS W. CRAY... A fire drill that delayed the opening of New York Stock Exchange trading 15 minutes yesterday as investors appeared to wait the results of the last three Presidential primaries.

Inspired largely by selective buying, the market reached its high for the day at 2 P.M., when the Dow Jones industrial average hit 965.46, up 7.37 points. But by the close, the Dow's advance had been pared to 1.88 points at 959.97.

Brokers noted some bargain hunting following Monday's slide, which had left the Dow at its lowest level since mid-February. They attributed the day's light trading to uncertainty over the political outcome in California, New Jersey and Ohio.

"The stock market's vacillations in an unusually narrow range have frustrated everyone," said Benjamin F. Lichtenfeld, a partner in L. F. Rothschild & Company. "The delicate equilibrium within a 5 percent band seems too fragile to endure much longer," he added. "Any kind of assurance that the next Administration will be sympathetic to big business and its stockholders should signal an up-

Wheat and Soybean Prices Soar; Soviet Crop Seen Short of Goal

Corn Futures Drop on Profit Taking... By ELIZABETH M. FOWLER... In trading described as "bizarre" and "gyrating wildly in price," wheat and soybean prices yesterday continued their strong showing of the preceding day.

During the session corn and soybeans were up their daily limits and wheat moved sharply higher.

July wheat closed at $3.77 a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade, up from $3.69, after being as high as $3.86 earlier in the day. July soybeans ended at $6.17, up from $6.09, a bushel, after being up the 20-cent-a-bushel limit for a while. July corn ended at $3.02, down almost 4 cents a bushel, after being as high as $3.14.

A myriad of factors has been influencing prices, contributing to an inflationary psychology. In the case of wheat, the harvest in the Southwest, mainly Texas, is in full swing after a late start because of rain, but yields are not so large as expected. Some weeks ago there was frost in some areas of the Middle West and moisture remains a problem elsewhere.

Traders were considering the impact of the Government's report on the Soviet Union crop disappointment. "There were

Continued on Page 65, Column 1

Shortfall Attributed to Dry Weather

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today that the Soviet Union's 1976 grain harvest was likely to fall short of Moscow's goal of 205 million metric tons.

Although the department announced no total estimate of its own, it said that winter wheat and other grain suffered exceptional dryness when it was planted last fall and that abnormal freezing damage took a further toll during the winter.

The department's task force on Soviet grain said that with average conditions the winter crop would have produced about 60 million tons, or almost 30 percent of the total Soviet goal of 205 million tons this year. The winter crop now appears to be only 45 million to 50 tons. A metric ton is 2,205 pounds.

Last year's harvest was 139.9 million tons, the smallest in a decade, and forced the Soviet Union to buy large quantities of foreign grain to help make up the deficit.

About 16.5 million tons of United States wheat and corn from the 1975 harvest, for example has been purchased for delivery this season.

Further the Soviet Union last fall signed a long-term agreement...

BULLOCK FUND advertisement

Large Oil Terminal Is Opened in China advertisement

Creative investment management and highly personalized trust services advertisement

United Jersey Bank advertisement

Market Place

Auto Parts Issues Now Lagging

By VARTANIG G. VARTAN

Trading specialists in stocks, options, and bonds, providing competitive agency price executions* in all principal markets—NYSE, Third Market, CBOE, ASE, NASDAQ, MSE, PSE and FBW.

Direct order desk access for individuals and institutions who make buy and sell decisions for their own accounts and for the accounts of others.

Complete individual and institutional account clearance and custodial services. *Source acts as an agent for its customers in all principal trading markets to obtain the best possible price executions.

COMMISSIONS:

STOCKS: 30% to 60%* off last NYSE schedule. OPTIONS: 10% to 35%* off last CBOE schedule. BONDS: $2.50 per bond to $4.50 per bond.

*Discounts exceed these amounts on higher priced shares and contracts.

Commission Requirements:

Commissions of at least $250 are required on deposit prior to opening an account.

There is a minimum commission charge of $25.00 on orders for stocks, $25.00 on orders for options $1 and above and $27.50 on orders for three bonds or more.

Equity Maintenance Requirements for Margin Accounts:

Stocks long, $5 per share and above...35%

Stocks long, below $5 per share...100%

Stocks short...35% of NYSE requirement (whichever is higher)

Option writing accounts, uncovered options...35% of assignable stock, minus profit or plus loss, $250 per contract min. $25,000 min. equity.

SOURCE

SECURITIES CORPORATION
70 Pine Street, New York, New York 10005
Telephone: 800-221-2430 New York State 212-425-3428

Prior to 1973, the manufacturers of auto replacement parts strung together years of steadily rising profits, and Wall Street bestowed upon them the mantle of growth stocks.

For example, Monroe Auto Equipment, the leading producer of shock absorbers, saw the price of its stock, adjusted for splits, climb from a low of 2 in 1966 to a record high of 48 1/2 by 1972.

The auto parts stocks had something else riding for them, namely the belief that this was a recession-resistant industry, the underlying theory was that the American motorist needed to replace parts as they wore out—especially so in poor economic times, to put off buying a new car.

The last recession, however, proved that even companies supplying the automotive after-market could suffer a downturn in earnings. Profits of Monroe Auto dropped in both 1974 and 1975, and two years ago its stock traded as low as 5 1/2.

The auto parts issues finally took a turn for the better. They performed well in the first six months of 1976, then trended downward in the last half of the year.

So far in 1976, while sales of new cars boomed, the replacement parts industry has watched its issues underperform the general stock market by something like 11 percent.

Recently, the stocks of a number of these companies touched new lows for 1976. They included Echlin Manufacturing and Champion Spark Plug, as well as Genuine Parts, regarded as the industry leader in terms of total market value and interest on the part of institutional investors.

On Monday, Monroe Auto and Maremont Corporation also reached new yearly lows.

Arthur Davis, an analyst with the brokerage firm of Prescott, Ball & Turben in Cleveland, notes that one underlying reason for the weakness in auto parts issues is the current emphasis among institutional investors on stocks with high yields and low price-earnings ratios. By and large, the automotive parts producers do not fit into this category. At a New York investment firm, an analyst who declined to be quoted by name pointed to another obstacle to the group's stock performance.

"The auto parts business has been quite good so far this year," he declared, "but one thing holding back these stocks is the concern in some quarters over possible shortages of gasoline in 1977—a development that could restrain demand for auto parts."

The analyst said that he is recommending that clients buy Genuine Parts stock. He noted that earnings of the Atlanta-based company continued to climb right through the last recession.

For his part, Mr. Davis of Prescott, Ball & Turben said: "We've been suggesting the Maremont Corporation and Echlin for growth-oriented portfolios."

He estimates that Maremont, an important producer of shock absorbers, will earn $3 a share this year and $3.50 in 1977. Last year, earnings were $2.04 a share.

His profit estimates for Echlin, which earned $1.24 in fiscal 1975, are $1.90 for the current fiscal year and $2.20 for the following year.

For institutions that want to participate in the after-market parts business through larger and more diversified companies, Mr. Davis also has recommended such stocks as Bendix, Dana and TRW.

Peter D. Zaglin, an analyst for Smith Barney, Harris Upham & Company, is recommending Genuine Parts and Echlin to investors.

His earnings estimates for Echlin, a producer of electrical brake and fuel-system parts, are $1.85 for the current fiscal year and $2.35 for the 1977 fiscal year.

Mr. Zaglin is forecasting earnings of $2.25 for this year and $2.55 for next year for Genuine Parts. In 1975 net income reached a record $1.86 a share.

Champion Spark Plug earned $1.24 last year. One automotive analyst thinks that the company will earn $1.45 to $1.50 this year, followed by $1.70 next year.

Stock Market Indicators

The index for the most active trading, percentage change, dollar volume and the market share certain to the consolidated index for all activity traded listed on the New York Stock Exchange and the American Stock Exchange. The market averages are based on the P.M. New York time.

Table with multiple columns: N.Y.S.E. Index, S&P Averages, Amex Index, NASDAQ Index, Up-Down Volume, Odd Lot Trading, The Dow Jones Stock Averages, Consolidated Trading, O.T.C. Most Active, Market Diary, Volume by Exchanges, Most A, Most B, Most C, Most D, Most E, Most F, Most G, Most H, Most I, Most J, Most K, Most L, Most M, Most N, Most O, Most P, Most Q, Most R, Most S, Most T, Most U, Most V, Most W, Most X, Most Y, Most Z.

Consolidated Trading for N.Y.S.E. Iss

Large table with columns: 1974 Stocks and Div. Sales, High Low, P/E Ratio, 1975 Stocks and Div. Sales, High Low, P/E Ratio, 1976 Stocks and Div. Sales, High Low, P/E Ratio. Includes sub-sections for New York Stock Exchange Composite Index, New York Stock Exchange Volume, and 12-Month Trend Weekly Close.

8 ways DREYFUS Liquid Assets can work for you

- Earn income on your cash reserves even over short periods of time.
- Write checks on your Dreyfus Liquid Assets account to pay large bills.
- Save yourself the trouble of making your own money market investments.
- Take care of fiduciary responsibilities.
- Give yourself a regular monthly income.
- Take advantage of current interest rates.
- Maintain liquidity and stability.
- Diversify your portfolio.

Comex is the world's largest metals futures exchange.

GOLD
SILVER
COPPER
COMEX
GOLD
SILVER
COPPER
COMEX
GOLD
SILVER
COPPER
COMEX

DREYFUS Liquid Assets, Inc.

600 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10022

Send information and prospectus.

10% Yield to Maturity A RATED

22% Yield Tax Free Bonds

We own and offer New York City G. O. Bonds.

Call us you should get to know us.

MIS Multi-Vest Securities, Inc. Municipal Bond Specialists

SUI NORTHERN GAS PIPELINES LTD. TENDER NOTICE

1. Sui Northern Gas Pipelines Limited invite tenders from manufacturers for supply of the following materials on C & F Karachi Pakistan basis:-

Tender Number	Material	Approx. Quantity	Tender Closing Date and Time	Tender Opening Date and Time
SN-365/76	Limepote	725 metric tons	16.8.1976 1100 hours.	16.8.1976 1105 hours.
SN-367/76	Gas Regulators	10,942 Nos.	23.8.1976 1100 hours.	23.8.1976 1105 hours.
SN-362/76	Gas Meters (Commercial and Industrial)	1,720 Nos.	30.8.1976 1100 hours.	30.8.1976 1105 hours.
SN-366/76	Gas Domestic Meters	50,000 Nos.	31.8.1976 1100 hours.	31.8.1976 1105 hours.

2. Interested manufacturers are invited to apply for the Tender Documents specifying the Tender Number to the following address:-

The Managing Director, Sui Northern Gas Pipelines Limited, Monroo House, 3 Montgomery Road, P.O. Box No. 56, LAHORE - PAKISTAN.

3. Final tender must reach the Company before the closing Date and Time mentioned against each tender.

REQUESTS FOR BIDS

Notice is hereby given that the Consolidated Rail Corporation will receive sealed bids for the following work to be completed during the following week ending July 1976 on which date they will be publicly opened and read at the time indicated at the Consolidated Rail Corporation's offices, 466 Lexington Avenue, New York, New York 10017 (Room 3305). Bids must be submitted on the inquiry forms provided by the corporation. Copies of such forms and applicable documents may be secured from D.W. Jacobs, P.E., Engineer-Design & Construction, Consolidated Rail Corporation, 466 Lexington Avenue, Room 340, New York 10017, for a $10. non-refundable fee. Check or money order should be made payable to "Consolidated Rail Corporation." Requests must be made in writing. This contract is being made with financial assistance provided by the Connecticut Department of Transportation and The Metropolitan Transportation Authority of the State of New York.

IN DEPTH

How any man wants his business information. You get it... without digging for it... when you read The New York Times. It has more news of business and finance than any other publication. Make The Times a habit... and profit.

THE NEW YORK TIMES

تجدد من الأهل

Leaves Fed for Morgan Stanley

From Page 53
signed as president
executive of an year after the home build-

Richard A. Debs

berg said he
ble to announce is soon as pos-

nedy, Democrat of Massachusetts and chairman of the subcommittee, said the term
"energy independence" was unrealistic. Mr. Zarb replied that by implementing admini-

William C. Lichtenfels, 49 yesterday was named president of Embart Industries, a wholly owned subsidiary of the Embart Corporation. He had been a vice president of the parent company and group president of the hard-

The Lockheed Aircraft Corporation's payoff scandal
weaved uncertainly ahead yesterday in the courts and international press.

In Rome, the weekly news magazine "Panorama" named former Prime Minister Mariano
Rumor as the Italian prime minister alleged to have helped Lockheed wrap up a plane sale five years ago. Mr. Rumor, "Panorama

SUMMER IS FOR KIDS
HELP THE FRESH AIR FUND

This advertisement is neither an offer to sell nor a solicitation of offers to buy any of these securities.
The offering is made only by the Prospectus.

NEW ISSUE

June 9, 1976

$200,000,000

New York Telephone Company

Forty Year 8 1/2% Debentures, due June 15, 2016

Price 99.375%
plus accrued interest from June 15, 1976

Copies of the Prospectus may be obtained from such of the underwriters as are registered dealers in securities in this State.

The First Boston Corporation

E. F. Hutton & Company Inc.

Lehman Brothers

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith

Salomon Brothers

Morgan Stanley & Co.

- List of underwriters including Bache Halsey Stuart Inc., Blyth Eastman Dillon & Co., Dillon, Read & Co. Inc., etc.

interest exempt, in the opinion of counsel, from Federal, New York State and New York City Income Taxes.

$2,072,700

City School District
of the
of Long Beach, New York

9 3/4%
limited Tax School Bonds
(Non-callable)

15, 1976 Due August 15, 1976-89

de will be valid and legally binding general of Long Beach City School District. All the d property within the district is subject to the valorem taxes to pay the Bonds and interest

Denomination $5,000. First coupon due August 15, 1976. Official Statement available on request. Bonds payable at National Bank of North America in Long Beach or in New York City.

Roosevelt & Cross

National Bank of North America

Thomson & McKinnon Auchincloss Kohlmeier Inc.

Hallgarten & Estabrook Inc.

McEntee & Company

Grace Municipals

Advest Co.

Herbert J. Sims & Co., Inc.

Samuel A. Ramirez & Co., Inc.

HNG
HOUSTON NATURAL GAS

of Directors of HOUSTON NATURAL GAS CORP.
has declared the following quarterly dividends,
July 1, 1976, to holders of record June 14,
1976, 6 1/4% per share on the 4.5% Cumulative Pre-1964 Series ($100 Par), and 1 1/4% per share on the 5 1/2% Series ($1 Par).

BRASCAN LIMITED
(incorporated under the laws of Canada)
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Directors of this Company has declared a quarterly dividend of twenty-five cents (25c) per share in United States funds...

Facts . . . Not Rumors. And when n The New York Times every day, you of getting all the facts—complete and verage of developments in business, industry—in New York, throughout nd around the world.

Notice of Redemption and Termination of Conversion Rights

Komatsu Ltd.

(Formerly Komatsu Manufacturing Co., Ltd.)

4 1/2% Convertible Senior Bond Debentures due June 30, 1984

Table with columns for Bond Number, Conversion Price, and Conversion Amount. Includes serial numbers like 1177, 1178, 1179, etc.

The Debentures referred to above will become due and payable and, UPON PRESENTATION AND SUB-SCRIPTION OF THE DEBENTURES, all monies due and payable on the said Debentures will be paid on said redemption date at the WOO Agency Services Department of Citicorp, N.A., 100 Wall Street,
New York, N.Y. 10038, the main office of Citicorp, N.A., in Amsterdam, Brussels, Frankfurt/Main, London,
Milan, and Paris or at the office of J. Henry Schroder Wag & Co. Limited, London, Kreuzstrasse 67A, Luxembourg, Luxembourg, and Banque Paribas de Tokyo, S.A. Paris, as the Company's Paying Agency. From and after said redemption date interest on said Debentures will cease to accrue.

COMATSU LTD.
By: Citicorp, N.A., as Trustee.

$8,250,000
Illinois Central Gulf Railroad
Equipment Trust, Series 11
8 1/2% Equipment Trust Certificates
Non-Callable

Table with columns for Year and Yield. Shows yields for 1977 (8.85%), 1981 (8.00%), 1985 (8.40%), 1989 (8.50%).

Salomon Brothers
Blyth Eastman Dillon & Co.
Drexel Burnham & Co.

DOW RISES BY 1.88 IN LIGHT TRADING

Continued From Page 53... One of the day's biggest gains was Carborundum, ahead 2.33%.

It was postponing a $17,000,000 share common stock offering. The company said it had decided market conditions were not right at this point for the offering.

Highs and Lows Tuesday, June 8, 1976

Table with columns for Highs and Lows, listing various stocks and their price ranges for Tuesday, June 8, 1976.

Foreign Exchange

Table showing foreign exchange rates for various currencies including Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Denmark, France, Germany, Hong Kong, India, Italy, Japan, Korea, London, Mexico, Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Singapore, South Africa, Sweden, Switzerland, Taiwan, Thailand, West Germany, and Yen.

Consolidated Trading for N.Y.S.E. Is

Large table of consolidated trading data for N.Y.S.E. listing various stocks, their prices, and trading volumes.

Large handwritten text on the right side of the page, including the words 'No an est v esta' and other illegible scribbles.

Advertisement for Pennsylvania Power & Light Company, 750,000 Shares, 9.24% Series Preferred Stock, Price $100 per share. Includes a list of underwriters and the First Boston Corporation.

Advertisement for Government National Mortgage Association (GNMA), 7 3/4% GNMA 30 Year Modified Pass-Through Securities, Price 92.25%.

Advertisement for Loeb Rhoades, a law firm located at Forty Two Wall Street, New York, N.Y. 10005.

Handwritten text at the bottom center of the page, possibly a signature or note.

"Now you can trade with an established brokerage firm without paying the established commission."

—Robert Boye, Executive Vice President, Kingsley, Boye and Southwood, Inc. (Members, New York Stock Exchange)

For the first time in almost two centuries, brokers may lower their commissions. We do, by as much as 50%.

The fixed commission rate has been around almost as long as the New York Stock Exchange itself. It was there when my father started in the business in 1928. It was there when my brother became a securities analyst in 1957. It was there when I first became a broker in 1964. It was there, in fact, until May 1, 1975, when the Exchange permitted members to offer lower commissions to their customers.

But so far, multi-million-dollar institutional investors have been the main ones to benefit from this change. While many individual investors, and even portfolio managers of smaller institutions, have been left to go right on paying the old rate. And this doesn't make sense to me.

So our company, Kingsley, Boye & Southwood, conducted an analysis of the commissions that investors pay and the services they receive for those commissions.

On the basis of what we found, we've developed a system for lowering commissions by as much as 50% while, in our opinion, actually raising the level of service that a substantial investor gets for his money—by concentrating on the services he actually uses.

According to three major studies, most individual investors don't want many of the services they're paying for.

The key to our system is doing away with services that most investors are charged for but don't want. And believe me, there are a lot of them.

Most individual investors don't want reams and reams of research reports and security recommendations. Though many investors pay for this research, fewer than half base decisions on it.

Most individual investors—54%, to be specific—can do without complicated tax advice and tax shelters. Your individual tax situation probably isn't that complicated, and if it is, you probably have your own tax advisor.

And that's not just the opinion of Robert Boye. It's the opinion of investors surveyed by the New York Stock Exchange, the Securities Industry Association and a leading graduate school of business.

When you open an account with us, you don't get these "services." So you don't pay for them.

Our commissions are greatly reduced. Our important services are not.

Of course, any commission—even a reduced one—is too much to pay for just an order-taker. If you invest or trade actively with us, you can probably get 100% of the service you really need while saving up to 50% of the old, fixed rates.

Seven of our officers, including me, are members of the New York Stock Exchange. So Kingsley, Boye & Southwood can buy and sell common and preferred stocks listed there. We can do the same for American Exchange (we're associate members) and Over-The-Counter securities, as well as for corporate, government and municipal bonds. We're members of the National Association of Securities Dealers and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation.

We can give you all the market information you ask for: prices, quotes, volume, highs and lows, P/E ratios, whatever.

We can give you financial information and guidance—in the form of a specific answer to a specific question, not as a general mass mailing.

As a matter of course, we give you prompt and accurate confirmations and statements.

But perhaps the most important thing we give you is a service structure which assures that your registered representative's best interests will never conflict with yours.

You do business with a salaried officer, not a commissioned salesman.

Everyone who does business with us, does business with a salaried officer of our firm.

An officer with an average of 10 years' experience working for investors.

An officer who's part of a team of investment professionals who are all available to you to insure continual and well-rounded investment service.

An officer who knows all the current security, company, and market information you need—or knows where to get it almost instantly.

An officer fully qualified to give you quality ratings and help you judge the suitability of different investment alternatives.

An officer whose compensation does not vary with the nature and frequency of trades he executes for you.

An officer who, therefore, can advise you not to make a trade he thinks is not in your best interest or an investment that's contrary to your objectives. And can do it without mixed emotions.

Our 15-year-old firm has 253 years' experience.

As you'll discover once you place your account with us, there's no conflict between realizing substantial savings and dealing with a substantial firm.

Our officers and principals have 253 years' combined experience on Wall Street, 132 of those years as members of the New York Stock Exchange. In fact, of the 1,366 NYSE members, two of our principals rank 44th and 68th, respectively, in seniority.

But experience itself is not as important as what you do with it. Of the 15 years we've been in business as a company, we've ended all but one of them in the black.

Your brokerage firm may be our customer.

Throughout our 15 years as a company, we've been specialists on the floor of the Exchange. The biggest brokerage firms in the country are our primary customers. Customers from whom we buy and sell over $500 million in stocks every year—with our own money. So we know how the public auction market works and how important that extra eighth- or quarter-point can be.

We also know how to execute orders quickly, efficiently, and without incurring extra cost.

And all of these services are just as important to you as they are to a major institution or brokerage firm.

We can also distinguish the needs of institutions and professionals from the needs of individuals, because our team of investment officers is experienced in serving both—along with portfolio managers, bank trust officers, estate managers, and just about any other type of investor you can name. As a result, you get the kind of service that major institutions enjoy, without paying for services you don't want.

For $150 a year, we'll give you a chance to save several times that figure.

I can't guarantee that you'll make a profit on any investment you make with us. No broker can. But I do guarantee that if you're a substantial or active enough investor, you'll come out ahead on the cost of making investments: 50% ahead on round-lot stock trades of $5,100 or more.

You pay us a $150 annual fee to cover the costs of opening and servicing your account. But compared to what you could save by cutting a whole year's commissions in half, that's just a drop in the bucket. If you normally pay your broker at least $500 in commissions, we can save you as much as $100. If you normally pay $2,000 we can save you as much as $850. If you normally pay $5,000 we can save you as much as $2,350. And so on—all by not charging you for products and services you may neither need nor use.

Why not go over your present broker's statements for the last year? If his commissions are still comparable to the old rates, add them up, divide in half, and add $150. That figure is about what you'd pay to do the very same trading with us. (Our comparative commission schedule, which you can get by mailing in the coupon, shows which transactions qualify for the full 50% discount and how our commission rates compare to what you're paying now.)

If you find the difference impressive, mail the coupon below. It's the first step in doing business with a firm that maintains high standards of service without charging high commissions for them.

"In 1928, when my father started on Wall Street, all brokerage firms charged fixed commissions. Today, our firm can cut the old, fixed commission schedule in half."

KINGSLEY, BOYE & SOUTHWOOD, INC.
45 Wall Street, New York, New York 10005 (212) 480-1976
Members, New York Stock Exchange

I'm interested.

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Home Phone _____ Business Phone _____

Average annual commissions: $300-$500  $501-$2,000
 $2,001-$5,000  over $5,000

*Pre-May 1, 1975, minimum fixed commission schedule set by the New York Stock Exchange. On May 1, 1975, the NYSE eliminated all fixed commissions, thereby allowing all member firms to charge more, or less, than the fixed commission schedule.

Consolidated Trading for N.Y.S.E. Is

TUESDAY, JUNE 8, 1976

1976	Stocks and Div. Rates	High	Low	Open	Close	Change	1975	Stocks and Div. Rates	High	Low	Open	Close	Change
100	IBM	125 1/4	124 3/4	125 1/4	125 1/4	0	100	IBM	125 1/4	124 3/4	125 1/4	125 1/4	0
101	AT&T	42 1/2	42 1/2	42 1/2	42 1/2	0	101	AT&T	42 1/2	42 1/2	42 1/2	42 1/2	0
102	GE	30 1/2	30 1/2	30 1/2	30 1/2	0	102	GE	30 1/2	30 1/2	30 1/2	30 1/2	0
103	Westinghouse	24 1/2	24 1/2	24 1/2	24 1/2	0	103	Westinghouse	24 1/2	24 1/2	24 1/2	24 1/2	0
104	General Electric	30 1/2	30 1/2	30 1/2	30 1/2	0	104	General Electric	30 1/2	30 1/2	30 1/2	30 1/2	0
105	IBM	125 1/4	124 3/4	125 1/4	125 1/4	0	105	IBM	125 1/4	124 3/4	125 1/4	125 1/4	0
106	AT&T	42 1/2	42 1/2	42 1/2	42 1/2	0	106	AT&T	42 1/2	42 1/2	42 1/2	42 1/2	0
107	GE	30 1/2	30 1/2	30 1/2	30 1/2	0	107	GE	30 1/2	30 1/2	30 1/2	30 1/2	0
108	Westinghouse	24 1/2	24 1/2	24 1/2	24 1/2	0	108	Westinghouse	24 1/2	24 1/2	24 1/2	24 1/2	0
109	General Electric	30 1/2	30 1/2	30 1/2	30 1/2	0	109	General Electric	30 1/2	30 1/2	30 1/2	30 1/2	0

New Issue / June 9, 1976

$186,218,817.56

Government National Mortgage Association

7 1/2% GNMA Modified Pass-Through Securities

30 Year Maturities

Price 93.75% to yield 8.33% GNMA to the 12-year prepaid life (bond equivalent 8.48%)

Plus accrued interest from June 1, 1976

Timely payment of principal and interest on the Securities is guaranteed by GNMA pursuant to Section 306(g) of Title III of the National Housing Act. Section 306(g) provides that "The full faith and credit of the United States is pledged to the payment of all amounts which may be required to be paid under any guaranty under this subsection" and an opinion dated December 9, 1969, of an Assistant Attorney General of the United States states that such guarantee under Section 306(g) of mortgage-backed securities of the type referred to above "constitute general obligations of the United States backed by its full faith and credit."

- Salomon Brothers
- Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis
Incorporated
- A. G. Becker & Co.
Incorporated
- Blyth Eastman Dillon & Co.
Incorporated
- Huntton, Paige Securities Corporation
- Bear, Stearns & Co.
- Dillon, Read & Co. Inc.
- First Pennco Securities Inc.
- Goldman, Sachs & Co.
- Hornblower & Weeks-Hemphill, Noyes
Incorporated
- E. F. Hutton & Company Inc.
- Kidder, Peabody & Co.
Incorporated
- John Nuveen & Co.
Incorporated
- Pittsburgh National Bank
- Wm. E. Pollock & Co., Inc.
- L. F. Rothschild & Co.
- UBS-DB Corporation
- Weeden & Co.
Incorporated
- White, Weld & Co.
Incorporated
- Cantor, Fitzgerald Agency Corp.
- Carroll McEntee & McGinley
Incorporated
- New York Hanseatic
Div. of Stuart Brothers
- Oppenheimer & Co., Inc.
- R. W. Prassprich & Co.
Incorporated

NEVER BEFORE! A $15 Sharp Pocket Calculator

$3.98 for only

when you let us make a copy on your company letterhead with the new Sharp Fax 710 Plain Paper Copier

The Sharp Fax 710 works quickly to make sharp, clear copies on both sides of any and all paper, and even on film. Conveniently fits on the corner of a desk.

We believe you'll be so impressed by the superiority and flexibility of the new Sharp Fax 710 Plain Paper Copier that we're making this remarkable savings offer just for the opportunity of showing you how efficiently it can work for you.

Visit our showroom today at 45 East 30th Street, 2nd floor (between Park Avenue South and Madison Avenue) and bring a company letterhead. We'll copy on it before your eyes and demonstrate how the Sharp Fax meets the copy needs of any size office — and it's budget-priced... rent, buy or lease.

TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF OUR CALCULATOR OFFER, YOU ARE UNDER NO OBLIGATION OTHER THAN TO VISIT US TO SEE HOW ECONOMICALLY THE NEWEST PLAIN PAPER COPIER CAN WORK FOR YOUR FIRM. DON'T DELAY!!! THE QUANTITY OF CALCULATORS IS LIMITED. OFFER ENDS JUNE 30, 1976.

Business letterhead required. Sorry, no dealers permitted and only one calculator per company.

KEYSTONE Business Controls, Inc.
45 East 30th Street, New York, N.Y. 10016
(212) 684-7373

Career Opportunities Available for Salesmen. Inquiries Invited.

Public Notice

STATE OF NEW YORK
DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL CONSERVATION

In the Matter of the Petition of The City of New York, Department of Sanitation, for the Revocation of the License of Roger C. Ransom, Superintendent of the City of New York, Department of Sanitation, to Operate as a Licensed Professional Engineer.

Public Hearing Notice

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to Article 25 (The Uniforms) of the Environmental Conservation Law and the Rules and Regulations for the Enforcement of the Environmental Conservation Law, Part 200, the Department of Environmental Conservation will cause a public hearing to be held in the Borough Hall Courthouse, 2nd Floor, Borough Hall, State Street, New York 10001 on the 25th day of June, 1976, at 10:00 a.m. in the forenoon on that day for the purpose of:

(a) hearing all persons, corporations or other divisions of the State of New York that may be affected by the revocation of the license of Roger C. Ransom, Superintendent of the City of New York, Department of Sanitation, to Operate as a Licensed Professional Engineer.

The City of New York
Department of Sanitation
125 West Street
New York, N.Y. 10013

The project site is located on St. Johns Island, New York in the Town of Greenport, approximately 1000 feet east of Richmond Creek. The project consists of the construction of a 1000 foot long and 200 foot wide causeway and a 200 foot long and 200 foot wide causeway. The project also includes the construction of a 200 foot long and 200 foot wide causeway. The project also includes the construction of a 200 foot long and 200 foot wide causeway.

Roger C. Ransom

Ringsway Transports
Limited
1000 Highway 101
Riverside, Ontario
Canada

Ringsway Transports Limited is a subsidiary of Power Corporation of Canada, Limited, under the management of Canada Security Loan (1975) Limited.

NEW JERSEY SPORTS & EXPOSITION AUTHORITY INVITATION TO BID

Proposals are invited for the provision of Workmen's Compensation, General Liability, Automobile, and Umbrella Liability Insurance for the operations of the New Jersey Sports & Exposition Authority's facility in East Rutherford, New Jersey. Coverage is desired for the operations — not the construction activities.

Specifications may be obtained from C. B. L. B. Co., P.O. Box 666, 65 Glen Avenue, Gladstone, New Jersey 07038, on or after June 10, 1976, for a charge of $50.00 per copy.

Such specifications contain the details of coverage required and the amount that will be provided on the basis of the terms and conditions of the insurance contract. These specifications will also contain the required underwriting information.

Sealed bids will be received by the New Jersey Sports & Exposition Authority at their office at Gateway 65-66th Street, Newark, New Jersey, until 4 P.M. Eastern Daylight Time on June 17, 1976, at which time and place said bids will be publicly opened and read.

The award reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

NEW JERSEY SPORTS & EXPOSITION AUTHORITY
David A. Weston, Chairman

1877-1977
THE FRESH AIR FUND

Car buying car browser

The best place in town to do the Automobile Exchange of York Times. It offers a bigger of newer and used cars for sale to other New York newspaper. Let today... and every day the Sports Pages of

The New York City

150 من الأمل

Trading for NY

1550 من الأصل

New York Stock Exchange Bond Trading

Table of bond trading data including U.S. Govt. Bonds, Other Govt. Bonds, Foreign Bonds, and American Exchange Bond Trading. Columns include bond names, yields, and prices.

The Pillsbury Company has acquired through merger Steak and Ale Restaurants of America, Inc. We initiated and assisted in this transaction. Goldman, Sachs & Co. New York Boston Chicago Dallas Detroit Houston Los Angeles Memphis Philadelphia St. Louis San Francisco International subsidiaries: London Tokyo Zurich June 9, 1976

NOTICE OF HEARING FOR SALE OF 5,000,000 SHARES OF ZELLER'S LIMITED-ZELLER'S LIMITED, A CANADIAN CORPORATION, AND THE UNPAID AND UNRECORDED BALANCE OF 5% CONVERTIBLE SUBORDINATED DEBENTURES DATED FEBRUARY 15, 1961 ISSUED BY ZELLER'S LIMITED-ZELLER'S LIMITED.

Tax-Free Monthly Income 7.23%* current return. In the opinion of counsel, the interest you receive is free from Federal income tax and may be exempt from state and local income taxes as well. Features: Stability Through Diversification, Marketability, No Redemption Fee, Monthly Check, No Management Fee. 100% A-Rated or Better (50% AA-Rated). By either Standard & Poor's Corporation or Moody's Investors Service, Inc. *This represents the net annual interest income after annual expenses divided by the public offering price. It varies with changes in either amount. For more information, mail the coupon today. A prospectus containing more complete information about the Weeden Tax-Exempt Bond Trust, Series 1, including all charges and expenses will be sent upon receipt of the coupon below; read it carefully before you invest. Send no money.

WEEDEN TAX-EXEMPT BOND TRUST SPONSOR WEEDEN & CO. 25 Broad St. New York, New York 10004 Telephone 212 344-2300 UNDERWRITERS Alex. Brown & Sons, 135 E. Baltimore St. Baltimore, Maryland 21202 301-772-1700 First of Michigan Corporation, 2 Wall St. New York, New York 10005 212-732-7460 Foster & Marshall Inc., 205 Columbia St. Seattle, Washington 98104 206-344-3500 Sutro & Co., 480 Montgomery St. San Francisco, California 94104 415-445-8500 J. J. B. Hilliard, W. L. Lyons, Inc., 545 S. Third St. Louisville, Kentucky 40202 502-583-6651 Moseley, Hallgarten & Estabrook Inc., One New York Plaza New York, New York 10004 212-363-3500 PLEASE SEND A FREE PROSPECTUS Name Address City State Zip Home Phone Business Phone Mail to: The Sponsor or Underwriters Listed Above.

American Exchange Bond Trading

Table of American Exchange Bond Trading with columns for bond names, yields, and prices.

Dividends Announced

Table of Dividends Announced with columns for company names, dividend amounts, and dates.

American Stock Exchange Transactions: Consolidated Summary of Yesterday's Trading

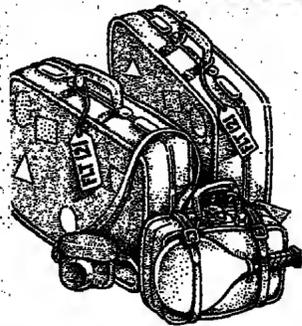

Main table containing stock exchange transactions with columns for stock symbols, prices, and trading volumes. Includes sub-sections for Philadelphia Options and Chicago Board.

Readers make... week readers... server beholds... members... no traveled... road... st... years.

Advertisement for a car, featuring a car image and the text 'Budget to the car want? page 47' and '780 COMP'.

Handwritten Arabic text at the bottom of the page.

More PT readers make... always than Playboy Newsweek readers.

South of the border. Over the ocean... to the Caribbean. Simmons says more of readers made the trip than the readers of major magazines. That's the ticket.

Psychology Today

A Ziff-Davis Publication

Source: Simmons 1974/75

62% of Observer households have members who traveled abroad, past five years.

Join the participants.

Why strain our budget to buy the car you want? Turn to page 47

XEROX WATCH OUT!!!

IT'S A NEW IN THE BLOCK

Photocopy presents... revolutionary "DRY COPIER"... feeling your thunder!

"SEEING IS BELIEVING" 2-777-7780

ANTIC PHOTOCOPY CORP.

100 AVENUE SO., NEW YORK, N.Y. 10010

201-939-2110 • Westchester 914-472-9444

Compucorp... BILING IN THE USA UNDER THE COMPU CORP

Service and Custom Programming are now available at:

1880 Business Machines Co., Inc. 834 Willis Avenue Albertson, New York 11507

Advertising

Thompson Scores TV Violence

By PHILIP H. DOUGHERTY

Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON June 8—Violent programs on television could have a negative effect on the sales of products advertised within such presentations, a pilot consumer study by the J. Walter Thompson Company shows.

Don Johnston, president of the agency, disclosed this today at the annual convention of the American Advertising Federation.

His audience—people from all segments of the advertising industry across the country—had just seen "The Desensitization of America," a 40-minute audiovisual presentation full of audiotape and four-letter words that gives Thompson's view of what is happening to a nation saturated by media impressions.

It was the subject of this column on May 20. And, although J.W.T. has presented it to a number of select groups, this was its largest audience to date.

Mr. Johnston made clear at the outset that "we're not attacking television."

"That would be foolish because we depend on it," he said.

But later, he said, "It seems clear to us that we have a responsibility—and that we should do something about it. We will continue to speak out against television programming that promiscuously exploits violence. We are counseling our clients to evaluate the potential negatives of placing commercials in programming perceived as violent. Our motivation is primarily social, but there are certain business considerations that confirm our recommendations."

His comments were supported by Richard E. Wiley, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission.

Mr. Johnston conceded quickly that there was little evidence that violent television programs had a bad effect on the viewers or advertisers, but said that his company was prepared to fill some of the research gaps.

As a preliminary to major research, the pilot study of 200 adult TV viewers, Mr. Johnston said, "suggests" that 10 percent considered not buying a product because it was advertised in violent programming and 8 percent said they actually had not bought a product for that reason.

The study also showed that two out of five of the people surveyed said they avoided overly violent programs, while a fifth of the men and a third of the women said they prevented their children from watching such shows. Aversion to this kind of television fare is growing, Mr. Johnston warned, and consumers are organizing. This could lead to letters of protest and product boycotts.

Don Johnston

Mr. Wiley, the F.C.C. chairman, who was the luncheon speaker, noted that "the bulk of our citizens have 'had enough' of extensive and gratuitous violence and 'now want and demand reform in this area.'"

"I have done all that property can be done by a public official," he said. "The rest is up to the private sector—and here, the advertising industry has an important, indeed, critical role. You, after all, must make a basic decision on whether or not to support particular types of programming fare."

During a panel discussion after the Thompson presentation, Tom Swafford, vice president, program practices of CBS (whose network was later praised by Mr. Wiley for cutting down on violence), said, "The basic problem is the question: Are we condemning society or the medium that reflects the standards and tastes of that society? You have to reflect those tastes to survive."

Arthur Kretschmer, editorial director of Playboy magazine and another panelist, said he felt the audience "was a little bit conned" and that the presentation was "an amorphous bemoaning of the loss of a better time."

The magazine had a major liberalizing effect on the country, he said, noting that he "wouldn't trade the neoretro 50's for 1976." There was smattering of applause from the younger listeners.

Mr. Kretschmer said that what he understood Thompson was suggesting he do about the situation "scared me to death and is more frightening than any 24 hours of TV programming."

Later, James S. Fish, vice president of General Mills, who becomes chairman of the A.A.P. July 1, put through a resolution calling on the federation to support fully the Advertising Council's new campaign on economic education. This means that the campaign, criticized in some quarters as a one-sided effort in behalf of the business establishment, would be pushed on the local level by the members of this grassroots organization.

Whataburger Account The Bloom Agency, Dallas, has been selected to handle the advertising and sales promotion for Whataburger Inc.

Whataburger is a chain of 206 fast-food restaurants in 11 Southern and Southwestern states. The assignment also includes Western World Foods Inc., the chain's largest franchisee.

The accounts had been handled by Smith, Smith, Baldwin & Carberg Inc., Houston. According to one source, billings amount to about a million dollars.

A Bilingual Smoke Gaulloises, one of the better known names in French cigarettes, has selected Cohen Pasqualini Tamburini Inc. as its advertising agency in the United States.

The first print ad, which will serve as a test, is scheduled to appear in the June 14 issue of New York Magazine, and will be the first in a series of bilingual "Gaulloises Cross-Mots Puzzles"—half English and half French.

The target audience—the thinkers.

Coca-Cola at Olympics Coca-Cola USA will be the only soft drink company to share in the television sponsorship of ABC's coverage of the 1976 Summer Olympics.

To augment this participation, the company plans a major premium promotion tie-in to salute the games. Coca-Cola will be offering to its customers, through participating bottlers the famous bell-shaped glass you've seen so often.

Called the "international glass," it will carry the company's logo in English, Japanese, Hebrew, Chinese and Arabic around the rim.

The premium offer, which runs from June 28 to Aug. 7, will be supported by local media advertising, including spot television, radio, newspapers and point of purchase.

McCann-Erickson, the company's agency, will be carrying the torch for this one.

People Donald L. Cuttle has been named president of Van Brunt & Company, Chicago.

Thomas M. Kirwan appointed president of the CBS Professional Publishing division of the CBS/Publishing Group.

Hilary Hender appointed director, eastern sales, TV spot sales, National Broadcasting Company.

Thomas A. Thorner named manager of advertising and public relations at the Firearms division of Colt Industries, Hartford, Conn.

If you like efficiency, here is reason #14...

Table comparing circulation figures for Adult Males Age 25-34 across various magazines like Sports Illustrated, Newsweek, Time, and U.S. News & WR.

...why we could be your favorite newsweekly. Sports Illustrated

People is jumping.

Who's the pretty skipper? Skip to the back page and meet her and the rest of the People party. You'll see why People's jumping to a 1,800,000 rate base on July 19. Leaping lizards—that means 10,500,000 readers.*

People. Suddenly, it's the place to be.

Advertisement for Jack Hammer, CLU, featuring a portrait and text about insurance services.

Advertisement for accountemps, offering expert temporary bookkeepers and accountants.

Advertisement for NCC Attendees, Computer Sales Representatives, featuring digital equipment.

Advertisement for 'A Gift of Thanks' featuring a hammer and a key, with text about appreciation and craftsmanship.

Advertisement for 'Selling is an art...' featuring a key and text about marketing services.

Wholesale Only - Buyers' Wares advertisement listing various goods like clothing, shoes, and accessories.

Wholesale Only - Offerings to Buyers advertisement listing various goods like clothing, shoes, and accessories.

Tye Dye T-Shirts advertisement listing various goods like clothing, shoes, and accessories.

Spring Steel advertisement listing various goods like clothing, shoes, and accessories.

Small text at the bottom right corner, possibly a contact or address.

Over-the-Counter Quotations

Quotations supplied through NASDAQ as of 4:00 P.M. Quotes do not include retail markup, markdown or commission. Volume represents shares that changed ownership during the day. Figures include only transactions affected by NASDAQ market-makers but may include some duplication where market-makers traded with each other.

FOREIGN SECURITIES

The U.S. Dollar

Table of over-the-counter quotations for various stocks, including columns for Bid, Asked, and Change.

Table of over-the-counter quotations for various stocks, including columns for Bid, Asked, and Change.

Table of foreign securities quotations.

Table of banks and S&Ls quotations.

Table of insurance quotations.

AUTHORITY BONDS

Table of authority bonds with columns for Bid, Asked, and other details.

United States Government and Agency Bonds

Table of United States Government and Agency Bonds with columns for Bid, Asked, and other details.

MUTUAL FUNDS

Table of mutual funds with columns for Bid, Asked, and other details.

Supplementary O-T-C

Table of supplementary over-the-counter quotations.

Bank for Cooperative

Table of bank for cooperative data.

Federal Home Loan

Table of federal home loan data.

OTHER BONDS

Table of other bonds with columns for Bid, Asked, and other details.

PLAYG

1550 من الأصل

IRREGULAR
DEX TRADING

but More Issues
Rise—O-T-C Off

ANDER R. HAMMER
the American Stock and in the over-the-market finished mostly terday in continued
g.
ns in both markets
y in early trading,
bargain hunting folent losses and then alysts noted there
ig in the economic erday to move the ther direction.
r market-value index
101.46, but declines es 314 to 260. The average share renchanged. Volume
ly to 2.25 billion
12.05 million shares
in Amex issues, in-oal exchanges and market, advanced on shares from 2.05
es on Monday.
r trading, the NAStrial index dipped
7 while the compo-
set 0.10 to 87.12.
59 stocks fell while mover expanded to shares from 4.74
as the day before.
as Show Rise
n the exchange to-
4 contracts, up rom 28,347 traded
ore. Open interest
798,909 unexpired
sed contracts. On Board Options Ex-
21 contracts trad-
52,263 on Monday,
t amounted to 1,
acts.
asine Petroleum active list on the ided 1/4 to 4 on as, including sever-s.
mpanies, the sec-
vity traded stock to 8 1/2. At a re the Securities
e Commission the id it had some claims made by
of the controver-
n converter for s a license. The argued that Presley misleading state-
-ing the potential
e. Presley's stock
gh as 20 1/2 earlier eased 1/4 to 7 1/4
og that its third-ating net fell to 1
rom 25 cents a before.
others added 3/4 to
npany said its pro-
-first quarter ad-
-cents a share from Rosenberg, 53 years old, of 500
the 1975 period.
East, 834 Street, Manhattan, charged that financial state-ments of the brokerage firm,
Beck & Levy-Tegeler Inc., which

Business Briefs

False Diet Advertising Charged

WASHINGTON, June 8 (UPI)—A Federal Trade Commission judge ruled today that the makers of a diet pill falsely advertised that users could lose weight while continuing to eat whatever they wanted. The product involved is called X-11 Diet Tablets. In an unusual move, the decision by an administrative law judge, Daniel H. Hanscom, also found the drug store chain that sold the pills guilty of the same offense.
Judge Hanscom ruled that the manufacturer, Porter & Dietsch Inc., St. Paul, Minn., falsely advertised that users of X-11 tablets could lose weight without restricting their accustomed caloric intake. Also named in the decision were the company's advertising agency, Kelly Ketting Furth Inc. of Chicago, and the Pay'n Save Corporation of Seattle, a major chain of drug and sundry stores operating in the Pacific Northwest.

Executives Reported in Demand

Boyden Associates, an international executive recruiting firm, reported yesterday that the total number of management searches it had undertaken in the first four months of 1976 was up 75 percent over the 1975 period.
Carl W. Menk, president of Boyden, said that demand for executives was usually an "economic indicator which becomes most apparent in the secondary stages of economic cycles," and that "these statistics are further evidence that the nation's economy is improving."

E. E. C. Oil Meeting Is Canceled

BRUSSELS, June 8 (Reuters)—A meeting of European Common Market energy ministers called for Thursday to discuss a minimum safeguard price for North Sea oil has been canceled, ostensibly because of the approaching Italian elections, officials of the European Economic Commission said. The meeting, to which Britain attached considerable importance, faced a difficult debate on the floor price issue, with little prospect of success because of long-standing French objections, the officials said.
No new date for the energy ministers' meeting has been set, but the aim is to hold it by the end of June if possible, the officials said.

London Clearing Bank Advances

LONDON, June 9 (Reuters)—Sterling advances by the London clearing banks to the British private sector rose £163 million ($290 million) in the four weeks to May 19, the Banking Information Service said. This followed an £80 million ($142 million) rise in the previous five weeks. In the absence of signs of investment demand, the increase in the last two months could be partly because of changes in the pattern of foreign exchange payments associated with the weakness of sterling, it said.

U.S. JURY CHARGES
FALSE S.B.A. CLAIMS

A Manhattan businessman who formerly headed an insurance brokerage firm in Jeffersonville, N.Y., was indicted yesterday by a Federal grand jury on charges of making false statements to the Small Business Administration to obtain its guarantees of a fraudulent $450,000 loan from the First National Bank of Jeffersonville.
Robert B. Fiske Jr., United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York, said the indictment, which was against Frederick Herbert Rosenberg, 53 years old, of 500 East 83d Street, Manhattan, charged that financial statements of the brokerage firm, Beck & Levy-Tegeler Inc., which

SWISS PUT CURBS ON SOARING FRANC

Continued From Page 53

Bank in finding the franc overvalued. It has soared in recent weeks because Britain's economic troubles encouraged shifts away from sterling, while some sales of mark holdings also found their way into francs, where the chances for an appreciation in value appeared attractive.
A cut in the discount rate, the cost to commercial banks for borrowing from the central bank, is usually aimed at stimulating business activity by making it cheaper to borrow.
But this time, as the National Bank stressed, the basic aim is to bring down the franc's value rate by encouraging a general decline in Swiss interest rates that would reduce the attractiveness of franc holdings.

Loans in 5 Months
Set an I.M.F. Record

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—Loans by the International Monetary Fund to nations with special financing problems, primarily poor nations, reached a record level during the first five months of this year, the institution said today.
Such sales are seen as a way of circumventing the 10 percent quarterly tax, or so-called "negative interest," that foreigners must pay on funds held in Swiss franc bank accounts as a means of discouraging the influx of foreign capital.
In cases of countries calling for delivery of the francs in 10 days or less, the volume of the forward sales is reduced from 50 percent to 30 percent, while those providing for delivery beyond 10 days the reduction is to 40 percent from the previous 60 percent.

Dollar Advances in Zurich

BRUSSELS, June 8 (UPI)—The dollar rose in Zurich today to 2.4960 francs from Friday's close of 2.4525—its best showing in three weeks and well above last week's low of 2.3315.
Munich was the only other European market where the dollar advanced, rising from $47.50 to $48.30, primarily because of the weakness of the Italian currency.

Canadian Loan to Peru

LIMA, Peru, June 8 (Reuters)—The Peruvian Government said yesterday that Canada had agreed to lend Peru $300 million to finance several development projects.

Business Records

Table with columns for Bankruptcy Proceedings, Southern District, and various case names like NANCY DE SANTIS, DENNIS PACK, ANTHONY E. CARDONA, etc.

Pound Rises by 4c to $1.80 Before Closing at $1.77

Continued From Page 53

the basic problems with borrowed money."
An executive of West Germany's big Deutsche Bank added, "The loan obviously did some good. But the underlying factors remain."
The underlying factors most often cited are public spending, which now exceeds 60 percent of the British gross national product and blots the national debt, growth in the money supply, now running at a 12 percent rate, down from twice that rate at one point last year, the pressure of British workers for large wage rises, and that of industry for price increases.
All those factors in various ways bubble up to create the most stubborn problem of them all, British inflation. Over the last six months, it has been running at a rate of 13 percent, far under last year's peaks, but still well ahead of competing countries' rates.

"The loan means that other things will have to happen before it runs out, in three to six months," said Paul Bareaud, an economist and adviser to Barclays Bank. "You've got to reduce the country's borrowing requirement, what you call the budget deficit. That is where future inflation lies."
Cutting Even Further
This year, the British Treasury expects a deficit of £12 billion, and the same amount next year. Last year it was £10.6 billion. The deficits have been contributing to an unprecedented soaring of the national debt—to £56.8 billion last year.
Reducing it means cutting even further back on public spending than the Government has already proposed for next year and the following two years, Mr. Bareaud said. That, he added, should mean requiring that nationalized industries operate profitably and that the Government reduce its subsidies in such areas as food and housing.

"You shouldn't do it to people who have income below a certain level," he said. "But right now you're subsidizing the food of rich people and the housing of people who can afford their own."
Reduction in public spending have become a hot political issue, with the Conservatives endorsing them and the left wing of the ruling Labor Party, particularly, opposing them.
But one economist here who advises the Government thinks steeper cuts are on the way. "It would be one of the greatest achievements of democratic ther to accept new wage restraints.

"I'm bearing noises that the Government is preparing for big cuts," the economist said, "particularly if the economy is more buoyant than it seemed it would be earlier this year."
He thought, because an export boom is likely to result from the fall of the pound.
Encouraged by Signs
Ralf Dahrendorf, a German who is director of the London School of Economics, is encouraged by signs that British workers will accept and then abide by a limit on wage increases over the next year of 4.5 percent, even though inflation, running well above that rate, means they would all have to accept lower standards of living.
That, he said, would be good news for the pound. "If that pay policy succeeds," he said, "it would be one of the greatest achievements of democratic society."

China Opens Manchurian Oil Terminal

Continued From Page 53

and parallel to the Trans-Siberian Railroad.
The Russians then expect to move as much as 500,000 barrels of crude oil a day to the Pacific coast, using a combination of pipelines and high-capacity unit trains of tank cars.
Total Soviet production is now running at the rate of 10 million barrels a day, with one-third coming from the West Siberian fields.
China now produces only about one-sixth as much oil as the Soviet Union, with 1.6 million barrels a day, but has been rapidly stepping up its exports, mostly to Japan. Last year, China may have exported as much as 300,000 barrels a day, about half of it to Japan.
The Dairen oil terminal is the second major export outlet for Chinese oil to have been started up in a little more than a year. Early last year, Peking announced the start of tanker shipments from the oil port of Chinwangtao, northwest of Dairen.
The Chinwangtao terminal is under construction is north of the Taching production area, China's largest producing area. A parallel pipeline, completed in 1973 as far as Fishing, north of Mukden, has now been extended 285 miles southward to Dairen.

According to the recent Chinese broadcast, the pipeline extension was completed last September and underwent a seven-month trial operation pending the opening of the Dairen tanker terminal.
Offshore exploration for oil is being carried on by Chinese ships, according to the Peking reports. A broadcast identified three research vessels, the Hsiangho, Liaoyuan and Fontou, as having battled gales in their prospecting work.
Two other research ships, the Haiyang 1 and the Haiyang 2, were said to have collected a wealth of geological information in the East China and South China seas. But the most significant progress was apparently made by the new drilling ship, which was named Kantan No. 1. Kantan is Chinese for "prospector."

the Taching production area, China's largest producing area. A parallel pipeline, completed in 1973 as far as Fishing, north of Mukden, has now been extended 285 miles southward to Dairen.
According to the recent Chinese broadcast, the pipeline extension was completed last September and underwent a seven-month trial operation pending the opening of the Dairen tanker terminal.
Offshore exploration for oil is being carried on by Chinese ships, according to the Peking reports. A broadcast identified three research vessels, the Hsiangho, Liaoyuan and Fontou, as having battled gales in their prospecting work.
Two other research ships, the Haiyang 1 and the Haiyang 2, were said to have collected a wealth of geological information in the East China and South China seas. But the most significant progress was apparently made by the new drilling ship, which was named Kantan No. 1. Kantan is Chinese for "prospector."

FREE
AIR-CONDITIONING
WITH EVERY NEW SAAB 99GL,
GLE, OR WAGONBACK BOUGHT
THIS MONTH.

SAAB
THE ROAD CAR.

WE BELIEVE A COOL DRIVER IS A BETTER DRIVER.

- Test drive a Saab at:
- NEW YORK: Bedford Hills, Zeuss Subaru Corp., Brewster Lighthouse Motors, Briarcliff Manor, Brooklyn Mid-County Saab, East Setonuket, Elmont, Farmingdale, Glen Cove, Huntington, Long Island City, New York City, Orangeburg, Staten Island, Yonkers, Westfield, Whitehouse Station, Connecticut: Ansonia, Fairfield, New Canaan, Stamford, Westport.

PLAYGOER

CINE BARNES OF THE NEW YORK TIMES. IS THERE A BETTER WAY TO KEEP UP WITH THE THEATRE?

Corporate Affairs Eastern Air Lines to End Service on Some Routes

Eastern Air Lines said yesterday that it was suspending service to Augusta, Ga., and five Caribbean cities. It said it would seek Federal approval for several new routes including nonstop service between Atlanta and London.

Eastern also said it would seek approval from the Civil Aeronautics Board to fly two routes between Atlanta and Norfolk, Va., and Columbus, N.C., and another between Dallas, Fort Worth and Las Vegas in addition to the proposed trans-Atlantic service.

It noted it would suspend service Sept. 7 at Augusta as well as at Ponca, Puerto Rico; Aruba and Curacao in the Netherlands Antilles; Kingston, Jamaica, and Port-au-Prince, Haiti.

The airline said it was pulling out of the Caribbean region and would continue to serve Martinique, Antigua, Barbados, Trinidad, Santo Domingo, Montego Bay in Jamaica and St. Croix in the Virgin Islands.

Eastern acquired the routes to the five Caribbean cities it is now suspending from Caribbean in 1973. Frank Borman, president of Eastern, said it had never been able to make them pay, largely because of more direct service provided by competing carriers.

Eastern acquired the routes to the five Caribbean cities it is now suspending from Caribbean in 1973. Frank Borman, president of Eastern, said it had never been able to make them pay, largely because of more direct service provided by competing carriers.

Eastern acquired the routes to the five Caribbean cities it is now suspending from Caribbean in 1973. Frank Borman, president of Eastern, said it had never been able to make them pay, largely because of more direct service provided by competing carriers.

Eastern acquired the routes to the five Caribbean cities it is now suspending from Caribbean in 1973. Frank Borman, president of Eastern, said it had never been able to make them pay, largely because of more direct service provided by competing carriers.

Eastern acquired the routes to the five Caribbean cities it is now suspending from Caribbean in 1973. Frank Borman, president of Eastern, said it had never been able to make them pay, largely because of more direct service provided by competing carriers.

Coca-Cola Ruling Reversed by Court

The Coca-Cola Company announced that a Federal court in Los Angeles had reversed a jury verdict and ruled that the soft-drink concern's bottling franchise system did not restrict interbrand competition.

A spokesman for the company said an antitrust suit had been filed by Tomac Inc., a food processor, after the Tomac tried unsuccessfully to purchase a large quantity of Coca-Cola products for resale in a California area handled by another bottler.

The spokesman noted that if the Federal court's decision was appealed, Coca-Cola "stands ready to continue its vigorous defense" of its bottling franchise system, which is basically that franchised bottlers have exclusive rights to distribute coke products in those areas.

The expanded plant combines an existing fresh fruit receiving plant and a new processing operation, which replaces former canning and bottling plants at Onset and Hanson, Mass. The company's 359 owner-growers in Massachusetts produced some 62 million pounds of cranberries in 1975, nearly a third of the cooperative's total national output of 189 million pounds.

Data Terminal Systems said it had filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission an initial offering of 380,000 common shares, including 225,000 shares to be sold by the company and 155,000 shares to be sold by certain stockholders.

Manufacturers and Traders Trust Company, acting as trustee on debt owned by a unit of the Maritime Fruit Company, announced yesterday it had seized two of the financially troubled steamship company's ocean vessels.

The banking company said it acted because it was the trustee for holders of the first mortgage on the two refrigerated ocean vessels. The M-V Avocadoe was seized at Bremerhaven, West Germany, and the M-V Mangocore in London.

Manufacturers and Traders Trust Company, acting as trustee on debt owned by a unit of the Maritime Fruit Company, announced yesterday it had seized two of the financially troubled steamship company's ocean vessels.

Manufacturers and Traders Trust Company, acting as trustee on debt owned by a unit of the Maritime Fruit Company, announced yesterday it had seized two of the financially troubled steamship company's ocean vessels.

ANTITRUST CHIEF WILL RESIGN POST

Continued From Page 53

his endorsement of two of them. This week, it appeared that the Administration was trying to block enactment of the third major section as well.

This section would give the Justice Department expanded powers to compel production of documents and testimony in antitrust cases. If the legislation were enacted, the department could issue what amounts to a civil subpoena for the testimony of "third parties" that were not an actual target of its investigation and could compel oral as well as written testimony.

Although this portion of the bill was actually proposed to Congress by the Administration, rather than originating in Congress, as the other sections did, the Administration has refused to let the Justice Department make a formal answer to attacks on this section by the bill's opponents.

The mechanics of the refusal have been that the Justice Department's proposed answer to the charges were submitted to the Office of Management and Budget for the routine clearance required for any statement to Congress—but the clearance has never been forthcoming.

The Furd Administration made a public announcement of the President's belated opposition to the other main sections of the bill. One of these sections would permit state attorneys general to sue antitrust violators for money damages on behalf of all the citizens of the state. The other would extend the Government's ability to delay a merger while the antitrust division decided whether to sue to prevent it and, in some cases, while the suit was being tried.

The Senate continued to work today at a slow pace, on the anti-trust measure. It defeated an amendment that would have prohibited state attorneys general from hiring private lawyers, for a contingency fee, to prosecute the damage suits. But it appeared that some restrictions of this type would go into the final version of the bill.

Mr. Kauper, who served as head of the antitrust division longer than any man since President Roosevelt's appointee, Thurmond Arnold, may be best remembered for the suit he brought in 1974 to reduce what the Government claimed was the monopoly power of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, by forcing it to divest its manufacturing arm, Western Electric, and by other means.

Among his other main achievements were pushing through to enactment a law making certain antitrust violations, such as price-fixing a felony punishable by three years in jail. Previously, the maximum sentence was a year and the guilty parties did not suffer the loss of citizenship rights that accompanies conviction of a felony.

Among his other main achievements were pushing through to enactment a law making certain antitrust violations, such as price-fixing a felony punishable by three years in jail. Previously, the maximum sentence was a year and the guilty parties did not suffer the loss of citizenship rights that accompanies conviction of a felony.

Economic Analysis: Britain Hopes for Stabilization

Continued From Page 53

Rambouillet conference in France last September and at the Jamaica conference of the International Monetary Fund in January.

"It's terribly important to look at the actual understanding we have reached with the British," said Mr. Yeo. "We have given them a swap-type credit for six months—but only for six months."

At the end of the six-month period, it was agreed between the United States and Britain, if other funds are not available to repay the swap, then the British will have to borrow from the I.M.F. and accept its conditions for such a drawing.

Thus the Americans are holding to their line that international monetary stabilization cannot be brought about by throwing money to the support of a currency but only by the development of fundamental economic and monetary policies by a country whose currency is in trouble.

The Americans insist, however, that they see a high probability that the British will succeed in stabilizing their domestic economy and thereby stabilizing the pound in the foreign exchange market.

Britain's Labor Government refused to be stampeded into hastily emergency action for the sake of pleasing the market. Psychologically, it might have been a serious mistake for the Government to have looked back in response to foreign pressures.

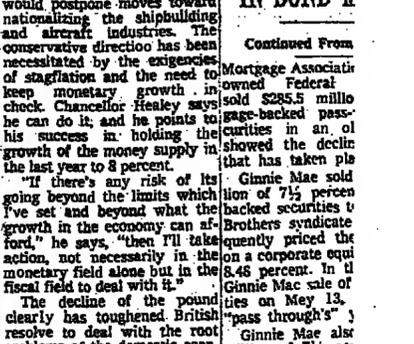

Stiff Upper Lip
Denis Healey, Chancellor of the Exchequer, kept a stiff upper lip and kept repeating that there would be no change in existing economic, monetary and incomes policies for simultaneously slowing down the inflation and increasing the rate of economic growth in order to reduce unemployment.

However, as the sterling crisis deepened and it became clear that the market had worked itself into such a gloomy mood that a further collapse of sterling would itself worsen inflation and wreck the recovery, Mr. Healey loosened his stiff lip enough to indicate that British policy would not be ineluctably limited to efforts to hold down wage settlements to the 4½ percent limit that is the cornerstone of the Government's incomes policy.

Mr. Healey has re-emphasized his determination to control the growth of the money supply, would postpone moves toward nationalizing the shipbuilding and aircraft industries. The conservative direction has been necessitated by the exigencies of stagflation and the need to keep monetary growth in check.

Edwin H. Yeo 34, U.S. Under Secretary of the Treasury for Monetary Affairs, said swap-type credit was a six-months deal.

Denis Healey, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said there would be no change in policies to slow inflation and increase economic growth.

In his budget speech two months ago the Chancellor said that he would keep the increase of the broad money supply (defined in Britain as M-3, which includes private time deposits, Government sight and time deposits and certificates of deposit) as well as currency in circulation and private demand deposits) approximately in line with gross domestic product.

He has also put out clear hints that he intended to cut public expenditures in the fiscal year that begins next April. That is a pretty long time off, but Mr. Healey has left the impression with his foreign pressers that he would try to prune Government expenditures even sooner.

"What I think bankers want most of all," said Mr. Healey, "is to know that the cuts which we have made, and the very severe limits we've set to public expenditure, are not this thing going to be exceeded."

He called the local authorities in when it was learned that they were exceeding their spending commitments by about $1 billion and later said, "The very next agreed cut in their spending programs back to the limits we set."

Nevertheless, the British, pound—and the British economy—are far from being out of the soup. The current budget deficit is enormous, equaling about 7½ percent of Britain's total national output. The United States equivalent would be a current Government deficit of about $125 billion. (The actual United States budget deficit in fiscal 1976 is $77 billion.)

So huge a budget deficit in Britain would tend to lead to an excessively rapid increase in the money supply. If the Bank of England—which is controlled more directly by the British Government than the Federal Reserve is by the United States Government—sought to hold the growth of the money supply down too far, interest rates would skyrocket and the British recovery might abort.

This is one reason that budget cuts that reduce the overall deficit may not be antinflationary in the present British economic environment.

The British Government also seems likely to use its ability to influence the private banking system as a means of directly checking monetary growth rather than permitting free-market forces to drive interest rates sky-high as a means of rationing money.

Budgetary holdovers by the Government are regarded as a means both of lessening inflationary pressure and of aiding the private sector by leaving more resources to the private sector for use in expanding output and capital investment.

This Britain's Labor Government has been driven in a conservative direction, emphasized by Prime Minister James Callaghan's announcement that he would postpone moves toward nationalizing the shipbuilding and aircraft industries. The conservative direction has been necessitated by the exigencies of stagflation and the need to keep monetary growth in check.

Chancellor Healey says he can do it, and he points to his success in holding the growth of the money supply in the last year to 8 percent.

"If there's any risk of its going beyond the limits which I've set and beyond what the growth in the economy can afford," he says, "then I'll take action, not necessarily in the monetary field alone but in the fiscal field to deal with it."

The decline of the pound clearly has toughened British resolve to deal with the root problems of the domestic economy. The danger to sterling—compounded by the problems of the Italian lire and the overall currency disarray in Europe—helped provoke the response of the United States and the stronger currency nations, especially West Germany and Switzerland.

A worsening of currency disorders and inflation could have upset the world economic recovery. As Gerald Parsley, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, said yesterday, "The sterling crisis was not good news for the recovery. It had threatening aspects for the international monetary system. We thought the time had come for some cooperative trading."

The deal was quickly put together, facilitated by the European presence of Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, Treasury Under Secretary Yeo and Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur F. Burns.

The British Laborites and the American Republicans have thus far been able to make common cause, thanks to a common interest in keeping the recovery moving and inflation in check.

But the strategy being pursued will mean a decline in living standards for British workers if wage gains are held to 4½ percent and tax cuts yield a further gain of only 2 or 3 percent while the inflation rate—aggravated by the drop in the pound and its effect on the cost of imports—stays as high as 10 percent in the coming year.

PRICES HOLD IN BOND

Continued From

Mortgage Association owned Federal sold $285.5 million mortgage-backed securities in an offering that has taken place in the last year to 8 percent.

Ginnie Mae sold 7½ percent backed securities to Brothman Securities yesterday priced the offering at 8.45 percent. In the fiscal field to deal with it.

The Ginnie Mae also represented a pull of that pass through payments to investors paid monthly and are denominated in small as $250,000 most trading is million multiples. Through late in Mae's sales of pass-through agency securities marketed in 1976, Brothman reported.

Yesterday's Ginnie Mae was the largest offering of mortgage-backed securities in the history of the agency, estimated at $1.1 billion. Mae's purchase of $55 million of securities this year, indicated its $99.3 million was sold by

The $75 million sold by Hawaii to a network of banks headed by the Bank of Hawaii, and Moody's and A.E. & P. Co., and they to yield from 4.40 to 6.60 percent (for 5½% while these yields are substantially higher than bonds sold last week 10 basis points of the result from the market acceptance of other double-A state bonds in comparison to the market yesterday, and showed the high yield available on securities within the state.

Rockland County's million of bonds, rated Moody's, to a Maritime Bank group, which the securities to yield 7.00 to 7.75 to 1977 up to 7.00 to 1984. Approximate issue was sold by the day.

School Bonds: Long Beach, L.L. 072,700 of school bonds, headed by Roosevelt Trust, which priced to yield from 7.00 to 9.00 in 1986-1989. The issue was $1.05 million.

Negotiations Will In Rubber Plant
WASHINGTON, June 8 (UPI)—Two days of talks in the seven-week industry strike were productive and resulted in an agreement to resume operations in Cleveland James F. Scarce, chief mediator, said today. "I think eventually a compromise, and I think we'll get there after meeting with management officials about 60,000 men United Rubber Workers walked out of Goodson, Goodrich and plants April 21. Peter, to union president, the companies were in a "very obstinate on the key question, living allowances, any indication of any such but" of courts from the past history workers negotiations over some of the key we can always put together in a hurry."

Loan for Cannery in WASHINGTON, June 8 (UPI)—Approval of a $600 million loan to help build a $1.2 million cannery in the African country of Ghana was announced by the Overseas Private Investment Corporation, a agency. The loan will be provided by the Overseas Private Investment Corporation, a wholly owned subsidiary of the U.S. Dept. of Commerce.

5 INDICTED ON FRAUD IN INSURANCE FEES
HARRISBURG, Pa., June 8 (UPI)—A Federal grand jury indicted today five men in a nationwide insurance fraud with victims to at least six states. The indictment charged the defendants, two of them already in custody, with 34 counts of mail fraud and two counts of conspiracy to participate in racketeering activity.

Tiffany Attains Record On Sales and Earnings
Tiffany & Company, which derives about 75 percent of sales from jewelry sold at its main store on Fifth Avenue and five other branches, attained record sales and earnings in its first fiscal quarter ended April 30, according to yesterday's report.

Petro-Canada in Deal For Atlantic Richfield Unit
The Canadian state oil company, Petro-Canada, and the Atlantic Richfield Company of Los Angeles reached a final agreement on Monday for Petro-Canada's takeover of Atlantic Richfield Canada, a subsidiary, for $335 million.

Edgington Oil Approves Buckeye Pipeline Deal
The Edgington Oil Company, an independent oil refiner with sales of $127.5 million in fiscal 1975, announced yesterday that its board of directors approved the sale of substantially all its assets to the Buckeye Pipeline Company, a subsidiary of the Pennsylvania Company. The latter is controlled by the Penn Central Transportation Company.

Alco Standard to Sell Coal Project Interest
The Alco Standard Corporation said it had agreed to sell its 38.8 percent interest in the Quintette coal project in British Columbia to the Mitsui Mining Company and Tokyo Bunko Ltd. of Tokyo.

Wildcatters Sink 83% of Wells, Lag in Finding Oil, Study Says
Wildcatters and other independents sink 83 percent of the exploratory wells, but the major oil companies have discovered most of the oil and gas reserves of the United States, a petroleum economist, John Lichtblau, said yesterday.

Cash Prices
Tuesday, June 8, 1976
(Prices in N.Y., unless otherwise noted)

Advertisements for various services and products, including 'Rings', 'Parent of S. & L. Ruled Insolvent', 'Reynolds Metals Says It Made Contributions', 'Bishops Score I.R.S. Plan On Church-Related Agencies', 'Money', 'Gold', and 'Loan for Cannery in Ghana'.

1250 الأصل

s in Soybeans and Wheat
Due to Show Strong Gains

From Page 33 Interest rates and higher cattle prices. Corn dropped on profit taking and reports of good cash sales by farmers in Chicago area markets. In very active trading, silver futures on the Commodity Exchange in New York lost a few cents but did not erase the preceding day's sharp gain. July silver closed at $4.78 1/2, down from $4.82 an ounce. There was a rumor that Nelson Bunker Hunt, the large silver speculator and leader of a Texas group of millionaires, had shipped some of his silver holdings from New York to London. Silver prices have been rising sharply recently, partly because of weakness in the British pound, leading speculators to put money into commodities as an inflation hedge. Also, Great Western United, of which Mr. Hunt is chairman, has announced that it is paying Panama in silver for its raw sugar deliveries to the company, a large sugar refiner. No further official news emanated either from the New York Mercantile Exchange or from the Commodity Futures Trading Commission yesterday about the on-going handling of the May potato default. Investigation Confirmed However, it was finally confirmed that the commission was investigating soybeans traded on the Chicago Board of Trade. The first news of it last week centered on churning activities — quick turnover of customer accounts by brokers to increase commissions. One observer yesterday said he thought the investigation was focusing now on local traders, large speculators who trade for their own accounts and do not deal with the public. A spokesman for the commission said he was carefully watching orange juice futures traded on the New York Cottoo Exchange. In Florida, meanwhile, Gov. Rubin Askew ordered an investigation of improper reporting of frozen concentrated orange juice statistics. The Florida Crocots Association said there might be 2 million to 5 million more gallons of concentrate than reported earlier for the 1976 growing season. This indicates a much larger supply, and it could mean a break for consumers, with prices lowered by a few cents a can. Arco Gasoline Price Up 1c The Atlantic Richfield Company announced yesterday a gasoline price rise of 1 cent a gallon in all marketing areas. The increase is in accordance with Federal Energy Administration regulations allowing partial recovery of higher raw material and other costs, Arco said.

GREEN GAIN GOAL

From Page 53 The purchase of 6 million tons of United States corn annual deliveries of 2.2 million tons far below the terms of the aid that "more money" will remain for the reform, only it needs to be set at about 2 million tons at Shortfall hat most of the in the planted last winter wheat accounts for it of the total. The Florida Crocots Association said there might be 2 million to 5 million more gallons of concentrate than reported earlier for the 1976 growing season. This indicates a much larger supply, and it could mean a break for consumers, with prices lowered by a few cents a can. Arco Gasoline Price Up 1c The Atlantic Richfield Company announced yesterday a gasoline price rise of 1 cent a gallon in all marketing areas. The increase is in accordance with Federal Energy Administration regulations allowing partial recovery of higher raw material and other costs, Arco said.

ies Issue Earnings

Table with columns for company names (e.g., AT&T, IBM, GE) and their earnings data for the period.

Listing of Prices for Contracts in Futures of Commodities

Large table listing various commodity futures contracts (e.g., Wheat, Soybeans, Corn, Gold) with their respective prices and market movements.

Other U.S. and Foreign Stock Exchanges
Municipal Unionist and Congressmen
In Clash Over New York City Salaries

Table showing stock market data for various exchanges including Midwest, Pacific, Toronto, and Montreal.

PHILADELPHIA

WASHINGTON, June 8 — A labor leader met privately today with members of the New York City Congressional delegation, who assailed him for what they termed "phony" municipal salaries and for holding out false hope of extension of Federal loans and a Federal takeover of welfare payments. The City's largest union and chairman of the Municipal Labor Committee, used charts and graphs to demonstrate to the legislators that New York City ranked 16th in its payments for municipal employees who provide "essential services." "Does that include teachers?" one of the Congressmen asked. "No, if you include teachers, we're No. 11," Mr. Gotbaum replied. "Does that include fringe benefits?" asked another legislator. "No," Mr. Gotbaum replied. Representative Edward I. Koch, Democrat of Manhattan, then asked Mr. Gotbaum, "What good does it do to tell us that we're No. 16 or No. 11, if you haven't put in the fringe benefits, which everybody says is killing us?" "Can't you give us one figure which will tell us what the average worker is getting all benefits included?" Mr. Koch asked. "That's not possible," replied Jack Bigel, a financial adviser to the union, who accompanied Mr. Gotbaum, along with Francis Rohatyn, chairman of the Municipal Assistance Committee.

MONTREAL

NEW YORK STATE'S special deputy comptroller monitoring New York City's austerity program said yesterday that $75.7 million of the $101.2 million in budget cuts proposed for the municipal hospitals could not be counted on because of a lack of detailed plans and uncertainty over closing down facilities. In a report to the state's Emergency Financial Control Board, the deputy comptroller, Sidney Schwartz, urged that the city insist that the Health and Hospitals Corporation, which runs the municipal hospitals, provide more detailed information. The report on the hospitals is one of a series Mr. Schwartz has issued in recent weeks criticizing the city's austerity plan. He charged that the city was not sure of $240 million worth of savings in its $388 million economy plan for 1977. Officials at the hospital corporation agreed yesterday that there was uncertainty, but they say that 70 million of their proposed cuts are now tied up in consideration by the three-man special panel set up last Thursday to make recommendations designed to avert a strike by an 18,000-member municipal hospital union.

AMSTERDAM

Representative Badillo, Democrat of the Bronx responded: "You can't continue to hold out to the public that the Feds are going to take over welfare. You know they are not." Mr. Badillo thereupon proposed an extension of the Federal loans beyond June 30, 1978, the Congressman said. "It's foolish to even talk about it," one Congressman told Mr. Gotbaum. "You'd just be fooling the public." Mr. Rohatyn told the group that there was an extension of businesses from New York City and said companies were seeking out of town now, rather than announcing that they were leaving. "If the trend continues, there will be no way of stopping a downward spiral," Mr. Rohatyn said. Mr. Rohatyn told the legislators that the technical aspects of bankruptcy had been re-

Foreign Stock Index

Table listing foreign stock indices for various countries including London, Zurich, Frankfurt, and Tokyo.

Municipal Unionist and Congressmen
In Clash Over New York City Salaries

searched and that all his research showed that there would be no saving. Representative Elizabeth Holtzman, Democrat of Brooklyn, told Mr. Gotbaum that "some of us are fighting very hard for New York City, but we want to know what we're bargaining away rent control. Is there any hidden agenda?" Mr. Rohatyn replied that "there was a lot of pressure by the banks and businesses to abolish rent control." Mr. Badillo then said that if the Municipal Assistance Corporation assumed a higher proportion of the short-term debt, this would be a diversion of tax revenues that would lead to a decrease in city services. But Mr. Rohatyn replied that there was no such expectation that Municipal Assistance Corporation would assume a higher proportion of the short-term debt. Representative Edward I. Koch, Democrat of Manhattan, then asked Mr. Gotbaum, "What good does it do to tell us that we're No. 16 or No. 11, if you haven't put in the fringe benefits, which everybody says is killing us?" "Can't you give us one figure which will tell us what the average worker is getting all benefits included?" Mr. Koch asked. "That's not possible," replied Jack Bigel, a financial adviser to the union, who accompanied Mr. Gotbaum, along with Francis Rohatyn, chairman of the Municipal Assistance Committee.

State Monitor Questions
Municipal Hospital Cuts

NEW YORK STATE'S special deputy comptroller monitoring New York City's austerity program said yesterday that $75.7 million of the $101.2 million in budget cuts proposed for the municipal hospitals could not be counted on because of a lack of detailed plans and uncertainty over closing down facilities. In a report to the state's Emergency Financial Control Board, the deputy comptroller, Sidney Schwartz, urged that the city insist that the Health and Hospitals Corporation, which runs the municipal hospitals, provide more detailed information. The report on the hospitals is one of a series Mr. Schwartz has issued in recent weeks criticizing the city's austerity plan. He charged that the city was not sure of $240 million worth of savings in its $388 million economy plan for 1977. Officials at the hospital corporation agreed yesterday that there was uncertainty, but they say that 70 million of their proposed cuts are now tied up in consideration by the three-man special panel set up last Thursday to make recommendations designed to avert a strike by an 18,000-member municipal hospital union.

Beame Weighs Plan to Replace
Two or Three Agency Heads

Declined to discuss the possible agency changes under consideration. Other management changes under way, he said, included a plan to consolidate the jobs of city inspectors' jobs so that one type of inspector could perform both health and consumer inspections in the same rounds, the Mayor's spokesman said. He said that the city's executive order and legislative proposals designed to allow agency-level innovations, such as the decision to purchase 65 containerization trucks as a device to speed garbage collection and cut truck crews from three to two members. "When you look at everything we're doing, I don't believe the Berger report's comments on management reflect the fact of what is happening," he said. In other fiscal-related developments yesterday, New York City sent its monthly austerity report to officials of the United States Treasury Department, with, as expected, Comptroller Harrison J. Goldin differing with the Mayor and contending that the city might be $100 million deeper into deficit to the coming budget year than the Mayor's estimate of $886 million.

BILL TO AID LIBRARIES
RECALLED BY MARCHI

ALBANY, June 8 — State Senator John J. Marchi, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, today abruptly recalled from the Governor's office a bill that had passed an additional $7 million in state aid to local library systems this year. The action came amid indications that Mr. Carey was likely to veto the library bill because it had passed although no provision had been made to pay for it in the state's delicately balanced financial plan. The move by Mr. Marchi, a Republican from Staten Island, was likely to have the library measure caught up in the anticipated haggling over the state's $20 million supplemental budget, which has yet to be appropriated by the Legislature. The other legislative sponsor of the bill was Assemblyman Burton G. Hecht, Democrat of the Bronx and chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. Although the Governor's office has never said that Mr. Carey would veto the library assistance bill, the indications were that he would feel compelled to do so. An aide to Mr. Carey suggested today that it would be up to the Legislature to decide what other programs the lawmakers would be willing to cut to pay for the library aid.

Continued From Page 1, Col. 3

Executive Order

The Mayor's program included a review by the City Commission on Human Rights of any new payroll program that the city employs with Federal equal employment guidelines. It also includes an executive order and legislative proposals designed to allow agency-level innovations, such as the decision to purchase 65 containerization trucks as a device to speed garbage collection and cut truck crews from three to two members. "When you look at everything we're doing, I don't believe the Berger report's comments on management reflect the fact of what is happening," he said. In other fiscal-related developments yesterday, New York City sent its monthly austerity report to officials of the United States Treasury Department, with, as expected, Comptroller Harrison J. Goldin differing with the Mayor and contending that the city might be $100 million deeper into deficit to the coming budget year than the Mayor's estimate of $886 million.

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE

Table listing cotton exchange data for New York, including various grades and their prices.

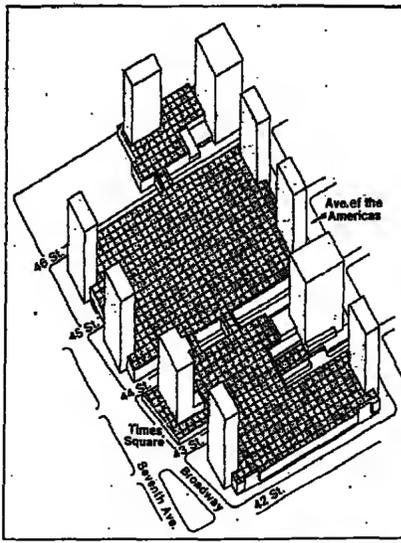

THE FRESH FUND

Table listing financial data for 'The Fresh Fund', including various categories and their values.

About Real Estate

Some Urge Convention Center in Midtown

By ALAN S. OSER
Last October Mayor Beame announced that the city could not finance the construction of a new convention and exhibition center on the Hudson River between 43d and 47th Streets.

Proposal for the convention center and associated high-rise buildings between Broadway and Avenue of the Americas.

Then the expected happened. New sites emerged. Of them all, only the 30th Street yards of the bankrupt Penn Central Transportation Company—a real estate holding company despite its name—made it to the study stage.

also because it is believed that the process of getting an urban renewal designation, condemning the land and clearing it would take years. Litigation anywhere along the line might tie up the process indefinitely.

development between the Avenue of the Americas and Seventh Avenue, from 42d to 47th Streets. The Regional Plan official suggested a look at the area from Seventh to Eighth Avenues between 41st and 43d Streets, facing the Port Authority bus terminal on Eighth Avenue.

of a Broadway convention center is an essential element in the rough scheme that Pomerance & Breines have recently worked up for their preferred location.

Their plan envisions a low-rise convention center with 384,200 square feet for trucking, storage and exhibition space at the subsurface level and 250,000 square feet available for retail use; a shopping arcade with 405,800 square feet at the street level; 562,000 square feet of exhibit-level space above grade, divided into three spaces, including one of 322,000 square feet and a height of 35 feet; plus smaller exhibit space and other facilities at a mezzanine level.

There would be a swimming pool, recreational facilities, amphitheater, restaurants, health club, sitting areas and the rest, plus on the avenue side for apartments and hotels with direct access to the center at street level.

The cross streets would remain open, but 43d and 45th Streets would be almost solidly bridged by the center. Over 44th and 46th there would be narrower pedestrian and vehicular bridges.

Environmental impact? "I can't see any environmental impact that would be of concern," said Ralph Pomerance. Trucks would be handled inside the facility through entrances on 43d and 45th Streets. The Convention Center Corporation itself, a creature of the city, would build the project wherever the city wants it to go.

LAB WILL BUILD IN COLLEGE POINT

MetPath Planning $9 Million Facility—To Hire 1,000

One of the country's largest medical laboratories has decided to build a $9 million facility in a Queens industrial park, Mayor Beame announced yesterday. The laboratory will get tax and financing advantage.

Dr. Paul A. Brown, chairman of New Jersey-based MetPath Inc., said he was "very excited" about his company's project in the College Point Industrial Park, which eventually will employ 1,000 people.

The Mayor said the city had provided an "excellent climate for growing and aggressive businesses," adding, "The city is always ready to talk to any business, large or small. We have the means to meet the needs of any enterprise."

There was one small hitch in the plan to begin operations in 1978. Dr. Brown said his company would not be interested in the arrangement unless the Legislature passed a city-sponsored bill that would permit MetPath to bill its out-of-state customers as it pleases.

The state's business law mandates that laboratories in the state bill patients directly for work done. The law, which was amended in 1970, sought to end fee-splitting between labs and physicians.

Freshman Democrats' Future Unsure

Continued From Page 41

trast to the way most delegation members work together in the interests of self-preservation.

"There's no other way he'd know what I do in committees," Mr. Downey said. Representative Norman F. Lent, Republican of Nassau and chairman of the New York State Congressional Campaign Committee, acknowledged that he had given Mr. Cohan background material on Mr. Downey's Congressional performance, submitting his own voting record as a frame of reference.

"There's no question that the Downey district is a swing district," Mr. Lent said. "We feel it can be won back."

Ambro Facing Hogan Mr. Downey has worked his district almost every weekend. "I haven't had a date in my district in six months," said Mr. Downey, a bachelor. "I haven't had two days off in six months. I've gotten so now that when I see a two-hour break, I think it's a vacation."

Why does he do it? "This is something I've always wanted to do," Mr. Downey said. "Very few people in life can say that."

His district edjoins that of another freshman Democrat, Representative Jerome Ambro Jr., former Supervisor of Huntington, who was elected with 52 percent of the vote in a district that is 2-to-1 Republican.

Representative Matthew F. McHugh of Ithaca, who was elected by 53 percent of the vote in a district that is 2-to-1 Republican, said, with a smile, "I haven't been campaigning; I've been working for my constituents."

"Rarely See My Children" Mr. McHugh, who serves on the Agriculture and Veterans Affairs Committees, expects to have 2,500 volunteers helping him campaign for re-election. Like many of the freshmen, Mr. McHugh said that his family life had suffered since he came to Washington.

"If I lost, my wife wouldn't be heartbroken," Mr. McHugh said. "Sometimes I wonder if I'm being too selfish. I rarely see my children. It's hard to develop deep friendships as you do in your hometown. While you see a lot of people every day, you don't have the time to spend on them."

The Republicans also feel that they have a chance, although a smaller chance, of recapturing the seats now held by John LaFalce of Buffalo and Stanley Lundine of Jamestown. Only one other Democrat has represented Mr. LaFalce's district, and none other has represented Mr. Lundine's district, although one was elected in 1872, he died before taking office.

The Republicans are also concentrating on the upstate district of Edward W. Pattison of Troy, who was elected with 54 percent of the vote.

"It's difficult shifting gears from being challenger to being the incumbent," Mr. Pattison said. "You're the criticizer, not the criticizer. It's hard to get geared up for campaigning. When you're the challenger, you're there."

Describes Incumbency Mr. Pattison, who publishes the names of all lobbyists who visit his office, recently wrote a newspaper column about the advantages of incumbency.

"One of the most common criticisms of public officials who owe their positions to the voters and who must periodically run for re-election is that the official is using his office and all the powers that go with it in his effort to be re-elected," Mr. Pattison wrote. "In many ways, the assertion is true. It is also unavoidable. The principal dilemma is that the incumbent and the candidate are the same person."

Representative William J. Hughes of Camden, who was elected by 54 percent of the vote in a district that is 2-to-1 Republican, said, "I have a lot of people every day, you don't have the time to spend on them."

The Republicans also feel that they have a chance, although a smaller chance, of recapturing the seats now held by John LaFalce of Buffalo and Stanley Lundine of Jamestown. Only one other Democrat has represented Mr. LaFalce's district, and none other has represented Mr. Lundine's district, although one was elected in 1872, he died before taking office.

"Congress is the world's greatest university," said Mr. LaFalce, who serves on the Banking and Small Business Committees. "Every day we have to make judgments on issues that should require a Ph.D. It's hard to think of any other job that could involve you more in the passion and action of your time."

Mr. Lundine, who represents the 2-to-1 Republican district once served by Charles E. Goodell, noted that even President Lyndon B. Johnson had failed to carry his district in the Democratic landslide of 1964.

"I can't say that I like it," Mr. Lundine said. "That will depend on whether I can accomplish anything, and it's hard for me to tell that now." Mr. Lundine serves on the Banking Committee.

The Republicans also have their eye on four New Jersey seats. They believe that their best chance is to recapture the Bergen County seat of Andrew Maguire, who once directed the Jamaica Planning Office in New York City when John V. Lindsay was Mayor. Mr. Maguire won his Congressional seat with 50 percent of the vote in a three-way race.

Door-to-Door Discussions Mr. Maguire, who holds a Ph.D. in government from Harvard University, has spent his weekends going door-to-door, talking to constituents. He does one election district each weekend, visiting 150 families in six hours.

"I feel more alive than I ever have in my life," Mr. Maguire said. "This place offers you everything that you would ever be willing to do, times 10, by way of challenge."

Representative William J. Hughes of Camden, City defeatist Charles W. Santoro Jr., the former candidate for Governor of New Jersey and President Nixon's major defender during the impeachment debate held by the House Judiciary Committee.

"Have to Pinch Myself" "Every oow and then, I have to pinch myself to prove that I'm here," Mr. Hughes said.

Congress has become all-consuming, he has found. "I have a box that hasn't been out of the storage shed in two years," Mr. Hughes said. "I live on the beach, and I haven't been in the ocean."

Republicans believe that they also have a chance, although a smaller chance, of regaining the seats held by Representatives James J. Florio of Camden and Helen S. Meyner of Phillipsburg.

Representative Millicent Fenwick of Barnardsville, N.J., the lone freshman Republican elected in the tristate area in 1974, is not considered vulnerable by the Democratic Congressional leadership. Mrs. Fenwick won with only 54 percent of the vote, she represents a traditionally Republican district, and has worked her district well and is a formidable campaigner, a committee official explained.

There are two freshmen Democrats from Connecticut, Christopher Dodd of Norwich and Toby Moffett of Unionville. Neither of whom is considered vulnerable by the Republicans.

Dataproducts

NOW INTERVIEWING IN NEW YORK JUNE 8 & 9

When you think in terms of your career... think about a company that has grown to be the world's leading independent producer of line printers. Our reputation is built on quality, backed by innovative approaches in an expanding industry. We are seeking professionals to join our facilities located in both Sunnyvale and Woodland Hills.

Sunnyvale, California

On the lush and smog-free Northern California coast, Sunnyvale, a highly desirable area... just minutes away from beaches, where you can enjoy sailing, fishing, or just relaxing, and also near mountains for winter recreation. And just minutes away from one of the most unique and beautiful cities in the world, San Francisco. The Sunnyvale facility is a start-up division involved in electrical design and the development of new product line-impact printers. This new and growing division offers many challenging ground floor opportunities. We're interviewing for the following positions to work in our Sunnyvale facility:

Electrical Project Engineer

Overall responsibility for the electrical design and development of the matrix printer. Responsible for the technical direction of engineers, designers, and technicians in both digital and analog areas. Experience will include knowledge of micro processor technology, power supplies, power driver circuitry, servo/stepper control, and interface requirements. Experience directing efforts of other engineers and technicians is essential. Minimum qualifications are BSSEE and 5 years experience in business equipment or related field. Experience must also include budgeting, scheduling of tasks, and writing of proposals and specifications.

Senior Analog Engineer

Experience must include circuit design, utilization of power circuits, D/A converters, knowledge of drivers and receivers, cable noise, cross talk and mismatching. Must be familiar with grounding and system noise problems. Design experience in power supplies, motor controls (servo and stepper), amplifiers, and switching circuits is essential along with some electronic packaging and harnessing. Minimum qualifications are BSSEE and 3 years experience.

Staff Designer

Seven to 10 years experience in electro-mechanical systems and modules. Specific experience with impact printers and/or related peripherals. Utilizing state-of-the-art mechanical devices, proper moving systems, and packaging concept involving structural foam required. Must work from conception thru production and be capable of making preliminary design layouts, direct the work of designers and draftsmen, and coordinate documentation requirements. Knowledge or experience with high volume designs utilizing functional inspection and gauging techniques desirable.

Woodland Hills, California

Located in sunny Southern California just 10 miles northeast of Malibu Beach. The Woodland Hills facility is involved in the manufacture of computer line printers for general purpose and small business computer systems. This established and growing facility offers ongoing opportunity for professionals in a state-of-the-art environment. We're interviewing for the following position to work in our Woodland Hills facility:

Mechanical Project Engineer

Outstanding growth-opportunity exists in newly formed line printer development group for creative and imaginative project leader. Experience should include vibration, stress, structural, dynamic, and thermal analysis of electro-mechanical equipment. Responsibilities will also include product definition and generalization of product specification. BSME required, MSME preferred. Due to our continued growth, we have ongoing need for engineers in the following disciplines for both of our facilities. Although we are not interviewing for these positions at this time, your resumes are welcome.

- ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS - Analog Circuit Design - Logic Design - Firmware - Microprocessors - Servo Design - Motor Design - Power Supplies
MECHANICAL ENGINEERS - Electro-mechanical Design - Mechanisms - Servo Design COMPONENTS/STANDARDS ENGINEERS - Electronic Components - Electro-mechanical Components - Circuit Design

If qualified and interested in any of the above opportunities that we're interviewing for, call GUY CARTER, TUESDAY OR WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8 OR 9, AT (212) PL 5-5834. If an interview is not convenient at this time, send complete resume including salary history and requirements to: Guy Carter, Employment Manager Dept. AV

DATAPRODUCTS CORPORATION 6219 DeSoto Ave., Woodland Hills, CA 91365 Equal opportunity employer m/f

THE PRINTER COMPANY

Dataproducts

Los Angeles 6 non-stops. San Francisco 4 non-stops daily including widebody 1011 and 747 serv. TWA logo.

Vertical sidebar of various advertisements including 'Prime Office Space', 'Steel & Concrete', '60,000 sq ft', 'Mechanical Project Engineer', and 'TWA'.

Handwritten Arabic text at the bottom of the page.

INTERVIEWING IN NEW YORK
JUNE 8 & 9

Sunnyvale, California

Senior Analog Engineer

Staff Designer

Woodland Hills, California

Mechanical Project Engineer

Los Angeles

San Francisco

INDUSTRIAL COMMERCIAL MORTGAGES

Prime Office Space... Now Leasing Immediate Occupancy

5 Minutes From Wall St. Exchange Place Jersey City U.N.A. PLAZA

- A New 15-Story Office Building
- Two Upper Floors Available
- 19,000 Sq. Ft. Each, With Divide
- Traffic Parking in Building
- Directly Across from World Trade Center
- Spectacular View of New York Harbor
- No Real Estate Tax Escalation
- No Occupancy Tax
- Priced Right from PATH Tubes
- One Block from PATH Tubes

U.N.A. Corp., 38 Montgomery St., Jersey City, N.J. 07302
 (201) 451-2200 Brokers Protected (212) 227-5258

STEEL & CONCRETE BUILDING FOR LEASE OR SALE

GREENPOINT SECTION 60,000 Sq. Ft. 3 Floors Plus Full Basement

WILL SACRIFICE! We're Ready to Make a Deal!

Leading Platform

J. Horowitz & Son, Inc. (212) 687-5111

OUR ELEVATORS Can take almost ANY TRUCK TO YOUR FLOOR

601 W 26 ST.

- Manufacturing/Warehousing
- Shipping Offices
- Industrial Facilities for trailers up to 50 ft. long
- Freight Terminal Facility
- 24 Hour Access
- Lighting, heating, plumbing, fire
- Water supply in premises
- Overhead & fully sealed
- Powerful, high, tank elev.
- Costs from 100K to 250K
- Special rates of 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 35, 40, 45, 50, 55, 60, 65, 70, 75, 80, 85, 90, 95, 100, 105, 110, 115, 120, 125, 130, 135, 140, 145, 150, 155, 160, 165, 170, 175, 180, 185, 190, 195, 200, 205, 210, 215, 220, 225, 230, 235, 240, 245, 250, 255, 260, 265, 270, 275, 280, 285, 290, 295, 300, 305, 310, 315, 320, 325, 330, 335, 340, 345, 350, 355, 360, 365, 370, 375, 380, 385, 390, 395, 400, 405, 410, 415, 420, 425, 430, 435, 440, 445, 450, 455, 460, 465, 470, 475, 480, 485, 490, 495, 500, 505, 510, 515, 520, 525, 530, 535, 540, 545, 550, 555, 560, 565, 570, 575, 580, 585, 590, 595, 600, 605, 610, 615, 620, 625, 630, 635, 640, 645, 650, 655, 660, 665, 670, 675, 680, 685, 690, 695, 700, 705, 710, 715, 720, 725, 730, 735, 740, 745, 750, 755, 760, 765, 770, 775, 780, 785, 790, 795, 800, 805, 810, 815, 820, 825, 830, 835, 840, 845, 850, 855, 860, 865, 870, 875, 880, 885, 890, 895, 900, 905, 910, 915, 920, 925, 930, 935, 940, 945, 950, 955, 960, 965, 970, 975, 980, 985, 990, 995, 1000

Call Alvin Schwartz 212-687-6400

INSTANT OFFICE

- Fully furnished executive offices on flexible basis
- Complete range of secretarial and communications services
- Mail, telephone, telex and message facilities

NOW AT SPECIAL SUMMER RATES

World-Wide Business Centers
 575 Madison Avenue at 57th St.
 Telephone: 486-7333

STANFORD WHITE BROWNSTONE

23 E. 39th St.

Third Floor
 Approx. 2000 Sq. Ft.
 Ideal photo studio, art gallery or professional. High ceilings—spacious

Call 686-4818

1345 AVENUE OF THE AMERICAS Tower Floor With Magnificent Views

13,000 Sq. Ft.

Short or Long Term Lease

Call 687-9200

274 Mad Ave

Cor 40th Street

Approx. 84,000 Sq. Ft.

Modern Installation
 Raze Rent. Brokers Prot.

Abramson Brothers
 80 E. 42 St. MU 7-2855

1110 SECOND AVE.

(COR. 98th St.)

3,800 SQ. FT. Will divide.

24 hour bldg. elevator to parking garage. Ideal decorator/designer.

Call Richard Kalkow (212) 421-8400

4 HIGH FLOORS

10th to 13th

11,000 sq. ft. EACH

Will Subdivide

SCHLANG BROS. & CO., INC.
 75 MAIDEN LANE, N.Y. (212) 260-3430

145 E. 32 St

Opp Post Office

ENTIRE THIRD FLOOR

7,200 Sq. Ft.

$4.00-$4.75 per sq. ft. (Depending on Terms)

Brokers Protected

Abramson Brothers
 80 E. 42 St. MU 7-2855

232 Mad Ave

Cor 37th St.

Raze Rent. 3 Adj Units

200-1700-3000

WELL DIVIDE

Modern Installation
 Brokers Protected

Abramson Brothers
 80 E. 42 St. MU 7-2855

3 VACANT BLDGS

90x100

50' x West of 8th Ave

Plans For 65 Apts.

MUST SELL! 421-9620

Brokers Protected

FINANCIAL/TRADE CENTER COMPUTER SPACE

4500 Sq Ft With Divide

Part Raised Floor

OWNER, 212/84-3180

ROCKEFELLER CENTER

1230 W. of American

SPERRY RAND BUILDING

6,000 SQ. FT.

$4.95 PER SQ. FT.

Center only • Many who-lease

Brokers Protected

Call Mrs. Corwin
 (212) 691-6480

ONE ASTOR PLAZA

Splendid offices
 Dramatic views

WE'LL MEET YOUR NEEDS

Call Henry Minskoff, Jerome Minskoff or Doc Adler 765-8700

SAM MINSKOFF & SONS

PRIME QUEENS SUBLEASE AVAILABLE

ONE LeFrak city plaza

Prestige 20-story centrally air-conditioned office tower at the NE/C Horace Harding Blvd. (L.I.E.) & Junction Blvd.

- Approx. 72,000 sq. ft. (will divide)
- Private Elevator
- Additional Supplemental A.C. System
- Existing Lighting Above Standard
- Existing Lease exp. 2/4/81... Extension possible...

Consult Sublessor's Exclusive Agent for Inspection and Additional Information:

Charles L. Goldenberg-PRESIDENT (212) 344-0044
 R/R Bld. Mgrs.

BROKERS COOPERATION INVITED

PRIME QUEENS SUBLEASE AVAILABLE

27 EAST 39th STREET

Fully air-conditioned 5 story bldg., partially owner-occupied. 4th & 5th flrs each approx 3000 sq. ft. available now. Self-service elevator.

Require Owner—Henry Olsen
686-4010

Brokers protected

OUTSTANDING TOWER FLOOR SUBLEASE

1379 AVE OF AMERICAS corner of 56th St.

6-8,800 Sq. Ft.

Call Summer Baum 682-4020

332 Park Ave South

11,500 to 57,500 SQ FT

Mod building near Post Ofc. Attract lobby. Ideal for offices. Showm & shipping WILL BUILD TO SUIT

Call Sam Jones, New Yorker
WILLIAMS 312-4000

251 PARK AV. SO.

(Northeast Cor. 29 St.)

ENTIRE FLOOR

6,500 Sq. Ft.

Prestige Building
 Central A/C—Excellent Light
 Modern Lobby—Elevators

MR. KING 765-1855

THE CITY OF NEW YORK MUNICIPAL SERVICE ADMINISTRATION DEPARTMENT OF REAL ESTATE

PUBLIC AUCTION

417 PARCELS

OF SURPLUS CITY-OWNED REAL ESTATE

TUESDAY, JUNE 22, 1976
 PROPERTIES IN MANHATTAN

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 23, 1976
 PROPERTIES IN BROOKLYN, BRONX, QUEENS AND STATEN ISLAND

STARTING AT 8:30 A.M. BOTH DAYS

FORMER HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING
 42nd St., Between 2nd & 3rd Aves., Manhattan

AUCTIONEER
 EDWARD A. ELLERBE
 200 WEST 72ND STREET
 NEW YORK, NEW YORK 10023
 EN 2-0702

FOR INFORMATION:
 WRITE OR CALL SALES DIVISION
 DEPARTMENT OF REAL ESTATE
 2 LAFAYETTE ST., ROOM 1903
 NEW YORK 10007
 566-7350

JOHN T. CARROLL, ADMINISTRATOR
IRA DUCHAN, COMMISSIONER

MODERN MANUFACTURING OFFICES FOR LEASE

You can sublet this 23,500 sq. ft. light manufacturing package in mid-Manhattan:

- New design lobby
- Second floor air-conditioned quarters
- Shop, warehouse, spray paint booth, freight elevator
- Many more administrative/drafting offices
- Excellent deal available
- Take possession in ninety days

Call Jerry Standig to discuss:
(212) 679-0400

96,000 SQ. FT. on 6+ ACRES

PATERSON, N.J./5 MINUTES TO ROUTE 80

FULLY AIR CONDITIONED

Spectacular setting on site parking for 400 cars (more available); cyclone fenced; all utilities. Excellent lighting: 2 T.B. loading docks plus 2 drive-in doors.

Exclusive Broker Alexander Summer Co.
 222 CEDAR LANE TEANECK, N.J. 07666
 (201) 836-4500

1328 Bway

Corner 34 St. & 8th Ave.

Attractive office units

Entire 2d floor

26,000 Sq. Ft.

Call to Sell: 300-4000

Call to Rent: PE 6-1282

WELLSLEY SPEAR INC.

HILLSBOROUGH, NJ (Somerset County) OFFICE BUILDING SITE FOR SALE

10 acres located on Route 206, between Princeton and Somerville, N.J. (Opp. Partridge Rd.). Property zoned for office, commercial or business use. Site plan approved. Very attractive rental terms or sale price.

Write or call Ben Fisher
 Fisher Hill Associates
 67 Walnut Ave.
 Clark, N.J. 07066
 (201) 574-1900
 ALL INQUIRIES HELD IN STRICTEST CONFIDENCE

4055 10th Ave

(West 216th St.)

67,000 Sq Ft

on 2 Floors

Direct Drive Into Both Floors

Call Exclusive Agents
James R. Doras Co., Inc. 212-661-1000

MONROE BUILDERS DREAM! 300 ACRES

12,000' road front. Zoned 1 Acre 4 Beautiful Houses + Pool + Stone Barn. Ideal for Development

Brookline Ave. Blue Corp. Invited

Brakins, Porter & Winlock
 14 Mack Ave., White Plains, N.Y. (914) 346-7878

29 B'WAY

Exceptional Office Space

300 to 8300 SQ. FT.

No office without a window

River Views, Central A/C, Attractive Rentals

John Aron Inc. 425-2350

GREENWICH 15,000 SQ. FT.

Lease • Office • Low Cost • Plus

60,000 SQ. FT.

Call Exclusive Agent

Rostenberg Doern
 1 E. 86th St. NY 10029
 (914) 761-4000

SALE - LEASEBACK 11% + NET

Tax Sheltered

Price includes property. Prior 23,000,000. Substantial gain. Ideal investment package. Trust fund.

H. B. Cantor 212 738-8484
 250 West 43rd St. NYC 10036

BRUCKNER BLVD 20,000 sq. ft. 2 FLOORS

SALE OR LEASE

Call Mrs. M. Alexander
MR. ALEXANDER 564-2240

Your business home should be convenient to everything.

Operating a successful business is a complex process, and easy access to your business needs is a valuable asset.

Located in the heart of White Plains' thriving downtown, White Plains Plaza is less than an hour from Manhattan's Financial District and just minutes from the major airports. Surrounding the Plaza are all the business services you need including banks, cafes, restaurants, shopping—many situated in the Plaza itself.

White Plains Plaza is a complete business environment.

White Plains Plaza—your business home.

Office Space—1500 sq. ft. and up. For more information call: ROSTENBERG-DOERN (914) 761-4000

White Plains Plaza
 White Plains, N.Y.

FOR SALE THE FORMER MACY'S WAREHOUSE

LONG ISLAND CITY, N.Y., N.Y.

Four inter-connected 6 to 10-story bldgs on 2.7 acres in Long Island City, Queens, minutes from mid-Manhattan via the Queens Midtown Tunnel and the 59th St. Bridge. Easy access to the L.I. Expressway and the Brooklyn-Queens Expressway, with direct routes to JFK and LaGuardia Airports.

Over 1,000,000 Sq. Ft. with floor areas ranging from 57,400 Sq. Ft. up to 115,000 Sq. Ft.

- Buildings of reinforced concrete, fire resistant, fully sprinklered.
- 12 freight, 2 passenger elevators
- 69 off-street truck-loading bays.
- Rail siding of LIRR with six loading doors.

Inquire Mr. M. J. Kaufmann
JAMES FELT Realty Services, Inc. (212) 421-2100
 Brokers protected.

EXCEPTIONAL SPACE NO LABOR OR OPERATING ESCALATIONS WILL BUILD TO TENANT'S SPECIFICATIONS

71 FIFTH AVE. (COR. 15 ST.)
 ENTIRE FL. APPROX 13,000 SQ. FT. / $2.50 PER FT.
 • MFG JEWELERS BLDG • FULL SECURITY • CENTRAL AIR COND. • MANY EXTRAS

30 IRVING PLACE (COR. 16 ST.)
 ENTIRE FL. APPROX. 8,500 SQ. FT. / $2.80 PER FT.
 • CENTRAL AIR COND • MODERN BUILDING • GREAT SHIPPING FACILITIES

30 EAST 33 ST. (OFF PARK AVE.)
 ENTIRE FL. APPROX. 8,500 SQ. FT. / $3.50 PER FT.
 • CENTRAL AIR COND • OFF-CORRIDOR • MFG-DISTRIB

ALL BUILDINGS FULLY SPRINKLERED LOWEST INSURANCE RATES

INQUIRE AT BLDG'S OR CALL 212-371-7900
 BROKERS PROTECTED

Prestigious Connecticut Location

12,000 Sq. Ft. Unique Office space For Lease

Exceptional Architecture

Metropolitan Convenience in a Rural Atmosphere

Adjacent Parking

Minutes to Interstate Highway

All Facilities

Principals Only

TF 5046 TIMES

2nd Mtge For Sale

(on Madison 8th Ave Old Bldg)

To Earn 15% Net-Net

Payable $312,500 Mo. on each unit

Only 12 Units Available

STONEY M. SIEGEL
 3276 Woodland Ave. LICHTEN, NY 11556
 (516) 796-3700

INVEST IN CANADIAN ACREAGE FROM $47 AN ACRE

Small monthly payments for beautiful Canadian land, abundant in wild life. Acquired through estate liquidations, properties are in choice locations. Many with lake or river frontage, suitable for hunting, fishing, camping, cottages, flower nurseries. Investment potential enormous!

Write for free catalogue. This Guaranteed. 1 Year Exchange Privilege

CANADIAN LANDS
 Page, NYC, 286 Convent Ave., NY, Toronto, Ont. Canada M5S 1S8
 (416) 799-4336

FAIRFIELD SHOPPING CENTER

Weston Post Rd to I 8 & 2nd West St

IMMEDIATE OCCUPANCY

up to 6,000 sq ft. — including in excess of 2000 sq ft. occupied by NY Grand SPAC (up to 15,000 sq ft) in expansion of this area. Excellent shopping center available the next Fall

ALBERT D. PHELPS INC.
 8615 Riverside Dr. NY 11411
 (212) 584-9500

PROTECT YOURSELF!

BULLET RESISTANT

PLEXIGLAS

LEXAN • LEXGARD • GLASS

WE SHIP ANYWHERE

A-POREX CORP.
 2300 SECOND AVE., NYC 10028
 (212) 864-0000

Every Wednesday and Friday in The New York Times

Special selling opportunities for real estate advertisers.

For full particulars, write or call Chris Ragona, manager.

The New York Times
 Display Real Estate Advertising Department
 Times Square, New York, N.Y. 10036
 (212) 556-1581

139
140
141
142
143
144
145
146
147
148
149
150
151
152
153
154
155
156
157
158
159
160
161
162
163
164
165
166
167
168
169
170
171
172
173
174
175
176
177
178
179
180
181
182
183
184
185
186
187
188
189
190
191
192
193
194
195
196
197
198
199
200

201
202
203
204
205
206
207
208
209
210
211
212
213
214
215
216
217
218
219
220
221
222
223
224
225
226
227
228
229
230
231
232
233
234
235
236
237
238
239
240
241
242
243
244
245
246
247
248
249
250
251
252
253
254
255
256
257
258
259
260
261
262
263
264
265
266
267
268
269
270
271
272
273
274
275
276
277
278
279
280
281
282
283
284
285
286
287
288
289
290
291
292
293
294
295
296
297
298
299
300

301
302
303
304
305
306
307
308
309
310
311
312
313
314
315
316
317
318
319
320
321
322
323
324
325
326
327
328
329
330
331
332
333
334
335
336
337
338
339
340
341
342
343
344
345
346
347
348
349
350
351
352
353
354
355
356
357
358
359
360
361
362
363
364
365
366
367
368
369
370
371
372
373
374
375
376
377
378
379
380
381
382
383
384
385
386
387
388
389
390
391
392
393
394
395
396
397
398
399
400

401
402
403
404
405
406
407
408
409
410
411
412
413
414
415
416
417
418
419
420
421
422
423
424
425
426
427
428
429
430
431
432
433
434
435
436
437
438
439
440
441
442
443
444
445
446
447
448
449
450
451
452
453
454
455
456
457
458
459
460
461
462
463
464
465
466
467
468
469
470
471
472
473
474
475
476
477
478
479
480
481
482
483
484
485
486
487
488
489
490
491
492
493
494
495
496
497
498
499
500

501
502
503
504
505
506
507
508
509
510
511
512
513
514
515
516
517
518
519
520
521
522
523
524
525
526
527
528
529
530
531
532
533
534
535
536
537
538
539
540
541
542
543
544
545
546
547
548
549
550
551
552
553
554
555
556
557
558
559
560
561
562
563
564
565
566
567
568
569
570
571
572
573
574
575
576
577
578
579
580
581
582
583
584
585
586
587
588
589
590
591
592
593
594
595
596
597
598
599
600

601
602
603
604
605
606
607
608
609
610
611
612
613
614
615
616
617
618
619
620
621
622
623
624
625
626
627
628
629
630
631
632
633
634
635
636
637
638
639
640
641
642
643
644
645
646
647
648
649
650
651
652
653
654
655
656
657
658
659
660
661
662
663
664
665
666
667
668
669
670
671
672
673
674
675
676
677
678
679
680
681
682
683
684
685
686
687
688
689
690
691
692
693
694
695
696
697
698
699
700

701
702
703
704
705
706
707
708
709
710
711
712
713
714
715
716
717
718
719
720
721
722
723
724
725
726
727
728
729
730
731
732
733
734
735
736
737
738
739
740
741
742
743
744
745
746
747
748
749
750
751
752
753
754
755
756
757
758
759
760
761
762
763
764
765
766
767
768
769
770
771
772
773
774
775
776
777
778
779
780
781
782
783
784
785
786
787
788
789
790
791
792
793
794
795
796
797
798
799
800

801
802
803
804
805
806
807
808
809
810
811
812
813
814
815
816
817
818
819
820
821
822
823
824
825
826
827
828
829
830
831
832
833
834
835
836
837
838
839
840
841
842
843
844
845
846
847
848
849
850
851
852
853
854
855
856
857
858
859
860
861
862
863
864
865
866
867
868
869
870
871
872
873
874
875
876
877
878
879
880
881
882
883
884
885
886
887
888
889
890
891
892
893
894
895
896
897
898
899
900

901
902
903
904
905
906
907
908 909
910
911
912
913
914
915
916
917
918
919
920
921
922
923
924
925
926
927
928
929
930
931
932
933
934
935
936
937
938
939
940
941
942
943
944
945
946
947
948
949
950
951
952
953
954
955
956
957
958
959
960
961
962
963
964
965
966
967
968
969
970
971
972
973
974
975
976
977
978
979
980
981
982
983
984
985
986
987
988
989
990

991
992
993
994
995
996
997
998
999
1000

Home buyers have
MORE HOUSES
 to choose from in
THE NEW YORK TIMES
 than in all other New York newspapers combined

VACATION—
LEISURE HOMES

HOW TO PLANT A SEED AND
WATCH AN ESTATE GROW

WESTHAMPTON BEACH

WEST HAMPTON

POCONO AREA

SPARTA

POCONO AREA

STANFORD HI-RISE BLDG STRAWBERRY HILL 77-71 STRAWBERRY HILL AV... 1 BEDRM APT... $275

WANTED 2 BR FURN APT TO RENT... 1100 1/2 BLDG... 2 BR APT... $300

APARTMENTS TO SHARE 1006 1/2 BR 1 BATH... $150

ROOMS - 1906 2 BR 1 BATH... $150

FURN. HOMES - EAST SIDE 1901 2 BR 1 BATH... $150

HOTEL GEORGE 60 WESTERN ROOMS ALL WITH PRIVATE BATH... WKLY $42 to $70

WEEKLY $42 to $70 2 BR 1 BATH... $150

EXCLUSIVELY FOR WOMEN HOTEL MORTON WASHINGTON... $35-$41

WEEKLY $35-$41 2 BR 1 BATH... $150

LANCASTER HOTEL 40 WKLY $10 DAILY... $150

PICKWICK ARMS NEW LOW RATES $37-$41... $150

ALLERTON HOUSE EXCLUSIVE EASTSIDE... $150

HOTEL PENN TERMINAL 41 Penn St... $150

HOTEL DIXIE ALL PRIVATE BATH & RADIO... $150

WEEKLY $45 to $84 2 BR 1 BATH... $150

HOTEL EMPIRE At Lincoln Center... $150

STAFF ACCTG 1917 2 BR 1 BATH... $150

EMPLOYMENT AGENCIES 2500 Brody Agency 274 MADISON AVE... 889-5400

AC.A. 400 Madison Agency 400-0000

Employ Center Bldg 25 W 14 St

GENEVA $125wk to $200 yr 2 BR 1 BATH... $150

ACCOUNTING SUPERVISOR HEALTH & HOSPITAL... $150

A/R ADJUSTMENTS CLERK Major credit corp... CALL: 685-5338

ADMIN ASST/EXEC SECY Experienced responsible & efficient... $150

ADVTG FEED P/STAGE MANAGER ACCTG SUPERV $30,000+ BOSTON Solid exp... $150

AIR CONDITIONING SERVICE MANAGER For residential & commercial... $150

As-Cond/Refrig Mechanic 5 yrs exp... $150

Jr Secy $160-175+ Norm Lockie 11845 (East 118th) 229-8000

AIRLINE CUST SVCS REPS AIRLINE RES/TKT AGENTS... $150

ART DEPT MANAGER Creative person capable of directing... $150

ART STUDIO GUY/GR FR... $150

ART TYPESETER $12,000... $150

ART LAYOUT $13-18,000... $150

ART/TYPESETTER $12,000... $150

BANK FEED P/STAGE MANAGER ACCTG SUPERV $30,000+ BOSTON Solid exp... $150

TELLERS COMMERCIAL BANKING SALEM ASSOC... $150

FX TRADER STRUTLINGS 130 BROADWAY... $150

BANK TELLER TRAINING $55-60,000... $150

BOOKKEEPER/CLERK $150... $150

CABINET MAKERS Experienced cabinet maker... $150

CATERING DEPT. MGR & BAR/STAFF MGR... $150

CHARGE CLERK PIZZA CHARGE ORDER EXP... $150

CHASER-POULISHER... $150

CHAUFFEUR One of the top chauffeur jobs in N.Y... $150

CHAUFFEUR-EXP... $150

CHEF Immediate opportunity for chef... $150

CHEF-GRANDMANGER... $150

CHEF-FRENCH... $150

CHEMICAL ENGR... $150

CHEMIST To assist chemist... $150

CLERK TYPIST-FEE PAID $160... $150

COUNSELORS, I.P.H. INTERVIEWING... $150

CREDIT MANAGER... $150

DIETITIAN THERAPEUTIC... $150

DIETITIAN... $150

ENGR ELECTRO... $150

EXECUTIVE... $150

In one recent week, 428 jobs for accountants were advertised here on the Classified Pages of The New York Times. No. 1 in New York in job advertising.

FRUIT &amp; PRODUCE          Experienced for high volume self-serve...  FRUIT &amp; PRODUCE          Experienced for high volume self-serve...  FRUIT &amp; PRODUCE          Experienced for high volume self-serve...	GAL/GUY FRIDAY          Ad agency, copy, illustration, design...  GAL/GUY FRIDAY          Ad agency, copy, illustration, design...  GAL/GUY FRIDAY          Ad agency, copy, illustration, design...	ART GALLERY          Artist director, 8 days a week...  ART GALLERY          Artist director, 8 days a week...  ART GALLERY          Artist director, 8 days a week...	HOTEL-Asst Bookkeeper          Hotel, 1000 rooms, 24 hr...  HOTEL-Asst Bookkeeper          Hotel, 1000 rooms, 24 hr...  HOTEL-Asst Bookkeeper          Hotel, 1000 rooms, 24 hr...	Health Claims Processor          1-2 yrs exp, processing health...  Health Claims Processor          1-2 yrs exp, processing health...  Health Claims Processor          1-2 yrs exp, processing health...	KEYPUNCH Operator          1-2 yrs exp, processing...  KEYPUNCH Operator          1-2 yrs exp, processing...  KEYPUNCH Operator          1-2 yrs exp, processing...	LEGAL SECY          1-2 yrs exp, processing...  LEGAL SECY          1-2 yrs exp, processing...  LEGAL SECY          1-2 yrs exp, processing...	MAG CARD II Secretary          If you are in Mag Card...  MAG CARD II Secretary          If you are in Mag Card...  MAG CARD II Secretary          If you are in Mag Card...	LICENSED ELECTRICIAN          For home or commercial...  LICENSED ELECTRICIAN          For home or commercial...  LICENSED ELECTRICIAN          For home or commercial...	MANICURIST-PEDICURIST          Must be exp, English-Spanish...  MANICURIST-PEDICURIST          Must be exp, English-Spanish...  MANICURIST-PEDICURIST          Must be exp, English-Spanish...
--	--	--	--	--	---	--	--	---	--

SECRETARIES

SECRETARIES          to top executives          Billion dollar Blue-Chip corporation...  SECRETARIES          to top executives          Billion dollar Blue-Chip corporation...	EXPERTS          We are needed in the placement of...  EXPERTS          We are needed in the placement of...  EXPERTS          We are needed in the placement of...	SECRETARIES          with and without steno          The World's Leading Advertis Agency...  SECRETARIES          with and without steno          The World's Leading Advertis Agency...	SECRETARIES          We'd like to hear from YOU!          If you are as good of your thing as...  SECRETARIES          We'd like to hear from YOU!          If you are as good of your thing as...	SECRETARIES          Be An International DIPLOMAT          Parlez-Vous Francais?  SECRETARIES          Be An International DIPLOMAT          Parlez-Vous Francais?	SECRETARIES          NO STENO...          $160-$180  SECRETARIES          NO STENO...          $160-$180	INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL          FREE HOTEL ACCOMMODATIONS          4 DAY WEEK WITH OR WITHOUT STENO  INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL          FREE HOTEL ACCOMMODATIONS          4 DAY WEEK WITH OR WITHOUT STENO	SECRETARY          INTERNATIONAL Dept. of the world famous          Diners Club  SECRETARY          INTERNATIONAL Dept. of the world famous          Diners Club
---	---	---	---	---	---	---	---

Formula Maker Paid for ABC Film on Infants

BROWN and will be carried on the other ABC-owned stations in Los Angeles, Chicago, San Francisco and Detroit on other nights this week. Each station is to present a locally produced half-hour symposium following the 30-minute film.

Manufactures formula for infants. There are no commercials, only donor credits before and after the program, somewhat like the identification program underwritten in public television.

Produced by Lirio Productions, an independent West Coast company, and narrated superbly by Patricia Neal, the documentary asserts that malnutrition in pregnant mothers and newborn infants is a chief cause of mental retardation, brain damage and learning disabilities in children.

Philip Boyer, vice president of programming for the ABC stations who says he is involved with the project for 18 months, maintains that Abbott Laboratories had no editorial participation in the film and that the project was well under way before the company agreed to provide the financing.

TODAY! NTING THROUGH SATURDAY. INTEL 13's ATTENTION

IC GOODS & SERVICES! CELEBRITY HOSTS & AUCTIONEERS! I & PHONE IN YOUR BID! PECIAL TODAY: ANTIQUES, PART II (ARTING AT 8 PM)

MORE SPECTACULAR AUCTION HIGHLIGHTS. Sojourn in Italy. A Script of "Equus" adapted by Richard Burton. Dining Room Set. Jewels, Food Certificates & Home Appliances. Doonesbury Cartoon. 1976 Saab.

BIG DAYS AND NIGHTS XTRAORDINARY TV EVENT. PM-1:00 AM. OBERT MACNEL REPORT CONTINUES AS SCHEDULED: WEDNESDAYS, 7:30-8:00 PM. HANNEL 13. ICTION TELECAST IS MADE POSSIBLE FROM THE CHASE MANHATTAN BANK

WATCH OUR TV WATCH TV. C presents two critical examinations of st. All About TV host Sieva Scheuer talks candidly on television's limits and freedoms in Amendment at 8 PM. Next, WOMAN: "Woman's Image: Down the Tube," a nation of women's roles on TV. At 7:30, York. At 9:30, In & Out of Focus explores At. 10, Urban Challenge with Robert At. 10:30, Martin Agronsky with Senator or a schedule of your city station's profile WNYC-TV, N.Y., N.Y. 10007.

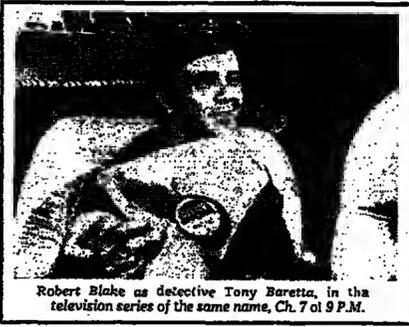

NYC-TV 31. ids provided by Public Broadcasting Service.

onal Town Meeting. onight at 8:30 tune in to ublic Radio, WNYC-AM (830) Dr. Benjamin Spock Braden, journalist and author 'Child Rearing Today: ow Good—How Bad?' or Eileen Shanahan, N.Y. Times Mobil Television

Morning

- 6:10 (2)News (3)News (4)Knowledge, James Coco (5)Friends (6)1976 Summer Semester (7)Knowledge, James Coco (8)Speak for Yourself (9)Listen and Learn (10)CBS News: Hughes Rubeen, Bruce Swartz (11)Today: Jim Hartz, Betty Furness. Summation of primary races so far (12)Good Morning America: David Hartman, host. Heory Fonda, Harry Lorayne, Candy Jones, Tony Randall (13)Popeye and Friends (14)Yoga for Health (R) (15)Flute: Sunny (16)News (17)Feix the Cat (18)Robert MacNeil Report (19)The Flintstones (20)You Are Why We're (21)Magilla Gorilla (22)Hodgepodge Lodja (R) (23)Rin Tin Tin (24)The Joe Franklin Show (25)The Line Rascals (26)The Garry Shandling Show (27)To Tell the Truth (28)Not for Women Only: Barbara Walters, host. (29)The Life of Milder (R) (30)Denise the Moesha (31)AM New York: Tooy Mami (32)The Munsters (33)Seanna Street (R) (34)Pat Collins Show: "How Yours Impotency Surgically" (35)Concentration (36)From Aesop (37)Beverly Hillsbillies (38)Dream of Jeannie (39)The Price is Right (40)The Price is Right: Sweepstakes (41)That Girl (42)Movie: "Embraceable You" (1963). Dean Clark, Geraldine Brooks, Wallace Ford. Crook loves hit-and-run victim (43)Summer Room (44)Gilligan's Island (45)The Electric Company (R) (46)High Rollers (47)Andy Griffith (48)Abbott and Costello (11)Zoom (R) (49)Wheel of Fortune (50)Bewitched (51)Schnitzel Talk: John Ehrlichman (52)Fisher Knows Best (53)Vista Alegre (54)Hollywood Squares (55)Midday Live: Sam Levinson, Neil Simon (56)Happy Days (R) (57)The Dick Van Dyke Show (58)Black Jews (59)MOVIE: "The Man in the White Suit" (1951). Alec Guinness, Jean Greenwood, Cecil Parker. Delightful British comedy, a Guinness special (60)CBS News: Douglas Edwards (61)CBS News: Douglas Edwards

Robert Blake as detective Tony Baretta, in the television series of the same name, Ch. 7 at 9 P.M.

7:30 P.M. Roch Brown (5)

9:00 P.M. Wellsprings (21)

- (21)Zoom (22)Master Rogers (23)World Press (24)E! Reporter 41 (25)Ucacle Floyd (26)The Partridge Family (27)E! Espanol Con Gusty (R) (28)Vista Alegre (29)Consultation (30)The Tourists (31)Crocket's Victory Garden (32)Voyage to Bottom of the Sea (33)News: Walter Cronkite (34)News: John Chancellor (35)Andy Griffith (36)News: Harry Responder (37)Inroads (38)The Dick Van Dyke Show (39)What's Cooking? (40)The Electric Company (41)On the Job (42)Noches Tapatas (43)The Tourists Are Coming. The Tourists Are Coming (R) (44)Last of the Wild (R) (45)Name That Tune (46)THE STORY OF BOCH BROWN: From shooting and prison; to theatrical, award-winning films and television production (47)Let's Make a Deal (48)The Family Affair (49)The FBI: MacNeil Report: California, New Jersey, Ohio premieres (50)Long Island News magazine (51)High School Equivalency (52)News of New York (53)Lucha Libre (54)Viendo a Biondi (55)New Jersey News Report (56)Wall Street Perspective (57)Tony Orlando and Dawn: Ann Meese, Hal Lindner, guest (R) (58)Little House on the Prairie (R) (59)The Crosswits (60)Bionic Women (Part III) (61)The Avengers (62)The F.B.I. (63)Auction (resume) (64)Inner Tonic (65)Aloques (66)ALL ABOUT TV (67)CON CHOU AVELANET (68)The Tribal Eye (69)Paul Harvey Comments (70)Wall St. Perspective (Cont'd)

Afternoon

- (2)The Young and the Rubidew (3)Magnificent Marble Machine (4)Let's Make a Deal (5)11700 Club: John Perkins, black activist, guest (6)The Price is Right (7)Take My Advice (8)Journey to Adventure (9)NBC News: Edwin Newman (10)News (11)Friedlites (12)Somerset (13)MOVIE: "Dames" (1934). Joan Blondell, Dick Powell, Robert Hughes Herbert, Zasu Pitts

Evening

- (2)The Young and the Rubidew (3)Magnificent Marble Machine (4)Let's Make a Deal (5)11700 Club: John Perkins, black activist, guest (6)The Price is Right (7)Take My Advice (8)Journey to Adventure (9)NBC News: Edwin Newman (10)News (11)Friedlites (12)Somerset (13)MOVIE: "Dames" (1934). Joan Blondell, Dick Powell, Robert Hughes Herbert, Zasu Pitts

- (21)Zoom (22)Master Rogers (23)World Press (24)E! Reporter 41 (25)Ucacle Floyd (26)The Partridge Family (27)E! Espanol Con Gusty (R) (28)Vista Alegre (29)Consultation (30)The Tourists (31)Crocket's Victory Garden (32)Voyage to Bottom of the Sea (33)News: Walter Cronkite (34)News: John Chancellor (35)Andy Griffith (36)News: Harry Responder (37)Inroads (38)The Dick Van Dyke Show (39)What's Cooking? (40)The Electric Company (41)On the Job (42)Noches Tapatas (43)The Tourists Are Coming. The Tourists Are Coming (R) (44)Last of the Wild (R) (45)Name That Tune (46)THE STORY OF BOCH BROWN: From shooting and prison; to theatrical, award-winning films and television production (47)Let's Make a Deal (48)The Family Affair (49)The FBI: MacNeil Report: California, New Jersey, Ohio premieres (50)Long Island News magazine (51)High School Equivalency (52)News of New York (53)Lucha Libre (54)Viendo a Biondi (55)New Jersey News Report (56)Wall Street Perspective (57)Tony Orlando and Dawn: Ann Meese, Hal Lindner, guest (R) (58)Little House on the Prairie (R) (59)The Crosswits (60)Bionic Women (Part III) (61)The Avengers (62)The F.B.I. (63)Auction (resume) (64)Inner Tonic (65)Aloques (66)ALL ABOUT TV (67)CON CHOU AVELANET (68)The Tribal Eye (69)Paul Harvey Comments (70)Wall St. Perspective (Cont'd)

Radio

- 12:15-1. WOR-AM: Jack O'Brien, With Norman Cousins, editor of Saturday Review. 1:15-2. WOR-AM: The Fitzgeralds. Talk. 1:15-3. WMCA: Sally Jessy Raphael. Call-in. 2-2:30. WNYC-AM: New York Hypothesis. With Philip Kotlar, Guests, P. Sullivan and E. Agree of the New York Junior Academy of Science. 2:15-4. WOR-AM: Sherry Henry. 2:15-4. WNYC-AM: The Disabbed, Rights and Wrongs. With Bob Moss, Guest: Evan Marx, National Center for Deaf-Blind Youth and Adults. 4-6. WBAI: Network of the Imaginary Mother. Viv Sutherland talks with Robin Morgan. 4:15-7. WOR-AM: Herb Oscar Anderson. Variety. 4:30-5. WNYC: Vietnam Home. 4:30-5. WNYC-AM: New York Now. With Ray Schiltzner, Guest, Bronx Borough President Robert Abrams. 5-5:45. WNYC-AM: Senate Candidates on the Loose. Call-in. Guest, Assemblyman Andrew Stein. 5-7. WMCA: London Hotline. With R. Peter Straus. "Ghosts and Things That Go Bump in the Night." 5:45-6:15. WQXR: Metropolitan Report. Bill Blair, broadcast correspondent. 6:30-6:55. WQXR: Point of View. Alex Farber, one Times Square, Inc., speaking on "Rehabilitating Times Square." 6:55-7:35. WQXR: Fishermen's Forecast. WMCA: Jobo Sterling, call-in. 7:35-8:20. WNYC: Sports Special. N.Y. Apollo Soccer vs. L.A. Skyhawks. live. 7:35-8:20. WOR-AM: Mystery Theater. "The Elric of Death," starring Paul Hecht. 7:30-8:30. WNYC-AM: Around New York. Anita Bernard, host. Events, music. 10:15-11. WOR-AM: Arlene Francis. Mario Gallo. Interviews. Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr., author of "On Watch." 11-11:30. WNYC-AM: Humanities and Aging. Robert Neals of Union Theological Seminary discusses "Old Age is World Religions." 11:15-noon. WOR-AM: Patricia McCann. Cruelty and Kindness: A New Look at Human Behavior," with Harvey Horstein. Noon-12:30. WEVD: Ruth Jacobs. Guest, Fred Ferris, author of "The Year the Big Apple Went Bust." Noon-1 P.M. WNYC-FM: P.M. Magazine: Bob Birns, book reviewer, guest.

State Dinner for Elizabeth Will Be on PBS on July 7

By BARBARA GAMAREKIAN Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, June 8—The Public Broadcasting Service will televise, live, the White House state dinner for Queen Elizabeth II on July 7. The three-hour program will follow the royal party throughout the evening—from the departure from Blair House through the arrival at the White House, the receiving line, the formal dinner, with its toasts by the two heads of state and the entertainment. The cameras may even catch a glimpse of the Queen dancing the first fox-trot with President Ford.

Ruling Returning Abused Child To Parents Reversed on Appeal

By MAX H. SEIGEL

The Appellate Division in Brooklyn, in an opinion critical of a Family Court judge on Staten Island, yesterday reversed his decision to return a sick and battered 8-month-old child to his parents and ordered a new hearing before another Family Court judge. The evidence, the five-judge court said, showed clearly that the infant, Tashyne Linwood, was "in fact and in law, an abused child."

Talks, Sports, Events

- 5-7 A.M. WBAI: Morning Watch. With Bill Mooghan. 5-10. WOR-AM: John Gambler. Variety. 5-5:45. WNYC-AM: Traveler's Tinetsable. With Marty Wayne. Variety. 6-6:30. WNYC: Steve Powers. Dr. Bernard Gifford. Deputy Chancellor of New York City Schools. 7:35-7:45. WQXR: Culture Scene. With George Edwards. 7:45-7:55. WQXR: Business Picture Today. 8:25-8:30. WQXR: Clive Barnes. "The World of Dance and Drama." 8:30-9:15. WEVD: Joey Adams. Guests, Mrs. Edwin Jacobson, Stephen De Newman, Franklin Roberts. 7:30-8:30. WNYC-FM: Around New York. Anita Bernard, host. Events, music. 10:15-11. WOR-AM: Arlene Francis. Mario Gallo. Interviews. Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr., author of "On Watch." 11-11:30. WNYC-AM: Humanities and Aging. Robert Neals of Union Theological Seminary discusses "Old Age is World Religions." 11:15-noon. WOR-AM: Patricia McCann. Cruelty and Kindness: A New Look at Human Behavior," with Harvey Horstein. Noon-12:30. WEVD: Ruth Jacobs. Guest, Fred Ferris, author of "The Year the Big Apple Went Bust." Noon-1 P.M. WNYC-FM: P.M. Magazine: Bob Birns, book reviewer, guest.

- (7) BARETTA (R) (8) Soccer: Cosmos vs Minnesota Kicks (9) Bonanza (10) WHEEL SPRINGS (11) USA: People and Politics (12) Woman (13) Millagro De Vito (14) Maria Genelia (15) Masterpiece Theater (R) (16) Chico and the Man (R) (17) In and Out of Focus (18) E! Choter (19) The Blue Knight (R) (20) Hawk: Lynda Day George, Anne Seymour, guests (21) News (22) Starsky and Hutch (23) Auction (continued) (24) Lowell Thomas Remembers (25) The Urban Challenge (26) Accutell (27) New Jersey News Report (28) Eleventh Hour (29) Long Island News magazine (30) E! EVENING EDITION (31) E! Reporter 41 (32) E! Informador: News (33) E! News Tiller Sharkey (34) News (35) Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman (36) N.F.L. Action: "1985 AFL Championship: New York Jets vs Oakland Raiders" (37) The Homeymooners (38) "The Yips and You (47) E! No Time Numbto (48) Broken Arrow (49) Movie: "If He Hitters, Let Him Go" (1934). Clark Gable, Loretta Young, Jack Oakie, Not Jack London but good (frozen fare just the same). With a dog for all seasons (50) Burns and Allen (51) Peyton Place (52) Movie: "Song Is Born" (1946). Danny Kaye, Virginia Mayo, Time Kaye, part movie, part musical. With Walter as a Stanwyck-Cooper "Ball of Fire" (53) Tomorrow: Tom Snyder, host. Howard Cosell, guest (54) Movie: "Desert Patrol" (1958). Richard Attenborough, John Gregson, Michael Craig. Sahara warfarer with punn and stunts (55) The Joe Franklin Show (56) Movie: "Susan Slept Here" (1954). Debbie Reynolds, Dick Powell. Mildly diverting, nice Debbie (57) Jack Benny Show (58) Movie: "Bride to the Sun" (1961). Carroll Baker, James Shigley. Sensible but tedious war-time drama of American bride, Japanese spouse, promising but doesn't win (59) Hitchcock Presents (60) News (61) News (62) The Pat Collins Show (63) Movie: "Along the Great Divide" (1951). Kirk Douglas, Virginia Mayo. Slow but well-made

Cable TV

- TELEPROMPTER MANHATTAN Channel 10 P.M. 6:30 Music of the Jewish People 7:00 Movie: "The Sporting Doctor" 7:30 Tory Mexican Travel 8:00 Daytime Travel MANHATTAN Channel 10 P.M. 7:00 Tory Mexican Travel

News Broadcasts

- All News: WDCB, WINS, WNYC, Hourly on the Hour: WQXR, WLK, WMCA, WNBC, WNCN, WNEW-AM, WOR, WSOJ, Five Minutes to the Hour: WABC (also five minutes to the half-hour), WNYC, WPIX, WRFM, Fifteen Minutes Past the Hour: WPLJ, WRVR, On the Spot: Hour: WPAT, WWDJ, WLIR, WNBC, WMCA, WYNY, 6:30 only: WBAI

The monument that gets naked every night.

Le Crazy Horse Saloon—home of the world's most sophisticated strip show—is a Paris monument, right up there with Notre Dame and Mr. Eiffel's tower. A lot of tourists seem to prefer Le Crazy's nudes to the Louvre's.

Girls average 5'6" and 115 pounds. Bear names like Rita Cadillac and Georgina Schweppes. Meet the free-spirited Frenchman who thought up Le Crazy 25 years ago. Poor man, he auditions 100 girls for every one chosen.

Bill Fulbright invented "Fulbrights" 30 years ago. The inspiration? His own Rhodes scholarship in 1925. "I was lifted from the Ozarks to Oxford. It left a great impression."

Frank Shorter runs longer than most anybody. He won the marathon Gold at Munich and is favored to repeat at Montreal. In peak condition the 28-year-old lawyer looks like a scarecrow on a hunger strike.

Sandra Hochman is poet, novelist, journalist, filmmaker, teacher, feminist doll. She says her second novel, Happiness is The Much Trouble, is a Das Kapital for women. "My real life is much more fabulous than the books."

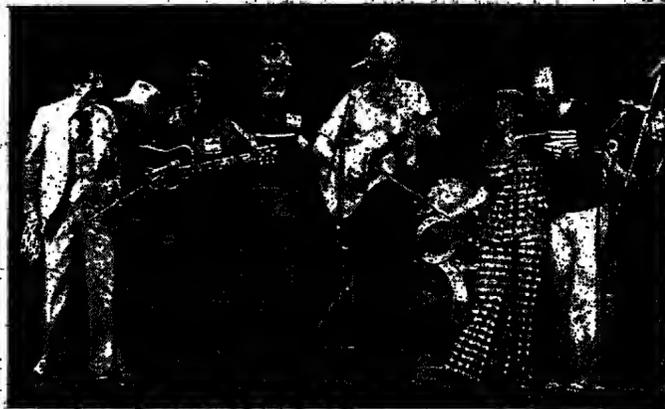

It's the Lunt & Fontanne of Videoland. Martin Landau and Barbara Bain (with daughters below) are shooting their Space: 1999 in London. They launched a mission impossible called marriage 19 years ago.

Lisa Hunt's fighting to free her daddy Howard, one of the two Watergate conspirators still in jail. It was a bum rap, she says. "He believed he was following an executive order."

Big dummy. It isn't King Kong, it's his clothes dummy. They're using the Styrofoam-and-wood stand-in to fashion Kong's fur coat. Now if your wife needs a 40-foot fur coat....

The 1960's came alive when 20 aristocrats of the folk and radical n staged a 5 1/2-hour memorial for singer Phil Ochs. Said inactive activist Jeri "He was the anti-war movement's troubadour." How many of the singers a you name? Check your answer in People.

Maureen Green wrote Fathering because...well, dad's in trouble. And so are his kids. She sees "a narrowing of his role... many social anthropologists now say that the head of the family is Mother?"

Look around and you'll see what we mean—there's nothing like people and there's nothing like People.

It's the one-of-a-kind magazine where the life of the mid-70's is coming together. It's where humanity is happening. It's now... The Scene in a Magazine... the in-place in print.

And how the People idea is growing! On July 19, our rate base takes another great leap forward. To 1,800,000. That adds up to an adult audience of 10,500,000* From zero to ten and a half million in little more than two years!

But the beautiful part of the People audience isn't just how many. It's who. These are the young, educated, prospering, urban men and women who turn on to new ideas and start new trends. The quicker-picker-uppers.

Whatever you're selling...cars, cosmetics, liquor, travel, credit cards, food, appliances, tobacco...they're the most responsive people you can talk to. And you can afford to talk to them often, with the kind of high-frequency campaign that gets more and more effective as it goes along. Because People's out-of-pocket cost is low.

Yes, People's the new media option...the new marketplace...the fresh new way to go, go, go.

And that's the naked truth.

*Publisher's estimate.

Suddenly, it's the place to be.

People weekly

People weekly

ER SE
D AND I

Arabs' Role
Peacekeeping

Ken
Ti
Sey

gests Al
Can Drive S

the 1960's

the 1960's

the 1960's

the 1960's

the 1960's

the 1960's

تمكنا من الاصل